In Memoriam
In loving memory of our son, brother and uncle, Robert Butch Manning, who was taken from us so suddenly 13 years ago on May 7, 1966.

We do not forget him
We love him too dearly
For his memory to fade
From our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely
For grief often dwells where it is seldom seen.

Sadly missed by his mother, father, brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE PRODUCTION, "Winnie the Pooh," will be presented by Lincoln high school students Friday, May 11, in the high school gym. Curtain time is 8 p.m. and tickets will be on sale at the door at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. In rehearsal for the show, Tracy Brown (second left) as Kanga tries to get Piglet, played by Katy Kinsman (left), to clean up but meets with violent protest. Looking on is Kanga's offspring Roo, portrayed by Diane Sabol.

Arctic Company Buys Assets Of Distributor

Arctic Enterprises, Inc. announced Tuesday that on May 1 its wholly-owned subsidiary corporation, Arctic Recreational Products, Inc., purchased substantially all of the assets and assumed certain liabilities of its principal independent distributor, Nero Equipment, Inc., of Canadaigua, New York. Nero has been a distributor of Arctic products in the 13 northeastern states for the past 13 years.

Purchase price was $900,000 plus the aggregate net book value of the selected assets as of April 30, 1979. Final purchase price will not be determined until completion of the year-end audit and the April 30, 1979, balance sheet.

The acquired distributor will operate under the name "Nero Equipment, Division of Arctic Recreational Products, Inc.," and will continue to distribute Arctic products as well as lawn and garden equipment, motorcycle accessories, chain saws and mopeds produced by other manufacturers.

Oakland Park Family Night Held Recently

Oakland Park nursing home recently held its third annual family night when family members of the resident were invited to attend an informal evening of visitation.

Sherryl Irvine, administrator, welcomed the guests and introduced the department heads who were available to answer questions throughout the evenings. Entertainment consisted of a nickel social. Guests purchased tickets, then bid on several tables of items donated by individuals and local business people. Proceeds from the nickel social go to the newly formed residents' council fund. Guests were served coffee and bars.

Minicourse On Vegetables Set Sat. At Roseau

The second of two minicourses on vegetable gardening, storage, and drying will be held Saturday from 1-4 p.m. at the Roseau Museum assembly room.

Emphasized will be the harvest, storage, drying, and nutritional preparation of homegrown foods. Session will be lead by ReNae Sherman, Roseau, and Marilyn Larson, North Country Eco-Agriculture Center, Minneapolis. Examples of family-sized food driers will be shown and plans available for making one. Pertinent printed materials from Roseau county agricultural extension, Roseau public library, and personal collections will be displayed. Refreshments of herb teas and homedried snacks will be available.

Agassiz environmental education council is sponsoring this minicourse. There is no admission charge. Those having questions or who are planning to attend should call the Roseau community school office at 463-2489.

AMC District Meet Postponed

Association of Minnesota counties (AMC) district meeting for the counties of Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau scheduled for May 17 has been postponed because of the length of the legislative session and the necessity for AMC staff persons to remain in St. Paul.

The meeting was been rescheduled to accommodate a full reporting of the 1979 legislative session, and will be held June 21 at the Best Western Inn located south of Thief River Falls on highway 32 So.

A look at life

"Look at the red kite up there! See how high it's flying!"

The little boy follows her finger, and she is warmed and gratified by his smile of appreciation.

It seems as if mothers are eternally anxious to make sure that their children get all there is to get out of life—that they miss nothing.

Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything—time for fun, time for play—new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars.

Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? What of beauty, of serenity, of joy—the knowledge of God's goodness, His love, and familiarity with His house on earth . . . the Church?

Make Small Down Payments On Homes

As prices of homes climbed in 1978, buyers made smaller average down payments and took on higher monthly payments than buyers did in the preceding two years, it was disclosed by the third annual survey of the family housing bureau, a public information service of a Chicago insurance company.

Survey showed that the median price of a home purchased in 1978 was $44,800 compared with $43,700 in 1977 and $37,700 in 1976. At the same time, the average down payment dropped to 21.4 per cent of the sales price compared with 28.1 per cent in 1977 and 25.2 per cent in 1976.

To make up the difference, buyers assumed higher average monthly payments, amounting to $359 in 1978 compared with $355 and $303 in 1977 and 1976 respecively. As a percentage of income, the average monthly mortgage payment rose to 26 per cent. In 1977 it was 25 per cent and in 1976, 24 per cent.

Easier financing during 1978 seems to be the reason for buyers making smaller downpayments, a company spokesman suggested.

The majority of buyers — 54.6 per cent — made a down payment of less than 20 per cent in 1978, compared with 58 and 60.2 per cent of buyers who did so in 1977 and 1976. However, the number of people making smaller down payments rose sharply.

Persons putting 10 per cent down or less rose to 33.5 per cent from 24.9 per cent in 1977 and 26.9 per cent in 1976. And those putting only 5 per cent down rose to 11.4 per cent, from 5.9 per cent and 9.3 per cent in 1977 and 1976, respectively.

Meanwhile, persons making down payments of over 50 per cent dropped to 6.5 per cent from 9.4 per cent in 1977 but stayed above 6.2 per cent in 1976.

Conducted in October, 1978, the survey was based on 400 telephone interviews in 11 areas of the country. Of the sample, 40.7 per cent were buying for the first time, compared with 43.3 per cent of the 1977 sample who were first-time buyers and 43.8 per cent of the 1976 sample.

As in the past years, the overwhelming majority of buyers — 85.6 per cent — purchased previously lived-in homes as distinguished from new homes. In 1977, the figure was 87.2 per cent and it was 84.9 per cent in 1976.

Differences were noted among first-time and repeat home buyers. Median price of a house bought by a first-time buyer was $37,500 in 1978 compared to $36,800 in 1977 and $31,200 in 1976. Repeat buyers, using their equity in their present home, paid a median price of $50,900 in 1978. Figure was $51,700 in 1977 and $44,500 in 1976.

First-time buyer took on an average monthly payment of $346 compared with $307 in 1977 and $278 in 1976. Repeat buyers average monthly payment in 1978 was $369. In 1977 it was $357 and in 1976 it was $324.

People with higher incomes assumed higher monthly payments than those with lower incomes. When the household head's annual income was $20,000 and over, the average monthly payment was $413 compared with $388 in 1977 and $362 in 1976. Persons making between $15,000 and $20,000 had average monthly payments of $308 in 1978, $300 in 1977 and $273 in 1976. Household heads making under $15,000 annual had monthly payments of $264 in 1978, whereas in 1977 they were $252 and in 1976, $240.

Finally, the average age of the first-time buyer stayed about the same: 28.3 years, compared with 28.2 years in 1977 and 28.1 years in 1976. However, the average age of the repeat buyer dropped to 35.5 years, compared with 37.9 years in 1977 and 35.9 years in 1976.

IT'S A FACT!

The skin, your body's largest organ, weighs about nine pounds if you are average and covers over 3,000 square inches. It varies in thickness from about 1/50 of an inch on your eyelids to one-third to half an inch on your upper back.

To help protect your skin from the sun's powerful ultraviolet rays even when you're in and out of the water you need a water-resistant sunscreen such as SUNDOWN Sunscreen from Johnson & Johnson.

Prairie Public TV . . .

Mr. Rogers Offers Springtime Special

"Whenever we watch a TV program, there are two dramas unfolding — the drama on the screen and the 'inner drama' we bring to it," explains Fred Rogers. "Most of us, as adults, have learned to control our violent impulses, to direct them into safe, even creative areas. For us, violence acted out on TV may simply provide a safe fantasy for the more violent sides of our personality.

"But for a little child, who has never been able to develop a safety mechanism, a violent episode on television may touch an inner drama and stir it into violent, outward reality."

What Rogers is saying is particularly important because a conservative estimate of the amount of time an American preschool child spends in front of the television set is five hours per day. Since most preschoolers are awake a scant 12 hours daily, this means that nearly half of their total awake time is probably spent with television.

Rogers spoke during a break from taping his upcoming television special "Springtime With Mister Rogers," to be seen Sun., May 13, at 1 p.m. on Prairie Public Television to share some of his thoughts on children and television.

There was a time — and it was not very long ago — when hardly anyone thought about quality in children's television programming. In fact, there seemed to have been an unspoken premise around which much programming was planned: children should be entertained, not taught.

Fred Rogers, celebrating his 25th anniversary in children's television, does not put stock in that premise. Instead, as creator and host of the award-winning "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" series, he quietly explores a child's world with imagination and intelligence, stressing individuality, love and respect for one's self as well as others' rights.

It's estimated that in an average preschooler's TV viewing an act of violence occurs once every three minutes. Rogers, however, refuses to allow any of it on his programs. Whenever his program deals with emotions in which potential violence is inherent, he provides healthy alternatives to headbanging and toy throwing. One of his personal favorites for release of hostility is playing the piano.

What Rogers fosters in his programs is fantasy, setting aside a definite time for pretending. "We need to encourage children to fantasize," he says firmly. "The cotton gin wouldn't have been invented if somebody hadn't thought about it first. Fantasy is important. But so is knowing the difference between fantasy and reality."

Daily, Rogers confronts issues that many adults avoid in dealing with children. "Childhood is filled with fears in many areas that are a part of everyday living for adults," he explains, "and thus tend to be overlooked, like getting a haircut or going to the dentist. These things need to be talked out or demonstrated so the fears can be more easily controlled."

"I think those of us who create programs need to be much more sensitive about the inner dramas that children bring to what is presented on television," he said. "We need to care more about the effects our work may have on our lives."

For parents, Rogers advises them to "know what your children are watching and be there to help them understand it. This is not only important for programs that contain violence, but also for those shows that may evoke sadness or anxiety or anger or confusion within a child. Be there to tell them why 'that's not the right thing to do,' or why 'that's not the way life should be.' "

This year, 1979, marks Fred Rogers' 25th anniversary in children's programming.

His first exposure to television was in 1951 as assistant producer on NBC-TV's "The Voice Of Firestone," and the NBC television opera theater. He was later promoted to network floor director, supervising "Your Lucky Strike Hit Parade" and the "Kate Smith Hour," among others.

Rogers joined the fledgling educational television station WQED-TV in Pittsburgh, in November, 1953, with the assignment of establishing a beginning schedule of programming. Out of this assignment of establishing a beginning schedule of programming. Out of this assignment came at award-winning series "Children's Corner", which had its first broadcast in April, 1954, which he helped write, produce, and perform. That program won a Sylvania award as the best locally produced children's show in the country. It ran for seven years.

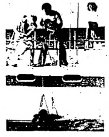
In 1963, Rogers was ordained a minister of the United Presbyterian church, after attending Western Theological and Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. His ministry was dedicated to working with children and their families through the medium of television. That same year, Rogers introduced "Mister Rogers" on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation on a 15-minute daily program. It ran for a year and was similar in content to the "Neighborhood of Make-Believe" segments on the present half-hour "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood."

In 1964, Fred Rogers incorporated the 15-minute programs into a larger, half-hour format, which appeared as a daily show over the ABC-TV affiliate in Pittsburgh. In 1966, 100 of his programs were acquired by the Eastern Educational Network, and seen for the first time in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Boston, Schentectady and over the Maine educational network.

Today, "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" is carried nationally by more than 250 PBS stations.

FRED ROGERS (left), now in his 25th year of children's television programming, has Captain Kangaroo (Bob Keeshan) as his featured guest in "Springtime With Mister Rogers," an hour-long musical special to be broadcast Sun., May 13, at 1 p.m. on Prairie Public Television. The family special marks the first time the two quiet veterans of children's television have appeared together in a TV special.

Ted Ross is the Cowardly Lion, Michael Jackson is the Scarecrow, Diana Ross is Dorothy and Nipsey Russell is the Tinman in Universal's spectacular new musical, "The Wiz." Opening Sunday, May 13, at the Galaxy Twin theatre.



James Coburn and O. J. Simpson dangle a Caribbean crook in shark infested waters to make him talk — as Sophia Loren calmly looks on — in this scene from "Firepower," the new action thriller opening Wed., May 9, at the Galaxy Twin Theatre.

ANSWER: Wilt Chamberlain, who played with Philadelphia, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

A currently active NBA player holds the lifetime record for foul-shooting accuracy. Who is he?

ANSWER: According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, a leading manufacturer of college and professional basketball uniforms, Rick Barry has made 89.3% of his foul throws through the 1977 season.

Another Study Report

The following editorial entitled "Smaller Classes Do Work" was published recently in the St. Paul Pioneer Press and cites yet another study on class size relationship to learning:

Does reducing class size really increase student achievement?

"Yes," says a study conducted by the Far West Laboratory for Educational Research and Development. The catch is that the classes have to be "appreciably smaller."

The study supports Gov. Al Quie's contention that Minnesota should increase its funding for children in kindergarten through third grade to reduce average class size. Quie is talking about reducing the average kindergarten class from 24 pupils to 17, for example. The study indicates that the state should go at least that far and perhaps even farther.

The Far West research showed that the gain in achievement when classes are reduced from 30 to 25 pupils is trivial, but the difference between 30 and 15 is substantial. In addition to improving achievement, this reduction increased "the quality of humaneness" by reducing the teachers' feelings of being overwhelmed by numbers and frustrated by lack of time of work with individual students, the report said.

Reducing an experimental second-grade class in Oakland, Calif., from 34 pupils to 22 (which is roughly the same ratio of reduction that Quie is proposing) resulted in an immediate gain in atmosphere (more relaxed teachers) and changes in the way teachers and children were able to work together. In science, for example, it became possible for all the students to participate in experiments rather than just sit and watch them.

In Charlottesville, Va., (part of the same research project), experimental classes were reduced from 21 to 13, which also is a reduction of nearly the same ratio suggested by the governor.

Again the results were positive: There were fewer discipline problems, leaving the teachers more time to teach. Teachers became "less angry," the report says, and showed more warmth. They moved around the room more freely and helped the children more, since there was less concern about "controlling" them.

Another thing learned in the experiment was that teachers can't be locked into certain procedures, textbooks or teaching materials and must be taught to discover what is possible in a large one. It is important to step up the pace because it takes less time to teach the same things to fewer children, the report says.

Obviously, our schools could not afford to cut all classes in half, but selected reductions along the line proposed by the governor would be feasible and, as indicated by the Far West study, rewarding.

There has been a lot of grumbling about the students not learning the basics. Quie's bill could provide a remedy, but it would not be altogether painless financially. All of us grumblers now have the chance to put our money where our mouths are.

Oh, For a Magic Wand

The default rate on loans to students for higher education is so high, according to Senator Pressler, that the program — National Direct Student Loan (NDSL) — is in danger of being phased out. A phase-out could mean a loss to students in South Dakota of more than $2 million in loans.

Pressler says that in the nation's capitol 65 per cent of the students who took out loans are not paying them back. By contrast, South Dakota has the third lowest default rate in the country.

It is a sign of a sick society when people do not consider a loan a moral obligation. All of the breastbeating of editorial writers in situations such as this does not do one bit of good. What is needed is a re-emphasis somewhere in this culture on integrity. There are signs everywhere that the word. Integrity means little today; in fact, those who consider it important are sometimes scorned for being naively foolish.

The answer to the problem is elusive, one that we cannot fathom. All one can do individually is to try to maintain high standards in spite of evidence all around that the honest dealer whose word is as good as his bond is the one who is going to be "ripped off" by the system.

The Golden Rule seems to have been adulterated into a slogan that goes something like "Do unto others before they do it to you."

We don't have to like it. We can rail against it. But there's not much we can do about it.

Who Created The Monster?

Following editorial is from the Morris Sun:

According to a study conducted by the United States Chamber of Commerce, profits and jobs are alternately created by that large, complex conglomerate known as "government," or they just happen. People, in small and large businesses, farms and industries, seem to have little or nothing to do with the economy.

Consider these alarming statistics of how American high school students viewed business, according to the U.S. Chamber study:

—67 per cent see no need for profits.

—62 per cent think the government should provide jobs.

—40 per cent could not name one advantage of capitalism over communism.

—61 per cent thought the worker should produce all he is capable of.

—50 per cent felt the government contributes most to our national prosperity.

—55 per cent think the best way to improve our standard of living is not by workers providing more, but by giving workers more wages.

In the words of Charlie Brown, "Aaaagh!"

Circumventing Controls

Following editorial is from the Ozaukee Press of Port Washington, Wis.:

The federal government has not been bashful lately about getting involved in the oil business. As the possibility of shortages grows, there is talk of gasoline rationing and forced closings of gas stations. Energy Secretary Schlesinger's incessant wolf cries predicting inadequate petroleum supplies are causing, perhaps intentionally, sharp price increases in oil products.

This pattern makes it more difficult to explain the government's unwillingness to do something about the prices of unleaded gas. Those prices penalize drivers for cooperating in the effort to reduce air pollution, encourage less responsible citizens to break anti-pollution regulations and are resulting in dirtier air over U.S. cities.

Unleaded gasoline — the type required in most of the cars now on the road — is priced substantially higher than regular gas.

Growing numbers of consumers are refusing to pay up to 10 per cent more for lead free gasoline and are filling up with regular gas by means of simple adaptors that allow the larger nozzles of regular gas pumps to fit the small fill pipes installed on cars requiring lead free fuel.

This renders useless the catalytic converters required to control noxious emissions. Many car owners have disconnected the device or have taken it off altogether.

So widespread are practices that circumvent pollution controls that air pollution has increased appreciably. Authorities report that air over Los Angeles is 12 per cent more polluted than a year ago and they blame it on illegal use of leaded gas.

The government appears inept in coping with the abuse. Its only response has been talk of cracking down on violators, which avoids the real problem.

The only effective remedy is to remove the incentive to cheat by getting the price of unleaded gasoline in line with the price of regular.

Oil companies' protestations that it costs substantially more to produce gasoline without the lead additive are not convincing.

The government owes its citizens, who have problems enough in meeting the ascending cost of fuel, fair pricing of unleaded gasoline.

Perhaps officials would be more likely to accomplish that if they would stop reciting horror stories about, to use Schlesinger's idiotic word, gasoline "shortfalls" and remember that not even the oil shortage is as important as keeping poisons out of the air.

Interesting Opinions:

"About the only persons who aren't affected adversely by inflation, it seems, are bureaucrats and congressmen. They have hooked their pay to the escalator; it goes up automatically with increases in the cost of living. Ironically, it is the congress and the rest of government that is primarily responsible for inflation in the first place."

Legislative Report

Marv Hanson

District 1 State Senator

A record $2 billion for school aids approved this week by Minnesota Senate tax committee, included a provision I proposed which will lower the valuation of agricultural land for mill levy purposes in local school districts. This measure is especially needed in several districts in our area which have seen drastic cutbacks in state school aids caused by escalating farm sale prices.

This will tie the value of the land to its rental value, with that value determined by multiplying the rental value by 10. Farmland valuations will now be based more on the output or productivity of property, rather than on its sales value. The provision is tied to another measure in the school aids bill which would reduce the local levy required of school districts from the current 27 mills to 24 mills in the 1980-1981 school year.

The Senate school aids bill also earmarks certain aids to several outstate districts by guaranteeing at least $200 per pupil in state school aids to rural school districts.

The tax committee has also approved legislation which would cut the Minnesota farm machinery sales tax from the current four per cent to two per cent. This measure would put Minnesota farmers on an equal footing with farmers in neighboring states, where farm machinery sales taxes have already been reduced. The measure is especially needed in light of the rising farm machinery prices and because many farm implements are used only three or four weeks out of the year.

As the legislature approaches its May 21 adjournment deadline for this budgeting session the major appropriations and tax measures must be acted on within the next week to 10 days. This week legislative measures to fund state departments and finance state health, welfare and corrections programs were endorsed.

The $1.27 billion health, welfare and corrections bill continues Minnesota's emphasis on local community-based services. The welfare appropriation covers a variety of other local services including general assistance and aid to families with dependent children.

Included in this funding are $2.9 million for the care of the emotionally disturbed, an $800,000 increase over the current biennium and $9.4 million for care of the mentally retarded, which reflects a $2.1 million increase in state funding. Day care programs would again be fully funded, with the Senate legislation allocating approximately $2.3 million.

Other services funded by the bill include: $8.5 million for state chemical dependency programs; $39.5 million for community mental health centers; $27.3 million for the department of economic security, with more than half those funds supporting vocational rehabilitation services; and $4.3 million for services to help crime victims.

The Senate this week also approved a $647 million bill which provides funding to state departments and agencies over the next two years. That legislation includes $52.6 million to fund the state department of agriculture. Of that department's appropriation, $43 million have been reserved for a variety of programs to help market, protect and develop Minnesota agricultural resources.

Another major portion of the state departments bill allocates $101 million for the department of natural resources. That appropriation includes $10.5 million for fish management, $10.8 million for wildlife management, and $15.7 million for management of parks and recreational lands.

If you have comments or questions on these measures or any current Minnesota issues, please write me at Room 23J, State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155 or call (612) 296-4835.

UM Minority Students Drop; Action Slated

University of Minnesota is pushing hard for a $1 million biennial request to slow the increasing dropout rate among minority and other disadvantaged students.

Student leaders testified Wednesday before the house education division in favor of a plan to provide more individual counseling and student centers for minority group students.

About 85 per cent of the minority students who enter the university drop out before they complete their degree programs, said Ingrid Washinawatok, a sophomore in mass communication from Minneapolis.

Washinawatok, who is on the tribal council of the American Indian student assocation, said that students from all minority groups support the request to expand "retention programs" designed to keep disadvantaged students in school.

"American Indian, Asian American, black and Chicano students bring to the university problems that are attributed to socioeconomic circumstances, inadequate preparation and a conflict of cultural values," she said.

"The basic problem we are talking about here is not racial but cultural," she said. "When a minority comes to the university there is a feeling of alienation due to the cultural difference.

"Unless this alienation is dealt with by the units, programs, and colleges within the University of Minnesota, the retention and higher education of minority and disadvantaged students can never proceed effectively," Washinawatok said.

Washinawatok used the Chicano cultural center as an example of a valuable university-sponsored program for minority students.

"The center allows informality, personalization and a general sensitivity to the needs of the Chicano student population," she said. The center involves faculty and students in Chicano cultural activities.

Earlier in the week, representatives of statewide minority organizations spoke on behalf of the minority retention request.

Minnesota employers have had to recruit minority group graduates from other states because Minnesota's own educational system is failing to provide adequate education for minority students, said Charles W. Breese, president of the St. Paul branch of the NAACP.

Breese said the added money would allow the university to increase minority enrollment and retention by 50 per cent and to improve relationships between the institution and minioity communities throughout the state.

Frank B. Wilderson, vice president for student affairs, said the money is needed to coordinate exisiting minority programs and to keep better track of students' problems.

"The main thing we need is to coordinate the programs we have so we know who the students are, when they need help and how to get help to them, Wilderson said.

About 2,500 minority group students attended the university, which has a total enrollment of about 55,000.

The retention program would be administered by the office of Minority and Student Affairs, formerly called the Martin Luther King program.

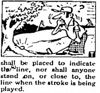
NEWS OF GOLF

Do You Know Those Golf Rules?



Golf is the same all over the world. That's because the rules governing the playing of the game are universal. The Rules of Golf are established by the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland.

Take a swing at these rules. Par for this course is eight.

1. The maximum number of clubs a golfer can start a round with is 14.
2. You can remove a loose impediment without penalty except when both the impediment and the ball lie in or touch a hazard.
3. You must strike the ball only with the head of the club.
4. If a player strikes the ball twice when making a stroke, he must count the stroke and add a penalty stroke.
5. A player may give advice to, or ask advice from, only his partner or either of their caddies.
6. Except on a putting green, a player may have the line of play indicated to him by anyone, but no mark shall be placed to indicate the line, nor shall anyone stand on, or close to, the line when the stroke is being played.

Reasons why SNAPPER owners wouldn't own any other:

1 Walk-behind models, with inexpensive accessories, will mow, discharge cuttings evenly, vacuum, bag, mulch cuttings and shred leaves.
2 Riders and walk-behind models deliver a smooth, professional cut, even during tough conditions. They also cut more, faster, because of the efficient transfer of power from their engines.
3 Large capacity grass catchers need emptying less frequently; especially those with the 30 bushel Bag-N-Wagon.
4 The floating cutting unit on riders minimizes scalping and damage to the mower.
5 A wide selection of mowing speeds gives flexibility for varying lawn conditions; without loss of cutting power.

Before you buy a mower, compare the quality and performance features of a SNAPPER. You'll find SNAPPER is worth more because it does more. And, its price is competitive with other quality mowers.

Any way you cut it... it's a snap with a SNAPPER!

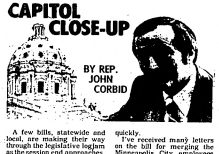
CAPITOL CLOSE-UP



BY REP. JOHN CORBID

A few bills, statewide and local, are making their way through the legislative logjam as the session end approaches. Others have had to wait as the evenly divided House has meant more political maneuvering than ever.

Senator Marvin Hanson has passed the bill transfering some state land to the Galilee Bible camp on Lake Bronson, and the House will have heard it by the time this column is printed. The need for the bill arose when it was discovered that the boundaries had been misread when the camp was built, partly on state land. The state has no interest in keeping the land, so this transfer bill should pass quickly.

I've received many letters on the bill for merging the Minneapolis City employees retirement fund with State of Minnesota's retirement fund. I will vote for the bill only if it is clear that any benefits special to Minneapolis come only from the moneys they contribute. As long as it is clear that the employee only gets what he pays for, I support in principal the idea of the merger.

The House Appropriations committee has sent to the floor what I consider maybe the best school aids bill in years. It includes a sparsity factor — special money for districts where students must travel long distances to school because the population is not dense enough to support more schools. The dollar figure for this aid is not very large, but we legislators from these districts where land is plentiful and students are few have been fighting for a long time for this and consider it a victory just to have it in the bill. Other good news concerns the local mill levies which will go down from 27 to 23 if the bill is not changed.

A couple of bills for this district may have to wait until next year for hearing. Those are the bill allowing county boards to initiate and carry out drainage ditch repairs, and the bill relaxing flood plain ordinances to be in line with the federal regulations. These are both non-controversial and I believe that there are enough votes here to pass them. But so many other bills have required long debates, much longer than ever before, many of them based only on party matters made so eveident by the 67-67 split in the House. The attempts to garner votes on both major and minor issues have gone slowly. The local areas suffer as a result; the bills we need passed just to make everyday life more reasonable don't go anywhere. While the slow pace is good for those who oppose excessive regulation, we could just as well spend the time on these necessary bills which seldom mean any major expenditure.

UM Minority Students Drop; Action Slated

University of Minnesota is pushing hard for a $1 million biennial request to slow the increasing dropout rate among minority and other disadvantaged students.

Student leaders testified Wednesday before the house education division in favor of a plan to provide more individual counseling and student centers for minority group students.

About 85 per cent of the minority students who enter the university drop out before they complete their degree programs, said Ingrid Washinawatok, a sophomore in mass communication from Minneapolis.

Washinawatok, who is on the tribal council of the American Indian student assocation, said that students from all minority groups support the request to expand "retention programs" designed to keep disadvantaged students in school.

"American Indian, Asian American, black and Chicano students bring to the university problems that are attributed to socioeconomic circumstances, inadequate preparation and a conflict of cultural values," she said.

"The basic problem we are talking about here is not racial but cultural," she said. "When a minority comes to the university there is a feeling of alienation due to the cultural difference.

"Unless this alienation is dealt with by the units, programs, and colleges within the University of Minnesota, the retention and higher education of minority and disadvantaged students can never proceed effectively," Washinawatok said.

Washinawatok used the Chicano cultural center as an example of a valuable university-sponsored program for minority students.

"The center allows informality, personalizaton and a general sensitivity to the needs of the Chicano student population," she said. The center involves faculty and students in Chicano cultural activities.

Earlier in the week, representatives of statewide minority organizations spoke on behalf of the minority retention request.

Minnesota employers have had to recruit minority group graduates from other states because Minnesota's own educational system is failing to provide adequate education for minority students, said Charles W. Breese, president of the St. Paul branch of the NAACP.

Breese said the added money would allow the university to increase minority enrollment and retention by 50 per cent and to improve relationships between the institution and minioity communities throughout the state.

Frank B. Wilderson, vice president for student affairs, said the money is needed to coordinate exisiting minority programs and to keep better track of students' problems.

"The main thing we need is to coordinate the programs we have so we know who the students are, when they need help and how to get help to them, Wilderson said.

About 2,500 minority group students attended the university, which has a total enrollment of about 55,000.

The retention program would be administered by the office of Minority and Student Affairs, formerly called the Martin Luther King program.

NEWS OF GOLF

Do You Know These Golf Rules?

Golf is the same all over the world. That's because the rules governing the playing of the game are universal. The Rules of Golf are established by the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland.

Take a swing at these rules. Par for this course is eight.

1. The maximum number of clubs a golfer can start a round with is 14.
2. You can remove a loose impediment without penalty except when both the impediment and the ball lie in or touch a hazard.
3. You must strike the ball only with the head of the club.
4. If a player strikes the ball twice when making a stroke, he must count the stroke and add a penalty stroke.
5. A player may give advice to, or ask advice from, only his partner or either of their caddies.
6. Except on a putting green, a player may have the line of play indicated to him by anyone, but no mark shall be placed to indicate the line, nor shall anyone stand on, or close to, the line when the stroke is being played.
7. Except when otherwise provided for, the penalty for a breach of a rule or local rule is two strokes in stroke play and the loss of the hole in match play.
8. For any breach of a rule or local rule by his caddie, the player incurs the relative penalty.
9. Combining stroke and match play is prohibited.
10. If a player plays out of turn, his opponent (match play) may immediately require the player to replay the stroke in correct order. However, if a player plays out of turn in stroke play, the stroke may not be replayed and the ball remains in play. There is no penalty for playing out of order in either situation.

Reasons why SNAPPER owners wouldn't own any other:
1 Walk-behind models, with inexpensive accessories, will mow, discharge cuttings evenly, vacuum, bag, mulch cuttings and shred leaves.
2 Riders and walk-behind models deliver a smooth, professional cut, even during tough conditions. They also cut more, faster, because of the efficient transfer of power from their engines.
3 Large capacity grass catchers need emptying less frequently; especially those with the 30 bushel Bag-N-Wagon.
4 The floating cutting unit on riders minimizes scalping and damage to the mower.
5 A wide selection of mowing speeds gives flexibility for varying lawn conditions; without loss of cutting power.
Before you buy a mower, compare the quality and performance features of a SNAPPER. You'll find SNAPPER is worth more because it does more. And, its price is competitive with other quality mowers.
Any way you cut it...
it's a snap with a SNAPPER!

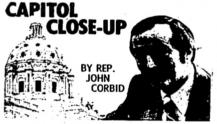
CAPITOL CLOSE-UP



BY REP. JOHN CORBID

A few bills, statewide and local, are making their way through the legislative logjam as the session end approaches. Others have had to wait as the evenly divided House has meant more political maneuvering than ever.

Senator Marvin Hanson has passed the bill transfering some state land to the Galilee Bible camp on Lake Bronson, and the House will have heard it by the time this column is printed. The need for the bill arose when it was discovered that the boundaries had been misread when the camp was built, partly on state land. The state has no interest in keeping the land, so this transfer bill should pass quickly.

I've received many letters on the bill for merging the Minneapolis City employees retirement fund with State of Minnesota's retirement fund. I will vote for the bill only if it is clear that any benefits special to Minneapolis come only from the moneys they contribute. As long as it is clear that the employee only gets what he pays for, I support in principal the idea of the merger.

The House Appropriations committee has sent to the floor what I consider maybe the best school aids bill in years. It includes a sparsity factor — special money for districts where students must travel long distances to school because the population is not dense enough to support more schools. The dollar figure for this aid is not very large, but we legislators from these districts where land is plentiful and students are few have been fighting for a long time for this and consider it a victory just to have it in the bill. Other good news concerns the local mill levies which will go down from 27 to 23 if the bill is not changed.

A couple of bills for this district may have to wait until next year for hearing. Those are the bill allowing county boards to initiate and carry out drainage ditch repairs, and the bill relaxing flood plain ordinances to be in line with the federal regulations. These are both noncontroversial and I believe that there are enough votes here to pass them. But so many other bills have required long debates, much longer than ever before, many of them based only on party matters made so eveident by the 67-67 split in the House. The attempts to garner votes on both major and minor issues have gone slowly. The local areas suffer as a result; the bills we need passed just to make everyday life more reasonable don't go anywhere. While the slow pace is good for those who oppose excessive regulation, we could just as well spend the time on these necessary bills which seldom mean any major expenditure.

'U' M Surgeons Give New Face To Girl

by Bob Lee
U of M News Service

You'd never notice Sara Davis on the playground of Holy Rosary School in North Mankato. And that's as it should be, thanks to a team of surgeons at the University of Minnesota.

After Sara's birth eleven-and-a-half years ago, the bones in her skull did not grow together properly. A victim of Crouzon's syndrome, Sara was seen by a medical specialist when she was a year old, but the specialist did not even have a name for her condition.

According to her mother, Mrs. Richard Davis, Sara's facial disfiguration did not become apparent until Sara experienced a growth spurt when she was around five years old. Her forehead was underdeveloped, her eyes became bulging and wide set, and her jaws and teeth did not mesh properly.

Two years ago Sara was referred to Dr. Alan Shons, a plastic surgeon at University Hospitals. Shons, along with neurosurgery head Dr. Shelley Chou, and Dr. Daniel Waite, chairman of oral surgery, led a team of surgeons that mapped a two-stage technique to literally take Sara's skull apart and reshape her features.

It was the first time such a procedure was attempted at the University, although Shons had assisted in many such operations while training at New York University.

Shons emphasized that it was the teamwork of the three disciplines that made the attempt possible. Three more patients are now being considered for similar operations this spring.

Sara, according to her mother who is a nurse, was never frightened about going to University Hospitals or about the major painful surgery. "She was very accepting and never complained about the pain. Her attitude was just super," her mother recalled.

Although the surgery and the results were highly dramatic, the procedure was possible only because of meticulous preparation and planning. A sculptor may shape wood or clay, but the surgeons were working with living bone and skin.

In June Chou took the first step — he made an incision high in the hairline and folded Sara's forehead down, exposing the frontal bone plate of her skull. Carefully, he cut that plate free and reset it forward. Open gaps in the skull were stabilized with methylmethacrylate — a plastic putty-like material that quickly hardened. The frontal plate was also wired to the bones on top of the skull.

According to her physicians, Sara's recovery was rapid and uneventful.

By September she was ready for the final stage. This time Shons and Waite collaborated on relocating Sara's eye sockets and realigning her jaws.

The original incision was reopened and Sara's whole upper and mid-face skin was loosened from the bone. Her mid-face bones were moved forward and bone grafts were used to stabliize her realigned face and eye socket area. After her teeth and bite were aligned, Sara's jaws were wired shut.

To prevent complications and promote healing, Sara's entire head was wrapped in a pressure bandage while she recovered in an intensive care unit. She couldn't see or talk for days, but she could show her nurses she still had spunk.

They were amazed by the many ways she managed to attract their attention with gestures. "Kids seem to have a sign language all their own," one nurse said. She left University Hospitals after 12 days, but her jaw remained wired for eight weeks.

While the timing and indications for this type of surgery are still controversial, Shons said, the procedures are becoming more routine.

Shons, who also works at St. Paul-Ramsey medical center and the Minneapolis veterans administration hospital said motivation in the child and the parents is vitally important when such surgery is to be done.

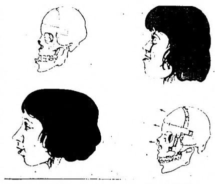
"I tell them over and over that the surgery will not solve all their problems, but they may look better," he explained. "We want to assure the patient's psychological stability before putting them through the surgery."

"I was prepared for a totally different person," said her mother. "It was like having a new baby all over again. We were used to thinking of Sara as a combination of features and personality. It seemed as though there was a different person with the same personality and mannerisms, which took a little getting used to. Now we can't remember what Sara used to look like."

Sara's six brothers and sisters said they felt strange after her surgery and couldn't help staring at first. One of the older boys said he noticed a family resemblance in Sara for the first time.

"Sara doesn't say too much," her mother said, "But her fifth grade teacher says she is more outgoing and relates more easily to her friends."

While Sara was healing in University hospitals she never looked at herself in a mirror and avoided them even at home. She knew she looked different, but the final acceptance came when she took off the scarf that covered her head while her hair grew back.



UPPER DIAGRAMS show Sara Davis' profile before the first two operations, and the cuts made in the skull to rearrange the bone. The lower diagrams show how Sara's face was re-shaped to give her a new profile. —Illustration by Pat Canney

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Lorraine Groven, Kenny Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Wiseth and Tony were Monday evening visitors at the Sherman Groven home. They also brought birthday greetings to Shawn and enjoyed birthday cake with him.

Ag Economist Discusses Land Market Myths

There are several myths about land prices that need to be put aside, says Paul Hasbargen, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota.

One myth is that big farmers are pushing little ones off the land.

Second myth is that tax advantages help high income people buy land away from lower income ones.

"Neither of these myths can stand up when exposed to current economic facts," Hasbargen said at a recent series of land value seminars. Hasbargen addressed land value seminars at Sleepy Eye, Long Prairie, Wheaton, Willmar and Minneapolis.

"Too many of us like to point the finger of blame at someone else — we keep trying to find the mythical bad guy who is pushing up land prices," Hasbargen sais.

"Ten years ago we tried to pin it on the 'corporate farmer' — and many states passed anti-corporate farm laws. But in the past five years, those states had more rapid increases in farm land prices than states without such laws.

"More recently we've tried to blame the 'foreign investor'. Laws are currently being passed to monitor and regulate these investments, although foreign sales have been a very small portion of total farm sales.

"Now a cry is going up that 'big farmers' are eating up little ones. Actually the long term decline in farm numbers has leveled off quite dramatically in recent years," Hasbargen says.

For years, many operators were leaving small plots of land for better job opportunities in the cities. Most of this adjustment is now over.

Higher farm earnings in recent years have helped keep farm numbers in Minnesota at 104,000 for the past five years. "Thus, the charge that big farmers are gobbling up small ones is less true today than at any time in the past 40 years."

The myth that high income farmers – or non-farmers – can bid land prices higher than lower income people because of tax advantages does not stand up to factual analysis, according to Hasbargen.

He says a computer program that determines maximum bid prices under different sets of conditions points out quite clearly that the higher the marginal tax bracket of the land buyer, the lower will be his maximum bid price given otherwise similar circumstances. This is because land payments must be made out of after-tax earnings.

"The higher marginal tax bracket person will have fewer after-tax dollars left from earnings from a new land purchase than will the lower tax bracket person who can get similar net returns from the land. A recent Iowa study reached the same conclusion.

"People who want to hobble our more successful farmers with things like a graduated land tax that make them pay higher real estate taxes should know that our federal and state income taxes are already doing some of that.

"The people pushing up land prices are operating farmers," Hasbargen says. Investment buyers purchase less than 15 per cent of Minnesota farm land. And as land prices have increased in recent years, investment buyers have bought relatively less farm land.

HOLSUM
Old Fashioned Peanut Butter
Just like fresh roasted peanuts

be a Holsum family now.

Save 10¢ on each of GTA's 5 great Holsum food products.

Get acquainted with GTA's new family of fine food products at your grocer's today. Holsum . . . a high-quality, popularly-priced line, owned and promoted by farmers right in this area. In the spring of 1977, GTA purchased this well-known Wisconsin food firm. And Holsum became the brand name of GTA farmers. Be a Holsum family and save up to 50¢ right now.

Holsum Horseradish Sauce A new taste thrill. Smooth, light sauce. With more than a hint of heady horseradish flavor.

Holsum Syrup Here's the maple syrup the other brands are trying to copy. Honest, old-fashioned, sugar maple goodness for your table.

Holsum Olives Grown in Spain's famous olive groves. Bulk shipped to Holsum, where we sort, match them for size and bottle them for your table.

Holsum Old-Fashioned Peanut Butter A top selling favorite in every market it's appeared in. 98 44/100% peanuts for that good old-fashioned flavor. And, no preservatives. Buy it, try it, you'll love it.

Holsum Lite Low-Fat Dressing The great taste of a superior dressing, but 88% fat-free. Made from protein-rich soybean oil. No better way to save money, and cut cholesterol in the bargain.

Hints For Homeowners

HOME IMPROVEMENT, SAFETY AND ECONOMY
DO IT YOURSELF — AND SAVE!

Almost every day we read about or see in a home supplies center some new product that has been developed to make it easier and less expensive for residents to make their own improvements or maintenance repairs. Like self-adhesive flooring tiles, electric staple guns that speed up wall panelling work (and prevent sore hands!), or screwdriver-assembled furniture and shelving.

It's these and similar handy developments that have enabled homeowners to cope with the rising costs and scarcity of carpenters and other repair and remodeling professionals, and caused this country to become a nation of "do-it-yourself," money-saving skilled amateurs.

The tool-making industry is one that has particularly helped. For example, today there are tape measures by Lufkin with lock-in-position blades so that one hand can do the work of two. And Crescent screwdrivers with extra-large handles for easier turning; a chainsaw file guide designed by Nicholson lets a saw owner do his own professional-quality sharpening and stack the woodpile quicker and with less effort. For the homesewer who would make her own new curtains or decorative pillow covers, Wiss has new super-lightweight and knife-edge sharp scissors and shears for easy and accurate cutting of patterns.

Do-it-yourself has become a national pastime, and at the same time shaved the costs of essential home maintenance and creative improvements. If you haven't tried it, you're missing the satisfaction of self-doing and a bigger balance in the savings account!

U.S. Senator
Rudy Boschwitz
reports to Minnesota

Stone to Receive On-The-Job Training at Taxpayers' Expense?

What will three days on an Iowa pig farm and a degree in economics from Harvard get you?

For James M. Stone, a White House nomination and Senate agriculture committee approval as chairman of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) — over my lone dissenting vote.

The CFTC is policeman of the commodities futures market and, as such, oversees a buying and selling volume that exceeds a trillion (that's 12 zeroes) dollars, primarily in agriculture products, each year.

Fortunately, Stone's nomination must still be approved by the entire Senate, and I hope during floor debate more Senators will come to see the folly of appointing a man with no agriculture experience to head an agriculture commission.

The CFTC serves a role too important to be left in the hands of a 32-year-old rookie who's never bought or sold a futures contract. The agency is essential in keeping the futures market fair and clean so that our farmers have a trusted place to use for hedging and to bring some degree of price stability to drop marketing. It's an agency crucial to the Minnesota farm economy.

Further, the CFTC is the best safeguard we have against attempts to corner the futures market, manipulate prices of farm products, and unduly raise consumer costs.

It would seem obvious to me that chairing this complex watchdog board requires far more knowledge of commodities and agriculture processes than can be gained by spending three days on a pig farm.

I have no doubt that Mr. Stone has excellent credentials for many government positions. They don't unfortunately, happen to qualify him for one in agriculture.

By his own admission, Stone acknowledges he will have to develop more detailed knowledge of agriculture than he has now.

I hope it won't be at taxpayers' expense that he picks up this training. The chairmanship of the CFCT was never meant to be an apprenticeship.

TENNIS TRIVIA

What was the largest crowd ever to witness a tennis match?

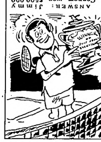
ANSWER: When Billie Jean King beat Bobby Riggs in 1973, 30,472 fans were on hand at the Houston Astrodome.

Who is the youngest player ever to play at Wimbledon?

ANSWER: Tracy Austin, who was only 14 when she played in 1977.

Who is the all-time money-winner for playing a single tennis match?

ANSWER: Jimmy Connors won $500,000 in 1975 when he beat John Newcombe in Las Vegas.



The same person was the first player to win all four top tennis titles; the only player to win Wimbledon three times in succession; and he was also a world table tennis champion. Who is he?

ANSWER: According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, an international marketer of tennis racquets and equipment, it was Fred Perry. Fred Perry Sportswear, a leading producer of tennis clothing and sportswear, is also an A-T-O division.

Drop Minority Admissions Quota At 'U'M

University of Minnesota law school has changed its admissions policy as a result of the U.S. supreme court decision in the Bakke case, which raised questions about minority admissions programs.

The new policy, which was approved by the law faculty this week, eliminated a reference to "up to 15" students who could be admitted through a special minority program. The number in the former policy had been interpreted by some as a quota for minority admissions.

The new policy states, however, that the faculty hopes for at least as many minority students in the future as have attended the law school in the past. Currently, about 45 of the around 710 law students are members of minority groups.

Changes in the policy are the result of a review of admissions policies promised by University president C. Peter Magrath last summer after the U.S. supreme court struck down a minority quota in admitting Allan Bakke, a white male, to the medical school at the University of California, Davis.

At that time, Magrath said the law school was the only University admissions program that had a formal admissions policy affected by the Bakke decision.

New policy avoids the mention of any numbers of minority students. "The precise number of minority applicants to be admitted," it states, "will depend upon the comparative credentials of minority and non-minority applicants."

"No racial-ethnic quotas," it also states, " will be fixed which exclude any applicants from consideration for any places in an entering class. It is the sense of the faculty that the desired diversification of the law student body will not be achieved unless minority applicants are admitted in more than token numbers, and it is hoped that the number will be at least as large as those which have been admitted in the past few years."

Policy continues the faculty's adherence to affirmative action goals to allow the law school to have a "diverse student body," according to associate dean Robert F. Grabb, chairman of the admissions committee.

Grabb said he feels that the law school has been successful in attracting a "Diverse student body" while relying primarily upon "traditional predictors of success" such as undergraduate grades and the national law school admissions test.

On the basis of the supreme court decision, the law faculty considers a "diverse student body" one which includes students with various racial and ethnic backgrounds, physical handicaps, and economic disadvantages.

But other "factors" are also considered in the definition of diversity. These include the applicant's career goals, extra-curricular activities, ability in languages other than English, leadership positions, community or public service, experiences and achievement.

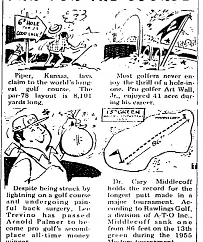
PAR FOR THE COURSE



Piper, Kansas, lays claim to the world's longest golf course. The par-78 layout is 8,101 yards long.

Most golfers never enjoy the thrill of a hole-in-one. Pro golfer Art Wall, Jr., enjoyed 41 aces during his career.

Despite being struck by lightning on a golf course and undergoing painful back surgery, Lee Trevino has passed Arnold Palmer to become pro golf's second-place all-time money winner.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff holds the record for the longest putt made in a major tournament. According to Rawlings Golf, a division of A-T-O Inc., Middlecoff sank one from 86 feet on the 13th green during the 1955 Masters tournament.

Julie Vatsaas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Vatsaas became the bride of Marty Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Olson of Thief River Falls when the ceremony took place April 28 at Oak Ridge church. The couple are now at home at 601 W. 13th street in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nowacki and boys of Warren were Saturday evening visitors at the Chuck Swenson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hible were visitors Sunday evening at the Christ Saustad home in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Hamre, Tawnya, Kirk and Kirby attended the Sunday morning confirmation services at Bethany Lutheran church in Red Lake Falls when Sheryl Gilbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibertson, was among the confirmands. Following the services, Mr. and Mrs. Hamre and family, also Mrs. William Gilbertson, Sheryl's grandmother and Mr. Nelson of Grand Forks her grandfather, also Rev. and Mrs. David Putz and Rachel and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moen and girls were guests for dinner at the James Gilbertson home at Red Lake Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Pederson attended the wedding of Sandra Hamrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hamrick, who became the bride of Lawrence Solvik, son of Mrs. Bardolph Pederson, all of the Warren area when vows were spoken Sunday afternoon, April 29 at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Warren. Congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Molskness, Carol and Connie were Tuesday evening supper guests at the Harold Blazek home.

Mrs. Chuck Swenson and infant son Robert were honored guests at a baby shower held Sunday afternoon, April 29, at the Viking school. Hostesses were Mrs. Gary Peters, Mrs. Gale Swanson, Mrs. Wayne Peters, Mrs. Lloyd Pederson and Mrs. Pauline Hubbard. Games were played and a social afternoon enjoyed and the honored guest opened the many lovely gifts that were viewed by those attending. A luncheon was served by the hostesses. Those attending besides the guests of honor coming from a distance were the grandmother Mrs. Leona Lien, Mrs. Eldo Bentley, Mrs. Robert Dahlen, Mrs. Roger Bentley, all of Twin Valley; Mrs. Eugene Paulsrud, Mardy and Bruce of Halstad; Mrs. Arnold Nowacki, Mrs. Alex Szczepanski, Mrs. Alan Szczepanski, all of Argyle; and many neighbors and friends from the surrounding area.

Return From Trip

Mrs. Winton Knutson and her brother and his wife Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waller of Hallock, recently returned from an enjoyable trip to southern California. Mrs. Knutson and Mr. and Mrs. Waller left Minneapolis March 21 by Northwest Orient for Los Angeles. A sister, Mr. and Mrs. David (Elvira) Skene and a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Waller, live at Hawthorne, a suburb and this was where they spent the next three weeks. The night they arrived, their nieces, Mrs. John (Yvonne) Halvorson of Mankato and Mrs. Arley (Arlene) Stromberg of Deerwood, arrived from Hawaii where they and four other ladies had spent a week. They spent two days and then left for their homes in Minnesota. The third evening a niece Lorraine and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Payne of Denver, arrived from a vacation in Mexico City. They spent the next three weeks in Los Angeles on business. They all spent their first Sunday at Disneyland, which is a truly fantastic experience. Another must is Movieland, the Wax museum where guests relive great moments in motion picture history by seeing the stars of past and present sculptured in wax in settings exactly duplicated from their most famous roles. They saw a place reserved for Lawrence Welk so he will be there soon. Another interesting place was the Palace of Living Art, where wax figures are sculptured and posed as original paintings such as the Lord's Supper and Mona Lisa, the figure of Christ on the Cross at Golgatha and viewing this startlingly realistic wax reproduction of The Crucifixion, hearing the thunder and lightning flashing helps to bring this moment in history to life.

After visiting the wax museum arsonists caused damages totalling $250,000. They spent some time at Old Towne at Torrance, which is a turn of the century shopping and entertainment attraction, and another day at Whaler's Village at San Pedro. This is a replica of an early American village and they spent a great deal of time browsing through the shops. Another place of interest visited was Marineland of the Pacific at Palos Verdes, where they have the largest oceanarium in the world with a sea circus and a vast number of other exhibits covering almost every type of marine life.

From there, they went to see the Wayfarers Chapel at Rancho Palos Verdes. It is a church made of glass, ceiling and all, and is a favorite place for candlelight weddings. Walter and Alice Waller spent five days at Lodi, Calif., visiting her brother. When returning, they visited her nephew who lives in North Hollywood and who has a piano and organ studio there. He gave a tour of his home and played on two of his beautiful grand pianos, also serving a luncheon. Before leaving, he picked a big bag of grapefruit from a tree in his yard and sent it with. Other people visited were her niece's son, wife and daughter of Washington and now living in Pasadena where he attends a seminary. A cousin from Vancouver Island, B.C., and whom hadn't been seen for 46 years was visiting her daughter and family at Burbank, and a day was spent visiting with her.

On their return home they spent a couple days in St. Paul at the home of a nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Waller and also a few hours at Brainerd, where we visited with Mrs. Esther Waller and her son Bud Waller, who were former Viking and Numedal residents.

While in Los Angeles, they telephoned and visited with Olga Ranstrom (Mrs. Arthur Ranstrom), a former Numedal resident, who resides in North Hollywood. She sends greetings to all her acquaintances.

Diana Ross is Dorothy and "Toto" is the dog who leads her to adventures in Oz in Universal's "The Wiz," opening Sun., May 13, at the Galaxy Twin Theatre.

Kirk Hamre was honored on his birthday when his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Larson served a supper in his honor at the Larson home in North Friday evening. Guests besides Kirk were Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Hamre, Tawnya and Kirby.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bizek of Crookston were dinner guests and afternoon visitors Sunday at the Leonard Marynik home.

Friends and neighbors in this community extend their heartfelt sympathy to the Edward Berg family. Edward Berg passed away Wednesday, April 25, at the age of 72, after being hospitalized the past two months at Northwestern hospital. Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at Zion Lutheran church at Viking with interment at Viking. Berg was a well-known farmer in this township.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Waswick and Steve brought birthday greetings to Jeff and Joe, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Erickson when visiting Saturday evening at the Erickson home.

Chuck Asp of Harwood, N.D., Bob Asp and Bjorne Asp and Joel of Moorhead flew up Saturday forenoon to check on flood waters along the Red river and specially the Oslo, Alvarado area. They were met at the Thief River Falls airport by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Asp and they had their dinner at a local restaurant.

Mrs. Lloyd Pederson, Mrs. Raymond Olson, Mrs. Roger Hible, Mrs. Frank Hible and Mrs. Winton Knutson were among the large group of ladies attending the baby shower honoring Mrs. Chuck Swenson and Robert held Sunday afternoon at the Viking school.

SERVE A CAKE WITH CLASS

With all the cake varieties in existence, why do we invariably name the same ones over and over again as our favorites? Chocolate, angel food, devil's food, sponge, pound, and carrot are almost always mentioned in the same breath. How pedestrian!!! How conventional!!!

Calavo Growers of California invites you to rid yourself of this hackneyed cake concept with "Paradise Mango Cake." Complete with an extra-moist texture, the crunch of walnuts, a spark of cinnamon, essence of orange, and last but certainly not least, juicy mango, this cake has all the credentials to be a contender.

According to the folks at Calavo, when choosing a mango for this recipe, do not judge ripeness by outside color. They say mangos are ready to eat when they yield to gentle pressure. (Depending on the variety and stage of ripeness, mangos may be green, yellow, or tinged with red or yellow.)

One characteristic is always constant: the mango's juicy interior is golden with a long flat seed in the center. The best way to prepare a mango for this sumptuous recipe is to first score its skin lengthwise. Then, simply peel the skin back as you would a banana. Next, cut away the mango flesh from the long seed with a sharp knife. That's all there is to it.

The mango's bright yellow flesh is loaded with more than the recommended daily allowance for vitamin A. Also, mangos contain nearly three-quarters of the RDA for vitamin C and amounts of thiamine, riboflavin, calcium, phosphorus and iron. Half a medium-sized mango has only about 66 calories.

Don't be a creature of habit when it comes to cake selection—serve a contender. Serve Paradise Mango Cake.

Can Your Car Survive That First Heat Wave?

As much punishment as our cars take in a typical winter, many suffer another knock-out blow when that first hot day comes along. A steaming radiator, which never happens at a convenient time, usually has a starring role in a traffic jam.

Automotive Cooling System Institute says most overheating problems can be avoided with a little preventive action.

If you have noticed that your cooling system has needed "topping off" rather frequently, find out where the coolant is going. Is it leaking from hoses, radiator or is it disappearing through an internal engine problem?

The safest and best way to find the leak is to have your mechanic check it out with a pressure tester. The cost of this check is minimal, says the Institute, and it can save you a great deal of inconvenience and expense.

Part of the pressure test includes a check of the radiator pressure cap, which can be another source of leakage and inefficient cooling system operation.

For detailed information about your car's cooling system, write for a free copy of ACSI's new booklet, "QUICK COURSE IN CAR CARE." Send a stamped, self addressed number 10 (business size) envelope to AUTOMOTIVE COOLING SYSTEM INSTITUTE, 222 Cedar Lane, Teaneck, New Jersey 07666.

Great pigeongrass control and higher yields. That's what wheat growers who used STAMPEDE™ 3E herbicide in 1978 have to say about their experience. In addition, growers liked the fact that Stampede postemergence herbicide let them wait to see if they had a pigeongrass problem before investing in pigeongrass control.

So, if you find you have pigeongrass this spring join the satisfied users of Stampede 3E.

Check with your AGSCO, CENEX, or GRAND FORKS SEED dealer to see if Stampede herbicide is cleared for use in your state.

Stampede 3E is now available under Emergency Exemption (under the name Stam® F-34) for Pigeongrass Control in Hard Red Spring Wheat in some North Central States.

Kolisch Hypnotizes College Students

by Kim Blaeser
Times Reporter

"When he puts you under it involves trust. He was telling me to lean back and at first I felt tense about it, I wasn't letting go and he could tell. Then he felt me let go. He had a glass eye on his ring that I was watching and the next thing I knew he put his hand in front of my face and said 'You are asleep' and I was out of it. I wasn't really asleep, I knew what was going on. I couldn't open my eyes though and I could only do what he said."

This is Northland community college student Joe Ranum's description of his experience with hypnotism at the hands of 25-year veteran hypnotist John Kolisch. Kolisch presented a three-hour program of demonstrations of extra sensory perception (E.S.P.), hypnotism and post-hypnotic suggestions Thursday in Northland community college auditorium.

Kolisch, a native of Vienna, came to the United States in 1939 and worked in publishing. In 1952 he began studying hypnotism under a medical friend and worked for awhile in medical hypnosis. A long-time student of psychology, Kolisch now often leads seminars for doctors and psychologists on hypnotism and also tours numerous colleges offering lectures and demonstrations.

When he first became involved with hypnotism, Kolisch says, "there was more a threat to having hypnotism banned because the doctors didn't want anybody using it. Doctors themselves didn't use it very much. Now there are a lot of people coming out of the woodwork and trying to make a buck with it. Unfortunately people don't know the difference between an amateur and a professional. I personally feel hypnotism and hypnotists should be regulated." With his tours to universities Kolisch hopes to increase the general public's knowledge of the subject and perhaps prevent them from being taken in by an amateur.

Talking about his show Kolisch says, "I credit the subject and don't claim to have any power. It is the subject that really hypnotizes himself. People don't realize that they have that power. If they did, they wouldn't need the hypnotist. But the average person always depends on someone else. He doesn't realize that he can do many things by himself. He always needs someone to tell him what to do or how to do this or that and that is the reason people can be hypnotized. It is also the reason people feel they need help and go to psychologists and doctors and why they follow all kinds of diets. All these things are basically hogwash. The persons belief is what makes it work or not."

Throughout his performance Kolisch demonstrated his understainding of psychology by encouraging both the audience and his subjects on stage to "Believe in yourself." After his show he held a "smoke out" with approximately 20 persons who wanted to quit smoking participating. There again he emphasized the individual's power over himself.

One "smoke out" observer said, "He emphasized putting the burden on yourself. He said he didn't have a cure-all drug, but the people had the will power to use if they wanted to quit smoking and he kept going through reasons and reasons and reasons why they would want to."

Five Northland community college students consented to an interview with the Times following their experiences with hypnotism and the smoke out and attempted to explain how they had felt and what their mental state was during the experiences.

"He told told us to hold our hands together," Marilyn Anderson says while talking about going into the hypnotic state. "He said, 'Keep them tight, tighter, tighter. They are getting like cement.' and my hands were tight. There

HYPNOTIST JOHN KOLISCH, who is said to be the world's fastest hypnotist, gave a demonstration of his abilities Thursday to a full house at Northland community college auditorium. His first subject, Joe Ranum, was hypnotised while standing in a matter of 10 to 20 seconds. Ranum says, "He had a glass eye on his ring that I was watching and the next thing I knew he put his hand in front of my face and said 'You are asleep' and I was out of it." Ranum was one of approximately 20 NCC students to experience hypnotism at the hands of Kolisch Thursday.

St. Hilaire Sets Annual Fiddler Contest Date

St. Hilaire community club is holding its annual fiddlers contest on Friday, May 18 at 8 p.m. in the St. Hilaire school gymnasium.

There will be a junior fiddlers contest first for contestants up to the age of 18 years. The senior fiddlers contest will follow for fiddlers 19 years of age or over.

Trophies will be awarded for first and second place in the junior contest. Trophies in the senior contest will be for first, second and third places, oldest fiddler and fiddler from furthest away.

Registration will start at 6:30 p.m. in the school basement. Contestants will draw numbers for the order in which they will play.

Plan Fiddler's Event June 9 In Grygla

Fourth annual fiddler's contest sponsored by the Grygla band boosters will be held Saturday, June 9, at 8 p.m. in the Grygla community center. Each fiddler is required to play two old time danceable tunes one of which must be a waltz. Novelty or trick fiddling is prohibited and fiddlers are limited to two accompanists.

Trophies will be awarded to the top four fiddlers, to the oldest and youngest fiddlers and to the fiddler coming the greatest distance. Following the contest, an old time dance will be held.

Anyone wishing to participate in the contest should contact Mrs. Glenn Larson, Gatzke, MN 56724, 459-3332; or Mrs. Philip Roen, Grygla, MN 56727, 294-6351.

Rural Carrier Exam Offered By Post Office

United States Postal Service will have an examination for substitute rural carrier or record at the Thief River Falls post office. This examination is open to both men and women. The only requirement is that the person must have reached his or her eighteenth birthday.

There are no experience or training requirements in the substitute rural carrier examination. Application cards are available at the Thief River Falls post office and must be returned to postmaster Art Buringrud by Saturday, May 26.

Annual School Elections To Be Held In Area Tues.

Voters in school districts throughout the Times area will go to the polls Tuesday in elections to determine representation on boards of education for the next three years. In Thief River Falls there are six candidates for two board positions while at Goodridge and Strandquist at least one position will be filled by write-in balloting as no one has filed for open positions.

Thief River Falls polls will be open from 4 to 8 p.m. in three polling places. Residents of the district who live east and south of the Red Lake river will vote at Franklin middle school. Those who live north and west of the river will vote at Lincoln high school. Residents of the former St. Hilaire school district will cast their ballots at the St. Hilaire school.

Candidates for the two positions open on the board are Ken Wiebolt, Vernon Kappes, Wallace Grovum, Merle (Mic) Gjovik, Gary Erickson and Robert J. Anderson. Incumbents Clyde Christensen and Wallace Sparby did not file for reelection. Terms of office of newly-elected board members will take effect on July 1.

A summary of election situations in neighboring districts is as follows:

Goodridge — Polls will be open from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Goodridge school with Loren Race filing for reelection and Richard Nelson not filing. Write-in ballot will be required to elect a second board member.

Grygla— Incumbent John Smeby and Bruce Lunsetter have filed for election while incumbent Ronald Engelstad has not filed. Polls will be open from 6 to 10 p.m. at Grygla, Gatzke and Skime schools.

Newfolden — Incumbents Derek Forsell and Walter Steinhauer have filed for reelection and are opposed by Robert Dahl, Bruce Elseth and William Olson Jr. Polls will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. at Newfolden, Holt and Viking schools.

Plummer — Neither Rodney Myhre nor J. Raymond Rosten have filed for reelection. Candidates for the two positions open are John A. Helley, Marlin Carlson, Chuck Heller Jr. and Ardith Zimpel. Clifford Randall filed early but withdrew his name after the filing period had closed and will not appear on the ballot. Polls are open from 6 to 9 p.m. in the Plummer school.

Middle River — Milan Abrahamson and Virgil Wagner have filed for reelection and are unopposed. Polls will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. in the Middle River school.

Oklee — Polls will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Oklee school. Lester Vad and George Lee have filed for reelection to the board and are opposed by John Olson. Vad is serving out the unexpired term of Gary Mitchell.

Strandquist — Marlys Lefrooth, incumbent, has filed for reelection to a three-year term but Orville Koland, the other incumbent, did not file. One board member for a three-year term must be elected by write-in ballot. John Wawrzyniak has filed for the unexpired term of Rick Anderson which is presently being filled by Ambrose Kuznia. Two years remain in that term. Polls will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Strandquist school.

Eligible to vote in school elections are all citizens 18 years of age and older who have been residents of the school district for 20 days.

Study Hints To Be Given At Workshop

Persons thinking about continuing their education who feel a bit rusty in their study skills are invited to attend a free workshop, "Hints on How to Study," to be offered Tuesday, May 22, from 1 to 3 p.m. in room B42 at Northland community college.

Participants will have the opportunity to take part in exercises prepared to familiarize them with class work procedures, such as thinking notes from a lecture, reading and reviewing textbooks, types of tests and how to take them and how to find and make the best use of time for studying.

Call Northland community college at 681-2181 for additional information.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Newcomers Club Completes Plans For Dinner-Dance

Several future events were discussed and planned as members of the Newcomers club met Tuesday evening at the Elks club to complete the decorations for the club's annual spring dinner-dance. The decorations made were fabric floral centerpieces which will be sold at the dinner set for Saturday, May 19, at the American Legion club. The event will begin with cocktails at 6:30 and a dinner at 7:30 p.m. The dance will follow.

Discussed was the club's participation in the flea market in June. Tentative plans are to have a booth, selling, hotdogs, bars and drinks. Also discussed was attendance at the dinner-theater at Lon's with members to be contacted when the date has been chosen.

Announcement was made that the May coffee party will be held May 31 at 10 a.m., at the Jan Quinlivan home at 507 North Duluth. The next regular meeting will be held June 12 with Mrs. Laura Nelson giving information about appliqueing with fabrics.

Nine members and two guests, Vonnie Person and Marilyn Adams, attended the meeting. The door prize was won by Kathy Turner. Lunch was served by Fay Bolin.

Happy Seniors' Activities Set At Skylite Center

N. Voldnesses Attend Baptism Of Lacey Hirst

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Voldness and Mrs. Hazel Hirst attended baptism services Sunday, May 6, at Humboldt for their great-granddaughter Lacey Roberta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Hirst of rural Hallock.

Lacey was the 1979 New Year's baby at the Karlstad hospital. She has a sister, Natasha, and one brother, Ivan. For the ceremony, she wore the same baptismal dress her sister had worn and which was first worn by her aunt Rosalyn Hirst Franzen at her baptism in 1955 at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. It was sewn for her by her great-aunt, Beatrice Olson, now of Spokane, Wash.

Lacey's sponsors were James Hirst of Williams and Paula Rantanen of Middle River.

Following the baptism, a dinner was served at the Hirst home. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Voldness and Mrs. Hirst of this city; Rev. and Mrs. K. Peterson of St. Vincent, Mrs. Betty Rantanen, Mr. and Mrs. Nilo Rantanen and Paula and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Troska, Jenny, Paul and Tony, all of Middle River; Mr. and Mrs. Armond Westlund, Nathan and Heather of Strathcona, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Efta and boys of Argyle, Mrs. Tillie Thompson of Newfolden and Mrs. Robert Hirst and James of Williams.

Colleen Tina Peters And Dale Bergeron To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peters of Plummer announce the engagement of their daughter, Colleen Tina, to Dale Bergeron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bergeron of Oklee.

The bride-elect will graduate from Plummer high school in May and is employed part-time at Kmart. Bergeron is a 1974 graduate of Oklee high school and is employed by Jim Klemmetsen.

A July 21st wedding is being planned.

Graduation Square Dance Set At Gonvick

Graduation dance for the Gonvick square dance class has been set for Sunday, May 20, at the Gonvick school gymnasium.

Dancing will be from 2 to 4 p.m., with Don Littlefield of Moorhead calling the tips. A potluck supper will follow.

All area square dancers are welcome to attend.

The Federal Labor Relations Authority, a new independent agency, has taken over duties of the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Federal Labor-Management Relations under President Carter's reorganization plan.

FUND-RAISING AWARDS were won by Pennington county Independent-Republican volunteers this year and presented at an informal board meeting in the Rex cafe. Chairman Ev Ault (center), who along with Dr. Rick Heinrichs received membership recognition awards, presented the neighbor-to-neighbor award to Gordon Ballingrud (second from right) and the century club award to Dr. Arnold Berg (right). Pennington county averaged goal attainment of 155 per cent, third high in the Seventh district, as the district also attained its state goal. At left are Gladys Barron and Sharon Howard.

Potpourri Club Spring Luncheon Held At Barrons

Potpourri homemakers club met Thursday, May 10, at the home of Mrs. Don Barron for the annual spring luncheon. During the event, plans were made for next year. The program will include crafts, together with the lessons provided by the county extension office.

Officers for the coming year will be Bonnie Poissant and Orlene Kiesz, co-chairmen; Louise Espeseth, secretary-treasurer and Darlene Mortenson and Claudine Herber, home councilors.

Present at the luncheon were Mrs. Don Barron, Mrs. Stan Mortenson, Mrs. Harry Oen, Mrs. Robert Poissant, Mrs. Arne Espeseth, Mrs. Owen Scramstad, Mrs. Milton Reierson, Mrs. Leo Herber and Mrs. Evin Keisz.

The next meeting of the Potpourri club will be held in September at the home of Mrs. Leo Herber.

Zion Church Women To Hear Al Judson

Zion Lutheran Church Women will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the church. Al Judson will be present to give information of the "Pathways" program. Special music will be provided by Don Reierson.

The Rebecca circle will be in charge of the program. Hostesses will be members of the Mary circle. Lois circle members will serve on hospitality.

Bible study leaders will meet at 7 p.m., with the pastor.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Virgil Hjelle
Viking

Due to the number of telephone calls regarding last week's recipe, which was impossible to read, Mrs. Hjelle's recipe for Fresh Apple cake is being repeated.

Fresh Apple Cake

- ½ cup butter or shortening
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 cup white sugar
- 1 cup sour milk
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 and one-fourth cups all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups raw apples, cored, peeled, and diced

Method: Heat oven to 350 degrees. Cream butter and sugars. Dissolve soda in sour milk. (Sour milk may be made by adding a little vinegar or lemon juice to sweet milk.) Add to creamed mixture, and beat well. Add beaten eggs and sifted dry ingredients. Beat. Fold in diced apples and pour into a greased and floured 9x13 inch cake pan.

Topping

- one-fourth cup brown sugar
- one-fourth cup white sugar
- three-fourths cup chopped walnuts
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon

Method: Mix well and sprinkle evenly over top of cake batter. Bake for 30 minutes or until cake tests done.

COPE Program Ends, Offenders Still Served

A successful pilot program, COPE (Comprehensive offender program effort), that assisted eligible ex-offenders with employment and training through CETA expired March 31, 1979. Termination of the project, however, did not signal an end to serving offenders.

Through the knowledge and experience gained in operation of COPE a viable communication network has been constructed between Manpower and the criminal justice professionals. This network will continue to grow and will serve the offender client with the full range of CETA opportunities available to them," states Ray Beauchamp, special program coordinator for the local CETA center.

The COPE program was funded with a $627,800 grant from the law enforcement assistance administration (LEAA) channeled through the Minnesota department of economic security office in St. Paul. The grant was alloted to region I in Minnesota was delivered by CETA Region I includes Polk, Norman, Red Lake, Pennington, Kittson, Marshall and Roseau counties.

Some of the results that the COPE program accomplished in its two and one-half year existence have national political figures considering the results as a way to reduce crime.

Northwestern Minnesota or region I served over 200 offender clients. Some of the clients were trained and placed on jobs while others were given work experience that eventually was sufficient to place them in unsubsidized employment in the community. Seventy-three per cent of the clients were placed in an employment setting at an average wage of $3.96 per hour.

Another very important goal accomplished by the program was the low rate of recidivism. The rate of return to crime by the offender client was 7.1 per cent of all participants. This rate compares to a national average of over 30 per cent.

The COPE program operated ona regular CETA function basis using orientation and assessment, which is an in depth interivew and assessment of the client's abilities; work experience, where the client can spend eight to 12 weeks or more on work experience sites, with a government or non-profit organization; and on-the-job training with any employer, where CETA pays 50 per cent of the salary for a period of training, the length of which is determined by the nature of the job. Vocational training was also offered to allow participants to achieve q trade of job goal. Those clients who had excessive barriers as many offenders have were offered supportive services to help overcome these barriers.

According to Beauchamp, the program was a success and a challenge. "The program offered the offenders a chance to succeed or fail. This chance gave them the opportunity to regain respect for themselves and confidence in their own abilities. Not everyone of course, is a success story. But the ones who were not," says Beauchamp, "are primarily the ones who try to take advantage of the program without pushing themselves."

New CETA legislation will enable the offenders to continue to be served through the regular CETA programming. Anyone who is interested in services should contact the CETA centers in Crookston or Thief River Falls.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION is available in Thief River Falls with this new bus recently received through the Tri-Valley Opportunity council with support from the Minnesota department of transportation and city of Thief River Falls. The bus is equipped with a power lift and positions to lock in four wheelchairs. Transportation supervisor Morris Owen assists Hans Eiken of Wannaska, a resident of Valley Home, with getting on the bus. Owen emphasizes that the bus is for total public use and not restricted to handicapped or senior citizens. A charge of 25 cents is made for one-way transportation. Full schedule for the bus is included in a supplement to this week's Northern Minnesota Shoppers Guide.

Farmers Will Cope With Low Fuel Supply

Minnesota Farmers Union president Cy Carpenter sounded warning to the state's congressional delegation recently that Minnesota farmers are facing serious, immediate fuel supply shortages at the most crucial time of the year—the beginning of spring planting.

In a message wired to Minnesota's U.S. Congressmen and Senators, Carpenter said the intent of Congress is being subverted to the extent that agriculture's so-called top fuel priority has become "meaningless".

"No matter how well intended, this priority position becomes a hollow value in farming operations, for it only results in . . . prices bloated well above the already distressing prices on the petroleum market," Carpenter said. ". . . farming is on a delicate timetable of risk, a constant battle with the weather. Food production simply cannot wait or delay for supplies to become available. We are at the mercy of the petroleum industry for supply and price and for whatever motivation, they refuse to respond in a responsible manner. Black marketeers are taking advantage of the situation by hiking the price up to the limit," he continued.

Carpenter called for Congress to make an immediate investigation into the shortage of fuel for spring farm work, and asked for action to get fuel to farmers at fair prices. He noted that flooding in the Red River Valley and cold, rainy spring weather had "delayed the day of reckoning to some degree", but warned that when the tractors get rolling the shortage will become a disaster.

For a long term solution, Carpenter called for completion of the Northern Tier pipeline and an arrangement with the Canadian government to use existing pipeline in Canada to bring Alaskan oil to the upper midwest.

Kathy Charlson Receives Award

Kathy Charlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Charlson of Thief River Falls, received the Bulldog award at the University of Minnesota Duluth for service in student government at award ceremonies recently on the Duluth campus.

Kathy, who will graduate May 26, has been accepted among 35 people from 2,500 applicants for state trooper candidate school in New Brighton. She began classes in the state patrol school today and will return to Duluth for the May 26 graduation exercises.

The Veterans Administration plans to guarantee 380,000 home loans valued at $17.7 billion for eligible ex-service members and active duty personnel in 1979.

Given-Smith Is Rescheduled As NOW Speaker

Rosemary Given-Smith, R.N., regional coordinator for Planned Parenthood, has been re-scheduled to be the guest speaker for the Agassiz chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) at that groups May meeting. The meeting will be held Tuesday, May 15, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in room A-39 at Northland community college.

Planned parenthood of Minnesota is a private, non-profit, voluntary family planning service organization whose goals are to make each child a wanted child, to provide medical and educational family planning services to help enable couples to have the number of children they want when they want them and to serve as an educational resource for the community.

Planned Parenthood has a regional office in Bemidji and satellite offices in Blackduck, Kelliher, Bagley, Northome, Baudette, Roseau, Mahnomen, Warren, Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls.

STIP, CETA Funds Available For Employers

Limited funding is available at this time for the skill training improvement program (STIP) through the comprehensive employment training centers (CETA) in Thief River Falls and Crookston. The STIP program is an upgrade and training program available to private for profit employers in the seven-county northwest Minnesota region.

Already utilized by several prominent northwest Minnesota employers, STIP assists these firms' employees in semi or unskilled positions with little normal advancement opportunities to upgrade or improve their skills so they can move into more advanced positions with the same employer. Positions vacated by the upwardly mobile STIP program participants can be made available to additional program participants.

Employers interested in securing more information on the STIP program may call (218) 681-7350 in Thief River Falls before May 16.

Unemployment Rate In March Is 4.2 Per Cent

Minnesota's unemployment rate in March was 4.2 per cent, Rolf Middleton, commissioner of the Minnesota department of economic security, announced recently.

Comparable national rate for March was 6.1 per cent.

State rate was down .3 of one per cent from February's 4.5 per cent. March rate was up .1 per cent from March 1978, when it was 4.1 per cent.

Civilian labor force in March was 2,005,300; employment was 1,921,100; the number of unemployed was 84,200.

In February, the civilian labor force was 1,991,000; employment was 1,901,200; and unemployment was 89,800.

In March a year ago, the civilian labor force was 1,897,200; employment was 1,819,100; and the number unemployed was 78,000.

Production workers in manufacturing were paid average weekly earnings of $273.96 in March for working an average of 40.2 hours at $6.80 per hour. In March last year, production workers averaged 40.1 hours at $6.32 per hour for average weekly earnings of $252.43.

State's Dairy Farms Note Dip In Production

Revised estimates on the segment of Minnesota agriculture that annually generates over one-fifth of this state's gross farm income show that 28,014 dairy farms were producing and marketing milk during 1978, commissioner Mark W. Seetin reported recently.

Commissioner Seetin also noted that the 1,125 reduction in dairy farms during the fiscal year was less than a 4 per cent drop from the 29,139 dairy farms operating in 1977. During the past five years, one-fourth of the 37,386 dairy farms that were operating in 1973 have gone out of production.

While the decline in total dairy farms continues, the number of farms improving facilities and herds to qualify for Grade A milk production continues to increase. The 1978 count of 8,791 Grade A dairy farms is 11 per cent higher than five years ago.

Grade B bulk tank milk farms continue to be the dominant segment of the state's dairy industry with 12,158 operating in 1978, down 16 per cent from 1973.

Sharpest declines were experienced during the past year by Grade B milk can and cream farms. Farms marketing milk in this manner numbered 7,009, down 11 per cent for the year and less than half the number five years ago. The 56 cream farms were 71 per cent fewer than a year earlier and only 7 per cent of the 783 that were operating in 1973.

Six individual counties actually increased in operating dairy farms during the 1974-78 period for which estimates are available. These are Clearwater, Fillmore, Mahnomen, Mille Lacs, Ramsey and Traverse.

Minnesota's leading counties in total dairy farms, respectively, are: Stearns, Otter Tail, Morrison, Todd, Fillmore, Douglas, Wright, Winona, McLeod, Carver, Goodhue, Pine, Benton, Meeker and Houston.

Leading counties in Grade A dairy farms are: Stearns, Otter Tail, Goodhue, Todd-Winona tied, Fillmore, Wright, Wabasha, Rice, Morrison, Douglas-Olmsted tied, McLeod, and Becker-Pine tied.

Tree Worms To Be A Pest In Northern Minn.

Department of Natural Resources forestry division is predicting a heavy outbreak of forest tent catepillars in parts of northern Minnesota this summer.

Jerry Hecht, forest pest specialist, said heavy defoliation of aspen and some other hardwood (broadleaf) tree species can be expected in the following counties: central St. Louis, west half of Lake, northeastern Carlton, east half of Becker, central Hubbard and Cass, and most of Lake of the Woods and Roseau.

He said lighter defoliation is likely to occur in locations surrounding the hardest hit areas and that heavy defoliation will be more widespread than last summer.

Fortunately, said Hecht, defoliation seldom kills the tree unless it is completely defoliated three or four years in succession. For that reason, spraying is usually not recommended to control the caterpillars.

A lawn tree can be protected from defoliation before the eggs hatch by clipping off twigs containing the egg masses.

Catepillars hatch when leaves begin to expand in May. The worms feed and develop through May and are full grown by late June when they measure about two inches in length.

Adult caterpillar spins a cocoon from which a moth emerges in July. The moth deposits 100 to 300 eggs in a single mass surrounding a twig. The worms hatch about nine months later.

An outbreak may last three of four consecutive years but eventually adverse weather, starvation, disease, parasites and predators will control the pest.

COUNTDOWN TO HYPNOSIS is taking place for approximately 20 Northland community college students in this photo. Under the direction of John Kolisch the students are allowing themselves to slip into a hypnotic state. "He told us to hold our hands together," explains Marilyn Anderson, one of the students who experienced the hypnosis. "He said, 'Keep them tight, tighter, tighter. They are getting like cement,' and my hands were tight. There was no way I could have pulled them apart."

was no way I could have pulled them apart."

"When he told us that our eyes won't open," Joe Ranum stated, "they wouldn't. You felt the same way as when you are going to sleep and you hear the radio over here, and you hear someone scream downstairs and you hear a door slam but you don't wake up."

"It gets black, too," Julie Anderson explained in talking about her experience. "It was light and as you got deeper and deeper it got blacker."

"I contemplated in my head at times whether or not I was really under," Ranum admits, because you are conscious. Then I'd say to myself 'Well then open your eyes up and look and see everybody' and I couldn't just because he told me not to."

The students agreed that at times they were under deeper than other, occasionally not aware of what was going on around them, at other times questioning whether or not they were actually hypnotised because they seemed so conscious. But it was, as John Kolisch explained and the students stated, their belief in the hypnosis that held the power. Shelly Homstad explains that she came out of the hypnosis once and as Kolisch tried to put her back under she said, "No, I can't go under. He just told me 'Just relax and believe.' Then I went under."

During the course of their hypnosis Kolisch, by post-hypnotic suggestion, took the students to the beach, had them experience extremes in temperature, participate in an ice cream eating contest, fight with mosquitos and ants and perform for the audience. Their reactions: "The sky was so blue and it was hot, I really was laying at the beach in the sand." "I could taste the ice cream, mine was chocolate." "When he told us we were cold, I was just shivering and I tried to cuddle up to the person next to me."

"He doesn't leave all your reactions up to you," Ranum explains. "He sometimes tells you what to do, but still the fact that you do it proves you are under hypnosis. It was so amazing. There was no logical explanation for anything we did except that he told us to."

And throughout his show Kolisch inserted hints about the power of positive thinking. Ranum states, "I remember he said, 'You did these things because you wanted people to have fun. You'll feel good about yourself the next time you play a football game or tennis match, you'll feel like a winner'." Ranum summarized his reaction to John Kolisch saying, "He was a good hypnotist and quite a showman."

Larry Leake Is Designated Pilot Examiner

Larry Leake, assistant professor of agriculture aviation at the University of Minnesota — Crookston (UMC), has been disignated as one of six pilots in Minnesota to become an examiner by the Minneapolis office of federal aviation administration (FFA).

Under his certification Leake can now issue certified flight instructor certificates and instrument flight instructor certificates.

Before Leake received his certification, students had to go to Minneaplis to become certified. Now the written, oral and flight test may all be taken in Crookston.

For more information about the agriculture aviation program, interested persons may call the agriculture division, telephone 281-6510, extension 202.

Mrs. Julian Halvorson, 49, Dies In Seattle

Mrs. Julian (Pearl) Halvorson, 49, of Seattle, Wash., and formerly of Thief River Falls, died May 5, at Seattle. Death was attributed to a massive heart attack.

Funeral services for Mrs. Julian Halvorson were held Tuesday at Seattle at St. James Lutheran church.

Mrs. Halvorson, the former Pearl Gilbertson, was born in Fordville, N.D., to Mr. and Mrs. Ole Gilbertson, now deceased. She attended school at Fordville and was married in Thief River Falls in 1952 to Julian Halvorson.

Surviving are her husband, three sons, a daughter and one grandson, all of the Seattle area.

Also surviving and attending the services were her brother, Clarence Gilbertson of Thief River Falls, and sisters: Mrs. Ida Brouse, who was accompanied by Daniel Brouse, Thief River Falls and Janice Solberg of Goodridge; Lila Mae Wood of Madison, Wis.; Marian Falconer of Seattle, Wash.; and Helen Mossestad of Milwaukee, Wis., and her daughter, Laurie.

She was preceded in death by three brothers and one sister.

Mrs. Harry Sampson, 63, Dies Friday

Mrs. Harry (Tillie) Sampson, 63, of Thief River Falls, died Friday morning at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Harry Sampson are being held today (Monday) at 2 p.m., at the Silver Creek Lutheran church with Rev. Keith Prekker officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery. The Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

A complete obituary will be published in Wednesday's edition of the Times.

Mary Johnson Hoime, Once Of Kratka, Dies

Mrs. Edwin (Mary) Hoime, 82, of Luverne, and formerly of Kratka township, Pennington county, died Tuesday at the Mary Jane Brown home at Luverne.

Funeral services for Mrs. Edwin Hoime were held Friday at 2 p.m., at the Grace Lutheran church at Luverne. Rev. Norman P. Olsen officiated. Interment was in the Maplewood cemetery with the Holm Funeral home of Luverne in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hoime, the former Mary Henrietta Johnson, was born Jan. 27, 1897 at Luverne. When she was a child, the family moved to a farm northeast of Magnolia. In 1904, they came to this community and homesteaded in Kratka township. She attended rural schools and was graduated from high school and Normal Training in Thief River Falls in 1916. She taught for 15 years, spending three of those years in Rock county.

On Dec. 15, 1934, she was married in Minneapolis to Edwin Knute Hoime. They lived on the Hoime farm for a time before moving to a farm northeast of Luverne. Later they farmed southeast of Luverne. In 1957, they retired and moved into that city.

She was a member of the Grace Lutheran church of Luverne.

Surviving are a brother, Bert K. Johnson, Goodridge, and one sister, Mrs. Albert Oldre of Luverne.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in March of 1959.

Dr. Wm. Lamers, psychiatrist, says, "In my experience, in my research, I have found a funeral to be of great value over an extended time for those who partipate in it, for those who make it a part of the way in which they respond to death. I was so impressed, that I have made speeches and appeared on radio and TV to discuss how I, a psychiatrist, felt about funerals.
Respectfully,

Gail Bergland New Director Of RLF Nurses

Gail Bergland, R.N., was recently appointed director of nurses at St. John's hospital in Red Lake Falls, and will begin her new duties May 21.

Mrs. Bergland graduated from the Thief River Falls A.V.T.I. school of practical nursing and later received her associate of arts and associate degree of nursing from Northland community college in Thief River Falls. Prior to accepting a staff position at St. John's Hospital, Gail worked at the Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls, and has been a staff nurse at St. John's hospital for the past year.

Mrs. Bergland recently completed a cardiovascular class at St. Luke's hospital in Fargo, N.D. In addition she has spent some time at the University of Minnesota in cardiovascular nursing and discharge planning for post myocardial infarction patients.

Gail is married to Richard Bergland and they have four children.

Expect Cold Summer After Cold Winter

According to state climatoligist Earl Kuehnast of the Department of Natural Resources, Minnesota's long cold winter is likely to be followed by a cold summer.

He said statistics on temperature for the months immediately following the 12 coldest winters on record in Minnesota show that temperatures were below normal 10 of the following 12 summers.

Kuehnast said the past winter was the worst on record in the Twin Cities based on a combination of cold temperatures and snow cover. The 1978-79 winter was the second coldest and had the most number of days with snow cover of six inches or more.

The average temperature this winter for the months December through February was 5.87 F. The coldest winter was 5 degrees F. recorded during the winter of 1935-36.

The information is based on date from the Farmington climate station of the National Weather Service.

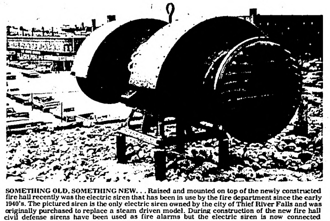
Heavy snow that fell at Farmington on Nov. 16 remained on the ground all winter — 122 days 8 making it the longest period on record for days with six inches or more of snow cover.

On a brighter note, Kuehnast said that based on past records there is some grounds for hope that this may be our last extra cold winter — for a while at least.

Two From LHS To Attend MSU

Craig Harbott and Craig Molstad, seniors at Lincoln senior high school have been accepted to enroll as freshmen next fall at Moorhead state university.

Molstad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Molstad, Thief River Falls. Harbott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Harbott, Thief River Falls.



SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW... Raised and mounted on top of the newly constructed fire hall recently was the electric siren that has been in use by the fire department since the early 1940's. The pictured siren is the only electric siren owned by the city of Thief River Falls and was originally purchased to replace a steam driven model. During construction of the new fire hall civil defense sirens have been used as fire alarms but the electric siren is now connected and will be tested Tuesday, May 15, at 2 p.m.

Craig Molstad Receives Soo Scholarship

Craig L. Molstad, a senior at Lincoln senior high school, has been selected to receive a $500 distinguished scholarship award from the Soo Line Railroad company.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Molstad of 805 Tindolph av. S. in Thief River Falls and his father works in Soo's transportation department here.

The grant being made is part of a scholarship program directed to sons and daughters of Soo Line employees. Distinguished scholarship awards are being made this year to 10 high school seniors located throughout Soo Line's seven-state territory.

Recipients of awards are selected by an independent scholarship committee which reviews each applicant's personal and community achievements as well as scholastic abilities. The company's intent in making the grants is to provide a means through which sons and daughters of its employees can "continue their formal education and become more involved and responsible members of society.

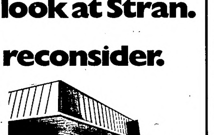
She plans to major in hotel restaurant management at the two-year college. Upon satisfactory completion of all course requirements, she will be awarded an associate in applied science degree.



Inflation price you out of a new building? Take a look at Stran.
And reconsider.
As your Authorized Stran Builder, we're very much aware of how inflation has affected the cost of building new facilities.
Costs have risen dramatically for both materials, and construction labor. That's why it makes good building sense to take a look at Stran's building systems approach. Why?
• Most of the building is fabricated in a modern manufacturing plant to take advantage of automation and more productive man-hour utilization.
• The system is designed and produced to go together fast at your job site. Saving valuable man-hours in on-site construction costs.
So before calling off your plans for a new building, call us and let's see how we can help you deflate inflation. We may have you breaking ground after all.

Fosston Artist Awarded Grant For Art Work

Out of nearly 400 applicants, Ric Sorenson of Fosston was awarded a $2,500 grant from the Minnesota state arts board for the continuation of his creations of new works of art. Out of the 33 visual artists awards only four were outside of Minneapolis-St. Paul.

"I think of my work as object making or three dimensional collages", said Sorenson, "I take materials that may have little or no relationship to each other while being used in their normal way. If I can successfully recycle those materials they take on a magical kinship once inside the frame, looking as though they were always meant to be together".

Sorenson said he works with a relationship between frame and object, with the frame being more than something to hold it together and the glass more than a protective cover. He said he often times has work extending beyond the outer plexiglas.

Sorenson has been exhibiting his works throughout Minnesota and North Dakota since 1974 and has received a number of awards. Sorenson is presently teaching art at the Fosston high school, and is serving as a member of the Northwestern arts council of the Northwest regional development commission.

Terry Wallace Appointed To State Council

Governor Al Quie's office announced the appointment of Terry Wallace of Thief River Falls to a four-year term on the Minnesota state council for the handicapped, effective May 1, 1979. Terry has been employed by the Northwest educational cooperative service unit under the direction of Dr. Fred Rohde since September of 1978.

State council responsibilities include planning and evaluating of programs in the areas of accessibility, discrimination, education, employment, housing, human rights, income maintenance, insurance, legislation, recreation, transportation and welfare for handicapped citizens of all ages in Minnesota.

Wallace received his undergraduate and Master's training at Ohio university, his Ed. S. degree from George Peabody college for teachers and is active in a variety of organizations supporting the handicapped. Those interested in further information concerning programs for handicapped individuals are encouraged to contact Terry at the Northwest educational cooperative service unit (681-2700) in Thief River Falls.

STUDENT OF PSYCHOLOGY as well as a veteran hypnotist, John Kolisch uses his knowledge of both subjects in his dealings with his audiences and subjects. Following his three-hour "Phenomena of the Mind" show at Northland community college Thursday, Kolisch lead an hour-long "smoke out" where he used pertinent information, the power of suggestion and hypnosis to help approximately 20 persons make a commitment to quit smoking. "The average person doesn't realize he can do many things by himself," says Kolisch. "The person's belief is what makes something work or not." It is this fact that Kolisch tried to impress on the "smoke out" participants and one participant commented "When I got done I believed I was never going to smoke a cigarette again and I don't think I will."

Percentages Are Misleading

Publisher Bob Johnson of the Wadena Pioneer-Journal was taken to task recently for his method of computing cost in a salary settlement. He explained his method and the reasons for using it in a recent column as follows:

Was the Pioneer Journal inaccurate in its reporting of the 1979-81 salary contract proposal by the Wadena Federation of Teachers (WFT)? No!!! Our story was 100 per cent correct despite the protestations of Edward Bolstad, executive secretary for the Minnesota Federation of Teachers, in a letter to the editor printed elsewhere on today's editorial page.

As our story stated, the proposal made by the WFT bargaining council would cost the local district approximately $740,000 above teacher salary and fringe benefit costs for the 1978-79 school year. This includes $564,861 in added salaries, $8,739 in higher costs for supervision of extracurricular activities and $166,820 for added costs of full family health insurance coverage.

This total added cost ($740,060) divided by the 1978-79 Wadena district cost for teacher salaries and fringe benefits ($2,281,269) represents 32.4 per cent of the latter figure, if the universally accepted arithmetic method of calculating percentages is used.

Our story also stated that the head of the WFT bargaining council said the proposal represented an eight per cent salary increase in the first year and nine per cent in the second year.

Reader Bolstad says the eight per cent-nine per cent method is the only way to allow fair comparison, but we argue that such a comparison fails to provide a true picture of the total cost. The PJ's reporting method provides the total new cost for the two-year contract period.

The PJ has used its calculation method for the past five years on all public employee bargaining reporting that covered two-year contracts. We believe it is the only method that correctly arrives at the correct total cost.

Reader Bolstad differs with our opinion, suggesting that 400-plus school districts and President Carter's guidelines are using a different method.

We suggest that this may be why many school districts and the federal government are in financial troubles. If they had correctly calculated the total new cost of proposals in the past, these troubles might not have developed.

To prove a point, let's apply the PJ calculation method to a private business enterprise such as a newspaper. Suppose the newspaper is spending $100,000 in its 1978-79 fiscal year to purchase newsprint. It receives a notice from its paper supplier that the cost of newsprint will increase eight per cent in 1979-80 and an added nine per cent in 1978-81.

If those increases were reported as Reader Bolstad suggests, most newspaper readers would calculate that the newspaper would be paying 17 per cent more for newsprint. That, however, would not be true.

The newspaper would pay $108,000 in 1979-80 and $117,720 in 1980-81. The total added or new cost over the two years would be $25,720 ($8,000 plus $17,720). This is 25.72 per cent of the newspaper's cost in 1978-79. If the newspaper owners had believed the 17 per cent figure they would have been more than $8,000 short in their budget calculations.

I suggest that reader Bolstad's reporting methods are the reason many governmental units are finding themselves in financial troubles because of multi-year contracts negotiated in the past. That's why we have instructed our staff members to continue to use the total new cost method of reporting all public employee bargaining proposals made either by the employee group or the governmental unit bargainers. In the current negotiations, we will use that method for both WFT and school board salary proposals.

Wetland Values

Following editorial appeared recently in the Mahnomen Pioneer:

The floods to the west of Mahnomen and the washouts on some roads are partially due to the past draining of thousands of acres of wetlands. If 141,000 acres of wetlands hadn't been drained in Mahnomen county over the past two decades, perhaps spring runoff and heavy rains wouldn't pose such a threat to our roads and to communities downstream of Mahnomen county.

According to U.S. Fish and Wildlife service (FWS) statistics, there were 165,000 acres of wetlands in Mahnomen county in 1955. By the end of 1978, there were only about 24,000 acres of wetlands left in this county.

The wetlands were drained as "improvement" projects, but the draining of wetlands has an effect on more than just the property it sits on. "Preserved wetlands also result in ground water level maintenance and recharge of subsurface water resources. Wetlands act as a giant sponge absorbing large amounts of water and then releasing it slowly over a long period of time," says a report from the FWS.

If there were more acres of wetlands in Mahnomen county, then water run-off and downstream flooding wouldn't be such severe problems as they were this year. Wetlands should no longer be drained.

There are federal programs to encourage landowners to keep their wetlands intact. The FWS will buy wetlands (if allowed) and also purchase easements, and there is a federal waterbank program for wetland preservation too.

Perhaps the payments to landowners from the federal programs aren't as high as they should be. Perhaps the federal government should see the flood-fighting value of wetlands and increase payments on easements. But whatever the government does or doesn't do, it is clear that wetlands are valuable to more than just ducks. Wetlands are valuable to man — they help to keep water levels from becoming too high or too low.

Dikes In Trouble

Following editorial is from the Warren Sheaf:

All is not well with the 38 miles of farmer dikes protecting about 125 farmsteads in Polk and Marshall counties. Not only did this year's record flood top most of the dikes but law suits are being threatened from farmers on the North Dakota side who feel their water was higher and more extensive because of the Minnesota dikes. In addition the State DNR has issued orders not to build more dikes so it is questionable whether or not farmers will fill the washed out areas punched out by the water this past month from a legal point of view.

About two-thirds of the farmsteads protected by the dikes were swamped with water when the dikes were topped by swollen Red River water. The other one-third had their own dikes ringing their farmsteads which were high enough to hold out the flood of the century. Congressman Stangeland was talking about the possibility of providing government assistance to help build ring dikes around farmsteads in flood-prone areas. There are no laws against putting up a dike system around individual farmsteads and perhaps this is the way to go to protect living areas and stored grain.

Such ring dikes, however, don't stop floods. Concentration on this phase of controlling water will have to start where the spring run off starts — in the upper reaches of the Red River Valley, continuing all the way to the Red River. Small water retention areas, drained dry in the summer and fall to be ready to accept spring run off, smaller culverts, some higher roads, gates on culverts to be opened later on when crests have passed, some big dam projects like the Huot Dam. In spite of efforts such as these mentioned, there may still be and undoubtedly will be, spring flooding. However, at least if every effort is made to reduce the speed of runoff water, residents of flood prone areas will know that the most that can be is being done to cut down the damaging top few feet of flooding.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

The issue over half-day kindergarten classes every day versus full-day kindergarten every other day is again before the school board and will be decided during its meeting Tuesday evening, May 15.

At the most recent school board meeting, board members stated that they had received very little, if any, opinions from parents on the present full-day, every other day schedule.

As an aid to board members, we urge parents who have had children in kindergarten this year to phone board members to inform them of your opinion, and we urge parents who will have children in kindergarten next fall to phone the board members, telling them which schedule you prefer and why.

It was stated at the last board meeting that it would not be fair to judge the full-day alternate-day program until it had been tried for two years. We feel that what was learned during this past school year is sufficient as a basis of evaluation and there is no need to go another year before making an assessment of the program.

In June of 1978, the school board was presented a detailed, well-researched report outlining the serious disadvantages of the full-day alternative. That report was based on a thorough report by the Minnesota department of education in 1974, based on studies of kindergartens across the state which had tried the full-day program. At the same time, our local kindergarten teachers formally presented their educational reasons for opposing the full-day alternative.

Once again, this spring, the kindergarten teachers have presented a statement to the board explaining the problems they have encountered with the full-day system.

Having read the board of education report and the statement by our teachers we list a few of the most serious problems encountered with the full-day alternative-day schedule: Children are too tired in the afternoon to benefit from the afternoon instruction. We must remember these are five-year-olds. Kindergarten is no longer "play-time" as it was 20 years ago. Now it is instruction. Now, when children are too tired to learn, it affects their ability to succeed in first grade.

Children enrolled in full-day alternate day programs have proven to be less well-prepared to enter first grade than children who were enrolled in half-day every day programs, because it is impossible to complete as much work in the full-day alternate day schedule. Parents and teachers report that snow days and illness can cause large gaps through missed school days in the attendance of children, affecting not only the continuity of their education, but their sense of security as well. Additionally, children transported on the bus must contend with two long bus rides at both ends of a school-day already made too long for five-year-olds.

Last year the school board did not argue that the full-day schedule would improve the education of kindergarteners. They instituted the program simply as an economy measure. We are sympathetic toward the plight of the board as they are faced with reduced revenue and rising costs. Nevertheless, we question the wisdom of cutting basic educational programs while continuing to underwrite expansive extra curricular activities which are not directly related to basic education.

We cannot believe that fielding a winnning hockey or football team is more important than giving children the best basic education possible. After all, how many of us will be playing competitive tackle football or hockey when we have graduated from school, or when we are 40 or 70? But what we learn in kindergarten and the grades will continue to be important for as long as we live.

The school board continually asks "Where do we cut?" and it seems to us a question that must finally be decided on the basis of basic educational priorities: What programs will have the most lasting value? Those programs should receive highest priority and funding support.

In an effort to help the board keep such basic educational programs as half-day everyday kindergarten, while being able to present a balanced budget, we offer this suggestion: Let the board make a general estimate of the cost of each extra curricular activity. Then add those costs together and divide the total by the number of students in the system. That would give a per-pupil figure for extra curricular activities. If that figure is higher than the budget can afford per pupil, let the board determine exactly how much the school district can afford per pupil. Then, make the amount available to every student.

If a student elected to be in five low-cost activities which together cost less than the allowed amount, he would get it all free. If a student chose a number of high-cost activities, the district would fund that portion covered by the budget, but the student would have to fund the remainder, or in the case of football, hockey and basketball, all of which seem important to civic pride, a quarterback club or businesses or interested individuals could augment the program by paying for the unfunded portion of any program.

We believe this method of attacking the budget problem would have a number of positive results. First, every student would be given equal status. That's an important philosophical point in our democracy and it has a good teaching value. Gone would be the jealousy between people in activities which get little support and those activities which receive large budgets. Second, students might learn something about responsible budgeting. They might have to learn how to place priorities on their time and money as they choose between activities. Third, students who wish to participate in a number of expensive activities might find they could work part-time to raise the money needed, and learning the worth ethic is not an altogether bad educational spin-off! Fourth, such a plan might help the community work better together, for if the community values certain extra curricular activities such as sports and concerts andmusicals, then perhaps the community would unite to raise the money for those activities that the school budget can't pay for.

We believe the emphasis on basic education and education which will provide useful tools for living all the way through life, rather than highly specialized activities which will not be used after graduation, should receive the highest priority. We invite parents to speak with board members at the point of kindergarten alternatives as well as expressing their views about education as a whole.

Sincerely,
Jonathan and Maryanne Law

Brainerd DNR Staff Member Receives Award

A member of the Minnesota environmental education board, Department of Natural Resources, has been honored in the 1979 American Motors conservation award competition it was announced recently.

Pamela B. Landers of Brainerd was recognized as one of 10 outstanding professional conservationists in the nation. She received $500, an engraved bronze plaque and a trip to Washington D.C. for the presentation ceremony.

She has the task of planning, developing and implementing environmental education programs in three regional development commissions.

U.S. Senator

reports to Minnesota

Since announcing his energy program last month, President Carter has spent most of his time promoting the windfall profits tax he favors. Time and again, he has pointed out that the phased decontrol of oil prices he will implement beginning next month will result in huge undeserved profits for the major oil companies.

Those profits, the President says, should be returned to the American people in the form of increased energy supply, improved mass transit, additional energy research and development of new sources and protection against excessive energy costs of low- and moderate-income citizens.

And what has happened in the five weeks since the President announced his plan? Many areas of the country are experiencing shortages of gasoline and other fuel. Price hikes, many of them unwarranted, are pushing up the rate of inflation and the President's windfall profits tax remains as vague as it was in the night on which it was first promulgated.

Minnesotans are asking legitimate questions that, frankly, I can't answer. However, the two energy subcommittees of which I am a member have scheduled several hearings in the coming weeks with administration spokespeople, representatives of the oil industry and private economists. In these hearings I intend to press the questions until I am satisfied with the answers to these and other questions:

+ Why are gasoline prices rising so rapidly?

+How much will the lifting of controls add to the price of energy?

+If a windfall profits tax is passed by Congress, won't the cost be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices?

+How much will price decontrol and the new tax increase energy production?

+According to recent reports, decontrol will contribute up to $15 billion in profits to the oil companies, yet the windfall tax will recover only about $2 billion. Doesn't the President's plan still give the oil companies excessive profits without guaranteeing additional production?

+Over the years, American consumers have been told to convert from gasoline to diesel and to build homes and factories powered by oil and electricity rather than natural gas. Now, we are being told the opposite. As we build for the future, we can rely on current projections?

The President can't effectively conduct a domestic program of such vital importance as energy by railing against Congress and the oil companies. This is the time for him to exert his leadership and to devote the same effort and dedication to energy that he did to peace in the Mideast.

Why does the burden fall on the President and not on Congress? Because he has the singular power to gather around him the top experts in the area of energy. Only he can order energy to be the top priority of the entire federal bureaucracy, bringing together all its resources for a common goal. The President, unlike Members of Congress, represents a national constituency and is not bound by the special interests of any state of district.

Perhaps most importantly, the President can command the visibility in the media. He has proven that during the last five weeks. Rather than using that exposure to educate the public and to bring together diverse points of view, he has chosen to open wounds, pitting one interest against another.

The Flood of 1979

Those of us who live in the Red River Valley have become accustomed to the almost yearly abuses mother nature forces upon us with the spring flooding of the Red River.

This year's flood damage has been labeled as the worst this century, and possibly the worst in history. The damage has been estimated by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration at $31,078,000 for the eleven Minnesota counties designated by President Carter as a disaster area. The Army Corps of Engineers estimates the damage at $24.6 million, and states that approximately 311,980 acres of farmland has been damaged. Some 624 homes and at least 25 businesses were also affected.

In terms of human life, we can be thankful that no one was killed, and only three persons were injured. Personal suffering will be felt hard by those people who will find it necessary to rebuild their lives that have so needlessly been uprooted by this flood.

I am tired of facing this devastation every year, and I can no longer tolerate the lackadaisical attitude of the bureaucrats in Washington. While viewing the flood this year I talked to many of you who feel the same way. Unlike other natural disasters, the flood situation is one that we can deal with. But unless something is done right now, nothing will ever be done. History shows that people have been trying for over 100 years to develop improved flood control, but to this day we still don't have a viable solution.

Whatever we do will take time, but the fact is, we must start somewhere. I will be proposing a measure to my colleagues in Congress that will provide funds to assist farmers in building ring dikes in those areas that would benefit from them. A survey would be necessary to establish the number of farms involved. I realize to many of you this sounds like just another survey, but it will be necessary to provide the right amount of funding, and maintain a policy of eliminating unnecessary waste of tax dollars. I would also like to look again at the Hewitt Dam proposal. This plan was disregarded by Congress and the Army Corps of Engineers because they believed it did not have a positive cost benefit ratio. I hope to be able to convince the corps and Congress that we should change our method of determining cost benefit ratios to see if we can't develop some kind of flood control measures on the Red River and its tributaries. After all, when you examine the statistics it becomes evident that more than $300 million of damage has been done by floods in the last 10 years, and it is estimated an additional $300 million has been lost due to the economic impact the floods have had on residents.

For those of you who are affected by this year's flood, I would like to remind you that you may be eligible for Federal assistance. The main Disaster Assistance Center is in Crookston, and it is located at 223 East Seventh St. A toll free number will be established soon and I suggest you call my District Office at (218) 233-8631, or check with your local newspaper, or radio or television station to obtain it. Other Disaster Assistance Centers will be established, but their locations have not been announced.

I would also like to commend all of you who pulled together in this time of need and worked as a team to combat the flood. I was especially impressed with the large number of students who participated. Your efforts are greatly appreciated, and you must be congratulated for doing such a phenomenal job of sandbagging, patrolling dikes, and all the jobs that had to be done to protect the safety of the people living in these areas.

4H CLUB

Silverton

The Silverton 4-H club met April 19 at the City Auditorium meeting room. The meeting was called to order and flag pledges were said. Roll call was taken and 26 members were present. Our club was chosen as a pilot club and during roll call Sharon Wagner showed some posters on making decisions. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Old business: Thank you to leaders who helped in Share-the-Fun. Congratulations to Ricky Peterson for getting best actor, and to Susan Spengler for winning a trip to Washington D.C. and to Bev Rupprecht for receiving the Hot Dog award. The 4-H Carnival was discussed. Annette Barth and David Altepeter were chosen for king and queen from our club. We planned to go roller skating on May 1. 4-H Sunday is May 20. We are supposed to talk with our pastors on some ideas of things to do. Meeting was adjourned.

Project reports were given by Sue Spengler on meats, Candi Rupprecht on foods, Kim Battleson on indoor gardening and Debra Langenfeld also gave a report on the tricks-for-treats unit of foods.

The birthday song was sung to Susan Peterson, Daryl Rupprecht, Jim Langenfeld and Debbie Torgerson.

We had a class on judging. We judged chocolate cookies.

Lunch was served by Marlene Klotter and Pam Battleson.

BSU Workshops Feature Energy Education Class

Minnesota teachers will have the opportunity to learn more about energy education and consumption this summer in a two-day workshop offered through Bemidji state university. Designed specifically for elementary and secondary teachers, the June 15-16 meeting will be held at the Bald Eagle outdoor learning center in Cass Lake.

Sponsoring the event are the Minnesota environmantal education board, the Minnesota energy agency and Bemidji state university.

Six resource personnel will be on hand to introduce print and audio-visual resources, teaching strategies, curriculum materials, and a forum for discussion.

Leading such topics as home energy utilization and education unit development will be the following professionals: Dr. Ray Nelson, director of the BSU Center for environmental-ourdoor education; Roger Wangen, associate professor of education and social studies at BSU; Donald Bye, associate professor of education and social studies, BSU; Howard Teague, regional coordinator, Minnesota environmental board; Dr. Irving Strom, professor of industrial education, BSU; Sue Hallingsworth, consoltant in energy education, Minnesota department of education.

One credit or graduate or undergraduate credit may be earned.

For information on fees and registration, contact: Office of Area Services, Deputy Hall, Bamidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601, or call 218-755-2851.

BBB Cautions Consumers On Energy Credits

First guidelines for advertising federal energy tax credits were announced today by Ronald J. Graham, president of the Better Business Bureau of Minnesota.

"Following enactment of the energy tax act of 1978," said Graham, "we learned that there was considerable confusion often resulting in misleading advertising. One ad, for example, could easily lead consumers into thinking the government was going to foot the entire bill for installing insulation. The fact is the credits are limited to only a portion of expenditures and law is quite explicit as to what items are or are not eligible for credit. It became clear that guidelines for both advertisers and media were needed in order to avoid disappointment by consumers at tax time."

BBB guidelines set out clearly what products have been declared eligible for tax credits, who is eligible and what percentages of expenditures can be credited against tax liability. Provisions also give guidance for ad layout and composition to help advertisers avoid mixing up eligible and ineligible products in ads or give the impression of unqualified "government approval" when they have been "approved" only for tax credit.

Statements such as "all homeowners eligible" are prohibited in the guides, since the law limits eligibility to a taxpayer's principal residence that was substantially completed before April 20, 1977. In addition there are guides for advertising tax credits enacted by state or local governments.

Besides seeking support for the guidelines from those who sell and advertise energy saving products, the Better Business Bureau of Minnesota and Better Business Bureaus around the country will also encourage print and broadcast media to use them as a reference when reviewing ads submitted to them.

"The announced national goal of energy conservation and the spectre of ever increasing energy costs have helped create a booming market in energy saving products," said Graham. "These guidelines are intended to preserve and maintain integrity in the advertising and selling of those products."

Suggest Review Of Safety Rules By Bicyclists

National bike safety week, May 13-19, is a good time to review bike safety rules to help insure a safe cycling season, suggests the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA).

"In many cases, bicyclists involved in accidents either do not know, or willfully disregard, traffic rules and regulations," said Barbara Mittelstadt, Minnesota AAA traffic safety coordinator. "As a result, bicyclists are most often at fault when bicycles collide with motor vehicles," added Mittelstadt.

Last year, 23 bicycle drivers were killed in Minnesota — one less than in 1977.

+Obey all traffic signs, signals and rules.

+Drive solo— only one on a bicycle.

+Keep both hands on the handlebars, except when signaling.

+Both feet should be on the pedals at all times.

+Keep your bicycle in good repair.

+Always walk bicycles across busy intersections.

+Stay a safe distance behind moving cars — they may stop suddenly.

+Ride your bicycle only on authorized streets or highways. Bicycles are not allowed on high-speed freeways or interstate highways.

+Know and observe your town's or city's laws regulating the use of bicycles, including bicycle registration, licensing and riding on the sidewalks. AAA recommends that bicyclists register their bike with the state through a local deputy registrar's office or a bicycle dealer. Although not mandatory in Minnesota, registration offers a way of identifying a bicycle if it is lost or stolen. The registration fee is $3.50, and includes a registration card and identification sticker for the bicycle.

+Lights and reflectors are required when riding at night. Headlight must emit white light visible from 500 feet away. Rear reflectors must be visible from 600 feet away when in front of a vehicle using low beam lights. Edges of each pedal must be reflectorized, as must the sides of the bicycle. Reflective tire sidewalls or spoke-mounted reflectors on both wheels are recommended, although 20 square inches of reflective tape may be used on each side of the bicycle or on the bike rider's clothing instead of wheel reflectorization.

"Motorists also have an obligation to be cautious around bicyclists; a person on a light bicycle is no match for a two ton automobile," added Mittelstadt.

Brochures on bike safety are available through local AAA offices or by writing: Traffic Safety Department, Minnesota AAA, 7 Travelers Trail, Burnsville, MN 55337.

The first federal legislation setting safety and health standards for workers employed in government contract work exceeding $10,000 was the Walsh-Healey Act in 1936, according to the U.S. Labor Department booklet, "Labor Firsts in America."

$1.5 Billion In Sales Noted By Land O' Lakes

Land O' Lakes president Ralph Hofstad, in his message to membership at the 58th annual meeting, reported 1978 sales reaching a record of nearly $1.5 billion and net margins exceeding $28 million, up $10 million from the previous year.

Hofstad noted that while achieving the financial record, Land O' Lakes also returned in cash to members $9.3 million, or 61 per cent of the cooperative's 1977 patronage margins. Payment included $4.5 million, representing 30 per cent of the allocated margins for 1977, and $4.8 million for the revolvement of the oldest outstanding patronage equities and settlement of estates.

Land O' Lakes invested more than $29 million last year in new facilities and equipment plus an additional $8 million in interregional cooperatives to serve the membership's present and anticipated farm production and food marketing requirements.

Largest single investment was $11.4 million for the acquisition of Spencer Foods, Inc., a beef processing and marketing company headquartered at Spencer, Ia. This marked Land O' Lakes' entry into the red meats business.

Hofstad projected sales at 1979 at $2.25 billion and listed six major priorities Land O' Lakes plans for 1979 and the years ahead as follows:

(1) Strengthen the dairy marketing pool by extending the cheese marketing program so that it becomes a profitable as the butter marketing program, and increase the capability to profitably market milk powder and whey ingredient products;

(2) Bring an accelerated feed sales program now in effect to a successful conclusion, and keep the crop and livestock production programs meaningful to family farmers while serving their needs through joint efforts with local cooperative members;

(3) Expand the Bridgeman retail food operations by increasing sales a minimum of 20 per cent a year;

(4) Intensify two-way communications with all members;

(5) Evaluate new means of financing capital needs for future growth, and consider the merits of group financing of each major farm enterprise;

(6) Consolidate the newly acquired beef operation into the total food production-marketing system of Land O' Lakes, and look for similar opportunities in pork that can profitably serve the needs of member-farmers who produce hogs.

Average (median) weekly earnings of all women who usually work full-time were about 61 per cent of the full-time earnings of men in May 1978, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Northland Football Recruits

Irv Smith was appointed Northland community college football coach a year ago this month. But he didn't arrive in Thief River Falls from his Fontana, Calif., home until mid-summer, putting him at a distinct recruiting disadvantage. In his first year as Northland coach the Northmen won just two of eight games. Part of the problem was small size of the squad, which started the year numbering just 26.

Given an opportunity to recruit, Smith has been busy the last few months rounding up a football team for the 1979 season. To date, 65 freshmen student-athletes, all potential football team members, have enrolled at Northland for the 1979-80 school year. However, there is no letter of intent for these players to sign and Smith admits, "We don't know if some of these might be no-shows, or if some may show and not play. But we feel that most of them will play."

Smith's list of freshman recruits include area products Charlie Boyer, Jeff Kosel, Myles Lund, Mark Melander and Jeff Schmitz of Thief River Falls; Terry Babler, Tom Barness, Borup; Howard Beito, Jeff Reese, Hallock; Kelly Turgeon, Jeff Olson, Warren; Craig Pietruszewski, East Grand Forks; Tom Porter, Wayne Lutz, Jerry Olson, Karlstad; Rocky Eck, Gonvick; Jerry Fisher, Craig Pahlen, Tim Pahlen, Dan Willett, John Zimpel, Plummer; Scott Chapman, Dave Furbish, Baudette; Mike Borgen, Badger; Randy Black, Mike Carriere, Middle River; Tim Storeby, Strandquist; Jim Morrissey, Gatzke; Alan Johnson, Daniel Parent, McIntosh; Duane Kjono, Mahnomen; Keith Lieran, Mike Wilebski, Badger; Dave LaGue, Nay-Tah-Waush; Jeff Shern, Viking; Daniel Levenhagen, Lake Bronson; Bob Benson, Twin Valley; Dale Agnes, Gully; Donald Brown, Todd Tagen, Fosston; Darrel Bulzomi, Mike Bulzomi, Fertile; Dave Peake, Greenbush; Dave Martine, Shevlin; Tom Erickson, Roseau; and Dick Thorfinnson, Red Lake Falls.

Out-state recruits include Brian Hourigan and Mike Sommers of Rutherford, N.J.; Danny Canala, Jose Cabrera, Hialeah, Fla.; Jeff Smith, Bismarck, N.D.; Blair Spikes, Tony Smith, Marcus Woods, Inkster, Mich.; Paul Milner, San Diego, Calif.; Andy Arango, Jose Blanco, Richard Williams, Miami, Fla.; David Klemisch, Drayton, N.D.; Zayne Poitier, Mariano Bautista, Carlos Sosa, Carol City, Fla.; Edward Ryan, Christopher Brown, North Miami, Fla.; and Ted Sarrazin, Livingston, Mont.

Miscellaneous

+ Murray Semanko of Thief River Falls, a transfer student from Northland community college, was listed as a slotback on the Moorhead State University spring football roster.

+ Thief River Falls' Marchell Cuppett completed her freshman season with the University of North Dakota women's softball team as the third leading hitter for the Sioux with eight hits in 26 at-bats for a .308 batting average.

+ Dave Wold of Thief River Falls posted a 2-2 record at No. 6 singles for the Moorhead State University tennis team this spring and was 0-1 at No. 3 doubles when teamed with Wayne Johnston of Detroit Lakes.

+ Chuck Erickson of Moorhead, a thorn in the side of Thief River Falls pitchers in both high school and American Legion baseball for several years, enjoyed an outstanding freshman campaign with the North Dakota State University baseball team as he hit .303 and led the Bison in seven offensive categories this spring — at bats (66), hits (20), runs (11), triples (2), home runs (2), stolen bases (32) and runs batted in (12). Bagley's Rod Riewer, a sophomore, hit .294 and scored 11 runs to tie Erickson in that category. NDSU won just two of 19 games and had 17 contests rained or snowed out.

+ Dave Jordahl has resigned as Fergus Falls high school athletic director to accept a potition with an international dealer in heavy equipment which has its headquarters in San Francisco, Calif.

Weather Hits Lincoln Track, Baseball Teams

Rain Thursday and Friday erased a good portion of the Lincoln high school athletic schedule, forcing postponement or cancellation of three baseball games and two track meets.

A Northwest Athletic Conference baseball game against Bemidji Thursday was rescheduled for Fri., May 18, but a Friday NWAC twinbill against Fergus Falls was canceled outright. The Prowlers, 1-5 for the year, will play a 4:30 p.m. game at Bagley today (Monday) to begin their final week of regular season play that will feature home games Tuesday against Roseau, Thursday against Crookston and Friday against Bemidji. All three start at 4:30.

Those will be the first home games of the season for the baseball team. However, the baseball squad will still fare better than the track teams who have had their entire 1979 home schedule wiped out by the weather.

Track cancellations last week included a boys meet at East Grand Forks Thursday and a girls meet at Roseau Friday. The condition of the Thief River Falls track also forces the Prowlers to cancel the rescheduled Quent Jones track meet today (Monday) in favor of a 12 noon appearance at Grand Forks Red River and will change a Friday dual against East Grand Forks from here to there at 4:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, the girls will run today at 1 p.m. at Roseau but will compete Thursday at Bemidji at 4:30 instead of hosting Red Lake Falls that day.

Region 8AA Sub Region 4 track meet for both girls and boys will be held Tues., May 22, at Bemidji.

Northland Golf Invitational Is Set Wednesday

Annual Northland community college invitational golf meet will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. on the Thief River Falls Country Club course. The Northmen will be joined by Fergus Falls community college and junior varsity teams from Moorhead State University and Bemidji State University.

Northland participated in the Paul Bunyan invitational at Brainerd Wednesday. The title went to Normandale with a 310, followed by Golden Valley 326, Fergus Falls 330, Hibbing 332, Northland 334, North Hennepin 346, Mesabi 352 and Brainerd 371.

Jim Wilson of Normandale shot a 75 for medalist honors on the par 72 course.

For Northland, Jon Ballingrud and Greg Johnson both shot 81. Ballingrud had rounds of 41-40 while Johnson covered the course in 43-38. Other meet-counting Northland scores included Dave Hanson with rounds of 41-41 for an 82 and Scott Blankenfeld with a 46-44 for a 90.

Not counting in Northland's team total were Kevin Mandt and Jim Mickelson with 92s and Mike Olson with a 95.

Northland was scheduled to golf against the Bemidji State University junior varsity today (Monday) at 12 noon at Bemidji.

Wednesday's Northland invitational ends the 1979 regular season schedule for the Northmen who will participate in the MJCAA state and NMCAA Region 13 golf tournaments May 22-23 at Monticello.

BOWLER OF THE YEAR at the Family Bowl in Thief River Falls this year is Butch Moteberg. He finished second in qualifying games to Mark DuChamp, then beat Dave Vogel and DuChamp in a roll-off to take the bowler of the year trophy. DuChamp led all qualifiers with a 1,667 total for eight games, rolling scores of 247, 253, 211, 174, 200, 200, 173 and 185. He was followed by Moteberg with 1,654, Jeff Shumway with 1,632, Dave Rundell with 1,626, Vogel with 1,608 and Bob Larson with 1,606. In the head-to-head scratch bowl-off, Vogel beat Rundell and Shumway while Moteberg beat Vogel and DuChamp.

Brandon, Kays Eye Title In MJCAA Doubles Play

Members of the Northland community college tennis team are in Bloomington today (Monday) for the start of the 1979 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state tennis tournament hosted by Normandale community college.

The two-day event will advance three teams, plus a singles player and a doubles pair, into the four-state area NJCAA Region 13 tournament Wednesday and Thursday at the same site.

Northland's best shot at MJCAA or Region 13 honors rests with its top doubles combination of Bernie Brandon (Mahnomen) and Chris Kays (TRF), a pair of freshmen who completed an undefeated regular season with a straight-set victory over Bemidji State University junior varsity performers Paul Buntrock and Wade Wilde in Wednesday's regular season-ending match the Northmen lost 5-4 in Thief River Falls.

First-year Northland coach Irv Smith firmly believes Brandon and Kays, the team's number one and two singles players, are title contenders in doubles. "If they play as well as they have been playing, they have a good chance to advance to region," he said. "I know it's kind of hard to tell, but I really think they have a heck of a chance to win the thing. They believe they have a shot at it."

Rest of the Northland lineup will have sophomores Gary Laidley (TRF) and Glenn Mosher (Baudette) at number three and four singles, freshmen Pete Lee and Joe Ranum at number five and six singles, Laidley and Mosher at second doubles and Lee and Ranum at third doubles.

Northland finished with regular season with a 4-5 dual meet record and a 4-1 first place mark in MJCAA Northwest Division play.

4. Doug Ryant (BSU) def. Glenn Mosher 6-1, 6-1.
5. Glen Skrivseth (BSU) def. Pete Lee 6-2, 6-0.
6. Jack Picker (BSU) def. Joe Ranum 6-3, 6-1.
1. Brandon, Kays def. Buntrock, Wilde 6-3, 6-4.
2. Laidley, Mosher def. Ryant, Skrivseth 6-3, 6-1.
3. Berezny, Pickar def. Lee, Ranum 5-7, 7-6, 6-3.

Prowlers Take Bemidji Title

A 21-stroke victory margin made Thief River Falls an impressive champion Friday in a 14-team Bemidji high school invitational golf meet. It was the Prowlers' first title in the 27-year history of the meet.

The Prowlers finished with a five-man 412. Fergus Falls was a distant second with 423, followed by Mahnomen 424, Bemidji 426, International Falls 427, Roseau 429, Fosston 432, Little Falls 439, Crookston 449, Walker 457, East Grand Forks 467, Bagley 474, Moorhead 500 and Blackduck 502.

Carey Balenow of Fergus Falls was meet medalist with a two-over par 74. Brad Rasmus was runner-up in the medal race with a 77 and Bob Fitzgerald of Thief River Falls with third with a 78.

Thief River Falls' meet-counting scores also included Charlie Boyer with an 80, Wade Hoppe 83, Dave Geatz 84 and Tony Loeffler 87. Tim Imgrund's 94 did not count in the Prowlers' total.

It was the second victory in five outings for the Prowlers who also won a 12-team invitational title at Bagley back on May 1.

Four regular season meets remaining for the Prowlers include outings this week at Moorhead Tuesday, at East Grand Forks for the Northwest Athletic Conference meet Thursday and at Crookston Friday. The regular season ends with the Thief River Falls invitational Mon., May 21, a 9:30 a.m. affair on the Thief River Falls Country Club golf course.

The 1979 Region 8AA golf meet will be held Wed., May 23, at Park Rapids.

Cathy Sundstedt was first with 1,228, Dolly Newland second at 1,168, Barb Natvik fourth at 1,143, Elaine Risberg and Marlys Olson tied for fifth at 1,133. Risberg won over Olson and Natvik but lost to Yonke who beat Newland and Sundstedt for the bowler of the year trophy. Barb Walseth won the Class B division for women with averages under 140. She placed fifth in qualifying but defeated Arlene Walseth, Edie Bradli, Debbie Shumway and Theda Booren in the roll-off.

LHS Girls Golf At Roseau, Mahnomen

Lincoln high school girls golf team will complete its brief 1979 regular season schedule this week when the Prowlers golf at Fosston today (Monday) and then host their own Thief River Falls invitational Thursday beginning at 10 a.m. on the County Club course.

Roseau

Host Roseau edged Fosston 507 to 510 Wednesday to win its own invitational title. Moorhead was third with a 513, followed by Thief River Falls 574, Mahnomen 593, McIntosh-Winger 636, Bagley 641 and Hallock 845.

Nancy Harris of Roseau was an easy winner in the medalist competition with an 85. Lisa Stein of Moorhead shot a 92 and Anette Haugstul of Fosston carded a 93.

Kathy Walker turned in a 102 for the low Thief River Falls score on rounds of [illegible] to earn praise from coach Sylvia Sjoberg of the Prowlers. "Kathy did a good job. In fact, we shot pretty good as a team," she said.

Liz Brodin followed Walker in the Prowlers' five meet-counting scores with a [illegible] while Shari Idso had a [illegible], Janell Kain 120 and Dawn Spencer 128. Carrie Thompson's 157 did not count in the Prowlers' total.

Mahnomen

Thief River Falls was runner-up finisher to Fosston in the Mahnomen invitational Friday, but a 28-stroke margin separated the Greyhounds and Prowlers.

Fosston won the event with a 267, followed by Thief River Falls with a 295, Mahnomen 311, East Grand Forks 329, Red Lake Falls 330 and Bagley 346.

Anette Haugstul of Fosston won the medal with a 48. Beth Engelsgaard of Fosston was runner-up with a 49 and Kathy Walker of Thief River Falls was third with a 51.

Cancellations End Northland Softball Play

Softball season ended for the Northland community college women over the weekend when first Rainy River then Brainerd canceled out of scheduled doubleheaders in Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday.

The Brainerd games will be considered forfeits, supplying Northland, with a 3-5 record for the 1979 season.

Lincoln B Team Golfers End Busy Season

A busy week, featuring meets on four consecutive days, will end the 1979 season for members of the Lincoln high school B squad golf team who will compete at Crookston today (Monday), at Red Lake Falls Tuesday, at Fosston Wednesday and at Bemidji Thursday.

The Thief River Falls squad, coached by Dick Tyler hosted three meets last week.

Wednesday

Thief River Falls won its own invitational meet Wednesday with a 429, followed by East Grand Forks 461, Grand Forks Central 483, Red Lake Falls 502 and Crookston 587.

A trio of Thief River Falls golfers — Mark Isaacson, Jon Onkka and Jeff Imgrund — shared medalist honors at 84 on the par 75 course. Also shooting for the hosts were Murray Jorde with an 86, Jim Hellie 91 and Mike Anderson 96.

Thursday

Thief River Falls B squad and the Bemidji freshman team shared top honors in a Thursday triangular with identical 376 figures. Detroit Lakes shot a 406.

Jeff Imgrund of Thief River Falls was an easy winner in the medalist competition with a 62. Bemidji's Tom Crowser and Paul Knapp had 73s.

Friday

Hosting McIntosh-Winger in a Friday dual meet, Thief River Falls was a 20-stroke winner, 264 to 284.

Murray Jorde of Thief River Falls led all golfers with a 47. Eric Balstad and Mike Bjerken of McIntosh-Winger came in a 50 and 53, respectively.

For Thief River Falls, Jim Hellie, Mike Anderson and Jeff Moser all shot 54, Steve Olson 55 and John Bolen 61.

Wildlife Group Offers Free Slide Program

A 12-minute slide program about the National Wildlife Federation, the nation's largest conservation education organization, is now available on a free loan basis from the NWF.

The program gives an overview of the 43-year-old federation and its 4.1 million members and supporters.

NWF's diverse programs and actions include acquiring land to set aside for wildlife, filing lawsuits to stop environmentally damaging construction projects, granting money for research, lobbying efforts in the U.S. Congress, distributing educational literature, and publishing National Wildlife, International Wildlife, and Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine for children.

A cassette tape with recorded narration is included with the slide presentation. If no tape player is available, a copy of the script will be sent along.

Address requests to borrow the slide program to: Director of Affiliate Services, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

KEEPING HIS eye on the ball, Andy Odegaard of Roseau emerged as champion at number one singles Saturday in the Lincoln high school junior varsity-hosted tennis tournament. Odegaard won six straight matches for the title, including victories over Thief River Falls' Chris Simons 8-1 and Mark Lundin 8-3.

Prowlers Unbeaten For Third Season

Forced indoors by the cold and rain, the Lincoln high school tennis team completed its third straight undefeated regular season dual meet schedule Thursday with a 4-1 victory over Moorhead. Matches were played in the sports arena and Northland community college gymnasium.

Moorhead's lone point came from John Haukedo who upset Bill Jury 6-3, 6-3 at number one singles.

Thief River Falls finished its 1979 regular season schedule with a 7-0 dual meet record. The Prowlers also won three triangular meets, if counted as double duals, would have pushed their record to 13-0. In their other outings, the Prowlers won a quadrangular event at Brainerd, tied for second in an eight-team tournament at Hibbing and placed third in an eight-team field at St. Cloud.

Post-season North Half Region 8AA tournament play is scheduled this week at Detroit Lakes. The team portion of the event will be held Thursday, followed by the individual matches Friday. Tennis starts at 10 a.m. both days.

State DNR To Stage Summer Survey On Loon

A survey of the common loon — Minnesota's state bird — will be conducted by the Department of Natural Resources in Minnesota this summer, according to Carrol Henderson, DNR nongame wildlife program supervisor.

Purpose of the project is to determine the current distribution and abundance of loons. Minnesota is believed to have more nesting loons than any other of the contiguous 48 states, Henderson said.

In addition to having DNR personnel collect loon information, private citizens and conservation organizations are being encouraged to participate in the survey.

Special loon observation cards are being printed and will be distributed to volunteers on request. The cards will be used to report the presence of loon breeding pairs, nest sites and loons accompanied by young.

Those interested in reporting observations of loons should wirte to: DNR Nongame supervisor, Box 7, Centennial Building, 658 Cedar Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

Roseau Wins Title Saturday In LHS JV Tennis Tournament

Roseau had winners in nearly every category Saturday to win the Thief River Falls invitational tennis meet hosted by the Lincoln high school junior varsity.

The Rams finished with 28 points, followed by the Thief River Falls Y team with 19, Thief River Falls X team with 16, Waubun and East Grand Forks 12, Crookston 11 and Ada 8.

Andy Odegaard of Roseau won the title at number one singles, beating John Holland, Ada 8-1; Brian Holseth, Crookston, 8-1; Steve Abbey, EGF, 8-1; Chris Simons, TRF, 8-1; Mark Lundin, TRF, 8-3; and Joel Furuseth, Waubun, 8-5.

A three-way first place tie developed in second singles between Scott Leverington of Roseau, Mike Pavek of Waubun and Dale Nelson of Thief River Falls. Nelson beat Todd Hollerud, Ada, 8-7; Dan Hoff, Crookston 8-7; Craig Johnson, EGF, 8-0; Rick Engelstad, TRF, 8-6; and Pavek 8-7. Leverington beat Nelson 8-6, but Pavek, in turn, beat Leverington 8-5.

Sheldon Weston of Roseau emerged with the title at number three singles by beating Jeff Mueller, Ada, 8-2; Dave Schultz, Crookston, 8-5; Kyle Dufault, EGF, 8-4; Bob Duckworth, TRF, 8-4; Gary Cornell, TRF, 8-0; and Paul Sharpe, TRF, 8-2.

Bill Sampson and Bob Purdy of Thief River Falls won at first doubles where they beat Terry Saude and Paul Holland, Ada, 8-6; Paul Miller and Kelly Rousseau, Crookston, 8-5; Dan Ciekelinski and Kevin Nordenstrom, EGF, 8-3; Toby Lohman and Rick Larson, Roseau, 8-6; Jack Oseid and Bob Schelling, TRF, 8-5; Roff Farley and Rick Stock, Waubun, 8-0.

Bob Peterson and Mark Vatnsdal of Roseau took the crown at second doubles by beating Lisa Josephson and Micky Haback, Ada, 8-1; Tom Holman and Jeff Dusek, Crookston, 8-1; Mark Nelson and Wayne Sayler, EGF 8-5; Dave Upham and Todd Broadwell, TRF, 8-5; Brent Schmitz and Duane Lewis, TRF, 8-5; Sam Hall and Mark Jasken, Waubun, 8-2.

All-State Trap Shooting Team Is Selected

Board of directors of the Minnesota trapshooting association has selected its Minnesota all-state trapshooting teams. Top ranking shooters are chosen in five categories: men, women, juniors, sub-juniors and veterans, along with, an industry representative shooter.

Team members are chosen on the basis of their amateur trapshooting association (ATA) recorded individual averages on three types of shooting: singles, handicap and doubles targets. All scores from the previous year's registered trapshooting are totaled and averaged. Minimum numbers of targets are required to qualify, but for many of these shooters the averages are computed on many thousands of targets shot in all kinds of weather.

The sport of registered trapshooting included increasing numbers of Minnesotans each year.

Dove Numbers Not Hurt By Hunting

Analysis of initial findings of a three-year study by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service (FWS) indicates hunting has little detectable impact on population levels of the nation's most abundant game bird — the mourning dove.

Annual fall mourning dove population is estimated at approximately 500 million, a population that has remained generally stable over the years despite an annual hunting harvest of about 49 million birds.

Field studies conducted in late August and September 1978 showed dove mortality in both hunting and nonhunting areas to be almost exactly the same. In study areas that were hunted, the daily survival rate for eggs and nestlings was 952 out of 1,000. In study areas where hunting was not allowed, the survival rate was 954 of 1,000.

Even when doves are not hunted, apparently the same morality occurs through natural causes — weather, predators, disease or starvation, according to Bob Croft, a FWS migratory bird biologist.

Croft said the 14-state central dove management unit — Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas — which makes up 46 per cent of the land area of the contiglous 48 states, has 56 per cent of the current national breeding population of mourning doves.

Five of these states — North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma — are among the six with the densest breeding population of doves in the United States. The other highly dense population state is Arizona.

During 1978 fall hunting, nine states of the central management unit had mourning dove seasons. Five did not — Iowa, Montana, Minnesota and North and South Dakota. Both Dakotas since have enacted legislation for a 1979 dove season.

management unit along with common borders of states that allowed dove hunting, and states that did not — Nebraska - Iowa, Missouri - Iowa, Nebraska - South Dakota. Similar studies were conducted in other management units of the nation.

Twelve random points were selected along each of the hunting-non-hunting borders. At each point, two one-mile radius areas were designated 10 miles from the border, or 20 miles apart — one in the non-hunting zone and one in the hunted zone.

A minimum of two nests were observed in each of the one-mile diameter areas, and in some as many as 12 were observed.

Mourning doves begin breeding in early spring (and sometimes in February), producing one clutch after another with up to six clutches per season, sometimes extending into September. A clutch is two eggs, laid on two successive days. They incubate in about 14 days and 12 days after hatching the fledglings are able to leave the nest. The parent pair immediately starts another clutch and sometimes still are feeding the first hatch of squabs, with the new clutch already in the same nest. Thirty days is the normal cycle from laying to fledging.

Fish and Wildlife Service data shows that 16 per cent of the immature and 11 per cent of adults of the nation's total population are harvested annually. But this comprises only 18 to 21 per cent of the total annual removal from the population. Natural mortality accounts for the other 80 per cent.

Croft said the two objectives of the study are:

+To determine the proportion of annual mourning dove nesting activity and success that occurs in September and October (based on 1979 and 1980 data); and,

+To determine if the daily survival rate of mourning dove eggs and nestlings is lower in areas where early September dove hunting is permitted compared with areas where it is not permitted (based on 1978 and 1979 data).

Fishing Contest

For 20 years Charlie Sinks has conducted the annual fishing contest for the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press. This year Charlie is confined to his home by illness and the contest is being handled by Dan Berry who has been Charlie's right hand man for several years.

Harriet Suedkamp of Charlie's department sends us the following information:

"Sat., May 12, is the Minnesota fishing opener and the starting gun for the world's largest fishing contest, sponsored for the 27th year by the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press.

Once again the focus is on family fishing fun in the heart of one of the world's finest fishing areas, with $18,000 worth of merchandise prizes to add to the enjoyment of the catch.

During the 12 weekly contests which begin May 12 and continue through Sun., Sept. 9, the newspapers will award 266 merchandise prizes. Sunday midnights will be the dividing lines between the weekly contests.

Every fish entered during the 17 weeks will be eligible at the close of the season for the super sweepstakes drawing, which will award the biggest single prize of all — a complete fishing package consisting of a 15-foot bass boat, a 20-h.p. electric start outboard motor, a trailer and a case of oil. Total value of this one prize is more than $3,000.

To be eligible, the fish must be legally caught in Minnesota, its boundary waters or any of the 24 western Wisconsin counties listed on the back of each entry blank."

Crapple Tournament

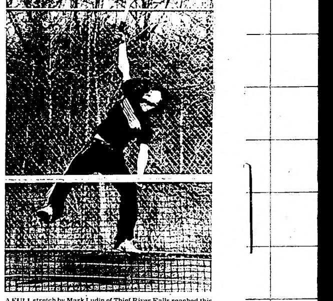
William Zenger of New Hope won the 1979 crappie tournament sponsored by Johnson reels and Holiday Stations. The April 28 contest, which was headquartered at Spring Park, attracted between 12,000 and 14,000 fishermen from all over Minnesota and several other states.

Zenger's winning crappie weighed two-pounds, six-ounces and was caught in Carson Bay just before noon. He used a jig and minnow for bait. His reward was a 15-horse outboard motor.

Crapple Fishing

Crappie fishing is good in lakes south of the Twin Cities, witnessed by several nice strings of crappies from Spring and Prior lakes. The crappies from Spring Lake weighed from one-half to three-quarters of a pound. Prior Lake has been producing crapple in the half pounds category.

Crappie fishing is also reported to be excellent in Lake Marion near Lakeville.



A FULL stretch by Mark Ludin of Thief River Falls reached this shot during Saturday's Lincoln high school junior varsity-hosted tennis tournament. Lundin competed at number one singles where he won four of six matches, losing to champion Andy Odegaard of Roseau 8-3.

OPEN CLASS CHAMPION in the Bemidji state college industrial arts fair was Andy Galiher of Thief River Falls. A junior at Lincoln high school, Galiher is shown with instructor Allen Aaseby. He built the naval cannon shown in the photo, machining the brass parts and fittings and constructing the wood parts as well.

The Robert Kleinvachter home was the scene of a joint birthday party on Thursday evening. Chad Kleinvachter was seven years old and his cousin Jarad Tveitbakk was one year old. Those who helped them celebrate were Lief Nicholson of Oslo, Norway, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Tveitbakk, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude and Arlo and the Kleinvachter family.

Mr. Lief Nicholson of Oslo, Norway and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude were guests at the Culver Kisch home on Friday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lambert and Jason visited Friday afternoon at the Herman Rude home.

The first annual mother and son banquet was held recently at St. Pauli church. A large crowd was present. A delicious supper was served by the fathers and daughters. An inspiring program of testimony and songs was presented by the Good News gospel team. Janet Davidson was the mistress of ceremonies and the specially honored women were Anna Bjorge and Eunice Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Gustafson returned recently from Lake Park where they had spent several days with Steven, Sara and Suellen Wiskow while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wiskow were attending a grocer's convention in Minneapolis. The Wiskows have the Red Owl store in Lake Park.

Mrs. Evelyn Nelson visited one day last week with her aunt Huldah Mjelde in Beltrami.

We are sorry to report that Jean Nelson was injured recently while roller skating. She has one leg in a cast and is back in school at Northland community college and is recovering nicely.

Lief Nicholson and Arlo Rude left Saturday morning for Minneapolis. From there Lief left by plane to return to his home in Oslo, Norway. He has been visiting for the past two weeks at the home of his cousin, Herman Rude. Mr. Nicholson was brought to the Herman Rude home by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berg of Alexander, N.D., after an extensive visit with them.

Lief Nicholson of Oslo, Norway, who has been a guest at the Herman Rude home was a guest speaker at a meeting of the Sons of Norway on Wednesday evening. He addressed the residents of Valley Home on Thursday forenoon.

Friday evening guests at the Harlan Rude home were Mr. Lief Nicholson of Oslo, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude and Arlo.

PROBATE COURT
COUNTY COURT
PROBATE DIVISION

In Re: Estate of Alice J. Vraa, Deceased.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS:

Notice by publication is hereby given that an application for informal probate of the last Will of the above named decedent, dated May 10, 1979, has been filed with the Registrar herein, and the application has been granted informally probating such Will. Any objections may be filed in the above, and the same will be heard by the Court upon notice of hearing fixed for such purpose.

Notice by publication is hereby further given that informal appointment of Loren Vraa, whose address is Rt. 1, New London, Minnesota, as personal representative of the estate of the above named decedent, has been made. Any heir, devisee or other interested person may be entitled to appointment as personal representative or may object to the appointment of the personal representative and the personal representative is impowered to fully administer the estate including, after 30 days from the date of issuance of his letters, the power to sell, encumber, lease or distribute real estate, unless objections thereto are filed with the court (pursuant to Section 524.3-607) and the court otherwise orders.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or to the Clerk of the Court within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

Urge Motorists To Be Alert For Wildlife

It is estimated that autos kill millions of wild animals on U.S. roads each year.

Much of the damage occurs during the spring and summer, when rural roads are jammed with holiday-bound motorists.

If you are about to go on vacation, the National Wildlife Federation urges you to observe these humanitarian rules:

Remember to look out for animals, both wild and domestic, along the highways. By driving alertly, especially at night, you can help spare the lives of creatures who normally panic when confronted with a speeding auto.

Dr. Fred R. Scroggin, president of the NWF, issued the appeal. "We can't assume that wildlife will act rationally when they see your car," he said. "The driver must be rational. You may have to stop completely to avoid a collision that could kill you as well as that roadside animal."

Scroggin noted that 29,914 whitetail deer and 84 bears were killed by autos in just one state, Pennsylvania, last year. In one area, Allegheny county, drivers killed more deer on the highways than hunters bagged during the hunting season.

Three Pennsylvania State University employees who conducted an informal survey of the wildlife toll in their area are convinced that millions of animals die on the state's roads yearly. Along their 40-mile commutation route alone, in one month they counted 65 dead rabbits, 34 birds, 20 oppossums and a number of raccoons, skunks, groundhogs, cats, dogs, squirrels, deer, chipmunks, snakes, foxes and porcupines.

The three noted that the greatest number of animals died on unfenced, two-lane roads bordering farms or forests.

Scroggin also advised against "adopting" or "rescuing" wildlife. "Wild animals make bad, and even dangerous pets," he said. Except in rare cases where an injured animal might be taken to a veterinarian for treatment, and then released again into the wild, he said, most wild animals are better off left to their parents.

Area Students Earn Degrees At Concordia

Four area students were among 505 graduates who received bachelor of arts degrees Sunday, May 6, at Concordia college in Moorhead.

Pamela Lindquist of Newfolden graduated with a major in business education and a minor in business administration, while Julie Tunheim, also of Newfolden, graduated summa cum laude with a major in physical education and minors in social studies and health.

Oklee resident Mark Nesland earned his degree with a religion major and a speech communication and theatre art minor, with Paul Larson, a Thief River Falls student, graduating cum laude with majors in biology and business administration and minors in history and political science and chemistry.

Olson To Speak At Assemblies Of God Church

Rev. Julius Olson, an Assemblies of God missionary to Brazil, will be guest speaker at the Thief River Falls Assemblies of God church on Sunday at 11 a.m., according to Rev. J.L. Hagemeister, host pastor.

Before going abroad for missionary service, Rev. Olson graduated from Central Bible college in Springfield, Mo. and pastored churches in Nebraska, Wisconsin and Illinois. The Olson's began missionary service in Brazil in 1946, serving for eight years. They ministered in Latin America for another eight years before returning to the United States for 12 years of pastoral ministry. Returning this year after two more terms in Brazil, they have been visiting the churches that have been supporting their ministry.

During this special missions service, Rev. Olson will tell of the Pentecostal revival in Brazil and colored slides of the mission work will be shown. Public is invited to attend.

Steiger Firm Names Dealer Of The Year

Steiger Tractor, Inc.'s first salesman who later became the company's first dealer has been named Steiger U.S. dealer of the year for 1978.

Earl Christianson, owner and general manager of Christianson's, Inc., Elbow Lake, was cited for his outstanding management and marketing skills, as well as for being a service-minded dealer. Syl Melroe, vice president of marketing, made the award.

Christianson's first association with Steiger Tractor was in 1962 when he signed on as the company's first salesman. He worked out of the Steiger brothers' manufacturing facility on their dairy farm near Red Lake Falls, selling directly to farmers in the Red river valley.

Convinced that four-wheel-drive farming was the wave of the future, Christianson returned to his family's farm equipment business in 1966 to take on the first Steiger franchise, despite the fact that the four-wheel-drive industry was in its infancy.

Christianson and his wife Jeanne reside in Elbow Lake and have nine sons and one daughter.

According to a report by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, nearly 43 million women were in the labor force at the end of 1978.

ASK FOR EVERT ANDERSON

Vietnam Vets Week Scheduled May 28-June 3

Veterans administration chief Max Cleland has urged the nation's editors to take a leading role in paying tribute to the nation's Vietnam veterans; "a special group of American patriots" who have all too often been slighted or ignored by their fellow citizens.

Speaking to members of the National Newspaper association at their Hyatt Regency hotel annual meeting, Cleland said "Vietnam Veterans Week," from May 28 to June 3, "will be a one-time opportunity for the people of the United States to put aside their convictions about the war itself and pay tribute to the people who were called upon to fight it."

He told the editors that "the veterans of the Vietnam war never had a ticker-tape parade. They were not often considered heroes. In fact, by many they were considered co-conspirators in some terrible escapade with sinister undertones.

"No wonder today they are 'silent' veterans, usually neither visible nor willing to openly discuss the war. No wonder so many of them feel confused, or even guilty."

But he said the special week, authorized by Congress and proclaimed by President Carter, represents "a chance to balance the scales for nine million veterans who are due our respect, who often wonder if they are second-class veterans."

Cleland, a triple amputee who recovered from multiple hand grenade wounds in Vietnam to become the first veteran of that conflict to head the VA, said Vietnam veterans have been denied, because of a lack of recognition and respect, the deep satisfaction of having done a great service for their country.

"These veterans served their country with full measure of valor during the Vietnam war. They served with bravery fully equal to that of Americans who served in other wars.

"Yet, they are a different group of veterans, one beset by some lingering problems and by an uncertainty that their service was just. You just don't hear much about them unless it's negative."

Cleland told the editors that many Vietnam-era veterans suffer psychological scars that are different from those experienced in other wars, a difference he and many medical authorities believe was caused by the unusual nature of the war and the fact that it was unpopular among many Americans at home.

Despite the expanded medical and counseling assistance VA seeks to provide for Vietnam veterans, Cleland said "there is one problem which government alone simply cannot address — the issue of what Vietnam 'did' to America, and more importantly, what it did to our fellow citizens who served during that era.

"We as a nation have a moral debt to pay," he reminded the editors, "and you can certainly help. In fact, without the help of the media we will not be able to pay it."

SBA Loans Add 892 Jobs For Minnesotans

Paul W. Jansen, district director of the Minneapolis district of the small business administration, announced last week that $4,862,000 in SBA loans had been approved for 47 Minnesota companies in the month of April. The projected additional employment created as a result of these loans is 892 jobs.

Direct management assistance counseling was provided to 835 Minnesota firms through the SBA's in-house counselors or through support groups like the service corps of retired executives and the ten colleges participating in the small business institute program. In April, 661 business persons or potential business persons participated in SBA sponsored training programs.

One minority loan for $330,000 made the minority component of the April loan portfolio 2.1 per cent of the total loans and 6.8 per cent of the total loan dollars.

Sgt. Bartelson Graduates At Officer School

Technical Sergeant Arnold W. Bartelson, son of Mr. and Mrs Art Bartelson of R.R. 4, Thief River Falls, has graduated from the Strategic Air Command non-commissioned officer academy at Barksdale AFB, La.

The sergeant, who received advanced military leadership and management training, is a missile systems analyst technician at Grant Forks AFB, N.D.

CATCHING A FEW WINKS while under hypnosis during John Kolisch's "Phenomena of the Mind" program Thursday were four Northland community college students including (right to left) Jackie Klinke, Joe Ranum and Mary Engelstad. "When he told us that your eyes won't open," Ranum says, "they wouldn't." While they were under hypnosis, the students were also taken to the beach by Kolisch, encountered ants and mosquitos, experienced extreme hot and cold temperatures and participated in an ice cream eating contest.

Husbands Less Likely To Be Sole Provider

Husbands are less likely now than formerly to be the sole breadwinner for their family, according to the U.S. census bureau.

This and other financial trends are carried in the March 1979 issue of "Finance Facts," a monthly newsletter on consumer financial behavior published for finance companies by the national consumer finance association.

In March of 1977, the husband was his family's sole earner in only 26 per cent of married-couple families. In 36 per cent of the families, both husband and wife were earners. The wife was the only breadwinner in four per cent of the families.

In the same year, 81 per cent of all husbands were in the labor force, with participation among those ages 33 to 44 the highest at 96 per cent. During the same period, 47 per cent of all married women were in the labor force. Wives under 25 were most likely to be working (58 per cent) whereas the participation rate of wives 25 to 34 years old dropped to 52 per cent.

Married women having one or more children under 18 were slightly more likely to be members of the labor force (48 per cent) than married women who had no children (45 per cent). Highest participation rate (82 per cent) was among married women ages 25 to 34 who did not have children. Among wives who weren't high school graduates, 33 per cent were either employed or job hunting. Of those who had completed more than four years of college, 69 per cent were working.

Married couples with both spouses working or seeking work had a median family income in 1976 of $19,327. If only the husband was working the median income was $16,267, whereas if only the wife was employed the income average was $12,450.

Local Students Earn Honors At Moorhead State

Number of students from this area were given special academic distinction during an honors convocation at Moorhead state university May 6.

Earning grade point averages between 3.5 and 4.00, the students are on Moorhead state's special honors list.

Merrilee Olson Enrolls At MSU

Merrilee Olson, a senior at Lincoln high school was notified recently that she has been accepted to enroll as a freshman next fall at Moorhead state university. Merilee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Olson Thief River Falls.

Plan Errands To Reduce Use Of Family Car

Save gas, money and wear and tear on the family car by planning ahead and consolidating trips, suggests the Minnesota energy agency.

The average car engine operates most efficiently at about 180 degrees, or after it has been driven for about 15 minutes. Most cars burn about 20 per cent more fuel when the engine is cold. It is estimated that it costs about a dollar to drive a ten-mile trip before the car engine is fully warmed up.

With that kind of money at stake, it's obvious that grouping errands together and running them all at once really pays. The car engine has an opportunity to get fully warmed up so it is operating most efficiently and producing the best gas mileage. (Of course, this doesn't mean you should let the car idle to warm up — at least not more than 30 seconds. An idling car gets zero miles to the gallon.)

Usually, fewer miles are travelled, too, when each errand doesn't represent a separate round trip.

Many errands can be postponed to another day, if they represent a separate trip today. Many errands also may be taken care of to or from work — including them in the commuter trip that may be driven anyway.

Other kinds of planning ahead can help save gas, money — and precious time! Try whenever possible to run errands during traffic off-hours to avoid costly — and wearing — stop and go driving.

If necessary, choose a slightly longer route that is really shorter in terms of gas consumption. For example, a few more miles of freeway driving is actually "shorter" in gas consumed than a shorter trip through busy, downtown traffic and constant stop lights.

Of course, by walking or biking to those errands you can save even more gasoline while getting exercise.

M-Sgt. Sannes Graduates from Air Academy

Master Sergeant Gene S. Sannes, son of Gilfred Sannes of Rt. 2, Thief River Falls, has graduated from the Air Force Systems Command non-commissioned officer academy at Kirtland AFB, N.M.

The sergeant, who received advanced military leadership and management training, is an aircraft maintenance supervisory at Edwards AFB, Calif.

Sergeant Sannes is a 1960 graduate of Lincoln high school. His wife, Yvonne, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Olson of rural Thief River Falls.

GETTING INTO THE WORK of quilt tying during the career and hobby day at Viking elementary school Friday is Cindy Peterson, fifth grader at the school. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Ivah Anderson, one of a number of Viking ladies who participated in the event, Cindy pushes a needle through the material in preparation for making a yard tie. The quilt was spread on a portable stage to provide working area for the volunteers, but youngsters found they could get closer to the action by clambering up on the structure. Watching other work at left is Char Rae Melvie.

Council Adopts '78 Audit Report

Thief River Falls audit for the 1978 calendar year was accepted by the city council at an adjourned regular meeting of that group held Tuesday, May 15. Bob Poissant, representative of Holcomb, Knudson & Co., public accountants, was present to discuss the audit report and to answer questions from council members.

Main comment made by Poissant in a cover letter to the audit was that the city has not maintained a record of its general fixed assets and that, therefore, the statement of general fixed assets included in the report was based on cost with no provision for removal of assets from sale or other disposition. The city was also advised that any expenditures in excess of the budget must be authorized by a council resolution.

According to the report the city's assets totaled $32,252,950 for 1978 compared to $28,576,771 for 1977 indicating an increase in total assets of nearly four million dollars. Total liabilities for 1978 were nearly equal to those of 1977 with both years' totals being approximately ten million leaving fund balances of $22,115,450 and $18,338,669 for 1978 and 1977, respectively.

Sources of income for the city included tax collection of $456,518 in 1978 compared to $410,963 in 1977; license and permit fees collected, $33,137 in '78 and $26,388 in '77; funds received from state and federal government sources, totaling $851,654 in '78 compared to $692,244 in '77; and charges for city services including street department services, police department services and camping fees, $52,221 in '78 and $33,266 in '77.

Income received by the city from fines and forfeits totaled $33,991 in '78 compared to $29,256 in '77; and miscellaneous revenues such as special assessments, rent, interest earned and the sale of scrap and material totaled $176,060 in '78 up from the '77 figure of $150,822.

In 1978, $796,173 was received in transfers from other funds such as the water utility fund, the liquor dispensary and the sanitation utility fund. This is in comparison to $722,064 of income from transfers in 1977. In 1978 only the city also had $413,381 added to its revenues by an increase in the amount to be provided for redemption of debt.

Revenue totals from all these sources show that the city received $2,813,135 in 1978 compared to $2,065,003 in 1977. Expenditures for the years were $2,533,214 and $2,300,273, respectively, with the city then having a net increase in its fund balance of $116,562 in 1978 compared to a net decrease in 1977 of $33,197.

Council members also examined a report Tuesday from city engineer Doug Stewart, which contained cost estimates for 1979 proposed projects including street improvements and a bituminous surface maintenance program. At an earlier meeting the council had instructed Stewart to inspect streets improved in the years 1957 through 1969 and determine which were

Area Elections Reviewed

Wiebolt, Grovum Win School Posts

Ken Wiebolt

Wally Grovum

With six candidates on the ballot for two open positions on the board of education for School District 564 in Thief River Falls, Ken Wiebolt and Wally Grovum won handily Tuesday as 943 district residents cast ballots in the election.

Wiebolt led all candidates for the two three-year terms with 606 votes received, followed by Grovum with 591. Gary Erickson finished a distant third at 242 votes while Merle (Mic) Gjovik received 237, Robert J. Anderson 91 and Vernon Kappes 90.

The new board members will succeed Wallace Sparby and Clyde Christensen who have served for nine and seven years respectively. Reorganization of the new board is scheduled for July 9.

Three polling places were again used for the election with the vote totals for each candidate at each of the polls being as follows:

Franklin — Wiebolt, 303; Grovum, 266; Erickson, 126; Gjovik, 108; Anderson, 30; and Kappes, 51; Lincoln — Wiebolt, 271; Grovum, 283; Erickson, 97; Gjovik, 101; Anderson, 48; and Kappes, 32; St. Hilaire — Wiebolt, 32; Grovum, 42; Erickson, 19; Gjovik, 28; Anderson, 13; and Kappes, 7.

There was only one spoiled ballot among the seven absentee ballots and 936 cast by voters at the polls Tuesday.

At Goodridge 82 voters went to the polls and an organized write-in campaign resulted in the election of Lee Nelson as a new member of the board. Nelson, whose father Richard was the incumbent who chose not to file for reelection, received 59 write-in votes. Reelected to the board with 62 votes was Loren Race who had filed for reelection. Sharon Howard received five write-in votes and 14 others received four or fewer votes.

Two write-ins won election in the Strandquist school district where 73 residents voted. Marlys Lefrooth was reelected with 53 votes as an incumbent who sought reelection. Elected to the other three-year term was Stan Opheim with 26 write-in votes. He will succeed Orville Koland who did not seek reelection. Elected to an unexpired two-year term with 47 write-in votes was Leatrice Larson who defeated John Wawrzyniak. He had filed for the office and received 19 votes.

At Newfolden an incumbent board member was unseated as a challenger topped all vote-getters at the polls. Walter Steinhauer was reelected to the board with 139 votes but Robert Dahl received 151 votes to gain election to a three-year term. Defeated was Derek Forsell who received 99 votes to finish third in the balloting. Bruce Elseth and William Olson Jr. trailed with 68 and 31 votes respectively.

The Marshall county central district had polling places at Newfolden, Holt and Viking. Vote totals for each of the candiadates at each of the polling places was as follows: Holt — Steinhauer, 36; Forsell, 9; Dahl, 27; Elseth, 4; and Olson, 5; Viking — Steinhauer, 29; Forsell, 18; Dahl, 20; Elseth, 8; and Olson, 5; Newfolden — Steinhauer, 74; Forsell, 72; Dahl, 104; Elseth, 56; and Olson, 21.

At Grygla one incumbent and one new board member were elected, both of whom had filed for election. Incumbent John Smeby received 143 votes and Bruce Lunsetter was given 134. Smeby received 42 votes at Gatzke, 96 at Grygla and five at Skime polling places while Lunsetter received 43 votes at Gatzke, 86 at Grygla and five at Skime. Ronald Engelstad, who did not seek reelection, received three write-in votes.

Two new board members were elected at Plummer where the two incumbents — J. Raymond Rosten and Rodney Myhre — did not seek reelection. Merlin Carlson, a prior member of the board, received 155 votes as 202 voters cast ballots in the election. John Helley Sr. was also elected with 128 votes. Chuck Heller Jr. and Ardith Zimpel trailed with 72 and 34 votes respectively. Four persons received write-in votes.

Council Hears Report On DDC Parking Project

Proposed parking assessment district was outlined for Thief River Falls city council members Monday, May 14, when the council met in a special session with downtown committee (DDC) members. Properties proposed for purchase were also discussed and it was the DDC's intent to get feedback from the council members on each of the lots being considered for parking.

Jon Larson, owner of Larson Music and spokesman for the parking assessment committee, offered background information regarding the parking project, described the boundaries of the proposed assessment district, gave cost estimates, provided some information about the assessment formula the committee has been developing, pointed out lots being considered for purchase and outlined the procedure the committee must follow in forming the assessment district and proceeding with the parking project. (See April 16 issue of the Times for detailed information on the parking project, assessment district and assessment formula.)

Briefly, the DDC is considering a half a million dollar project which could add up to 200 parking stalls to the downtown area. The city would provide in-kind services including demolition, excavation, backfilling, curb and gutter, surfacing, signing and striping at a cost of approximately $150,000. The remaining $350,000 would be assessed back to businesses within an assessment district approximately 800,000 square feet over a period of 10 to 15 years. Assessments would be made on the basis of a formula which will take into consideration square footage of a business, use and benefit with churches and residential property to be exempt from assessment.

Properties presently being considered for purchase and conversion to parking are listed here with size indicated and estimates given on cost if available: Sjoberg parking lot, 50 x 140 feet, $55,000; old Lind Motor building, 50 x 140, $75,000; Credit Bureau property, 50 x 140 feet, $110,000; Noreen house adjacent to Metz Baking Co., 50 x 140 feet, $53,000; Northwestern Hospital property, 50 x 140 feet, no cost estimate available; Isrealson property on N. Horace Ave., 100 x 140 feet, $110,000; Beito lot on N. Horace Ave., 75 x 140 feet, $42,500. Also being considered for purchase are Site B, D & K Collision property and several other properties on which contacts have not yet been made. It was generally felt that the committee must remain flexible enough to consider alternate sites if those now being considered are too costly.

KEY WOMAN AWARD was received recently by Mrs. Karen Lehrer of St. Hilaire at the Minnesota annual Jaycee-Jaycee Women convention held in Duluth. Karen, a member of the Thief River Falls Jaycee Women chapter, was selected to receive the award on the basis of local chapter involvement, personal development and community involvement and is the first person from this area to receive a Key Woman award. One of only five awards given in the state annually, the key award is the highest recognition in the Jaycee Women organization. Karen has been a member of the Thief River Falls Jaycee Woman chapter since 1968, became a chapter officer in 1970 and has held a district or chapter office every year since. A reception was held in her honor Friday, May 11.

Myrna Lindsay Weds Captain Joel Fuller

Miss Myrna Lindsay and Capt. Joel Fuller were united in marriage at a late afternoon, double ring ceremony on Saturday, April 7, at the Sweetheart Manor in Idaho Falls, Idaho. Bishop Don H. Beck officiated.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orris Lindsay of Blackfoot, Idaho. The groom is the son of Mrs. Luella Fuller of this city and the late Thomas Fuller.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an original designed gown of French imported, re-embroidered Alencon candlelight lace and French voile. The modified empire bodice with full sheer sleeves with lace embroidered ruffled cuffs, featured a Queen Anne neckline. Beads and scrolls accented the neckline. A picture hat of matching lace held her veil of English bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of orchids and English ivy.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Paula Moser of Blackfoot, Idaho. She wore a floor-length gown of apricot polyester silk featuring dolman sleeves and a rounded yoke neckline closed with tiny covered buttons. The waist was gathered and tied with a satin ribbon.

Best man was Capt. J.J. Mikolajczyk of Tampa, Fla., a friend of the groom. Capt. Mac Sayers, Las Vegas, Nev., served as usher.

Also participating were the bride's brother, Patrick, who served as ringbearer, and her sister, Lori, who played the "Bridal Chorus," and provided background music.

For the ceremony, the bride's mother wore a light apricot colored floor-length gown. The groom's mother wore a pale-green, floor-length gown with matching jacket.

A reception at the Sweetheart Manor immediately followed the ceremony. Decorations were in apricot tones with table centerpieces featuring crystal compotes with candles, surrounded by silk flowers. Apricot and yellow flowers decorated the three-tiered banana nut cake, which was served with pineapple-apricot ice cream parfait and an almond cup.

The rehearsal dinner, held the preceding evening at the Colonial Inn in Blackfoot, was hosted by the groom's mother.

Following a brief wedding trip to Jackpot, Nev., the bride and groom returned to their respective Air Force bases and are waiting reassignment to the Philippine Islands in July.

Susan Anderson To Wed Steven Saurdiff June 2

Susan Kay Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Anderson of Goodridge, and Steven Don Saurdiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Saurdiff of Grygla, will exchange marriage vows on Saturday, June 2, at 2:30 p.m., at the Faith Lutheran church at Goodridge.

A reception will follow the ceremony.

No invitations are being sent. All friends and relatives are welcome.

Bridal Shower Set For Lila Paetznick

Lila Paetznick, fiancee of Miles Smith of Badger, will be honored at a bridal shower on Sunday at 2 p.m., at the First Lutheran church at Middle River.

All friends and relatives are welcome to attend. Those attending are asked to bring a canned item with the label removed.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Delegates And Alternates

At the regular monthly meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, held recently delegates and alternates were chosen to attend the Ninth District convention set for June 8-9 at Bagley.

Alternates selected were Dorothy Olson, Betty DeHaan, Stella Thomas, Peg Peterson, Myrtle Kagg, Connie Ferber, Octavia Jorgenson, Bea Hanson, Marilyn Winters, Ethel Anderson, Gertrude Bolstad, Flora Hagglund, Hilda Wennberg and Geneva Larson.

A dinner preceded the meeting. Distringuished guests were Gold Star members: Mrs. R.W. Nelson, Mrs. Ragna Efteland, Mrs. Lila Martinson, Mrs. Cora Stigen, Mrs. Vivian Hiebert and Mrs. Gladys Jorstad; together with Department president, Mrs. Margaret Lonergan of Lakeland and Times society editor Mrs. Ellen M. Spray. The Gold Star members were presented with a gift as well as a corsage composed of American Legion poppies surrounding a gold rose. Following the welcome by Unit President Constance Driscoll, and the prayer by chaplain Eileen Horejsh, Department President Lonergan gave tribute to the Gold Star members. She said, "Because of the great sacrifice made by your loved ones in our country's defense, we must be inspired to greater services to preserve the ideals of a free America." The program concluded with Terri Cuppett playing the guitar and singing two selections.

Mrs. Lonergan also spoke briefly at the business meeting that followed. Included was a memorial service, paying tribute to members who have died during the past year.

Communications included a letter from National Legislative chairman Anna Gear asking all auxiliary members to write their congressmen requesting help to restore prayer in the nation's public schools.

Several reports were given. LaVonne Haraldson reported that the auxiliary membership is now 621. Poppy chairman Barb Restad announced that poppy days are May 24-25. She asked the members to volunteer their help in offering the poppies to the public.

Plans were also finalized for the annual visit to the VA hospital at Fargo on May 16, and the Leadership Development course to be held May 19 at the local Legion club rooms. It was noted that district chairman Edna Pearson will be in charge of the leadership course and that 17 units in the area had been invited to attend.

The meeting concluded with a prayer and the retiring of the colors. Lunch followed. The door prize was won by Flora Hagglund.

Woman's Christian Temperance Unit To Meet

Thief River Falls Alice Mae Stuart Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Friday at 2 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Mons Engelstad.

To be discussed will be sending local youth to the Youth Temperance camp at Lake Koronis June 11-17, and the scheduling of a bake sale.

All members are asked to attend. Friends are welcome.

Susan Jean Ranum And Robert Brekke To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ranum of Thief River Falls announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Jean, to Robert Brekke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brekke of Plummer.

The Bride-elect, who will graduate in May with the Lincoln high school class of 1979, is employed at East Side Superette.

Brekke is a 1978 graduate of Plummer high school and is employed by Edlund Construction.

A June 2nd wedding is planned.

Campanula Club Anniversary Is Noted At Dinner

Campanula garden club anniversary dinner was held recently in the banquet room at the Hanging Gardens. Centering the table was a candle that had been used at every meeting throughout the year. On either side of the candle were blue tapers.

Following the dinner, a brief business meeting was held. Included was the collection of 50-cent contributions from each member for the Spring Workshop held at Roseau. The Horticultural award was discussed and Geneva Overum appointed Bertha Hastad and Olga Johnson to assist her in selecting the nominee from the local club. Plans were also made for planting the flower plots at the court house. Olga Johnson and Viola Hoglin were appointed to secure the plants.

Pie and coffee concluded the anniversary observance. Special guest was Mrs. William Meyers of Crescent City, Calif.

Shower Set For Mrs. G. Anderson And Lisa

Mrs. Gary (Barbara) Anderson of Thief River Falls and her infant daughter, Lisa Marie, will be honored at a shower on Sunday at 2 p.m., at the Oak Park Lutheran church dining room, eight miles north, four miles east and one-half mile north of Oklee.

No cards are being sent. All friends and relatives are welcome.

Chat And Chew Homemakers' Final Meet Held

Final meeting of the season of the Chat and Chew homemakers club was highlighted by a dinner at the Hanging Gardens. Ten members attended the event. Following the dinner, the members reassembled at the Donovan Narverud home for a brief business meeting with President Carol Narverud in charge.

An invitation was read by Marian Williams to tour the Little Chapel of the Flowers at Eagle Bend. Following a discussion, the appealing invitation was declined, due to the distance and the present gasoline shortage.

Councilors for the coming year were appointed. Selected were Pauline Aubol, senior councilor, and Carol Narverud, junior councilor. It was noted that the other officers will be elected in the fall.

During the social hour, cards were signed for Laurel Joyner and Lena Hayes, former members of the club. A dessert lunch was served by Mrs. Narverud.

Knutson And Smeby To Marry At Radium

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Knutson of Viking and Mr. and Mrs. John Smeby of Grygla announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their children, Rochelle and Lowell.

Shower Set For Mrs. Don Jensen and Neil

Mrs. Don Jensen and son, Neil of Highlanding, will be honored at a baby shower on Friday at 7:30 p.m., at the Ekelund dining hall.

All friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

BPO Does Hold 24th Mother-Daughter Banquet

BPO Does 24th annual Mother and Daughter banquet was held Tuesday, May 8, with 33 Does and 57 guests attending. For the occasion, the tables were decorated with colorful fresh plants and print bonnet nutcups.

The program included two selections by Shanna LaFave, Dawn Nelson and Anny Lykken, a horn trio from Franklin Junior high school. The mother's welcome and daughter's response were given by Mrs. Hilary Stoltman and her daughter, Patty. Mrs. Gerald Schuster gave a special tribute to Mothers-in-law, and Nicole Boughton, to Grandmothers.

Following the dinner, served by eight members of the Elks, prizes were awarded and games were played.

It was noted that the drove has contributed to a number of benevolences during the past months. Monetary or gift donations, amounting to $25, have been given to each of the 11 families suffering property losses in home fires; $50 scholarships for the winter quarter were presented to two students at Northland Community college and two at the Area Vocational technical institute; $100 was allocated to a needy family for food and clothing during the holidays; $100 was donated to the Senior Citizens, to provide transportation to the Winter Shows at Crookston; and a monetary gift to the Friendship club.

The next meeting of the BPO Does will be held Tuesday. The meeting will include the draping of the charter for Past Presidents Mrs. Fred (Bernice) Wengeler, who died in Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Olaf (Alice) Vraa, who died here recently. Mrs. Wengeler was the drove's first president and Mrs. Vraa, the second.

Piano Students Advance To State Contest

Advancing to the state contest of the Free Church youth fellowship piano competition following participation in a district contest are Rick Trontvet and Renelle Twistol of Thief River Falls. The state competition will be held at Bethel college in Minneapolis June 9.

Rick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Trontvet, received a superior rating for his piano solo at the district contest held Saturday, May 12, in Pembina. Rick performed "Praise The Lord, Ye Heavens Adore Him," written by Franz J. Haydn, arranged by William Stickles.

Renelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Twistol, received an excellent rating for her piano solo, "Fairest Lord Jesus," written by George F. Handel, arranged by Rob Roy Peery.

Both Rick and Renelle are piano students of Marcia Knuttila. Renelle is an eighth grader at Franklin middle school and has taken piano lessons six years. Rick is a freshman at Lincoln high school and has taken piano lessons five years.

The two were also state winners in the Free church youth fellowship piano contest in May of last year and Rick received a superior rating at the national contest held at Fort Collins, Colo. last July. Rick and Renelle also received an excellent rating for their piano duet at the national level.

NW Bell Wants Calendar Art Before June 15

Northwestern Bell is again inviting artists from the five-state area in which it serves to help celebrate the start of a new decade by sharing their creativity and imagination in the company's 1980 appointment calendar. The deadline for artists' entries is June 15.

Artists who have not received notification of this project and who wish to have their work considered for this 16th annual calendar can contact their local PhoneCenter store for more details.

This art calendar featuring original works by artists from Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota will be available in the company PhoneCenter stores late this year.

Spring Scout Camporee Set At Wabaunaquat

Annual spring camporee for all the Boy scouts and Webelos in Voyageur Trails district will be held this weekend, May 18-20, at Camp Wabaunaquat, 10 miles east of Ogema.

The weekend camporee will consist of camp set-up, troop leaders' meeting and individual troop campfires on Friday night. Saturday morning will include a special Webelos scout program whereby the Webelos scouts will be tested on their arrow of light award requirements. Saturday afternoon will consist of skill-o-ree events for both Webelos and Boy scouts.

A special arrow of light graduation ceremony will be held on Saturday night after the Catholic and Lutheran church services. The evening will conclude with an order of the arrow tap out followed by a campfire. Sunday will conclude with breakfast and cleanup prior to a 12 noon check out time.

Voyageur Trails district is made up of communities using the scouting program in Kittson, Marshall, Roseau, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman and Mahnomen counties. Scouting programs are supported by local United Ways, community chests and sustaining membership enrollments. Gordon Przybylski is serving as district scout executive.

Food Stamp Participation Up In February

Preliminary estimates show that participation in the food stamp porgram rose to 18.6 million persons in February, an increase of 1.1 million persons from revised January participation figures, the U.S. department of agriculture reported recently.

Comparable estimates for the states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin show participation rising to 2.79 million persons in February, an increase of about 90,000 persons from January, according to Monroe Woods, midwest regional administrator of the USDA's food and nutrition service (FNS). Midwest regional office of FNS administers the federal food stamp program through public social service departments in these six states.

Most states eliminated the food stamp purchase requirement on Jan. 1 in accordance with the food stamp act of 1977. Many low income families who previously could not afford food stamps have entered the program since Jan. 1.

Advance data from areas selected nationwide for the month of March suggest a significant slowdown in food stamp growth since February.

Average food stamp benefit dropped slightly in February, falling just below 33 cents per person per meal. Average food stamp household has gross income of less than $3,600 per year.

Department has reported that the rate of growth in the food stamp program has been greatest in sparsely populated rural areas, and lowest in large cities. Preliminary data indicates that between December and February, participation increased 33 per cent in the most sparsely populated areas, but only seven per cent in urban areas.

Historically, rural areas have experienced lower participation rates in the food stamp program than urban areas.

Department also announced downward revisions in earlier food stamp estimates for January. Program served 300,000 fewer persons, at a cost of $12 million less than indicated by preliminary estimates released last month.

Data for future months should be affected by a series of changes in food stamp eligibility and benefit rules that took effect March 1. These changes substantially lower food stamp net income limits, eliminate households owning luxury cars, disqualify persons who have committed fraud, restrict participation by students, and replace most food stamp itemized deductions with standard deductions.

Information about federal child labor laws may be obtained from any office of the Wage and Hour Division, listed in most telephone directories under U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration.

Week Set Aside For Awareness Of Handicapped

There's a lot of talk these days about accessibility and rights for handicapped people, and as a result there's just as much talk and even more handwringing about how much it's going to cost. The covert message is that it's too expensive, and its necessity questionable.

One irate man wrote a letter to the editor of a large metropolitan paper not long ago, and recommended that we get rid of curb cuts and "go back to relying on human compassion to help the handicapped when and where needed." But studies show that many people, including bicyclists and mothers with baby carriages and delivery men (not to mention people in wheelchairs) consider curb cuts and ramps convenient and, at times, necessary.

But ramps and curb cuts, handy as they are, aren't the issue. The issue is barriers, the kind we build into our cities and towns and manage to ignore for the most part. The fact is that architectural barriers get in the way. They get in the way of people in wheelchairs, and people who use crutches and walkers.

Man-made barriers also make life unnecessarily difficult for blind people and deaf people as well. It's just a matter of becoming aware of the "little things" like the difference between flat signs and signs that can be read by fingers as well as eyes, like fire alarms that can still get your attention even if you can't hear them, like the six-inch step that's as much a barrier as a boulder when it's at the door to an otherwise accessible building.

For handicapped people barriers are just like boulders, obstacles too big and too impossible to move on their own. There's a role for human compassion, and there always will be, but compassion does not ensure independence for those who deserve to move about unhindered.

EFC Ladies Aid To Meet Friday At Newfolden

Hostesses will be Mrs. Bob Dahl, Mrs. Archie Skadsem, Mrs. Duane Von Wold and Mrs. Vernon Gunderson. Everyone is welcome.

Rites Held For Mrs. Andrew Lagerquist, 65

Mrs. Andrew (Nicoline) Lagerquist, 65, of Strandquist, died Monday afternoon, May 7, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital. She had been in failing health for several years

Funeral services for Mrs. Andrew Lagerquist were held Saturday at 2 p.m., at the Bethesda Lutheran church in Strandquist with Rev. John F. Hagberg officiating. Mrs. Terry Johnson was the organist and Mrs. Douglas Thun, Mrs. Wayne Jacobson and Mrs. Phillip Boen sang. Interment was in the church cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arangements.

Pallbearers were Dennis Skadsem, Gordon Lefrooth, Carl Johnson, Laurel Kline, Louie Lofstrom and Wallace Onger.

Serving as honorary pallbearers were Jerry, Jeff and Lee Donaldson, Terry and Jerry Lefrooth and John Henrickson.

Mrs. Lagerquist, the former Nicoline Jensine Rust, was born Nov. 11, 1913 at Halma to Peter and Rachael Lofquist Rust. She attended school at Halma and was married in 1934 at Warren to James E. Donaldson. The couple made their home at Strandquist.

In 1949, she was married in North Dakota to Andrew Lagerquist. Since then, they have resided at Strandquist.

She is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Rachel Lofquist of Strandquist; a daughter, Mrs. Gordon (Frances) Anderson of Thief River Falls; three sons: Harold Donaldson, Strandquist and James Donaldson and Leslie Lagerquist, both of Tennessee; 12 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter;

Also five sisters: Mrs. Bonnie Hanson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Elmer (Arlene) Henrickson; Strandquist, Mrs. Lavonne Johnson, Karlstad; Mrs. Pearl Wright, Houston, Tex.; and Mrs. Bella Malliman of Sacramento, Calif.; and seven brothers: Art Wayne, Greeley, Colo.; Sam Wayne, St. Paul; Dewey and Bennie Rust, both of Ogden, Utah; Miles Rust, Detroit Lakes; Tilman Rust, Gilcreast, Colo.; and Ernest Rust, Sacramento, Calif.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, her father, a grandson, one granddaughter, and a brother.

Walter Woods, 61, Of Trail Dies Monday

Walter H. Woods, 61, of Trail, brother of Mrs. Bryon Dirks of Thief River Falls, died unexpectedly on Monday at rural Trail.

Funeral services for Walter H. Woods will be held Thursday at 2 p.m., at the Mount Olive Lutheran church in Trail with Rev. Charles Keeler officiating. Miss Tomine Moen will be the organist and Henry Burrack and Rev. Charles Keeler will sing. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Gordon Brinkman, Cliff Fischer, Vernon Hovelsrud, Albert Aakness, James Sunrud and Howard Flateland.

The body will repose at the Petterson Funeral home in Red Lake Falls until Thursday morning and at the church in Trail for one hour prior to the time of services.

Walter Harvey Woods was born July 6, 1917 at Warren to Harvey and Elizabeth Brown Woods, now deceased. At the age of 10 years, he moved to Grygla, where he completed his schooling and grew to manhood.

On June 30, 1941, he was married at Cass Lake to Bertha Isaac. After their marriage, they farmed in Alvarado and later at Plummer. For 10 years he owned and operated a bar in Trail. For the past few years, he had been employed by Northern Sand and Gravel.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Air Force from July 1942 until his discharge in December of 1945.

Surviving are his wife, three daughters: Mrs. Stanford (Patsy) Anderson, Rockford, Ill.; Mrs. Gordon (Barbara) Jallen, Pinewood; and Mrs. Robert (Karen) Thoennes, Brandon; nine grandchildren, a brother, Roy Woods of Trail; and one sister, Mrs. Bryon (Viola) Dirks of this city.

He was preceded in death by one sister and a brother.

Memorial Rites Set For MIA Richard Knutson

Memorial services have been set for Chief Warrent Officer Richard A. Knutson, 29, of Hallock.

Knutson, missing in action since January 8, 1973, and declared dead on May 3, 1979, was the Thief River Falls VFW auxiliary adopted MIA. For several years, the local auxiliary has contributed five dollars monthly to the National League of Families in his behalf.

Military memorial services for CWO Knutson will be held Friday at 2 p.m., at the Grace Lutheran church in Hallock with the Hughes Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Richard A. Knutson was born Sept. 11, 1949 at Hallock to Dr. Gerald and Ruby Aaseby Knutson. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in June of 1970 and served one year of duty at Finthen Air Base in Germany. He attended helicopter flight training, graduating in October of 1972. In December of that year, he was sent to Vietnam. The following month, he was declared missing in action.

He is survived by his mother, three sisters: Mrs. Michael (Carol) DeMann, Edina; Mrs. Warren (Eileen) Bothum, Karlstad, and Mrs. Monte (Cindy) Bloomquist, Hallock; and one brother, Gerald Knutson of Anoka.

He was preceded in death by his father, who died in 1954

IN APPRECIATION for the use of Redeemer Lutheran church for meetings and activities, members of Girl scout troop 132 of Mark Twain school planted a shrub Monday afternoon by the church. The shrub was planted to replace another which was winter-killed. Youngsters who participated in the project are shown with their freshly-planted shrub.

A parish prayer service will be held tonight (Wednesday) at eight o'clock at the Petterson Funeral home at Oklee, where the body will repose until Thursday morning.

Mrs. Radniecki, the former Marcella Yvonne Boucher, was born Nov. 9, 1949 at Crookston to Norman and Rose Robidoux Boucher. She attended school at Oklee, graduating with the class of 1967. On June 22, 1969, she was married at Oklee to Stanley Radniecki. The couple moved to St. Cloud where they have since resided. She was employed there for a number of years as a bookkeeper.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Sheila; her parents: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boucher, Oklee; two sisters: Mrs. William (Barbara) Walker, Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Neil (Jacqueline) Carrier, Oklee; a brother, Kenneth Boucher of Brooks, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Ida Johnson Services Held At Newfolden

Funeral services for Ida Johnson, 89, of Newfolden, were held Wednesday at 2 p.m., at the Bethania Free Lutheran church, Newfolden. Miss Johnson died Friday at the United Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D.

Rev. Merle Knutson officiated at the services. Vocal selections included a solo in the Scandinavian language by Harvey Dyrud and a duet by Mrs. Merle Knutson and Mrs. Ingvald Rokke. Mrs. Arnold Rokke served as organist. Interment was in the church cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Earl Gast, Hilmer Lind, Dale Rokke, Verne Green, Edgar Rokke and Milo Windahl.

Ida Johnson, a daughter of the late Lars and Kari Johnson, was born Jan. 23, 1890 in Marsh Grove township, Marshall county. She attended school in Marsh Grove township, and was baptized and later confirmed at the Bethania Free Lutheran church. She spent her summer months on the home farm and during the winter months she was a domestic worker in the Alvarado community. She then lived for a few years in Newfolden, and later made her home in Warren. Since 1974, she had been a resident at Valley Home.

Her only survivors are three second cousins: Mrs. Irene Nelson, East Grand Forks; Mrs. Melford Knutson, Stanwood, Wash., and Mrs. Mabel Monningh, Pasadena, Calif.

In addition to her parents, and a sister, who died in infancy, she was preceded in death by her sister, Emma.

Services Held For Mrs. Harry Sampson, 63

Funeral services for Mrs. Harry (Tillie) Sampson, 63, of Thief River Falls, were held Monday at 2 p.m., at the Silver Creek Lutheran church. Mrs. Sampson died Friday morning at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. Keith Prekker officiated at the services. Vocal selections were by Jackie and Julie Schwartz with Mrs. Larry Gustafson serving as organist. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Harry Philipp, Arden DuChamp, David Mueller, Don Howe and Roger Philipp.

Mrs. Sampson, the former Tillie Miramonte, was born June 2, 1915 at Eagle Lake, Tex., to Ben and Paula Miramonte. At the age of four years, she moved to the Thief River Falls community with her parents. She attended school and grew to womanhood here.

On Sept. 19, 1932, she was married in Thief River Falls to Harry Sampson. Since then, she had made her home in this community. She was a member of the VFW auxiliary, the Rebekah lodge and the Silver Creek ladies aid.

Surviving are her husband, five daughters: Mrs. Harry (Harriet) Philipp, Mrs. Arden (Darlene) DuChamp, Mrs. Don (Geraldine) Howe and Mrs. Curt (Holly) Howe, all of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. David (Arlene) Mueller of Excelsoir; 16 grandchildren and one great-grandson;

Also four brothers: Jessie and Bennie Miramonte, both of Thief River Falls, Charles of San Francisco, Calif.; Mrs. Connie Gaskin of Texas and Mrs. Henry Jarshaw of Thief River Falls.

She was preceded in death by one daughter, her parents, one brother, and two sisters.

Farm Bureau Approves Oil Deregulation

Farmers laud the Carter administration's oil price deregulation plan, according to the president of the state's largest general farm organization.

Merlyn Lokensgard, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, said this week that deregulation has been "a key part" of Farm Bureau energy proposals "for a long time."

Lokensgard said, "Our members have recognized by their policy decisions that private enterprise must be given the incentive to produce. We're confident that deregulation of crude oil prices will mean our domestic producers will move toward meeting U.S. energy needs."

Commending President Carter for acknowledging "the paralyzing effect" government regulations have had on the private sector, Lokensgard added: "We hope that this attitude will extend into other areas now being stifled by excessive government controls."

The Minnesota farm group spokesman did say, however, that Mr. Carter's oil price deregulation proposal left "some serious questions" unanswered. One, Lokensgard said, is "what is a windfall profit?"

Hopefully, the state Farm Bureau spokesman concluded, the administration's proposed windfall profits tax will not "destroy the incentive (for oil companies) to produce more oil."

SDA School To Operate Under Adopted Policy

Thief River Falls Seventh-day Adventist school voted acceptance of the non-discrimination policy recently adopted by the general conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The policy reads: "Admission to the Thief River Falls SDA Christian school is granted irrespective of sex, race, color, national or ethnic origin." Since the school is sponsored and financed primarily by the Seventh-day Adventist church, the majority of the students come from SDA families. However, no particular religious commitment is required for admission. Subject to available space, students who meet the academic and character requirements of the school and are willing to cooperate with the school policies may be admitted.

Furthermore, there is no discrimination on the basis of sex, race, color, national or ethnic origin in the administration of educational policies, scholarship and loan programs or other school activities and programs, according to Gene Howes, chairman of the SDA Christian school board.

Watch For Signs Of Shade Tree Disease

Trees bursting into bud and into leaf mean not only that spring has at long last arrived, but that it will soon be time for state citizens to watch for symptoms of destructive shade tree diseases — Dutch elm and oak wilt — agriculture commissioner Mark W. Seetin stated recently.

He announced that the shade tree laboratory of the Minnesota department of agriculture will open May 29 to receive and test samples from suspect elm and oak trees for the diseases that have already destroyed thousands of valuable shade trees in this state.

Laboratory testing of samples from elm and oak trees suspected of being infected by the killer diseases is a free state service, part of the comprehensive program to control the spread of the diseases to remaining healthy trees.

Citizens who have live elm trees, particularly in communities where Dutch elm disease has been confirmed, should watch for early symptoms of infection — wilting and discoloring of new growth branches and leaves. Staining of the woody part of the branch, visible when the outer bark is peeled back, also is a symptom of both Dutch elm and oak wilt diseases.

When fresh wilting of elms or oaks is detected, citizens who want a positive diagnosis of whether these trees are diseased should cut samples from the wilted branches for testing by the shade tree laboratory. Submit four or five 6-inch twigs of quarter-to-half-inch diameter, wrapped in paper towels and sealed in a plastic bag or heavy envelope to preserve freshness, include your name, address, telephone number, and mail to: Shade Tree Laboratory, Division of Plant Industry, 670 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155. Tests take about 10 days for elm samples, three weeks for oak samples. For accurate tests, samples must be fresh.

Residents of the seven-county metropolitan area can receive assistance in obtaining samples and diagnosis of wilting elm and oak trees by contacting their respective local municipal tree inspector. Metro residents can phone 296-8580 for assistance in identifying local tree inspectors.

Minnesotans concerned about trees or ornamentals other than elm and oak trees may address inquiries or submit samples to the Plant Disease Clinic, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minnesota 55108.

Ag Department Adds Three To Pesticide List

Three additional special local need registration permits for the use of specific pesticides to control pests in agricultural and forestry crops have been issued by the Minnesota department of agriculture, subject to public review and comment.

Pesticides and uses authorized conditionally, in addition to the five announced on April 20 under the special local need registration permit authority are:

Orthene 75 S. Soluble Powder (EPA 239-2418), manufactured by Chevron Chemical company, Ortho dividision, Richmond, Calif. for use on dry and succulent forms of beans and lima beans, and to allow aerial application at rates up to one pound per acre to control loopers, leafhoppers, and European corn borers;

Avenge — Wild Oat Herbicide (EPA 241-250), manufactured by American Cyanamid company, Princeton, N.D., for use on spring wheat varieties Butte, Kitt, and Olaf to control wild oats and broadleaf weed species;

Spotrete-F. Flowable Thiram Turf Fungicide (EPA 1001-11), manufactured by W.A. Cleary corporation, Somerset, N.D., for use on nursery stock shrubs and ornamentals as a repellant for animals such as deer, rabbits, rodents and birds to protect such plants from feeding damage.

The public has until June 6 to review these three permits and file written petitions signed by 500 or more citizens of legal voting age and listing each signer's address to register objection to the above registration.

Special local need registration permits provide for specific use of pesticides when a use other than those stipulated on the product label is considered justified and there is no potential for unreasonable environmental effect.

Nysether And Stadum To Be Speakers Here

As a part of a statewide effort to inform Minnesotans of the accomplishments of the 1979 legislative session, Independent Republican representatives Tony Stadum of Ada and Myron Nysether of Roseau will speak to Thief River Falls residents and the press at noon on Wednesday, May 23.

The lunch at Lon's restaurant will be combined with a local press conference. Simultaneously, meetings and press conferences will be held throughout the state on May 23.

I-R House caucus leader Jerry Knickerbocker explained the purpose of this statewide effort, "We will be summarizing the major issues of the 1979 session — what was done; how it will affect your community; and what remains to be done."

"For the first time in Minnesota history, the Minnesota House is evenly split with 67 members in each political party. This unique situation, combined with a multitude of issues, causes and concerns, has resulted in a very interesting legislative session. We are anticipating good results this year and want Minnesotans to hear the story," Representative Knickerbocker said.

Poor Weather Drops Poultry Production

Egg production on Minnesota poultry farms during the first three months of 1979 is estimated at 44 million dozen with a farm value at average wholesale prices of nearly $23 million, reports agriculture commissioner Mark W. Seetin.

Impact of the severe winter conditions continued to reflect both in reduced numbers of chickens and production, and has temporarily dropped Minnesota from the tenth to the eleventh leading egg producing state.

On April 1, Minnesota's laying flock was down to 8.6 million chickens, five per cent less than a year earlier. During the first quarter the average chicken in Minnesota's production flocks laid just short of five dozen eggs. That represented about $2.60 "gross earnings" per layer for the three months "work."

Minnesota farmers received an average of 52 cents per dozen for their egg production during the January-March period. That is the highest 3-month average price poultry farmers have received in five years but still well below 1973 when farm egg prices peaked at almost 67 cents a dozen.

Summer Music Camp Slated At Bemidji

For the thirty-second year, Bemidji state university is inviting Minnesota high school students and directors to participate in the annual BSU summer music camp. The event, which is offered in two one-week sessions July 22-27 and July 29-August 3, covers instruction in areas ranging from orchestra to choir.

Over 10 highly qualified instructors will be leading the activities. Among the faculty members are Robert Morsch, Western Illinois university; Alfred Reed, composer, Miami, Fla.; and James Berg, Greater Twin Cities Youth Orchestras of Robbinsdale.

In addition, numerous other vocal and instrumental musicians will be on hand to provide private lessons and special instruction in such topics as bassoon reed making and jazz band.

Directors will have opportunity to participate in several courses geared to their interests during both weeks.

For specifics on all activities and costs involved, contact your school music teacher or write: Theodore Thorson, Director, Music Camp, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601.

'U'M Enrollment Still Largest In The Nation

University of Minnesota's Twin Cities campus remains the largest in the nation in both total enrollment and the number of undergraduate students, according to recent figures released by the national association of state universities and land-grant colleges.

The Twin Cities campus has a total enrollment of 63,223, a figure which includes both day and evening students. Ohio state university at Columbus, with 51,241 day and evening students, is the second largest campus in the country.

The survey measured enrollment statistics from 133 of the association's 142 member schools, which have a total enrollment of 3.2 million students.

The total University of Minnesota system is the seventh largest, with 75,711 students. The largest institution responding to the survey was the State University of New York, which has 340,734 students.

The Twin Cities campus also has the largest number of undergraduate students, with 44,582 students, followed again by Ohio State at Columbus with 39,117, and the largest number of women students, with 29,948.

The second largest number of graduate students in the nation, 10,618, is also on the Twin Cities campus, with the largest number, 10,919, enrolling at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The total University of Minnesota system also has the highest number of students enrolled for degree credit in extension, with 20,077 students, but less than one third of the schools responding to the survey provided data on extension students working toward degrees. The Twin Cities campus placed fourth in professional school enrollment, with 2,713 students enrolled.

Besides Minnesota and the State University of New York, the other eight largest university systems are City University of New York, the University of Wisconsin, the University of California, the University of North Carolina, the University of Texas, Indiana University, the University of Illinois and the University of Maryland.

A second report on enrollment of minority students at state and land-grant schools shows the Twin Cities campus as one of 49 campuses with at least 1,000 black students. The Twin Cities campus ranked seventh in enrollment of foreign students, with 1,765, seventh in American Indian enrollment, with 283, and seventh in Asian-Pacific Islander enrollment, with 904.

To Demonstrate Instruments At Grade School

Demonstration of musical instruments for elementary students will be held Thursday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Washington elementary school gymnasium, according to John Moum, elementary instrumental music instructor.

The demonstration is intended to assist beginning band members in the selection of an instrument for summer band lessons and for school band use in the fall.

Moum can be contacted at 681-2700 (extension 300) or at 681-3723 for more information. Students attending the demonstration should indicate their names, parents names, telephone number, school attended and choice of either flute, clarinet, saxophone, trumpet, trombone or drums as the instrument they would like to play.

D. Waterworth Ends Marine Corps Training

Marine private Donald A. Waterworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Waterworth of rural Newfolden, has completed the infantry combat training course at the marine corps base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the six week course, he received classroom instruction and participated in field exercises involving infantry tactics; the construction and camouflage of fighting positions; and the use of mines, demolitions and intra-company communications equipment.

A 1978 graduate of Marshall County Central, he joined the marine corps in November 1978.

Tax Freedom Day Observed Sunday, May 13

Tax freedom day 1979 in Minnesota was Sunday, May 13. This is the day when the typical worker would owe no more taxes if, from the beginning of the year, every dollar of income was used to pay state, local and federal taxes.

Because Minnesota's state and local tax burden is higher than the national average, we "celebrated" tax freedom day one week later than typical taxpayers nationwide.

Another way to look at the tax bite is to break down an eight-hour work day. Taxes consume two hours and 52 minutes of every day. If you start work at 8 a.m. you're essentially working for the government until 11. The three basic necessities of life — food, clothing and shelter — take up one minute more of your work day than taxes.

Above figures are compiled by the Minnesota Taxpayers association, a non-profit, nonpartisan research organization.

Nigerians Look For Jobs On Local Farms

University of Minnesota technical college in Crookston is looking for farm families interested in hosting visiting students from Nigeria during the summer crop season. These young men are 18 to 25 years of age and majoring in mechanized agriculture. Their objective in the summer program is to gain work experience on typical crop and livestock farms.

They are receiving a monthly allowance from their government and would require $100 per month plus board and room in return for full-time farm work. The students are available around May 20 and would remain on the farm through harvest season.

Anyone interested in considering employment of one of these students is invited to contact Paul Akkre, University of Minnesota, Crookston, 281-6510, extension 265 or contact the county extension office for additional information.

Sen. Boschwitz On Committee

Senator Rudy Boschwitz has been named to the Budget's conference Committee, one of two freshmen to be appointed.

The conference committee, composed of members from both the Senate and House of Representatives, is responsible for reconciling differences between versions of the budget bill as passed by both houses.

Work by the conference committee is expected to begin the week of May 14.

Potential areas of disagreement fall, in the amounts to be spent for national defense, CETA programs, and revenue sharing for states.

TRF Community Band Concert To Be Outdoors

Thief River Falls community band will play its spring concert outdoors at Northland community college Sunday at 4 p.m. if weather permits, according to Les Torgerson, director. Site will be the courtyard south of the commons.

The band will have just returned from a concert tour to Duluth where it appeared as a representative of the Thief River Falls community at the St. Louis county heritage and art center — a revamped railroad depot. In case of bad weather the concert here will be held in the college auditorium.

Torgerson said the band receives a grant from the city of Thief River Falls which assists with costs of the concert tour.

Take Steps To Comply With Dairy Rules

An initial legal step has been taken by the Minnesota department of agriculture to insure state dairy industry compliance with pending new federal standards for the production, processing and marketing of grade A milk and grade A dairy products.

Commissioner Mark W. Seetin has filed public notice of consideration to amend state Grade A milk rules and invite written information and comment from all interested persons or groups. Deadline for comment is July 1.

Consideration involves nearly 500 pages of recommended new language in the U.S. public health service draft of a new grade A milk ordinance completed in 1978 after six years of review. New federal code is awaiting an assignment of effective date from the National Conference of Milk Shippers to be held May 20 in Louisville, Ky.

Copies of the federal recommendations are not yet available for general distribution. However, a draft copy is on file and available for inspection by the interested public at the offices of the Dairy Industries Division, Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 530 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155, during normal Monday-Friday office hours.

Director Orlowe W. Osten said that timely state action to amend its Grade A milk and dairy product rules in conformity with pending new federal standards is important to insure continued access to domestic and export markets for Minnesota's grade A dairy products.

Public comments on the consideration of proposed amendments of Minnesota's grade A milk rules should be submitted in writing to the attention of director Osten at the address indicated above for the Minnesota department of agriculture.

History Group Will Meet In Warren Friday

On Friday the board of directors of the Marshall county historical society will meet to formulate additional plans for the upcoming county at 8 p.m. in the courthouse historical center.

Through the center, planning is underway for the 100th birthday to be celebrated at fairtime in July. Plans which call for coordinated activities of the fair board and historical board will include a centennial pageant and dedication of two new buildings currently under construction.

President of the historical society is Neil Mattson of Warren who hired Nancy Solum of Argyle as executive director in the fall of 1977. Beginning in the spring of 1978, Phyllis Haynes of Warren started as a staff assistant for the society. Currently serving on the society staff are also Bess Swanson, Linda Lubarski, Judy Mock and Katie Sedlacek.

The historical center established in the courthouse is soon to be moved to the visitor center on the fairgrounds. On Oct. 11, 1977 sod was scraped off an area over 80 by 160 feet for the new center. The visitor center, a prefabricated steel building, is to house antique farm machines and will contain five old-time store units and an office with storage for artifacts, manuscripts and catalogued data on the society's holdings.

The society board members are urged to visit the fairgrounds site prior to the meeting. Included on the meeting agenda are plans to add the old Oslo jail, the old Llewellyn post office from New Solum township and the Warren Soo Line depot. Members at large are assisting the society in this Centennial year. They are helping secure pre-1916 items for the saloon, general store, hotel, millinery and print shop.

Nelder Broten, the machinery curator for the society, has been assisted in expanding the antique implement collection by several area farmers; they plan to incorporate an antique farm machine parade into the Centennial pageant. The 1979 pageant to be staged July 22 in front of the grandstand has been planned to include portions developed by each of Marshall county's communities.

Give Ideas On Late Planting Of Small Grain

University of Minnesota extension agronomists Dale Hicks and Lee Hardman report that late planting of small grains causes tillering and flowering to occur later in the growing season when temperatures are higher. Higher temperature reduces the number of tillers and may affect seed set and subsequent yield.

The agronomists give the following suggestion:

Oats may be planted as late as June 1 in northwestern Minnesota. Varieties with Noble or earlier maturity are suggested with seeding rates of 80 pounds per acre if grain production is intended.

If the oats are planted primarily as a nurse crop (and for harvest of grain and straw), use a seeding rate of 65 pounds per acre to allow the underseeded crop less competition. For maximum forage production (without concern for an underseeded crop), a tall and-or late maturing variety such as Lyon can be seeded at 80 pounds per acre. The earlier varieties seeded at 65 pounds per acre could also be harvested for forage which would allow more growing season for development of the underseeded crop.

With late oat planting, there is a greater probability of rust development. Therefore, selection of varieties with some degree of rust resistance becomes more important.

Era and earlier varieties of hard red spring wheat can be planted as late as May 25 south of Interstate 94. Seeding rates should be increased (especially for Butte variety) to 90 pounds per acre because of reduced tillering. Planting can occur as late as June 15 in this area. Increase seeding rates for June planting.

Barley can be planted as late as June 1 in the northern growing area. Normal seeding rates can be used if planting occurs nefore May 20. Increase the seeding rate by 20 per cent for planting after May 20.

Stewardship Of Soil Observed Here Next Week

Soil stewardship week, which had its origins more than 1,500 years ago, will be celebrated in Pennington county and throughout the United States and its territories on May 20-27, according to an announcement by Leonard Skaar, chairman of the Pennington soil and water conservation district.

Theme for the 1979 celebration is "Interdependence," a concept endorsed in the soil stewardship week booklet and accompanying material distributed by conservation districts to clergymen, lay leaders, civic and educational organizations and individuals interested in participating in the unique celebration.

"Americans have always understood the value of working together to achieve common goals," President Carter said. "We have learned that unity of purpose and mutual dependence are essential to our growth as a society of self-governing people.

"It is especially fitting, therefore, that interdependence. . .of city and country, of Americans and their resources, and of man and nature. . .is the theme of soil stewardship week in 1979," the President observed. "Our nation can be thankful for our progress in repairing the damage we have done to our environment. But that is only a start. To achieve greater harmony with nature, we must continue to seek harmony with one another."

The concept of soil stewardship had its origins in the special regation days set aside by the Bishop of Vienne, France, following bad weather and earthquakes that brought crop failures and widespread hunger to much of France some 1,500 years ago. The bishop called upon the people to offer prayers and penance, and to offer humble thanks to their creator "for the priceless gifts of soil, water, air and sunshine which make all living things possible."

"While we are not faced with the immediate prospect of famine or hunger in the United States today, the reasons for soil stewardship commemorative activities hasn't changed very much," chairman Skaar said. We still need to pause each year to express our thanks for the natural resources of soil, water and air which nurture our people and provide us with daily food and fiber necessary to carry on our daily existence."

Soil Stewardship Week has been sponsored in the United States since 1955 by the national association of conservation districts, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 conservation districts. Information of soil stewardship week and descriptive materials may be obtained through local conservation districts.

Gov. Al Quie has also proclaimed the week in Minnesota and notes that the well-being of all Minnesotans ". . .depends upon the production of ample supplies of food, fiber and other products of the soil."

He notes that quality and quantity of these products depend upon the conservation and management of soil and water resources and the prudent use of them, a responsibility shared by all of our citizens.

Planning Meet For Boy Scout Leaders Tues.

Annual Voyageur Trails district Boy scout planning conference will be held on Tuesday, May 22, at 7 p.m. in St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls. All Cub scout and Boy Scout leaders, committee members, scouting coordinators and commissioners are urged to attend, according to Art Heinze, district commissioner.

Purpose of the planning conference is to receive input from all scouters and areas in the district regarding next year's district calendar. Decisions will be made on dates, times, places, additions or deletions of training sessions, roundtable meetings, camporees, roundups, recognition banquet, unit inventory, Dad & Lad, winter events, commissioners meetings, district operations, manpower and others effecting the scouting program in Voyageur Trails district.

Voyageur Trails district is made up of communities using the scouting program in Kittson, Marshall, Roseau, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman and Mahnomen counties.

MN. Women For Agriculture To Meet Friday

Minnesota Women for Agriculture will meet Friday, May 25, in the downstairs meeting room of the Town and Country Restaurant in Fertile. The meeting will begin at noon and a film on the safe use of anhydrous ammonia and what to do in case of an accident with the chemical will be shown by Sam Bigger, Polk county extension agent. The meeting is open to all interested persons.

Conservation Slide Series Now Available

Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district has just received a new slide-tape set entitled "Dirt, Who Needs It?". Produced by the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts, it is now available for loan to school or youth groups that may be interested.

The slides are geared toward students in the fifth and sixth grades, but have a conservation message for everyone. The slide set shows farming practices to help keep the soil on the fields instead of being lost due to wind and water erosion and shows what happens when these practices aren't applied.

Any group interested in borrowing this new slide set may contact the district office in Grygla at 294-6144.

Quie Continues To Support Dairying

Minnesota Governor Al Quie is a dairy farmer and continues to 'speak-up' for dairy farming, the dairy industry and dairy promotion, according to the American dairy association of Minnesota.

Governor Quie's current association with the dairy industry involves a livestock share-lease agreement he has with Ken Walker, the man who rents the governor's 240 acre farm in Dennison.

While the governor or his family have been milking Holstein cows since 1917, Walker currently has 58 Guernsey cattle in production.

"Ken Walker is a Guernsey person, and I feel that people do best with what they like best," Quie said. "So I agreed when he came on the farm that I would sell my herd and that we would get a new herd," he added.

Walker's rolling herd average is 10,980 pounds of milk and 449 pounds of fat. One of the top producing cows in the herd is Maplelong-King of Hearts-Peggy, who finished her last record with 18,800 pounds of milk and 822 pounds of fat. The herd was moved from Wisconsin to Dennison in December of 1978 and the governor expects production will rise once the cows become more familiar with their new home.

Quie points to management as the key to a successful dairy operation.

"In any business you have to be able to manage," he said. "With electronic systems for records and all of the artificial breeding and planning for production, I think one can have tremendous results," Quie added.

Governor Quie credits management and mechanization for the tremendous improvements in both the quantity and quality of milk being produced on diary farms today.

"With mechanization you have more time to handle more cows more effectively, more efficiently and with a much higher grade of product," Quie said. "We really produce a high-grade and high quality milk now."

Modern techniques have led to many improvements in the diary industry, but dairy-farmer-Governor Quie also stresses the importance of the human touch.

"You'll never get away from the old idea that 'the eye of the master fatteneth the ox" he said.

Quie said cattle are emotional animals and that the whole operation will run more smoothly if stress on the cows can be kept down.

It was this kind of dairy insight that Quie brought with him to the U.S. Congress in 1958. During his 20 years in Washington Quie was instrumental in the passage of several pieces of key dairy legislation. As governor, he still has definite ideas on what types of legislation are needed to protect dairy farmers.

Quie is hopeful that legislation will be passed soon that will require foreign producers of dairy products to be under the same standards as American producers.

"We are prone to have high standards, which I believe we should have, on our own domestic products, but we look the other way on foreign products," Quie said. "All producers of dairy products should be dealt with fairly, equitably and all under the same standards," he added.

Quie also believes that the 80 per cent of parity figure for dairy products should be protected and that at least semi-annual adjustments be made on price supports.

Nitrite Ban Could Decrease Pork Industry

Banning nitrite from cured meats could mean "a serious economic' burden" for the state's pork industry, says Minnesota Farm Bureau federation president Merlyn Lokensgard.

Commenting recently on a U.S. Department of Justice ruling to ban the use of nitrites, Lokensgard said there should be some alternatives. He noted the Carter administration has proposed a year's moratorium (until May 1, 1980) during which time no action would be taken to reduce or prohibit the use of nitrites as a preservative.

In legislation before the Congress, Lokensgard said, the U.S. agriculture (USDA) and health, education and welfare (HEW) departments propose evaluation of the risk of nitrite use and permitting an "orderly phaseout" of the substance if it is found to pose a health hazard.

Lokensgard said the scientific community doesn't agree that "just because laboratory animals fed massive dosages of nitrite showed symptoms of cancer there's a direct relation to human consumption." If nitrites in fact cause cancer, he added, "it seems strange that people haven't been adversely affected over the many years they've been used to preserve food."

As a practical matter, Lokensgard feels, "it's better to use proven curing methods, until a suitable substitute is found, than to outlaw nitrites and have people succumbing to botulism."

Herbicide	Yield*	Increase over check
Check	12.5 bu.	–
Leading wild oat herbicide	16.1 bu.	29%
Asulox	23.9 bu.	91%

This year, consider setting some of your best acres aside for this profitable cash crop. Because now you can be sure wild oats won't take over.

Here's why. The EPA has granted a Section 18 specific exemption for the use of Asulox' for post-emergent weed control in flax in Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington and Roseau Counties.

Asulox controls wild oats plus wild buckwheat and foxtail in the same application. Just spray it on by ground or air when wild oats are in the three- to four-leaf stage, and you'll set yourself up for yield increases on the order of those shown above. These were the results of 8 separate tests run right here in this area by Rhône-Poulenc, makers of Asulox, as well as Bronate' and Buctril'.

Now, just a few cautions. Under EPA regulations, Asulox must be applied on flax by a certified private or commercial applicator. Great care should be taken to avoid spray drift onto adjacent crops. And don't apply when the crop is under stress, or before flax is at least two inches tall.

Control of wild oats is usually achieved within 2–3 weeks after Asulox application.

The exemption granted by the EPA limits the amount of Asulox that can be sold. The quantity purchased in your name will be noted for EPA records. So don't miss out on this opportunity for outstanding weed control. Order your supply from your dealer today, before he has a chance to run out. Because, at last, you can polish off wild oats, and make some real money on flax.

Stangeland Gas Rationing Vote Helps Kill Plan

Congressman Arlan Stangeland voted against granting President Carter's standby gasoline rationing plan Thursday as the House defeated the measure 246 to 159.

"Instituting a national gasoline rationing plan calls for fairness to all Americans regardless of where they live and how many cars they own. The President's plan was discriminatory, costly and economically disruptive. It would have penalized the people of the Seventh district, and many other rural areas of the nation, and it is for this reason I could not vote for such an inequitable plan."

Congressman Stangeland added that the residents of the Washington, D.C., area would have received a higher allotment of gasoline than Seventh district residents. "This idea is incomprehensible," he said. "The federal government has spent $12 billion on a mass transit system for the District of Columbia, and it is possible for people to move easily, but mass transit is not available to the residents of the Seventh district. We have no choice but to drive our cars."

He also added he doesn't think it's fair for a person who owns only one car to receive the same allotment per car as a person who owns three. "A three car family would be able to combine coupons to buy gas for one car, where a person who owns only one would be forced to buy additional coupons at a price equal to or greater than a gallon of gasoline." The estimated price on the "white market" was $1.22 per coupon, in addition to the price per gallon.

"The gas rationing plan was apparently not well thought out in terms of serving the needs of various parts of the country," Stangeland said. "The plan did not allot greater supplies into gas short areas, but only allotted amounts to the people in those areas.

"The plan was obviously a last resort on behalf of the administration. They had plenty of time to develop a good program but instead came up with one that would have created more unfairness than it was intended to cure. It would have done more to disrupt the economy than to ease the energy shortage, and the $2 billion price tag was prohibitive."

Soo Line Orders $57 Million In New Equipment

More than $57,000,000 in new freight equipment is currently on order for delivery to the Soo Line railroad company.

The new equipment includes 42 new locomotives and 875 new freight cars. Deliveries of the equipment begin this month and extend well into 1980.

Soo expanded its planned locomotive acquisitions recently to include purchase of 20 additional new locomotives for delivery in 1980.

Locomotives now on order include 28 four-axle units of 2,000 horsepower and 14 six-axle units of 3,000 horsepower. Delivery of 20 of the new locomotives is scheduled for May and July of this year with two to follow in December. The remaining 20 units will go into service in 1980.

Freight car acquisitions include 575 covered hoppers of 100-ton capacity which are used extensively by Soo to move grain and fertilizer. The cars will begin arriving in December of this year with deliveries to be complete by the end of February 1980.

Other freight cars being acquired include 100 capacity boxcars of 70-ton capacity being built in Soo's Fon du Lac, Wisconsin shops, 100 52-foot gondola cars of 100-ton capacity and 100 flat cars of 70-ton capacity.

The total equipment expenditures include $24,000,000 for locomotives and $33,000,000 for freight cars.

Sportsmen Club Plans Shoot At Silhouettes

In preparation for two international handgun metallic silhouette sanctioned matches to be fired at the Pennington county sportsmen club range this summer, club matches are being planned to familiarize local handgun shooters with the sport which is rapidly growing in popularity.

This Sunday the first match will be held with registration beginning at noon and shooting to start at 1 p.m. Any handgun of standard manufacture, unaltered except for trigger, sight painting and grip, may be used if it weighs less than 55 ounces and has a barrel length less than 10 inches. Only .22 LR ammunition may be used and no "hot" loads are permitted.

Competitors will shoot at silhouettes of chickens at 25 yards, pigs at 50 yards, turkeys at 75 yards and rams at 100 yards with 10 shots to be fired at each target.

Other information may be obtained at Haugen's Gunsmithing across from the Thief River Falls post office or from Irving Swanson at 681-1295.

The sanctioned matches will be held July 15 for .22 rimfire and August 12 for center fire calibers.

Rondorfs Enjoy Trip To Zion, Illinois

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf left Thursday morning May 3, by plane to visit their daughter Barbara at Zion, Illinois. Barbara met the plane at Milwaukee, Wisc., a distance of forty miles from her apartment at Zion. Friday afternoon they spent at Waukegan, where they visited the shopping mall, enjoyed an interesting, partial tour of the Commonwealth Edson Nuclear Power Plant where Barbara is employed and had lunch at a cafeteria overlooking Lake Michigan. Saturday afternoon they spent at the amusement park in Waukegan, most of which was balck-topped but noticed water oozing up in cracks here and there due to high water level underneath. It was the first day the park was open this spring. It was here LaVerne and Barbara had their picture taken in old time clothes furnished for them, a good souveniour to remember their trip by. Sunday afternoon they spent sightseeing in the Kenosha, Wisconsin area. Zion is a city of a population of over 14,000 and boasted of having within it 100 churches. A commutor train running from Chicago to Zion and to Milwaukee is appreciated by many workers living in Chicago. The Rondorfs enjoyed a visit by phone with their niece, Sandra Jorde, who is employed assembling telephones at Rockford, Ill. They also called a cousin, Mrs. Bill Jacobson in Minneapolis Monday noon while waiting for their plane leaving for Thief River Falls. They reported weather in Illinois similar to our cold, wet spring and as for farmers working in fields saw only two tractors plowing in one field Saturday afternoon.

West Steiner Homemakers Have Meeting

Darlene Muzzy presented a lesson on window shades when the West Steiner Homemaker club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clara Jaennette with Olive Rondorf assistant hostess. Others present were Julie Kleinwachter, Kent and Hope of Strandquist, Harryet Larson, Georgia Malberg, Ethel Moe, Evonne Moe, Violet Muzzy, Irene Rausch, Rebecca Solem, Shirley Yonke, Evie Halvorson and Aaron, Anne Muzzy and Dorothy Blodgett.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gustafson, Stacy, Susan and Tony were Sunday afternoon visitors at the Clarence Gustafson home at Viking for Mother's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson and Jon of Goodridge and her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Freedom Martin of Oslo, who have been houseguests at the Peterson home for some time due to the flooding of the Red River were Friday afternoon visitors at the Alvin Halvorson home. Monday afternoon last week Mr. and Mrs. Halvorson visited the Martins and Petersons at the Peterson home. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Halvorson are cousins.

Mrs. Alfred Solem, accompanied by Mrs. Martin Alby, Mrs. Mary Hedlund and Mrs. Alvin Dicken, attended a meeting of the Rebekah circle of the Trinity Lutheran church at the Gordon Olson farm home Thursday afternoon.

Weekend houseguests at the Alvin Halvorson home a week ago were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hart and Chris of Grand Forks.

Friday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Malberg at Valley Home were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson of Roseau. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Glen Davidson of Thief River Falls gave the Malbergs a ride to their farm and all were later luncheon guests at the Lester Muzzy home.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson helped Mrs. Hans Haarstad of Newfolden celebrate her birthday. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Harstad, Gary, Carol, Kristi and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Harstad, all of Viking. Mrs. Orville Harstad baked the birthday cake.

A meeting of the Steiner Community Club was held at the home of Melvin Saugen Friday evening. Raymond Rausch and Wallace Boman were re-elected directors for a three year term. Mrs. Lloyd Larson was appointed to serve on the membership committee. The date for the annual community picnic was set for June 24. The Alfred Solems and Melvin Saugens served lunch.

Minnesota Farmers Union Tour

Mrs. Ethel Moe and Mrs. Myrtle Rude left for St. Paul April 17 to join a group of 33 on a two weeks' tour sponsored by the Minnesota Farmers Union Travelers. The first day they traveled from St. Paul through Chicago to LaPorte, Ind., where they enjoyed accomodations at the Holiday Inn. The following day they rolled over the Indiana, the Ohio and the Pennsylvania turnpikes to New Stanton, Penn. and spent two days in Lancaster County, visiting old homes, one of which had been built in 1785 and was still being occupied, a tobacco farm and an Amish community with their unique farming techniques. Enroute to Washington D.C. they toured the historic Civil War Battlefield of Gettysburg. While in the area of our nation's capitol for three days they stayed at the Quality Inn-Capitol Hill, which was within walking distance from the capitol building. They visited the House of Representatives, also the Senate by some in the group, the White House, George Washington's home, the church he had attended, and his burial place and the Smithsonian Institution.

At Williamsburg, Virginia, known as "the city that turned back time", they visited the colonial area, which is a mile long and nearly half a mile wide, and which has been restored as nearly as possible to its appearance during the 18th century. Enroute to Bristol, Tenn. they visited one of our country's natural wonders, Natural Bridge, where George Washington had left his initials carved on its walls. At Nashville, Tennessee, known as "Music City USA", they attended a performance of the Grand Ole Opry, which was held in the famous new opry house. In Nashville they also visited the Country Music Hall of Fame in the downtown district, where Elvis Presley's "Solis Gold Cadillac" was on display and also one of the unique theme parks in the country, the famous Opryland USA. They traveled through Peoria, Ill., the home of the Caterpillar Tractor Corporation, and also visited the Amana Colonies in Central Iowa before their return to St. Paul, the end of a very informative, enjoyable trip of over 3,000 miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halvorson, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Engen of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sorenson enjoyed the afternoon of Mother's Day together at the Sorenson home in Newfolden.

Friday Mrs. Lloyd Larson and Mrs. Marlan Augustine enjoyed the Keenager's pot luck dinner at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Holt followed by a silent movie. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Augustine was a guest at the Larson home.

Thora Skomedal was a Sunday afternoon visitor at the Glenn Arhart home in Thief River Falls and with their houseguest Mrs. Herberg Haave from Christiansand, Norway. When Thora visited in Norway in 1954 she had enjoyed having dinner at the Haave home. Mrs. Haave left Monday for Chicago and planned to return to Norway from there. Thora and Mrs. Haave are second cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Nelson of Fargo came Saturday evening and were Mother's Day dinner guests at the Lloyd Larson home together with Mrs. Rick Wright. Others at the Larson home to wish Harryet a Happy Mother's Day and a Happy Birthday for May 14 were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter, Kent and Hope of Strandquist and Mrs. Orlando Solberg, Lance and Keith of Plummer. Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Moe and Jim were also luncheon guests. Mrs. Larson also received birthday wishes and Mother's Day wishes from her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lufkin of Okoboji, Iowa, and from her sister, Mrs. Francis Seeger and daughter Daine from Lancaster, Claif. by long distance telephone calls.

Mrs. Angeline Larson, Mrs. Robert Nyvall and Marlan Augustine drove to Goodhue in southern Minnesota Thursday. Angie and Marlan attended funeral services for their cousin, Jean Augusinte Friday and Mrs. Nyvall visited with relatives of hers. They all returned home Saturday.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rausch and Mrs. Angeline Larson were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lubitz and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rausch at Lon's in honor of Mother's Day.

Sunday School Program and Picnic

Sunday, May 20 the Sunday school will present a program at the Silver Creek Lutheran church followed with a pot luck dinner and picnic. The public is invited.

Mrs. Angeline Larson was a Mother's Day dinner guest at the John Lubitz home. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lubitz, David and Dean and Mrs. Larson drove to Twin Lake to open Mrs. Larson's trailer home after a long winter.

Mrs. Helen Russell accompanied her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chrzanowski and Kristin to Carrington, N.D. Opportunity For Public Hearing
For S.P. 57-603-14,
RS6615(23)

Pursuant to the provisions of Title 23, United States Code, Section 128, notice is hereby given that the Pennington County Highway Department is affording an opportunity for a Public Hearing to discuss the major design features and the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed improvement of County State Aid Highway No. 3 between Trunk Highway No. 59 and the Red Lake River 13 miles east of T.H. 59.

The proposed improvement consists of widening the grade.

A Project Development Report which supports a determination that the proposed action will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment, along with maps, drawings and other pertinent information relating to the project will be available for public inspection and copying at the County Engineer's Office, Courthouse, Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Any adult person wanting to request a public hearing shall do so by a signed letter addressed to Arvid A. Olson, Pennington County Engineer, Box 491, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701. Said letter must be postmarked no later than June 6, 1979.

Herbicide Loss Probable Due To Spring Flooding

Some herbicide applied last fall to cropland that was flooded this spring may have lost effectiveness, depending on which herbicide was used and individual circumstances, says Oliver Strand, University of Minnesota extension agronomist.

Chemicals applied last fall for weed control include EPTC (Eptam) and diallate (Avadex) on land intended for sugarbeets, triallate (Far-go) for wheat or barley and trifluralin (Treflan) for sunflowers, soybeans or dry edible beans.

"Triallate, diallate and trifluralin do not leach readily or move to any extent in the soil laterally or vertically," Strand says. "These herbicides are absorbed on soil particles, so if soil is lost by sheet or gully erosion, the herbicide is also lost."

Trifluralin may degrade quite rapidly in extremely wet soils if the soil warms up appreciably before planting. This loss occurs very slowly in cold soils, however, and losses up to mid-May have been very small.

EPTC is held tightly by the soil particles and is more volatile than the other fall-applied herbicides. It is also more likely to be lost from flooded soils when they warm up to over 50 degrees.

"Growers should not make a spring application of the same herbicide that was fall-applied," Strand warns. "Loss of fall-applied chemicals is very difficult to predict, and an excess rate could result."

"Observe the field closely this spring, and if the herbicide fails, be ready to supplement fall-applied wild oat treatments od diallate or triallate with a postemergence application of barban (Carbyne) or difenzoquat (Avenge)," he adds.

Chloramben (Amiben) could be applied preemergency on fields to be planted to sunflowers or dry edible beans if trifluralin or EPTC were applied last fall and the flooded field has a history of moderate to severe annual weed problems. Flooded fields that were previously treated with trifluralin to be planted to soybeans may also be treated with a preemergence herbicide or herbicide combination. Bentazon (Basagran) could be applied postemergency to control many broadleaf weeds.

For details, see extension bulletin 400, "Cultural and chemical Weed Control in Field Crops — 1979," available from County Extension offices.

Council Adopts Audit Report For Past Year

most in need of resurfacing, to prepare cost estimates on those streets, and also to prepare estimates on 11 street improvement projects selected by the council from a list of approximately 20 project proposals.

Streets recommended by the engineer for resurfacing are listed below with estimated costs: Atlantic Ave. from 8th to 11th St., $13,539; 6th St. from Main Ave. to the Burlington Northern railroad, $21,881; Arnold Ave. from highway 32 to 6th St., $45,551; 1st St. from Brooks to Knight Ave., $17,482; 1st St. from 225 feet west of the Soo Line railroad to highway 59, $44,706; Nora St. from Pennington to Spruce ave., $34,338; Spruce from Gulf to Nora St., $13,754; streets improved in 1957, $56,540; and east side streets paved in 1962, $49,104.

Total cost for resurfacing would be $296,895 and of this amount $181,245 could be taken from state aid funds leaving a city cost of $115,650. At least the city cost would be assessed back to property owners.

Proposed street improvements and estimated costs included: Kendall Ave. from 3rd St. to Taft, $29,000; Merriam Ave. from 1st to 3rd St., $42,000; Oriole Ave. and Cardinal Ave., $47,000; 4th St. from the railroad tracks to Brooks Ave., $11,000; Brooks Ave. from 3rd to 4th St.; the arena entrance to Brooks, $42,000; service roads to the rear of the arena, $27,000; Columbia Ave. from Greenwood to Jerome St., $32,000; Jerome St. to Parkview, $19,000; Jerome St., west of Columbia, $31,000; Barzen Ave. from 3rd to 6th St., $48,000; and Greenwood St. from highway 59 to Crocker and from Kendall to Pennington, $533,000.

The street improvements would be excavating and backfilling if the streets have not previously been excavated and backfilled and curb, gutter and bituminous surfacing if they have previously been excavated and backfilled. Total cost of the projects would be $890,000 of which $600,000 would be eligible for state aid funds with the remaining $290,000 to be city costs.

Deleted from the list at the council meeting Tuesday was the improvement of arena service roads and added was the improvement of the main Greenwood cemetery roads. Council then instructed engineer Doug Stewart to prepare a feasibility study on the resurfacing and street improvement projects and to turn that report over to the tax and assessments committee for study and determination of what property owners should be assessed for the various projects.

A resolution was also passed instructing the city engineer to ask the commissioner of transportation to establish a new grade crossing at Greenwood St. and to make recommendations regarding warning devices.

In other business, the council accepted two change orders from the fire hall project, one for caulking of joints at a cost to the city of $1,157; and the other for completion of the fire hall mural in ceramic tile instead of the drivet originally planned on. The ceramic tile mural will cost approximately $1,000 more than the drivet mural.

A recommendation was received from the planning commission that the city enter into an arena rental agreement with the school district for 1979-80 with the school paying the same rental figure as in 1978-79 and the city again retaining the reserved seat section to be sold for additional income. Council agreed and the school district will pay $17,500 for the year. The Sport Boosters will again participate in the sale of the reserved seat section for a percentage of receipts.

Approval was also given by the council to an AVTI project whereby test cells would be constructed at the airport facilities presently leased to the school district. The city would sell bonds for the $30 to $40,000 project on behalf of the school but all costs will be paid by the school district with the city retaining ownership of the test cells when they are contracted. The project was given the go-ahead provided financing is approved by the bonding council to the city.

were reelected. Vad, who had been elected to fill an unexpired term two years ago, received 83 votes in his reelection bid. Lee, a long-time board member, received 74 votes. Challenger John Olson was given 18 votes in the election.

At Middle River 33 ballots were cast as Milan Abrahamson and Virgil Wagner were reelected with 31 and 29 votes respectively. Both had filed for reelection.

Council Hears Report On DDC Parking Plan

seemed to look on the project proposal favorably and the parking assessment committee will now complete preparation of the assessment formula, meet with the tax and assessments committee on the formula and test it before holding an informal meeting yet this month with property owners within the assessment district. A formal hearing date will be set for some time in June at which time the committee must specify which properties they plan on purchasing.

Being undertaken in conjunction with the parking project is a downtown lighting project and city council members were also updated on the progress of this project at the special meeting Monday.

Cost estimate for the lighting project, which calls for installation of new standards in nine square blocks downtown, is $250,000. This cost would be borne on a 50-50 basis by the city and property owners.

Assessment district for the lighting project is bounded by Knight Ave. on the west, 4th St. on the north; Horace Ave. on the east and 1st St. on the south. Front footage would be used for assessment in this project.

The project would include 165 new lighting standards similar to those presently in use on LaBree Ave. but made of steel rather than aluminum. The standards would have a built in speaker system and automatic circuits for energy savings and could be manufactured locally. Benches and trash receptacals will also be installed with the standards.

It is hoped that a hearing might be held on the lighting and parking projects at the same time.

Sports Boosters Meet Thursday

Subsidization of the Franklin middle school athletic program for the 1979-80 school year will be the topic of an important Thief River Falls Sports Boosters club noon luncheon meeting Thursday in the basement of the Rex cafe.

Budget cuts made by School District 564 officials have eliminated cross country, wrestling, curling and baseball programs at Lincoln high school, along with several coaching positions and a bundle of items in the transportation and equipment categories. But those cuts, however, unpleasant, do not seem as severe as the elimination of the entire athletic program at Franklin middle school.

It would obviously be much more difficult, if not downright impossible to field competitive teams at the high school level if players are not developed at the junior high or middle school level. And chances are that interest and enthusiasm, along with the community pride that is associated with sports, would fade with a prolonged losing spell.

However, even that reasoning appears to be a little heavy in placing too much emphasis on winning. Another reason — and the reason, I hope, that the Sports Boosters are primarily interested in the restoration of the Franklin athletic program — concerns the Franklin students themselves. Elimination of sports at Franklin will leave a gap for many students. That time used in learning discipline, teamwork and respect for yourself, your teammates and your coaches probably won't be nearly as productive. Remember, too, that whatever problems develop at the middle school level will likely be magnified at the high school level.

The Sports Boosters, who have benefitted Thief River Falls athletic programs by buying the "extras" for several years, will vote tomorrow whether or not to underwrite a $9,200 athletic program at Franklin that would include fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade intramural football; sixth, seventh and eighth grade intramural volleyball; sixth, seventh and eighth grade boys basketball; sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls basketball; and a combination sixth, seventh and eighth grade track team for both boys and girls.

If you're interested and if you would like to voice an opinion on the matter, attend tomorrow's meeting, open to the public. If you want to eat, it'll cost you $2.50.

Miscellaneous

+ Mike Fordyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fordyce of Thief River Falls, is a member of the Mankato State University baseball team, Northern Intercollegiate Conference (NIC) champion for the second straight year this spring with a 14-4 record, 23-11 overall. Fordyce, a 1975 Bismarck, N.D. high school graduate, is a 6-2, 185-pound senior catcher who batted .229 while appearing in 22 of the Mavericks' 34 games. The two-year letterman led the team with four sacrifices. Mankato will play Southwest Missouri State University while Northwest Missouri State University faces the University of Missouri-St. Louis in today's opening round of the North Central NCAA Division II regional baseball tournament in Springfield, Ill. May 24-30.

+ Crookston, scheduled to face Thief River Falls Thursday in a 4:30 p.m. high school baseball game on the fairgrounds diamond, ended a 12-game Bagley winning streak Saturday by a 3-1 count in the first round of the Big Blue baseball tournament hosted by Mount St. Benedict. The Pirates won the title by beating Roseau 2-1 when pitcher Mark Huglen of the Rams, working on a three-hit 1-0 shutout, fielded a seventh inning sacrifice bunt and threw the ball into the right field, allowing two runs to score. Roseau had beaten Mount St. Benedict in the first round, with Bagley rebounding to belt the Blue Wave 15-5 in the third place game.

+ Football fans in this area of the state who like to travel to the Twin Cities for a combination Gophers-Vikings football weekend in the fall will have four such opportunities in 1979: Sept. 15-16 when the Gophers play Ohio State and the Vikings face Miami; Oct. 6-7 when the Gophers meet Purdue and the Vikings tackle Dallas; Oct. 27-28 when the Gophers entertain Illinois and the Vikings host Tampa Bay; and Nov. 11-12 when it's the Gophers vs. Wisconsin and the Vikings vs. Detroit.

ALTHOUGH HE lost his hat on this pitch, Thief River Falls pitcher Scott Sabo had complete control of the rest of Tuesday's high school baseball game against Roseau as he struck out 17 Rams in a 5-0 one-hit shutout. In addition to the 17 strike-outs, Sabo also fielded two ground balls and caught a line drive to have a hand in 20 of the 21 outs in the seven-inning game. The other out came when catcher Jim Nyland threw out a runner trying to steal second base after a second inning walk.

Sunshine and warm weather finally greeted the Lincoln high school baseball team as the Prowlers began a busy final week of the 1979 regular season by losing at Bagley 11-6 Monday but beating Roseau 5-0 Tuesday in Thief River Falls' weather-delayed home opener.

Three more home games await the 2-6 Prowlers this week. Crookston will be here Thursday and Bemidji comes in Friday for 4:30 p.m. Northwest Athletic Conference games and Mount St. Benedict arrives Saturday afternoon at 3.

Thief River Falls will host the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 baseball tournament next week. Bemidji beat Crookston 7-2 Tuesday to earn the top seed and a first round tournament bye, pitting Thief River Falls against Crookston in the Wed., May 23, Sub Region 4 opener at 4:30 p.m. The winner will play the Lumberjacks in the Thurs., May 24, championship game at 4:30.

Scott Sabo was the star Tuesday in a 5-0 Thief River Falls victory over Roseau. The senior left-hander was nearly flawless in a performance that saw him strike out 17 batters, field two ground balls and catch a line drive to account for 20 of the 21 Roseau outs. A no-hit bid eluded his grasp in the seventh when, with one-out, Aaron Broten placed a perfect bunt between the mound and third base.

Sabo's impressive combination of fast balls and curves hiked his strike-out total to 47 in 23 innings of work this spring. He's given up just three earned runs.

"I'm really convinced he could pitch college baseball," remarked Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell who did not put a limit on what level of college ball he figured his star left-hander could be effective. "He has control over every pitch he throws, no matter what the count."

Sabo himself put an end to a frustrating string of 21 innings of scoreless offensive support when he opened the bottom of the fifth with a high pop fly that Roseau allowed to drop untouched between first and second base for a single. Designated hitter Brian Peppin walked, both runners moved up on a passed ball and pinch hitter Tom Drury drew a walk to load the bases. Jim Nyland, the number nine batter in the Thief River Falls order, hit a smash off shortstop Brandon Shank's glove for an infield hit and an RBI. A potential double play ball hit by Jeff Kosel produced a force out at second base, along with two throwing errors, for a 3-0 lead.

Two more runs crossed the plate in the sixth on a single by Jeff Ulrich, two walks, three stolen bases, two errors and a wild pitch.

Errors marred play Monday as Bagley out-scored Thief River Falls 11-6. There were 12 errors in the game, seven charged against the Prowlers.

A three-run Bagley first inning was matched by a three-run Thief River Falls third when the Prowlers combined RBI singles by Dave Odegaard and Scott Sabo with three errors.

But Bagley answered with four runs in the bottom of the third, matched single runs with the Prowlers in the fifth and out-scored the visitors 3-2 in the sixth, with errors playing a role in nearly every run.

NCC Baseball Team To Host Division Foes

A string of three season-ending home field MJCAA Northwest Division doubleheaders was scheduled to begin today (Wednesday) for the Northland Community college baseball team. The Northmen, winless in six outings, were scheduled to face Crookston today at 12 noon on the new Northland diamond located next to the college.

Brainerd will be in Thief River Falls Saturday for a 12 noon twinbill and Fergus Falls will be here Wed., May 23, to complete the 1979 season.

On their first swing through the Northwest Division, the Northmen lost to Brainerd 5-1 and 12-2 before dropping consecutive 3-2, 2-0 doubleheaders to Fergus Falls and Crookston. Northland has been idle since May 4.

LHS Girls Golf Invitational Is Set Thursday

Final meet of the 1979 regular season schedule will also mark the only home appearance of the spring for the Lincoln high school girls golf team Thursday when the Prowlers play host to the Thief River Falls invitational meet at 10 a.m. at the Country Club course.

Thief River Falls participated in the Fosston invitational Monday. The host Greyhounds won with a 518, followed by Roseau 523, Mahnomen 580, Red Lake Falls 615, Thief River Falls 628, Crookston and East Grand Forks 629, Bagley 655, Fosston JV 699 and Hallock 774.

Annette Haugstul of Fosston and Nancy Harris of Roseau both came in at 92, with Haugstul taking the medal in a playoff. Mary Jane Nelson of Roseau was third in the medal race with a 97.

Post-season tournament play gets underway Tuesday when the Prowlers take part in the Region 8AA meet at Detroit Lakes.

TYPICAL REACTION by Roseau batters during Tuesday's high school baseball game against Thief River Falls pitcher Scott Sabo was exhibited by Aaron Broten who was called out on strikes in the fourth inning of the 5-0 Thief River Falls victory. Catcher Jim Nyland headed to the dugout following the inning-ending pitch. Sabo struck out 17 batters. It was Broten, though, that spoiled the left-hander's no-hit bid with a one-out bunt in the seventh inning.

Lincoln Girls Resume Wet Weather Season

After four consecutive cancellations, the Lincoln high school girls track team resumed its weather-interrupted 1979 season Monday with surprisingly strong third place finish in an 11-team invitational meet at Roseau.

Mount St. Benedict and Roseau shared first place with 65 points apiece, just three points ahead of Thief River Falls with 62. Rest of the field included Hallock with 55 points, East Grand Forks 52, Warroad and Stephen 42, Marshall County Central 33, Lake of the Woods 30, McIntosh-Winger 28 and Karlstad 9.

It was the first meet for the Prowlers since April 26 and it was only their third outing of the season that began back on April 2 indoors at Crookston.

Despite the long lay-off, a pair of Lincoln school records were established when Julie Easton ran a 12:23 two-mile and Brenda Lund, Patty Blackstad, Carla Nelson and Connie Hedlund ran a 54.6 in the 440 relay.

"I was surprised we did as well as we did — just three points out of first place," remarked Thief River Falls coach Tom Schafer. "I kept telling the girls that all we needed was one meet to show them all their practices weren't going to waste. They were really enthused after the meet."

Easton bettered her own record of 12.26 in winning the two-mile, taking 63 seconds off her previous best time of the year.

Thief River Falls' only other winner was Stacy Ehrenstrom who tossed the discus 101-5. She also placed third in the shot with a toss of 30-8.

Despite the school record, the Thief River Falls 440 relay team had to settle for second place.

Connie Hedlund also had a second place finish for the Prowlers with a 16.7 in the 110-yard hurdles. She was fifth with a 27.3 inthe 180-yard hurdles.

Lori Swanson bettered her season's previous best time by 19 seconds in running a 6:02 third place mile. She also ran the lead leg on the 4:38.0 third place mile relay team that included Lund, Blackstad and Carla Nelson.

Other points came in the 220 where Lund was fourth in 27.1 and Nelson was fifth in 27.4.

Thief River Falls will close out its 1979 regular season schedule Thursday at Bemidji, site of Tuesday's Region 8AA Sub Region 4 meet.

Trap League Scores Listed

Unbeaten, untied ranks in the 26-team Thief River Falls trap league has been pared to seven after just two weeks of 1979 shooting at the Marshallton Gun Club.

Remaining unbeaten and untied with wins Monday were Northland Realty 117-93 over First Northwestern State Bank Southside, L. B. Track Season Ends Friday For Prowlers

With the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 meet scheduled to be held Tuesday at Bemidji, the Lincoln high school track team will close out its regular season scheduled Friday with a 4:30 p.m. meet at East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers competed in the Grand Forks service clubs invitational Monday where the Prowlers' lone points in the finals came on the strength of a 10:12.3 second place two-mile run by Mark Larson who finished just a step behind Jerry Werven of Walhalla who ran a 10:11.6.

Grand Forks Red River won the event with 117½ points, followed by West Fargo with 96, Grand Forks Central 70½, Langdon 42½, East Grand Forks 42, Warren 39½, Larimore 37, Walhalla 29, Borup 26, Hatton 21, Grafton 16, Thief River Falls 8, Fargo Shanley 7, Drayton 4, Northwood 1 and Park River 1.

Youth Firearms Field Testing Set Next Week

Youngsters who recently completed the classroom instruction of the youth firearms safety training program in Thief River Falls will receive their field trip experience at one of two sessions scheduled next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Class members whose last names start with the letters A through L will meet Tuesday and those with M through Z will meet Wednesday. Both sessions will begin at 5 p.m. at the Pennington county sportsmen club grounds north of Thief River Falls.

Youngsters needing rides to the sportsmen club should meet in front of the law enforcement center at Main avenue and First street at 4:30 p.m. Each youth should bring a .22 caliber rifle in a gun case if a rifle is available. For those who have no rifle available, arrangements will be made to provide one for use. Ammunition will be provided at the club grounds rifle range.

TRF Ladies Golf Club Stag Is Planned Mon.

Thief River Falls ladies golf club annual stag will be held Monday at the Thief River Falls Country Club beginning with a social hour at 6 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7 and bridge will be played following the dinner.

All women in the area interested in playing golf or bridge on women's day at the Thief River Falls Country Club are invited to attend. Guests are welcome.

States To Receive Fish, Wildlife Aid

Over $38 million in federal aid funds for fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs has been apportioned for distribution to the states by Secretary of the Interior Cecil D. Andrus. This brings to $109.3 million the amount made available to the states this fiscal year by the federal government, which is considerably more than the $87.2 million of fiscal year 1978.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service director Lynn A. Greenwalt said these funds will be used by each of the 40 States and the governments of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa to finance fish and wildlife programs. Of the total funds available, $82.2 million is for wildlife restoration and $27.1 million is for fish restoration.

Federal aid funds are made available to the states in two apportionments annually as tax receipts become available at the Treasury Department. This year a preliminary apportionment of $70.9 million was made on September 29, 1978, for fiscal year 1979. The second apportionment, announced recently, represents an additional $38.4 million.

Funds for wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs come from an 11 per cent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, a 10 per cent tax on hand guns and an 11 per cent tax on certain archery equipment. Distribution of wildlife restoration funds is based on a formula which takes into account the number of hunting license holders and the area of each state.

These funds may be used on such projects as the acquisition of land suitable for habitat, development and management of habitat and research in wildlife management.

Hunter safety funds, which are distributed according to the relative population of each state, may be used by the state wildlife agencies for hunter education programs, including construction, operation and maintenance of public target ranges. Or, at the state agency's discretion, a protion of all of these funds may also be used for wildlife restoration.

Fish restoration funds come from a 10 per cent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, creels and artificial baits, lures and flies. Distribution of the funds is made according to a formula based on the number of fishing license holders and the area of each state, including coastal and great lakes waters.

These funds are used by the state agency to purchase land and water areas, development or rehabilitation of such areas, development of access sites and facilities for fishermen and for research in fishery management.

State of Minnesota ranked fourth in the final apportionment of federal aid in fish restoration for the fiscal year 1979 with $1,120,133. Texas, Alaska and California all recieved $1,355,000.

Minnesota did not crack the top 10 in the final apportionment for federal aid in wildlife restoration. Those figures were led by Texas with $3,886,480, Alaska $3,662,960, Pennsylvania $3,465,959 and California $3,311,969 above the $3 million mark. Michigan, New York, Wisconsin, Montana, Missouri and Ohio also received more than Minnesota's $2,001,493 share which included $1,699,274 for wildlife restoration and $302,219 for hunter safety programs.

Contrary to common belief, cats are able to see "in color," according to Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine. However, their perception is limited; to a feline, an apple is red, but a cherry is gray.

A Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

Saturday, May 12, is the Minnesota fishing opener and the starting gun for the world's largest fishing contest, sponsored for the 27th year by the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press.

Once again the focus is on family fishing fun in the heart of one of the world's finest fishing areas, with $18,000 worth of merchandise prizes to add to the enjoyment of the catch.

During the 17 weekly contests which begin May 12 and continue through Sun., Sept. 9, the newspapers will award 266 merchandise prices. Sunday midnights will be the dividing lines between the weekly contests.

Every fish entered during the 17 weeks will be eligible at the close of the season for the super sweepstakes drawing, which will award the biggest single prize of all — a complete fishing package consisting of a 15-foot base boat, a 20 hp electric start outboard motor, a trailer and a case of oil. Total value of this one prize is more than $3,000.

Largest muskie, northern, walleye, crappie, sunfish and bass entries of the season will each earn a grand prize — a 7.5 hp outboard motor and a case of oil.

First, second and third prize packages each week will include a depth finder, drink holder, sinker selection, calendar prints, Al Lindner's journal of fresh water fishing, lures and a personalized champion's award certificate. In addition, first prize packages will include a spinning reel, second prize packages a rod and both a "fish and gmae forecaster." More than 200 honorable mention awards will also be made during the season. Each award will consist of a personalized champion's certificate.

Nearly 500 resorts, bait shops, boat landings and sport shops will receive big fish headquarters certificates in 1979 for their part in making available official entry blanks (supplied by the St. Paul Dispatch Pioneer Press) for the winning anglers.

Official announcement of prize winners is made each week in the sports pages of the St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press.

Official entry blanks — which must be used — list all rules on the back of each blank. They may be obtained at resorts, sports shops and bait shops which display the blue, white and black "world's largest fishing contest" posters. Judges of the contest recommend that anglers get their entry blanks before they leave for the lake or river. Tuck a few in your tackle box.

To be eligible, the fish must be legally caught in Minnesota, its boundary waters or any of the 24 western Wisconsin counties listed on the back of each entry blank.

Individuals may enter as often as they wish, but only one entry per fish. No more than one member of an immediate family will be eligible for any first, second or third prize. Additional winning-size fish will win honorable mention awards and maintain their chance at the grand prizes and the super sweepstakes prize package.

UND Volleyball Workshop Is Set June 19-21

A national volleyball coaches and officials workshop and players camp will be conducted in the University of North Dakota fieldhouse Tuesday through Thursday, June 19-21.

The workshop-clinic and camp is sponsored by the national association for girls and women in sports (NAGWS) and the University of North Dakota athletic department in affiliation with the division of continuing education.

Workshop and camp is open to all volleyball players 13-19, coaches and officials from junior high through college level. In volleyball, much of the coaching and officiating has been assumed by women. This is an excellent time for women and men coaches to get in "on the ground floor" to promote a game for people of all ages. A great deal of pioneering is needed to promote a volleyball framework encouraging competition at the state, district and national levels.

Players fee for the two and one-half day camp is $35. This fee includes all instruction and instructional materials. The coaches and officials fee is $85; $75 if a member of the athletics association of health physical education and recreation (AAHPER).

Final registration and check-in will be Mon., June 18, in the UND fieldhouse from 6-8 p.m. There will be a late registration, Tues., June 19, from 7-8 a.m. for those unable to arrive on campus Monday.

For more information and brochures contact Carol Thompson, volleyball coach, University of North Dakota, Box 8175, Grand Forks, N.D. 58202, or call (701) 777-2234.

New Bill Will Be Beneficial To Non-Game

A significant new wildlife conservation bill has been introduced into the House of Representatives in Washington, D.C., according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The bill is titled the "Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act of 1979". It is designed primarily to benefit nongame species — those species which are not hunted for recreation, food or fur.

"If the bill passes, it could provide over one million dollars per year in Minnesota to plan and implement programs that will benefit eagles, loons, herons, cranes, songbirds and many other vertebrates," said DNR Wildlife Chief, Roger Holmes.

Red River Is Crookston JV Golf Winner

Grand Forks Red River, paced by medalist Scott Halgrimson, was the winner Monday in a junior varsity high school golf meet at Crookston. Red River had a four-man 167, followed by Thief River Falls 181, Grand Forks Central 195, East Grand Forks 222 and Crookston 237.

Halgrimson shot a 40, finishing with a one-stroke victory over Thief River Falls' Mike Anderson.

Twins' Special Days Slated For 1979 Season

A host of special days has been set by the Minnesota Twins for the 1979 season, complementing a "new-look" team which promises to make for an interesting summer of baseball at Met Stadium

May 27, it's jacket day. Gene Mauch's gang will be hosting Kansas City that day.

Next on the agenda is the annual Twins clinic, supervised again by Twins' scout Algelo Giuliani and his cohorts. Following the Saturday morning, June 16, instructions, the Twins and Baltimore Orioles will do battle.

Sunday, June 17, will be a good day for the shutterbugs, as the Twins' contest with the Orioles will be preceded by the annual camera day festivities.

A pair of park and recreation days are slated for Thursday afternoon games, on June 28 vs. Milwaukee and July 26 vs. Cleveland. These are geared towards assisting park and rec programs in upper midwest communities.

Jersey day will take place on Sunday, July 1, when the Twins clash with the Chicago White Sox.

Three days later, on Wednesday the Fourth of July, the Twins-Seattle game will precede a giant fireworks display.

Second annual halter top day is scheduled for Sunday, August 12, with the Oakland A's also at the Met that day.

Labor Day, September 3, will pit the Twins against the Royals in an 11 a.m. affair. Prior to that, runners, both serious and weekend joggers, will be involved in runs of varying length.

Fan appreciation night, which features the giveaway of numerous valuable prizes, is set for the Twins' final regular season night game, Friday, September 28, vs. Milwaukee.

DNR Presents Art Prints To Land Donors

Department of Natural Resources has come up with a special way of saying thanks to citizens and organizations who contribute to Minnesota wildlife.

The DNR wildlife section is presenting signed and numbered art prints entitled "Wildlife Meritage" to anyone who makes a substantial gift of land or money ($2,500 minimum) to the DNR's wildlife management area gift program.

First presentations of "Wildlife Heritage" were made by commissioner Joe Alexander at the annual Minnesota wildlife heritage foundation (MWHF) meeting held March 2. The MWHF received the first print for donating 271 acres of wildlife lands to DNR and for their outstanding efforts in promoting gifts for wildlife.

Other recipients included Minnesota chapter of the nature conservancy — 2,770 acres; Henry and Anne Somsen of New Ulm — 40 acres; Clifford Boerner of Arlington — 33 acres and Bill and Arlene Bryson of Alden — 17 acres.

Commissioner Alexander said, "The 'Wildlife Heritage' print will serve as a lasting reminder of Minnesota's deep appreciation for those who have donated their valuable lands for enhancing our wildlife heritage."

The art prints were reproduced from an original oil created by Minneapolis artist Ron Van Gilder. The painting features farmland, forest and wetland habitat as a background for a deer and Canada geese. Exclusive reproduction rights to the new symbol for the gift program were donated to DNR by the artist.

In Memoriam

A tribute of life and love to my Dad, Gunnie Gunderson, born April 25, 1899, who passed away two years ago on May 7, 1977, husband, father, great-grandfather. Dad was a quiet man, with the essence of friendship. You felt like a giant with silver wings; he was content and glad, that marked his sincere gratitude for the blessings that he had. No day has passed since his leaving that I have failed to turn over in my mind every memory I had of him. He was a farmer and pioneer in Deer Park, his neighbors best in all the world. He was determined to be his own man, in his own place at one with the land. He was no scientist but he knew good soil and nature. The new ways were not always reliable as the old, time-tested ways. We stand in awe when one recounts the struggles and many things he did. He'd sign a note for anyone who came to him in need. He'd loan a horse, a scythe, a plow, he'd share his cherished seed, he'd leave a sack of potatoes, flour or meat at some weathered door and how, great humility, his deeds were often hid. The final farewell to those days came along with changing modern economics. But the scars, calloused hands and lined face are from a life of honor. He wouldn't trade places with any man on earth. No shop in the world sells happiness. He loved his God and worked for Him and for his fellow man; that's all on earth that one can do to fulfill Heaven's plan. For one could travel far and wide yet never find a spirit with such access to Heaven's rest and so much to inherit, the beauty of your life remains, your faith and eager search for truth, the inspiration that you left, a challenge great will be God does prevail, we dare not fail, to earn eternity.

Sadly missed and remembered forever by wife Alice, sons, daughters and grandchildren. 1t40p

Conserve Fuel By Having Auto Tuned

Minnesota winters are hard on cars, and a change in seasons usually calls for a tune-up. The best, most energy-conscious driver in the world is wasting gasoline if the car he or she drives is sputtering, missing, stalling and running rough because it needs a tuneup.

One worn spark plug can reduce gas mileage by seven per cent at 55 miles per hour. If two plugs are misfiring, gas mileage can be reduced 20 per cent, according to the Minnesota energy agency.

When car engines idle too fast, they waste gas. At a low setting, a car will use about a half gallon of gas an hour. At a high setting, a car uses one and a quarter gallons of gas an hour. Low idle speeds save gas.

How can you tell when your car needs a tuneup? Start your car, warm it for 30 seconds and watch for symptoms that indicate a tuneup is needed: misfiring, rough idling, stalling, hard starting. Any of these symptoms, or a sudden drop in gas mileage or performance, probably indicate it's time for a checkup.

Usually a drop in gas mileage indicates a minor tuneup is in order. Adjusting the idle, fuel-air mixture, timing, plugs and points may be all that is needed. A minor tune-up is usually necessary every 5,000 miles. A major tune-up is needed once a year.

A multi-viscosity oil gives good all-around performance for Minnesota drivers. It is thin enough to handle sub-zero starts, yet thick enough to handle summer's higher temperatures.

Make oil changes frequently if your vehicle is operated under harsh conditions or if your driving consists mostly of short 10 or 15 minute trips. Less frequent changes are recommended for cars driven mostly on longer trips of 30 minutes or more. Make sure to change the oil filter too.

Good mechanics will check the distributor and points when they check the plugs. Points control the spark sent to each cylinder to ignite the fuel-air mixture, and are vital to good fuel economy. When points are adjusted, make sure the car's timing is also checked and adjusted to the manufacturer's specifications. This assures the ignition spark is arriving at the proper time.

The thermostat in the cooling system helps assure economical operating temperatures are maintained in the car. Higher temperatures generally result in better gas mileage. A thermostat that keeps the engine in a low temperature zone robs fuel economy and adds to engine wear and tear, causing damage to the cylinder bore and piston rings. Have the thermostat checked at least once a year.

Make sure the throttle valve is adjusted properly and that the fuel-air mixture to the carburetor is correctly set. A fuel-air mixture which is too rich wastes gas and can shorten engine life considerably.

A clogged air filter can cost a mile a gallon in mileage. Have the air filter checked, cleaned or replaced regularly. The same applies to the fuel filter.

The positive crankcase ventilation (PCV) valve, standard on all American-made cars, controls unburned fuel and combustion products that leak by the piston rings as blow-by. Keeping this valve clean boosts fuel economy, since blow-by gas is essentially recycled and fed into the manifold to serve as combustible fuel once again. The PCV valve should be checked every 6,000 miles, and replaced after 24,000 miles.

Today's automobiles contain about 15,000 parts, of which 5,000 are in motion while the car is being driven. Ignoring maintenance of these moving parts is to ignore the laws of friction. Regular maintenance can keep most cars performing efficiently longer, saving the expense and energy of making a new one.

FmHA Offers Disaster Aid To Flood Victims

Farmers Home Administration borrowers and family farmers who have suffered damage due to recent floods in the Red River Valley and other designated disaster areas may be eligible to receive special assistance from FmHA, John Apitz, FmHA state director announced recently.

"Many borrowers and other families have experienced loss of property or reduced income," Apitz said. "This agency is sensitive to their needs and will help as far as possible."

FmHA has special authorities to make loans for property and production losses. Agency can also adjust loan repayment through deferral, rescheduling and consolidation where necessary to keep a farmer in business.

"Our FmHA staff in affected areas has been notified to use all the authorities available to FmHA to assist farmers retain their houses, farms or other property," said Apitz.

Knox School Programs Set

Two programs for Knox elementary school students have been scheduled by Mrs. Jeanne Harger, vocal music instructor, with kindergarten through grade two to perform Thursday and grades three through five to be presented next Tuesday.

Both programs will be entitled "Sounds of Music" and will be presented at 1:30 p.m. in the Knox school gymnasium. Parents and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Art Adventure Meet May 24

Volunteers who participated in the art adventurers program during the past school year will meet Thursday, May 24, at 10 a.m. in the meeting room at the Northwest Regional library in Thief River Falls. The program was sponsored by the Thief River Falls community arts council.

The 13 volunteer leaders have helped to make elementary school children aware of art quality and value by bringing art objects into the schools and discussing them with the children. Persons interested in becoming art adventure volunteers are also invited.

The Revolutionaries

"He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity, will revolutionize the world."
— Benj. Franklin

Some Americans have called themselves "revolutionaries" and proclaimed their enmity toward "the establishment," including the Church.

They overlook the fact that Christianity stands out as the most revolutionary idea in history. Its method of reform is to make fundamental changes in the character and thinking of individuals.

This takes longer and is less exciting than bombs and manifestoes. But it has far more lasting results. Every church service is actually a lesson in improving the world, starting with one's self!

Why not give it a try next Sunday?

Say Sunflowers Can Help Most Minn. Farmers

Most farmers in the state could profit from fitting sunflowers into their cropping systems, two University of Minnesota scientiests agree. The benefits vary greatly by region, however.

Relatively new crop is especially well adapted to the west-central and north-west regions, says entomologist Dave Noetzel. "The lower moisture and higher alkaline levels in these soils make sunflowers a better choice than many other popular crops," he explains.

Sunflowers are more profitable than wheat, the most widely grown crop in the two regions, says agricultural economist Fred Benson. His study of 1979 returns for various crops projects a 10 cents per pound sunflower market and a $2.80 per bushel wheat price. In west-central Minnesota, returns over cash costs are likely to be $54 higher for sunflowers than for wheat, he says.

"If you assign a 20 per cent risk to sunflowers, which is reasonable for a new crop, returns over cash costs are still $14 higher than wheat," he says.

Sunflowers are also complementary to wheat in the cropping schedule. They don't compete for the farmer's time during crucial planting and harvesting periods.

Noetzel predicts that as better yielding sunflower varieties become available, south-central farmers will increase their acreage of the crop. "The potential sunflower yield is highest in these traditionally corn and soybean areas," he says. "Fierce competition between companies to develop improved sunflower yielders will benefit these farmers."

At the present time, however, soybeans are a more desirable crop than sunflowers in south-central Minnesota. "Returns over cash costs are $48 higher for soybeans than for sunflowers," Benson reports. "Unfortunately, these two crops are usually planted and harvested at about the same time."

Insecticide costs are part of sunflowers' disadvantage. Proper monitoring may eliminate the $10 per acre insecticide bill and make sunflowers more competitive, Noetzel believes. "Fitting this crop into the rotation plan may also help increase soybean and other crop yields."

Insects are not a big hazard, Noetzel says. "The sunflowers can take a 20-30 per cent defoliation, or the same amount of stand loss due to cutworms without a yield reduction if the damage is evenly distributed."

Returns are higher for soybeans in the south-central region, but are about equal for the two oilseeds further west. Along the Minnesota-South Dakota border, sunflowers become the more profitable crop, Benson says.

Both scientists advise farmers to educate themselves about sunflowers. "You're always going to have problems with a new crop," Benson points out. "Get as much information as possible, so you can keep watch with an educated eye."

WONDERS OF NATURE

Carbon Dioxide

Colorless, odorless and tasteless, carbon dioxide (CO$_2$) nevertheless plays an important part in our lives.

This naturally occurring chemical compound makes up about one percent of our atmosphere and is also the secret ingredient in natural bubbling mineral waters, such as those found at Yellowstone Park.

Plants use CO$_2$ for photosynthesis, and people use it to extinguish fires, inflate life rafts, make bread rise, and keep coffee fresh.

One of the most popular uses of CO$_2$ is to provide the fizz in soda pop. And now, it is also being used to make new kinds of candies—Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy—crackle and sizzle as they melt in the mouth.

Trapped under mild pressure in particles of a lollypop-like candy, the carbon dioxide bubbles escape as the candy melts. Simple enough, but the surprising bubbling action of carbonation in a candy has proved so popular to kids and adults that over half a billion packs have already been sold around the world.

CARBON DIOXIDE

At very low temperatures, carbon dioxide turns into dry ice and is used to keep things cool.

It is also used in water softening and in making aspirin and paint. With its wide variety of uses, it is one of the most versatile chemical compounds Mother Nature has provided us.

Elderhostel To Be Offered At Moorhead State

People over 60 may live on campus and take courses in theater, children's literature and native plants this summer at Moorhead state university through Minnesota's new Elderhostel program.

Elderhostel, available on 18 Minnesota campuses, is a week-long experience in college life for the over-60 set. Besides morning and afternoon classes, the colleges offer the visiting seniors a schedule of field trips, cultural events and special activities. During the week, they live in the campus dormitories along with other summer students.

People don't have to be college or even high school graduates to enroll. Nor do they have to be Minnesota residents. Age is the only requirement. Spouses may register together; and both are eligible even if only one is over 60.

Elderhostel at Moorhead state, scheduled June 24-30, will feature the following courses:

+"The Theatre Experience" — taught by Dr. Robert Badal, an associate professor of speech and theater, this class involves reading and discussing a group of plays and attending that week's stage production by the university's Straw Hat Players. It will explore theater as "experience," says Dr. Badal, seeing theatre as "an immediate art whose meaning is grasped through an understanding between those who create it and those who view it."

+"Children's Literature" — taught by Dr. Roland Dille, president of Moorhead state and a former English professor, will look at some well-known children's stories from two angles: childhood remembered and maturity. "An attempt will be made," says Dillie, "to recapture the appeal such works had for us when we were young and to see how that appeal grew out of the lives we then led."

+"Native Plants: Identification, Collection and Use" — taught by Dr. Richard Pemble, an associate professor of biology, this class will examine past and present uses of native plants for food and medicine. Field trips and laboratory sessions will be scheduled to help students identify local species.

Hostelers will arrive on campus on a Sunday, returning home the following Saturday morning. Each must take at least one class, and may also take all three. Classes last one or two hours each day. There are no exams, no grades.

Centrally located dormitory on campus will be available for hostelers at Moorhead state. Most dormitory rooms are double occupancy without private bathrooms. Private rooms will be available on request.

For a brochure about the program at Moorhead state and at other Minnesota universities, and to register for any of the state-wide programs, call Minnesota Elderhostel at 1-612-376-2704, or write: 206 Wesbrook hall, 77 Pleasant street S.E., Minneapolis, MN, 55455.

Cost of a week's stay is $94, which covers room and board, extracurricular and evening activities. Classes are free.

Cities Take In More Than They Spend In 1977

For the first time in more than 20 years, Minnesota's 855 cities took in more than they spent in 1977, according to a report released by state auditor Arne Carlson. However, Carlson noted that total debt continued to rise.

Revenue totaled $991 million and expenditures $990 million for the year. Total bonded debt increased just over nine per cent from $1.51 billion in 1976 to $1.65 billion in 1977.

The information is contained in the state auditor's annual report on the revenue, expenditures and debt of Minnesota cities for 1977.

"City revenues are increasing faster than expenditures and capital outlay is down," Carlson said. "Thus, taken together, the cities are in the black at least for now and that's a good sign. But it's too early to tell whether this is a trend or just a temporary phenomenon," Carlson said.

"And I'm concerned about that rising debt load. That has to be watched closely," Carlson observed.

The $991 million in revenue amounted to an increase of 13.2 per cent over 1976. Expenditures were up 8.9 per cent.

Of the total revenue, 41.9 per cent came from state, federal and other governmental sources. In 1971, government grants accounted for only 26 per cent of total city revenue. Local taxes accounted for 23.9 per cent of city revenue in 1977.

Major city expenditures went for public safety, 20.2 per cent; highways, 16.6 per cent; and sanitation, 15 per cent.

Of the public service enterprises run by the cities, electric and water utilities and liquor stores contributed the most in profits, the report shows, while heat utilities and nursing homes tend to lose money. Individually, 315 city water utilities are losing money, and eight electric utilities, 18 hospitals, 13 nursing homes, 10 heat utilities and eight other enterprises are "money losing" enterprises. Overall, profits from municipal enterprises contributed 2.2 per cent of total revenue for 1977.

Maternal Problems Studied By Family Planning Program

Many people think of family planning as something you do because you lack the social, economic or emotional resources to raise a child. For them, the decision to have a child hangs on their ability to fit a child into the larger pattern of their lives. The critical issue might be economics, career plans or simply personal maturity.

But some people face more immediate problems when they choose to become parents. A pregnancy can sometimes involve serious health risks, for both mother and child. Family planning can also mean dealing with those risks, and making decisions about having children based on current knowledge about the health aspects of pregnancy.

Family planning professionals nationwide have been working to inform people about the broader purposes of family planning recently, as part of the current International Year of the Child observance. Judi Kapuscinski, of the family planning unit at the Minnesota department of health, says many people equate family planning services with contraception.

"But we want people to realize that family planning is more than just avoiding an unplanned pregnancy," she said. "Family planning can also include fertility testing and counseling, for instance, for people who do want to have a baby. And people should also know that the reasons for choosing not to have a baby can be health-related, as well as social or economic."

Among those who face special health risks during pregnancy, according to Kapuscinski, are women with existing health problems, women over 35, and teenagers.

Women with problems like diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure and kidney disease run the risk of developing a number of serious complications during pregnancy. The problems can include bleeding, heart failure and toxemia, a metobolic disorder characterized by elevated blood pressure, swelling of the extremities and protein in the urine. These conditions are potentially fatal for both mother and child.

Both mother and child also face special health risks if the mother is past the age of 35. The child runs a higher than normal risk of deformities, mental retardation or mongolism.

Kapuscinski expressed special concern about the potential health problems of pregnant teenagers. During 1976, according to department figures, there were over 11,400 pregnancies in Minnesota among women 15 to 19 years of age, and 199 among women under 15.

Kapuscinski says pregnant teens are "at higher risk" than slightly older women in a number of ways. Maternal mortality, she noted, is 60 per cent higher for women under 15 and 13 per cent higher for women 15 to 19 than for women 20 to 24. Women in the 15 to 19 year old group are twice as likely to die from bleeding or miscarriage as women in the older group.

Fatal toxemia is 1½ times as common in the 15 to 19 year old group, and 3½ times as common in the under 15 group. Teenagers are 30 per cent more likely to develop nonfatal anemia or toxemia, and because of the nutritional demands which pregnancy places on the body, women under 16 may lose nutrients which they need for their own growth and development. The pregnant teenager is also more likely to begin labor prematurely, and to have a difficult labor.

Babies born to teenagers also fare less well than babies born to women in their early twenties. A baby born to a woman under 15 is nearly 2½ times as likely to die before reaching the age of one, and babies born to women under 20 are up to twice as likely to have an unusually low birth weight.

Low birth weight babies run a higher than normal risk of dying before age one, and of developing conditions like blindness, hearing disorders, cerebral palsy, learning disabilities and behavioral problems. Children born to women under 15 are nearly 2½ times as likely to develop brain and nervous system disorders as children born to women over 15.

A variety of family planning methods can be used to prevent a high risk pregnancy, Kapuscinski said. But she stressed that family planning agencies are not in the business of telling high risk mothers what to do about having children. "Family planning is a completely voluntary service," she said. "Your local family planning agency can provide information and counsel about health risks, and about family planning methods and services. But the decision to use those services is always left to the individual."

Sugar Beet Festival Set For July 20, 21

Entries for the parade, hobby show and business and agriculture exposition are being sought by the committee in charge of events of the fourth annual Red River Valley sugarbeet festival. The two-day affair will be held July 20 and 21 in Grafton, N.D.

The hobby show and business and agriculture exposition will be held both days while the parade is scheduled for the morning of July 21. Among the parade entries the committee is seeking are bands, antique vehicles and floats. Anyone wishing to exhibit in any of the events may obtain more information by contacting the chamber of commerce office in Grafton, telephone 352-0781.

Also taking place during the festival is a pageant at which time 14 girls will vie for the title Miss Red River Valley Sugar Beet Queen. The winner will advance to either the Miss North Dakota or the Miss Minnesota pageant. Each of the five factory districts of American Crystal Sugar Co., Moorhead, Minn-Dak Farmers Cooperative of Wahpeton, N.D. and Southern Minnesota Sugar Cooperative of Renville will be among the sponsors.

Travel Lodging To Receive Fire Safety Checks

Minnesota's hotels, motels and resorts are all slated to receive annual fire safety inspections under a program ordered by the 1978 Legislature, said state fire marshal Wes Werner of the Minnesota department of public safety.

The inspection program will intensify this spring and summer, with the older lodgings having first priority, he said.

"Lodging owners and managers should understand that the fire marshall division does not intend to close down any private enterprise through unfair or unrealistic demands."

"Codes that we apply stress the minimum requirements for safeguarding Minnesotans and out-of-state visitors from danger of fire. Also, the fire marshal's office will provide assistance and guidance to managements of all lodgings being inspected," said Werner.

"Industry cooperation with the inspection program has been excellent." Last year, officials of the fire marshall division began meeting with the major associations of the hotel, motel and resort industry, "to give them a total understanding of how our inspectors operate," said Werner.

"We want lodging managers to know what to expect when the inspectors make their visits and we are continuing the informational meetings with industry representatives."

Annual inspections have been required by state law for many years, said Werner, but before now the fire marshal's office has not had sufficient personnel to do the job. Last year, the legislature authorized nine additional inspector positions.

"1978 Legislature ordered us to make sure all hotels, motels and resorts meet at least the minimum requirements for fire safety protection under the state's uniform fire code and building code," he said.

Fire marshal's entire staff has received intensive special training on the proper inspection procedures, so that fire safety standards are applied uniformly throughout the state.

Werner said inspectors will check all exits, including doors, corridors, stairways and fire escapes; proper evacuation procedures; fire alarm systems; heating equipment; electrical systems; stair enclosures and guest room protection; fire separation of hazardous areas, such as boiler rooms and storage areas; and general housekeeping practices.

Protecting your dollar!

By
Warren Spannaus
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

In this time of inflation many individuals do not have as much cash as they have had in the past. As a result, many citizens are forced to take out loans to pay for their purchases. Often a lending institution requires that a loan be cosigned by a third party.

Cosigning a loan appears simple enough. You just sign your name on the dotted line. However, your signature on that line means much more than a vote of confidence for the person taking out the loan. Cosigning a loan is a very serious business.

A cosigner may think the likelihood that he or she will have to pay off a loan is slim. Of course, the likelihood you will have to pay depends upon the person for whom you cosign. However, a survey submitted by the National Consumer Finance Association to the Federal Trade Commission indicates that approximately three out of four cosigners of loans made by finance companies are asked to pay the loans.

If a borrower cannot pay back a loan, the cosigner can be held responsible for the debt by the lender. If you do not pay a loan, the lender can choose to sue you as well as the borrower. If the lender wins the lawsuit against you, he or she may be able to take your wages and property in order to satisfy the judgment.

A cosigner also may be responsbile for late charges and fees if the borrower is slow in payment. Should the lender decide to sue in order to collect a loan, the cosigner also may owe court costs and attorney's fees. You, as the cosigner, could owe a lot more money than you thought.

When an individual asks you to cosign a loan, you are being asked to take a risk that the lending institution will not take. If the borrower were considered a safe risk, the lender would not require a cosigner. In the event that you are asked to cosign a loan, you should consider the following things in order to protect yourself:

+ Be certain you can afford to pay the loan. You may have to pay it. If you are asked to pay and do not pay, you could be sued and your credit rating could be damaged.

+ Attempt to get the lender to agree that you will owe only a certain amount. In other words, agree to pay the principal balance on the loan and try not be responsible for lage charges, attorneys' fees and court costs. A lender is not obligated to agree to this arrangement, but it is worth a try.

+ Try to avoid pledging your property, automobile or furniture in order to secure the loan.

+ Request that the lender agree, in writing, to contact you if the borrower fails to make a pyament. Ask that the lender notify you before a late charge is added and before the lender "Accelerates" the loan by demanding full payment of the loan rather than just one or two back payments.

+ Obtain signed copies of all the relevant documents regarding the loan, including the loan contract, the truth-in-lending disclosure statement and any warranties for products purchased if it is a credit sale.

+ Do not let yourself be pressured into cosigning a loan. Take your time to think about whether you can afford to be responsble for the borrower's loan in the event he or she fails to meet the terms of the loan.

If you have any questions on this or any other consumer matters, please feel free to write to the Attorney General's Office, 102 State Capitol, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

An increasing number of Americans are shunning home-cooked meals in favor of the convenience and pleasure of eating out. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Americans spent more than $61 billion to eat away from home last year — twice as much as they spent in restaurants only six years ago.

The menus at restaurants are usually filled with mouth-watering descriptions of the food dishes available. These imaginative descriptions may be misleading. "Homemade" soup or pie may not be made on the premises. Your "Idaho" potatoes may come from Maine. You can't always tell the difference in food by taste alone, and not knowing the difference can mean paying for expensive food but getting cheaper food.

Even if you recognize a taste difference, you may not wish to make an issue of it with the restaurant. If you are with guests or in a hurry, you may choose to ignore the difference.

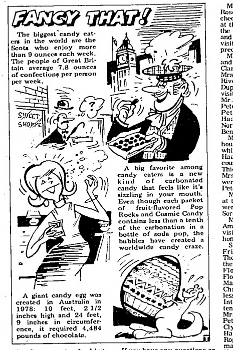
"Truth in menu" programs have been begun in several cities. A Washington, D.C., survy of 350 menus revealed that 75 per cent of all "chicken" dishes contained turkey and 50 per cent of foods advertised as "kosher" were not.

Since Minnesota has no such program, what can you do to protect yourself from misleading menus?

First, don't take for granted what the menu says. If the menu says "fresh" fish or "fresh" fruits, be sure the food is actually fresh and not frozen or commercially processed. The best thing to do is to ask questions of your waiter or waitress. He or she should be able to answer your questions.

Second, Minnesota law makes it illegal to misrepresent the origin or freshness of menu items. If you think you have discovered a problem, contact the Attorney General's Office. We are interested in any complaints or suggestions you might have. With food prices rising, it is important that you get what you pay for.

If you have any questions or comments about truth-in-menus or any other consumer matter, please write to the Attorney General's Office, 102 State Capitol, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.



FANCY THAT!

The biggest candy eaters in the world are the Scots who enjoy more than 9 ounces each week. The people of Great Britain average 7.8 ounces of confections per person per week.

A big favorite among candy eaters is a new kind of carbonated candy that feels like it's sizzling in your mouth. Even though each packet of fruit-flavored Pop Rocks and Cosmic Candy contains less than a tenth of the carbonation in a bottle of soda pop, the bubbles have created a worldwide candy craze.

A giant candy egg was created in Australia in 1978: 10 feet, 2 1/2 inches high and 24 feet, 9 inches in circumference, it required 4,484 pounds of chocolate.

Reflections On China

Rep. Robert Bauman of Maryland is among a number of Congressmen who have seen fit to spend the taxpayers' money on a trip to visit mainland China. Rep. Bauman is chairman of the American conservative union, which considers itself a watchdog on expenditure of public funds as well as a proponent of national defense.

The congressman's views following his China visit are as follows:

I recently returned from a 10-day visit to Communist China. Trying to summarize my visit in the space of one newspaper column isn't an easy task. After 25,000 miles of travel, faces and events tend to blur. But no one who comes from the United States of America could fail to see and understand the painful contrast between our two nations.

First, let me tell you about the people of China. They are friendly, curious and, for the most part, completely controlled by their Communist masters. They have little knowledge of the outside world. Nine-hundred million Chinese are fed, guided, lectured and dominated by the government in Peking and its network of officials throughout the privinces. Why did I say, "for the most part"?

Because one of the most encouraging things I saw in China was that the spark of freedom is still alive in spite of 30 years of totalitarian control. On the streets of Shanghai and Peking, bold citizens were seen handing out copies of "underground" newspapers criticizing the government and its policies. At the famous "poster walls" the latest addition called for change and liberty for the people. While these instances were isolated, they resulted in a government crackdown with many arrests even while we were in China. Chinese government officials refused to even acknowledge what we saw with our own eyes. Yet we were told in no uncertain terms that this new freedom was going to stop. The day before we left Peking all foreign citizens in China were ordered to cease all contacts with Chinese unless permission was first obtained from the government.

It would be very well for President Carter to extend his human rights crusade to encourage the Chinese people to seek more freedom. Certainly we should not assume that the Communists will forever dominate this ancient and proud people.

And as to the future of the 18 million free Chinese and natives in the Republic of China on Taiwan, Vice-Premier Deng Xiaoping, in an hour-long meeting we had with him, made it clear that force may well be used to "re-unite" Taiwan with the mainland. In the meantime, economic and other pressures will be employed and President Carter's pledge to help Taiwan could be tested sooner than he expected.

My trip to Communist China did not change my view that the diplomatic recognition of that country was a mistake, or that the future of the Republic of China on Taiwan is endangered. But it has certainly better equipped me to deal with the legislation which will be before Congress this session and which will affect the future relations of China and the United States.

Placing The Blame

Following comments on the inflationary spiral which seems to continue despite all efforts to reduce it are made by columnists Jay Van Andel and Richard M. DeVos in a publication by the Amway corporation of Ada, Mich.:

Mr. Carter cannot solve the problem by himself. It is the members of Congress who authorize the programs and appropriate the money to pay for them. They do this in response to urging from the administration and the considerable pressures extended by so-called special interest groups.

In the long run, we will reduce excessive spending and eliminate fluctuations in the economy by limiting federal expenditures through a Constitutional amendment, much like the tax limitation proposals pending or enacted in several states. That is in the future.

We cannot wait for the time-consuming process of a Constitutional amendment to solve the immediate problem. Assuming an annual inflation rate of seven per cent — a little less than the President would settle for this year — a young man or woman entering the work force today at $10,000 a year would have to make $40,000 twenty years from now, just to maintain the purchasing power of that $10,000 starting wage. If that person is successful and receives promotion during those years, imagine the salary required to achieve a standard of living commensurate with that success!

As Dr. Milton Friedman has said, "Instead of pointing a finger at labor and business, consumers should blame themselves for giving lawmakers free rein on spending." It's time to send Washington a message.

Inflation is a national disgrace. It is not labor or business which bears the shame of this economic malfeasance. It is the politicians in Washington who refuse to say, "Enough; no more spending for programs we cannot afford; no more borrowing, causing future generations to pay for our excesses. Let's establish reasonable priorities and live within our means."

Where will it end? The answer is unclear. But one thing is certain, the solution to inflation can be found right there in Washington, among the very people who worry aloud about it. The answer is, reduce government spending. Call a halt to the printing of money we don't have, to pay for programs we cannot afford. Examine the economic impact of regulation and other mandates before they become law.

President Carter has cited wage demands by labor and price increases by business as the principal causes of inflation. He knows better. Every time another batch of "new" money is printed, the value of the dollars in our pockets is decreased; and money must be printed when the cost of running the government exceeds the amount which government can raise.

Careful Study Needed

A great many Americans find it difficult to make up their minds about the merits of SALT II, the treaty with Russia which would limit each side's strategic missiles and bombers.

What do we know of RVs, MIRVs, SNDVs, MXs or the SS-18? Who knows if the Russians will keep their end of the agreement or if the United States really has the mechanical ability to monitor and verify Soviet tests which might be outside the agreement limitations?

Some critics of SALT II make the rather reasonable statement that "if the Russians want it, then it must be bad for us."

Paul C. Warnke, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament agency, responds this way:

"I think the proper rejoinder is that they do want it because it's good for them. But it's also good for us. Because despite our many differences, despite the fact that we are very, very different societies that don't have the same view of world order or internal organization, we do share at least one common interest — and that is an interest in survival — there is also the common interest in stopping the proliferation of nuclear weapons. Both of us have to recognize that if we continue to go ahead with an unchecked competition in strategic arms, we can't expect the rest of the world to stand by and indefinitely eschew the acquisition of a nuclear weapons capability of their own."

President Carter reemphasizes that rejection of the treaty would be a "massive, destructive blow to world peace" that might push other nations into developing nuclear weapons. "It is a fair treaty. There is no advantage to either country," the President insists.

"This treaty will enhance the security of the United States and our allies," says Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance. "It will restrain the nuclear arms race. It will lessen the likelihood of nuclear war."

Although it is a long and complicated treaty, SALT II really offers two rather simple choices: We can continue a dangerous, unrestrained arms competition with Russia or we can adopt arms controls which could provide a safer, more lasting and less expensive way of achieving our national security objectives.

SALT II should not be rejected — or accepted — without a close and careful study. There is little question that arms control is imperative. If SALT II is indeed fair to the United States and if it is possible to monitor and detect attempts to cheat, then it should be approved. Unfortunately, the treaty would not end the wild rush for military supremacy with other weapons. But it is a step in the right direction, and it deserves the most thorough study and understanding.

Letters to the Editor

To the editor:

Enough is enough! President Carter promised the American people that the Panama Canal give away wouldn't cost American taxpayers a cent. Now, we are informed by some congressmen, including George Hanson of Idaho, that it could cost us 4.1 billion dollars to give our canal away. This was brought about by the additional concessions demanded of us by the Marxist Panamanian leaders there.

We promised Israel and Egypt 5 billion dollars for the so-called peace treaty. Where will all this money come from if not the taxpayers?

But, strange as it may seem, Mr. Carter vetoed or rejected 90 per cent parity for farmers. He refused the building of the much needed MX mobile missile because it was too costly. (Under 4 billion). Many other projects at home were rejected because they're too costly or inflationary.

I'm one American who's tired of financing our enemies. What about you? If the House approves funding of the canal give away, let's check to see how our Congressmen in Minnesota voted.

Legislative Report
Marv Hanson
District 1 State Senator

The Legislature is in its last week. We will be taking final action on the major legislative proposals this week. Conference Committees will be meeting to resolve differences between the State Senate and the House of Representatives with adjournment set for May 21.

Under discussion will be legislation providing new protection to farmers who have pipelines crossing their farms. This legislation requires at least 4½ feet of cover over a pipeline. We presently do not have any coverage requirement, and this is an important addition to the law. This proposal provides that a public hearing will be held on the proposed pipeline before an easement can be sought from local farmers. Also, before any pipeline permits are granted, county boards can adopt ordinances and standards for the construction of those pipelines. Counties are also given authority to hire inspectors to enforce them with the pipeline counties paying for the cost of providing that inspection.

Two provisions in the School Aids Bill provide additional support to our schools in Northwestern Minnesota. A new addition to school aid support in Minnesota is sparsity aid. Sparsity aid will be received by school districts in Northern Minnesota because of sparse student populations within the large area of our local schools. Almost all of our school districts will receive funds under this new proposal and will increase the funding they have available for school programs. Also included in the School Aids Bill this year is a new transportation formula. Escalated cost of bus replacement and the inflating cost of fuel have cut deeply into school budgets. The new transportation formula will help meet those increasing costs.

Home prices have escalated and have made it difficult for many people to put together the down-payment to purchase a home. Two measures were recently passed in the State Senate which will help Minnesota families buy a home. The first measure permits the establishment of "individual housing accounts". These accounts are modeled after the Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) and the HR-10 (Keogh) plans which are now used for retirement plans. A prospective home purchaser could deposit tax-free in his account a sum up to a maximum of $2,500 a year with a total amount limitation of $10,000. The fund set aside can only be used for the purchase of a house. The savings in taxes not paid on the amounts deposited in these accounts will increase the amount of funds available to meet the down-payment to purchase a home.

The second measure permits graduated mortgage payment schedules for home purchases. This measure permits those mortgage payments to be lower in the beginning period of a mortgage and then gradually rise at a predetermined rate. This type of payment schedule will reduce the home mortgage payments when the expenses of a young family are higher, and then as family income increases, so will the home payments. These two measures should help many Minnesota families.

If you have comments or questions on these measures or any current Minnesota issues, please write me at Room 23J, State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155, or call (612) 296-4835.

Iron Mine History One Of Hardship

Freezing Winters and Mosquito-filled Summers

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of twelve articles portraying a heritage unique to Minnesota and Minnesotans, as presented by the Iron Range Interpretative Center in Chisholm.)

Immigrants to the Mesabi Range soon found their lifestyle was as hard as the iron ore they had come to mine.

The rapid influx of large numbers of laborers to the mining districts at the end of the 19th century required instant housing. Early camps of rough log buildings, tarpaper shacks and boarding houses sprang up near every mine across the Iron Range. There were few women or families.

The climate of northern Minnesota, with its bitterly cold winters and mosquito-filled summers, brought problems of adjustment. Hours were long — 10 to 12 hours a day — and the work was backbreaking. The miner could expect to earn about $2.25 a day. For those who left families behind, lonliness was intense.

Corrupt straw bosses demanded bribes for employment, and the contract miner found that the richest vein or ore would go to the highest bidder. Working conditions were not safe; there was great fear of injury. The open pit mines would not operate during the winter months, so income had to be supplemented by working in lumber camps.

Because of transportation problems, the miner had to be within walking distance of the mine. Small communities were built by mining companies near the mines, renting homes to the miners. If there was a store at the location, it was owned by the mining company.

These camps were generally known for their single ethnic domination. Many were solely Italian, Serbian, Slovenian, Croatian, or Finnish. While residents looked on this arrangement as a convenience, since there was a sharing of mutual language, it did retard the development of an English-speaking region.

The dwellings in a location were roughly constructed woodframe structures. The typical home was heated by a wood stove. Water was generally hauled from a central pump. Streets were dirt; sidewalks, if any, were wood. If there was electricity, light was usually provided from a single bulb.

Even though the mining company owned the propert, the renter was allowed freedom to use the property as if it were his own. A fence signified possession, and was among the first improvements made by the renter. Because most of the immigrants came from an agricultural background, and since the cost of commercially grown vegetables was out of reach of most families, a large garden was planted every year. Many also raised cattle, pigs or chickens, kept in small barns or sheds built behind the house.

From the crude camps hastily constructed by the mining or logging companies to the early locations and communities, we can begin to explain the reasons that the Iron Range has preserved its strong ethnic diversity. The close proximity to work, to living space, transportation modes, celebration, and forms of labor all dealt with the person and his nearby location or camp.

The Iron Range Interpretative Center, located between Hibbing and Chisholm just off Highway 169, tells the story of the early camps and locations, and of the tribulations of the early immigrants settling in them. The Center, a division of the Iron Range Resources and Rehabilitation Board, is open every day of the year (10-6 from Oct. 16 to May 14; summer hours are 9-9). A free brochure is available from the Iron Range Interpretative Center, Box 392, Chisholm, MN 55719.

Ask Gardeners To Control Use Of Chemicals

Cooperation of Minnesota lawn and garden hobbyists will be necessary to insure compliance with the emergency suspension from sale or use of two weed and brush control chemicals the federal environmental protection agency considers hazardous, reports deputy agriculture commissioner Rollin M. Dennistoun.

"Compliance problems actually focus on one of the two suspended chemicals, one commonly used to control lawn and garden weeds and which has been available in a variety of convenience forms in hundreds of retail establishments in this state.

"The problem is two-fold. In addition to old carryover stocks most homeowners store over the winter in basements or garages, there is the new inventory delivered, placed on display and offered for sale for this new spring growing season prior to the February 28 suspension order. Many of these displays went up right after the Christmas shopping season," deputy commissioner Dennistoun explained.

Retail outlets and garden stores contacted by state inspectors are readily complying with the federal suspension order, securing inventories valued at tens of thousands of dollars over the state pending further determinations and instructions to be issued by the environmental protection agency.

No compliance problem is anticipated by state authorities on the suspension of the other chemical: 2, 4, 5-trichlorophenoxyacetic acid (2, 4, 5-T). Used primarily for brush control in forests and on public utility right-of-way, this chemical has been under rigid state restrictions for the past several years.

Deputy commissioner Dennistoun urges all Minnesotans to check present inventories of all weed killers (herbicides), including "weed and feed" (combined herbicide-fertilizer) mixtures for lawn use.

Read the label carefully. If you find either of the above suspended chemicals listed among the ingredients, the product is illegal to use, resell, or dispose of in any manner. Isolate such products in a secure, dry storage, safe from exposure to children, pets, or food products," he instructs.

The federal suspension order issued on March 1 contained no provision for disposal of the two chemical products. Both dealers and consumers will simply have to "sit on" the suspended chemicals until further determinations and instructions are issued by the federal environmental protection agency.

Social Effects Of Nuclear Accident Aired

by Jeanne Hanson
U of M News Service

Recent accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant in Harrisburg, Pa., is creating cultural "fall-out", and our way of making energy decisions will change as a result. The social and cultural effects are as important as the accident itself, according to Luther Gerlach, a University of Minnesota anthropology professor who has done several studies on the social effects of energy technology.

"The accident won't end the nuclear energy industry, but it will make anti-nuclear protest more legitimate," Gerlach said. Pro and anti-nuclear power slogans will proliferate. Already, bumper stickers proclaiming sentiments from "Driving your car is more dangerous," to "We all live in Pennsylvania," are springing up as far away as West Germany.

With energy policy becoming even more politicized, defense of nuclear power will be seen by industry people as a "political mission" and by its opponents as irrational. Citizens who were worried about nuclear power before the accident at Three Mile Island will become angrier now and will see industry spokesmen as evasive, Gerlach said. Most of the people who live or work near nuclear plants will avoid mental conflict by judging them as safe, comfortable parts of their lives, he said.

People faced with nuclear power are a little like a primitive culture confronted with irrigation or some other sample of western technology, Gerlach said. They wonder if the technology and its managers will become their masters, and they experience a "lingering uncertainty." "What proof can be offered?" Gerlach asked.

With technology under such siege, even the way we make decisions about energy will change, according to Gerlach. In the past, decisions to develop coal use or build a powerline were made on the basis of economics.

"Now," said Gerlach, "the key is conflict." The domestic energy technology that brings the fewest protests and the most manageable conflicts will be the one developed, he said. Coal will not be the "great black hope" because coal-mining opponents will increase their efforts, and powerline protesters will distrust assurances of safety even more, Gerlach said.

Besides conflict, other factors will affect future energy decisions, according to Gerlach. The flexibility of the energy source, the stakes involved in its failure, whether it can be understood by people, and whether the people who bear the cost can enjoy the benefits, will all figure in energy decisions, he said.

Solar energy is the best candidate for development under these criteria, and conservation looks like an excellent "technology" too, Gerlach said.

But in the wake of the Three Mile Island accident, all energy technologies will need to present themselves more realistically, Gerlach said. To begin to regain the trust of the populace, spokesmen for particular energy industries must admit to their weaknesses, ignorance and vulnerability, and people wil have to learn to live with more uncertainty, Gerlach said.

CELEBRATE THE GRADUATE

Honor your favorite graduate with a very special brunch. Easily prepared in advance, sliced tongue covered with a white wine-enhanced aspic makes perfect party fare.

Toast the alumnus with a distinguished French white wine like Michelet Cotes de Duras imported by the Dennis & Huppert Company, a notable way to say "congratulations."

To complete the festivities, serve a pyramid of Ambrosial Meringue au Vin, a superb finale reflecting your admiration and pride.

TONGUE IN WHITE WINE ASPIC

1 3 to 4 pound cooked beef tongue, peeled, sliced in 1/4-inch slices
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups dry white wine such as Michelet Cotes de Duras
1 can jellied consomme
Stuffed olives for garnish

In a shallow serving platter, arrange slices of tongue in 2 long rows. Place a row of stuffed olives between the 2 rows of sliced tongue. Set aside. Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup of cold water. In a pan, bring consomme to a boil, add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in wine, and cool. Place in refrigerator until wine and consomme are thickened slightly and become syrupy. Pour over tongue and chill until aspic is set. Serves 8. (May be made in advance.)

AMBROSIAL MERINGUE PYRAMID AU VIN

1 cup of egg whites, about 6
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups sugar
Butter to grease 2 cookie sheets
2 teaspoons flour
1 quart fresh strawberries, cleaned and hulled
3/4 cup seedless grapes
3/4 cup canned pineapple chunks, drained well
2 cups heavy cream
5 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons dry white wine such as Michelet Cotes de Duras
1/2 cup toasted coconut (optional)

In a large bowl, beat the egg whites with the cream of tartar and salt until soft peaks form. Beat in sugar 3 tablespoons at a time until stiff peaks form. Butter and lightly flour 2 large cookie sheets. Drop meringue by tablespoonfuls to form round balls with a tiny curl on top, pushing the meringue off the tablespoon with a rubber spatula. Form about 40, leaving 1-inch between the balls. Bake in a pre-heated 250° F. oven for about 55 minutes. Do not open oven door. Turn off oven, cool meringue in oven overnight. Beat the cream with the confectioners' sugar. When soft peaks form, add the wine and continue to beat until stiff. Add half the fruit to the cream. Place 12 meringues on a large serving platter to form a ring. Spoon half the whipped cream and fruit on the meringues. Add more meringue balls, building to a pyramid, with the fruit and cream holding the meringues in place. Add the last meringue ball on top. Decorate with the remaining fruits. Sprinkle with coconut, if desired. Serves 10 to 12.

Meeting Set Here On State Water Plan

Water quality committee of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, in cooperation with the Minnesota water planning board, will hold a public meeting at the Thief River Falls City auditorium at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 23, to receive citizen comment on a draft version of the state water plan.

The water planning board, established by the legislature in 1977 to direct the preparation of a "framework water and related resource plan for Minnesota," has scheduled fourteen such meetings throughout the state during the month of May.

Tom Kalitowski, chairman of the water planning board, stated today that "the primary issue the plan attempts to address is how the state of Minnesota can best manage and utilize its water resources to assure the availability of an adequate supply of quality water to meet the competing beneficial needs of present and future generations."

The draft document contains over 85 recommendations relating to the following 12 major issue areas: water resources management, water quality, water-based recreation, water information and data, flood damage reduction, wetland management, water conservation, related land use, water supply and allocation, water research and education, water resources coordination and federal-state relations.

After receiving public review and comment, the water planning board will meet in June to adopt recommendations for submission to the goevernor and the legislature.

Governor Quie has pronounced 1979 as 'The year of water awareness in Minnesota.' Likewise, throughout its development, a key element of the water planning effort has been the maintenance of an effective mechanism for the receipt of citizen input. Advisory committee of each of the state's 13 Regional Development Commissions were called upon to provide input throughout the development of the plan. The upcoming public meetings offer citizens of the state an additional opportunity, not only to become aware of water issues and problems, but to participate in a process aimed at solving the problems.

HUSBAND ALERT: THE PERFECT ANNIVERSARY GIFT

If you have a wedding anniversary coming up soon and are in a quandary over what to give your wife, your problem can be solved by a diamond eternity ring.

A diamond eternity ring is a half or full circle of diamonds and for centuries has been the traditional gift a husband gives his wife on an anniversary. The circular form of the ring dates back to ancient Greece and conveys the sentiment, "My love will run out at the circle's end."

Diamonds too, have been the symbol of love since that time, when the Greeks named the gem, the hardest substance known to man, "adamas," meaning "unconquerable."

So surprise her with the gift that will tell her you'd marry her all over again if you could. There are many styles and prices available—ask for it by name: the diamond eternity ring.

Meat Produced In State Rises From February

Minnesota's March red meat production of 152.3 million pounds gained 19 per cent from February while the U.S. gained 12 per cent. The state's red meat output almost equaled March a year ago but the U.S. was off seven per cent.

Total liveweight of cattle and calves remained 11 per cent lower than a year earlier despite an increase of 17 pounds in average liveweight. Pork liveweight increased eight per cent with an increase of one pound per head in average weight. Total lamb and mutton output gained 14 per cent.

Cattle numbers were off 12 per cent, hogs up eight per cent, and sheep and lambs up 11 per cent.

AAA Urges Production Of Gasohol

Gasohol should be seriously considered as a partial answer to Minnesota's energy problems, according to the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA).

"Conserving gasoline is certainly a necessary step in combating the gasoline shortage in Minnesota and across the country. But Minnesota faces more severe problems than most states because Canada has said that in 1981 they are going to stop sending crude oil to Minnesota," said Diane Nelsen, spokesperson for AAA. Presently, Minnesota obtains 42 per cent of its total crude oil supply from Canada, according to Will Haddeland, associate director, of the Minnesota petroleum council.

Minnesota AAA urged state legislators to take an aggressive and positive approach towards alcohol fuels by supporting House File (H.F.) Eight, sponsored by Representative David Fjoslien (IR-Brandon). This bill calls for the establishment of an agricultural products industrial utilization board, which would be responable for". . .developing and carrying out a program for the testing, evaluation, development and promotion of grain alcohol gasoline. . .using Minnesota agricultural products."

As defined in the bill, grain alcohol gasoline (gasohol) means a blend of 90 per cent unleaded gasoline with 10 per cent agricultural ethyl alcohol.

Gasohol has been successfully marketed in many Midwestern states and is now sold at approximately 40 stations in Minnesota. Although gasohol has been priced several cents per gallon higher than unleaded gasolic, stations which have sold it report sales increases as high as 250 per cent. One reason is that gasohol has several advantages over gasoline. The 10 per cent alcohol content of gasohol acts as an octane booster, resulting in better vehicle performance. Vehicles run on gasohol also get more miles per gallon and have lower hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emmissions.

Presently, the alcohol used in gasohol sold commercially must be shipped in from other states. "H.F. Eight would encourage the manufacturing the marketing of grain alcohol gasolin in Minnesota. This would not only cut the cost of the alcohol, but also boost Minnesota's economy by widening the overall tax base as new industry comes to the state," said Nelsen.

Minnesota has the potential of producing its own ethyl alcohol, according to a recent report by the Walter Butler engineering companies of St. Paul. Corn and molasses are two economically feasible "feedstocks" which could be used to produce the alcohol, accroding to the report.

"Minnesota AAA has long been a vocal proponent of conserning gasoline. But we realize that conservation alone is not the answer to the growing energy needs of our state. If motorists are going to continue to be able to purchase reasonably-priced fuel, our legislators must take bold and positive steps towards introducing alcohol — and gasohol — into our state's energy system," added Nelsen.

Corn Prices Should Go Up, Soybeans Down

Slightly lower corn acreage could mean moderately rising prices reaching roughly $2.05 per bushel (bu.) at harvest time, while an increase in soybean acreage is likely to lower prices to around $6 per bu., a University of Minnesota economist says.

Will Anthony, extension agricultural economist, based his projections on a report of farmer's planting intentions released recently by the U.S. department of agriculture. Report showed a 79.2 million acre corn crop intended by farmers. "This would be off about one-half per cent from the 1978 acreage," Anthony says.

"Moderately rising prices will continue chiefly because of very good utilization rates," the economist explains. "also, yields are unlikely to reach the 101 bu. per acre average nationwide last year."

Based on a 92 bu. per acre yield, Minnesota farmers could receive "roughly $2.05 bu. by harvest time," he says. About 1.5 billion bushels of "old crop corn" carryover will also affect prices as the 1979 crop becomes available to the market. Yields at 100 bu. per acre would drop prices to $1.85.

Farmers reported intentions to plant almost 69 million acres of soybeans, about 7.4 per cent more than the 1978 acreage. "This shows farmers are good economists," Athony says. "Oilseed prices have been strong, and we have no carryover in soybeans."

With normal soybean yields of 29 bu. per acre, Anthony foresees a price of $5.80 to $6 per bu. at harvest. A 27 bu. average yield nationwide could mean $6.40-$6.50 prices.

"This increase in acreage is not enough to torpedo the soybean market," Anthony adds. "For the last decade or so, total utilization of the U.S. bean crop has risen 20 per cent each year."

Cancer Answers

"Cancer Answers" is a weekly column sponsored by the Red River Valley Medical society, the Red River Valley unit of the American Cancer society, and the Thief River Falls Times. Questions may be mailed to the editor, Thief River Falls Times. All questions will be answered, and those of a general interest will be published in "Cancer Answers."

Dear Cancer Answers:

Could you tell me what colposcopy is and how it is done? My doctor says I should have this done since I've had a history of abnormal pap smears and now have suspicious spots on my cervix.

Mrs. L.F.

Dear Mrs. L.F.

Colposcopy is an examination used in addition to the pap test to diagnose abnormalities of the cervix and vagina. It is generally recommended when results of a pap smear suggest that further examination would be wise.

Colposcopy is a painless procedure done with a microscope-like instrument called a colposcope (kol-po-skop). During the procedure the doctor places a speculum in the patient's vagina, as in a routine pelvic examination. After swabbing the cervix with a special dye that makes it easier to detect abnormal tissue, the doctor examines the cervix carefully. Although the colposcope itself is not placed inside the vagina, the doctor is able to see clearly the vulva, vagina, and cervix magnified up to twenty times.

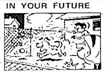
If any abnormal areas are seen during this examination, the doctor can usually perform a biopsy immediately. The area to be biopsied can be anesthetized and a small sample of the tissue removed to be examined in more detail in a laboratory.

Should treatment be necessary, the doctor can very often remove or destroy the affected tissue with little or no discomfort for the patient.

Use of the colposcope has saved many women from having more complex surgical procedures involving greater cost, inconvenience and discomfort.

REPORT TO CONSUMERS

THERE'S A FENCE IN YOUR FUTURE



Fences serve a variety of purposes.

A fence isn't to keep the world out but to embrace your own private world within. It's to add warmth and beauty to your property, to protect your loved ones, to say to the world: this land is mine.

There are fences to provide for safety and security around your swimming pool, to protect youngsters in a play area, as an enclosure for pets. And when it comes time to decide what kind of fence is best for you and yours, it's important to discuss your needs with a reliable contractor.

The International Fence Industry Assn. (IFIA) suggests you deal with companies pledged to a Code of Ethics that assures you of the best for your money.

IFIA points out that there are all kinds and sizes of fences in a variety of materials. They are made of galvanized steel, aluminum, vinyl and wood for all kinds of purposes—utility, decorativeness, ornamentation.

The beginning of good fencing, is determining what you want to accomplish. If you can communicate that to the contractor, he will be better able to recommend to you the most reliable and economical fence to satisfy your needs.

But a well-planned fence serves more than as a separator between your property and your neighbor's. The fence surrounding your home should be considered as important as the house's architectural design, the color of its paint or brick, or the landscaping. It can complement your property.

Dear Cancer Answers:

My cousin has cancer of the pancreas. We have been told it is inoperable and can't be treated satisfactorily with radiation or drugs. Some treatment will be necessary. Why can't they remove the pancreas or do something?

Joan P.

Dear Joan:

Effective treatment for pancreatic cancer is difficult. The reasons have to do with the location of the pancreas, its function in the body and the limitations of cancer treatments.

Frist, early detection of this kind of cancer is a problem. The pancreas is located deep in the abdomen surrounded by other digestive organs such as the stomach and small intestine. These organs, together with the ribs in the back, prevent a doctor from easily feeling the pancreas to detect changes.

Symptoms are important guides in early detection, but in pancreatic cancer, few signs may show up until the disease is well advanced. Sometimes symptoms mimic other common and noncancerous diseases. Diagnostic tests such as X-rays, ultrasound and nuclear scans can be very complex and often not conclusive. Thus, some of the traditional means for identifying cancer early just aren't applicable in pancreatic cancer.

Second, when the disease is well advanced, surgical removal of the cancer is difficult. This is particularly true for an organ such as the pancreas. Widespread disease may involve more than just the pancreas, and it may be impossible to surgically remove all the disease and still leave the person able to function. Also, the pancreas, which produces vital insulin and glucagon to control body blood sugar levels and enzymes to help digest food, performs essential work in the body. A person cannot readily do without it.

Third, although radiation and drugs are not curative for cancer of the pancreas, combinations of these treatments are being investigated by some cancer experts. Only time will tell how effective such treatments will be.

In the meantime, various supportive treatments may be used to decrease pain or discomfort, aid in the digestion of food and possibly increase the duration as well as the quality of your cousin's life.

Dear Cancer Answers:

I have read that "clubbing" of the fingernails and toenails is a sign of cancer. Please give more information on this.

Mr. C.P.

Dear Mr. C.P.:

The clubbing of the tips of fingers and toes has been associated with disease, especially lung disease, for thousands of years. Hippocrates described this phenomenon about 400 years before the birth of Christ.

The tip of the clubbed toe or finger is wider and thicker than normal. The nail is also thicker and rounder. There may be some redness, however pain in the clubbed area is rare.

About 5 per cent of patients with lung cancer and other chest tumors have clubbing. Occasionally, the clubbing may be the first sign that a lung cancer is developing. Clubbing also may develop in patients with some chronic infections in the chest, but it is rare in patients with tuberculosis. Clubbing, additionally, can be associated with some types of heart disease. Nevertheless, some people with clubbing show no evidence of any disease.

The mechanism by which these diseases cause clubbing is not known. The clubbing may disappear after the disease is cured.

Some patients with clubbing, especially those with lung cancer, may have a painful swelling of the ankle or, wrist, or leg or arm just above those joints. This, too, may be relieved by the cure of the associated cancer.

Dear Cancer Answers:

Are alcoholics more susceptible to cancer than other people? If so, why? What kinds of cancer do heavy drinkers get?

Harry

Dear Harry:

There is an association between alcohol abuse and some types of cancer. The reason for this relationship is not fully understood but it is known that alcohol is a toxic substance which damages and destroys cells in the body.

Heavy drinkers are more likely to develop cancers of the mouth and throat, and those who smoke are at high risk for cancer of the esophagus. Alcoholics who have cirrhosis of the liver are much more likely to develop cancer of the liver than nondrinkers.

Spotting pigeongrass no longer spells disaster for your wheat crop.

With Spring coming so late this year, pigeongrass is really on the rampage. If it's not controlled it can reduce your wheat yield by as much as 60%.

To help handle this major weed problem, the EPA has granted a number of North Central States an emergency exemption for STAMPEDE, the postemergence herbicide from ROHM and HAAS.

Last year, STAMPEDE was used in your area with excellent results. Mark Andrews, Jr., a wheat grower in Mapleton, North Dakota, reports: "My extension Agronomist told me about a new chemical on the market called STAMPEDE. The results were tremendous! We had pigeongrass population in the field that, if it hadn't been taken care of by the STAMPEDE, I'm afraid that we would have been forced to plough the thing down and not raise the crop that year."

Receive Vaccine To Stop Turkey Disease

Specially licensed killed virus vaccine is being used by Minnesota turkey producers to combat an outbreak of virulent avian influenza. The vaccine, produced in Maine, arrived at the St. Paul headquarters of the Minnesota Turkey Growers association February 27, and was immediately distributed to the turkey breeders.

Association director Roy Munson stated he has received 350,000 of the million doses ordered.

In December of 1978, the state's turkey growers and the University of Minnesota's avian disease research program had requested an exception to federal regulations to allow them to produce an emergency batch of influenza vaccine. Permission was granted by Dr. Pierre Chaloux, deputy administrator of the U.S. department of agriculture's animal and plant health inspection service (APHIS).

The newly arrived vaccine is being administered to breeding flocks in order to preserve the genetic pool and to protect the breeding birds necessary to produce market turkeys. The vaccine is made up of dead influenza viruses, which when injected into the birds help to build up an immunity to influenza.

Even with the vaccine, Dr. Althawa Langston, an APHIS veterinary medical officer, stressed the importance of basic disease control procedures.

"Vaccine alone won't stop the virus from moving through the turkeys. Rigorous sanitation and isolation methods must be followed to prevent the spread of the virus to other flocks and farms."

The influenza appears to have spread from flock to flock and farm to farm on the clothing and equipment of workers who did not take proper sanitary precautions. The use of separate coveralls and boots along with washing equipment, hands and boot is vital to containing the spread of influenza.

The outbreak, first discovered in September of 1978, has affected 110 commercial turkey flocks and 10 breeding flocks as well as a laying chicken operation. More than 1.8 million turkeys and 180,000 chickens are affected. The preliminary estimate of economic loss to the Minnesota turkey industry is $3,255,637; this figure allows for expected mortality and condemnation loss. State, federal and university officials are examining the results of a new University of Minnesota survey to see if these estimates will go higher.

Langston stated that the mortality rate in some flocks runs as high as 85 per cent. The average excess deaths that can be directly attributed to the influenza in turkey flocks were around 315,000 birds or 17 per cent.

Birds condemned at slaughter were running much higher than usual, in some cases as high as 80 per cent. These birds, depending on the severity of the influenza, were either completely destroyed or used only in the production of meat and bone meal for animal feeds.

Minnesota is the nation's number one turkey producing state with approximately 26 million birds grown yearly. Since the industry is now converting to year round production, an epidemic of this sort could deal a crippling blow to the state's poultry producers.

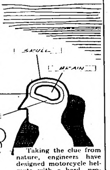
Influenza also spread to a flock of 180,000 laying chickens in December of 1978. This facility was close to an affected turkey farm and was serviced by the same feed company. Egg production in the most affected area fell from 100 cases a day to 40, or a 60 per cent reduction in output. After two months, production still has not returned to normal and the birds will be destroyed.

This is only the second time avian influenza has been reported in chickens in the U.S. since an outbreak of fowl plague in 1929. The other outbreak was in Alabama in 1975 and was quickly eradicated.

Clinically, the disease is characterized by severe depression, sneezing and coughing, cessation of eating and drinking, and in many cases death. Breeding birds also stop producing eggs in addition to the other symptoms.

FANCY THAT!

A remarkable feat of engineering is the protection that nature has designed for the human brain. The hard, rigid skull encases three separate layers of membranes and the cerebrospinal fluid which surround the brain. These can better absorb shock and blows than can the delicate—and irreplaceable—nervous tissue.



Taking the clue from nature, engineers have designed motorcycle helmets with a hard, protective outer shell surrounding a softer, more flexible inner lining. The Motorcycle Safety Foundation points out that in case of impact, a helmet can absorb the shock and damage that could otherwise injure the head. Drivers who wear helmets are heading in the right direction.

In designing a perpetual motion machine, engineers can learn from nature. The human heart beats 60 to 80 times a minute during a lifetime which may last over a century. The work done each minute by the heart is equivalent to lifting a 70-pound weight a foot off the ground.

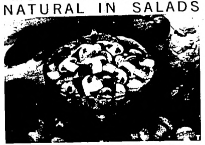
MUSHROOMS ARE A NATURAL IN SALADS



Mushroom slices are really special in a salad. Not only do they contribute their own distinguished flavor, but their porous texture makes it possible to absorb a well-seasoned dressing and space it evenly throughout the salad bowl.

MUSHROOM VEGETABLE SALAD

3/4 cup salad oil
1/2 cup wine vinegar
1/3 cup sliced scallions or green onions
1/4 cup chopped parsley
2 teaspoons salt
1-1/2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 quart potatoes cut into 1/2-inch chunks
1 pound fresh mushrooms or 2 cans (6 to 8 oz. each) sliced mushrooms
2 cups sliced zucchini
1 cup diced green pepper

Combine oil, vinegar, scallions, parsley, salt, sugar, oregano and black pepper; mix well. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water to cover until tender, about 15 minutes; drain; place in a large bowl. Stir oil mixture; pour over potatoes; mix gently; cover and chill thoroughly. Rinse, pat dry and slice fresh mushrooms or drain canned mushrooms. Add mushrooms to potatoes along with zucchini and green pepper; toss lightly. Serve in a lettuce-lined bowl, if desired. Yield: 8 portions.

PCA people tell it like it is... so you know where you stand.
Straight-talk from PCA

Sunflowers promise brighter horizons for many farmers.

Wasn't long ago a sunflower field was a rare sight to see. Now the bright, yellow-headed crop covers millions of acres. Sunflowers are a special crop with special needs. So PCA people tailor credit to a sunflower grower's individual needs. Credit for sunflower seed, herbicides and pesticides. For equipment and machinery, too. If sunflowers are on your horizon, come on in. PCA credit can help your sunflowers grow.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Caution: Work Is Hazardous To Your Child's Health

Has it ever occurred to you that government seems willing to expose our children to everything — except work? Consider, for example, what recently happened at Fort Worth, Texas, where two teenage businessmen found themselves paralyzed by the protective clutches of Big Brother.

The two young entrepreneurs, Donald Woodward and his younger brother and assistant, Blake, had been busily building their own business selling advertising for the (Ft. Worth) News Tribune. Donald classified himself as an independent advertising account executive. And, like so many of their compatriots, these two Texans were gogetters — talented, ambitious, hard-working, and very successful.

A bit too successful it seemed, for their activities caught the attention of a compliance officer from the Department of Labor stationed in the Fort Worth area. The officer, Joe Noriega, felt that the Woodward brothers' persistent self-initiative meant the News Tribune was acting as an employer in violation of "Child Labor Requirements in Nonagricultural Occupations under the Fair Labor Standards Act."

But after amazing clarity, patience and grace, and with the help of a Webster's Dictionary which somehow triumphed over the Department of Labor booklet, younger Donald seemed to convince older Joe that he really was self-employed. Well, not quite. For apparently Joe believed he was on a mission of mercy, and he was determined to carry out his rescue. Here is a sprinkling of the ensing conversation as reported by Madeleine Williams, who covered the story for the News Tribune.

JOE: "Now Donald, I am her to protect you..."

DON: "Against what?"

JOE: "...The government recognizes that certain classifications of employees need protection..."

DON: "I'm not an employee. And what do I need protection against?"

JOE: "H.O., what the Department of Labor calls 'hazardous occupation.' "

DON: "Thre's nothing hazardous about selling advertising unless you make a prospect so mad he throws you out of the office, and I don't."

JOE: "The government protects you as a salesman. It is conceivable you could work all day and not sell and ad and then you wouldn't get any money for your work."

DON: "It is not conceivable, sir."

JOE: "Nevertheless, the government wants to be sure you do not work for nothing...as an outside salesman, you are entitled to $4.35 an hour..."

DON: "I don't work by the hour."

JOE: "But that's what you are to be paid when you spend your time and don't make any sales."

DON: "Do you think I would accept money for something I didn't do? I wouldn't take it. That's an insult."

JOE: "Now, Donald, that's the law."

But Donald refused to believe that law applied to his own case. And he prevailed...sort of. After extensive consultations, Mr. Noriega returned to declare Donald an independent agent. But the government wanted everyone to be aware that both Donald and the citizens on the streets face hazards when the young man drives his car during work hours. And as for brother Blake, he was not to be premitted to work more than three hours a day, or after 7 p.m.

Of course, the attitude of bureaucrats in Forth Worth merely reflects the larger problem nationwide. I was reminded of this while recently hosting the weekly Chamber public affairs radio program, "What's The Issue?" My guest was George Allen, the very successful NFL football coach for 12 seasons, and now national chairman of the Summer Jobs for Youth Program being run by the National Alliance for Business.

George got into this program when he saw how wasted summers were leading to the loss of careers, and even lives. And he's done a fantastic job. This year he's aiming for 270,000 jobs — jobs that will provide needed experience and the invaluable lesson that hard work and a good attitude can lead to success and transform drifters into achievers.

The problem is, every time the minimum wage increases, as it just has, the marginally profitable firms are compelled to lay off workers or stop hiring. Programs like Summer Jobs for Youth are hurt. To me, that's criminal, especially when you relaize that youth unemployment is running about 18 per cent, and for minorities it's about 35 per cent. At the very least we need a youth wage differential, a point on which most economists agree.

We must solve this problem and arrest the smothering of our traditional work ethic. Unfortunately, the solution will probably come in spite of, rather than in cooperation, with, the federal government.

NEWSWORTHY TRENDS

CARPETING: THE TIME IS RIGHT

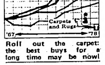
The prices of food, housing, energy — and almost everything else — have just about hit the ceiling in the past ten years. But the good news is that one major home expense — carpet — has only modestly increased.

As a result of significant changes in the carpet industry in the past 20 years, many experts point out that the cost of carpet is lower, and its quality higher, than ever before. This is due to a number of factors.

First, because of the industry's change from weaving to tufting, efficiencies of up to 40 percent have been achieved, and the savings have been passed on to the consumer.

There have also been some important improvements in fibers and manufacturing. The new saxony type of carpeting, for instance, has a tighter twist, and its yarn has more integrity. Its fibers have been developed with either a bright luster that results in clearer colors or a dull luster that resembles the finest wool.

These new carpets are a good buy for the conumser for another reason as well. The finer yarns and greater twist levels mean there's less chance for dirt to get embedded in the fiber. All carpets made by Bigelow-Sanford have been classified for performance, and many use a type of yarn that appreciably reduces static.



Roll out the carpet: the best buys for a long time may be now!

If you are planning to purchase carpeting eventually, it might be wise to buy now. Experts in the fiber industries anticipate that the increasing cost—and perhaps scarcity—of oil will have an important effect on the price of fiber. Thus, they suspect, the current low prices may be subject to some very rugged increases!

Congratulations!

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dyrdal, who on May 1 took over the Brite Spot laundromat business in Thief River Falls. Best wishes for much success!

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Lewis were Friday evening visitors and coffee guests at the Lloyd VeVea home in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Roy Blomker and Odetta, Mrs. Helmer Leonhardt of Waskish, Mrs. Roger Solem and Cindi and Janelle and Jarilyn Hamness were among those attending the mother-daughter banquet at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls Friday evening. Theme of the banquet was "Reflections" and highlight of the program was a showing of their mother's wedding gowns worn by the daughters present. Prizes were given for the oldest gown, a World War II wedding gown and the newest gown. Cindi won the newest gown division prize.

Lillie Mae Hible, Lilas Klefstad, Ann Dyrdal, Sherry Peters, Lucy Swenson, Layne Swenson, LuAnn Lewis and Janice Olson were among the coffee guests of Carlotte Bjorgaard following a household products party Thursday evening. Natalie Johnson of rural Newfolden was the demonstrator.

Many from the area braved Sunday afternoon's icy wind and rain to attend an open house for Mr. and Mrs. Marty (Julie Vatsaas) Olson at the Oak Ridge church. Marty and Julie were married there April 28. Congratulations! Marty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Olson of Thief River Falls and Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Vatsaas.

Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dyrdal, Jason, Jamie, Melissa and Brent of Argyle spent Saturday and Sunday at his parental Nels Dyrdal home in Thief River Falls. Lloyd's birthday, May 5, was noted during this time. Saturday evening Milton Bakken and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dyrdal brought greetings. Sunday afternoon a birthday party was held with Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dyrdal, Lynn, Roger Jr., Jeri, Bryce and April, Terry Dyrdal and Kaye Gjertson, Dusk Ann and Jimmy present besides the Nels and Lloyd Dyrdal families. Myrna Dyrdal had baked her husband's birthday cake. The previous Sunday, April 29, a surprise birthday party was held for Kay Gjertson, whose birthdate was the 23rd. Guests that day were Mrs. Louise McLean, who brought a cake, the hosting Nels Dyrdal family, the Lloyd and Roger Dyrdal families, Terry Dyrdal and Dusk Ann and Jimmy Gjertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong took their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd VeVea of Thief River Falls, to Grand Forks April 19, where they left by plane for Sacramento, Calif., to visit the following relatives: Mr. and Mrs. Burl Whalen, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Martin and Steve and Ted Olson. They also toured Lake Tahoe and Reno, Nev., and San Francisco, Calif. Upon their return April 27, their plane was met once again by Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who brought them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Solem and Bobby of Steiner were Thursday evening visitors at the Roger Solem home.

Mrs. Arnold Austinson of North was a Sunday lunch and supper guest at the Harold Langaas home.

The names of Grace Twomey, also Don Dyrdal were erroneously omitted from the list of guests at the home of Ella Johnson April 23. Mark Dimmen was a visitor there the following Wednesday.

Good Cheer Reminder

Good Cheer club will be held at the Frank Armstrong home Wednesday, May 16, and those attending are asked to bring five of their favorite recipes in different categories for the recipe book to be published this fall. Instructions for simple crafts may also be included. Visitors are welcome to attend as the club is also holding a spring membership drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Leonhardt of Waskish arrived Friday afternoon and spent until Saturday at the Roy Blomker home.

Todd Lewis was a Friday overnight guest of Kent at the Vernon Dokkin home. Saturday, Kent returned the overnight visit at the Daryl Lewis home.

Mrs. Gene Hanson was a Sunday afternoon visitor at the Roger Solem home. Janelle Hamness also spent Friday night through Sunday at the Solems.

David Dyrdal was a Sunday afternoon coffee guest at the Daryl Lewis home. He was also a Sunday dinner guest of Edith Dyrdal.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Magsam, Mrs. Mae Magsam and Harold Landon of Euclid were Sunday dinner guests at the Frank Armstrong home. Joining them in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Dake Ayers, Robby, Diane, Denise and Darla and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd VeVea and Mrs. Edna Lindquist of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Roger Solem was a Wednesday afternoon coffee guest at the Ron Hanson home in Thief River Falls. The following Monday she was a forenoon coffee guest of Mrs. Daryl Lewis.

Kelli and Jill Olson of Rocksbury were Saturday supper and overnight guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Marion Hoglo. Mrs. Marvin Olson called for them Sunday morning.

Mrs. Daryl Lewis was a Thursday afternoon luncheon guest at the Harold Langaas home. She was also a brief coffee guest at the Duane Olson home earlier the same afternoon.

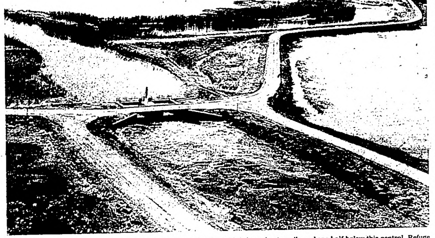
WATER CONTROL STRUCTURE at the outlet to the river on the west end of Thief lake held back a large amount of water again this spring. Manager Jerry Maertens of the Thief Lake wildlife management area said the lake level fluctuated seven feet from its lowest point this spring to the peak at flood time. He estimates that Thief Lake itself held back 50,000 acre feet of water from downstream flooded areas — enough water to cover nine and one-half square miles with water a foot deep.



MAIN OUTLET for water flowing out of the Agassiz national wildlife refuge is located on Judicial Ditch 11. The control structure on the ditch above is at the lower end of Agassiz pool, the largest body of water on the refuge. Ditch 11 flows into the Thief river about a mile and one-half below this control. Refuge personnel calculate that at the peak of water flow this spring the Agassiz refuge held back 84,000 acre feet of water from flooding downstream areas.

Wetland Areas Provide Help For Flood Control

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Water retention in the Agassiz national wildlife refuge and Thief Lake wildlife management area this spring resulted in reduced flooding from what could have occurred at downstream sites, according to Charles Anderson, hydrologist for the Red Lake River Watershed district.

Anderson's calculations show that water storage at the two areas reduced the flood peak at Crookston by one and one-half feet and that at Grand Forks by six inches. With record flood waters lapping at the top of dikes in those areas, the additional water level could have resulted in an even greater disaster than actually happened.

Agassiz and Thief Lake were singled out because of their large areas and water control structures. Other wetlands in the area also contributed to reducing the flow of spring run-off water. As flooding becomes more and more severe as a result of drainage and ditching projects, water retention in the upper reaches of watersheds is being looked upon more and more as a necessity to reduce widespread flood damage.

Anderson said the effectiveness of the water retention in the wildlife areas is indicated by in-flow and out-flow data. As an average during the peak of the run-off period, he said, in-flow was about 5,000 cubic feet per second while out-flow was about 1,400 cubic feet per second — a reduction of 3,600 cubic feet per second due to water retention in the refuges.

Although many of the waterways, streams and ditches have receded within their banks from spring flooding, Thief lake and the Thief river still remained out of their banks late last week. An aerial flight over the area last Tuesday showed huge quantities of water on the refuges with Thief lake itself expanded from its normal 7,100 acres to about 10,000 acres in size.

Jerry Maertens, manager at Thief Lake wildlife management area, said that a rapid spring thaw coupled with 2.9 inches of rain compounded the run-off problems this spring. An average snow depth of 18 inches was recorded April 13 and only traces remained a week later.

"It appears the water has peaked on the lake," Maertens said, "since the lake level has remained stable since May 1. This year's peak is only six inches lower than the record reached in 1950."

Maertens said that the lake provided seven feet of flood benefit this year. The lake was drawn down over the winter months to a level 1,156 feet above sea level. At the peak of flooding the lake level was at 1,163 feet. This provides temporary storage for about 50,000 acre feet of water, Maertens said, or the equivalent of one foot of water on 9.5 square miles of area.

Normal management of the lake levels provides for a drawdown in the winter of about 1.5 feet below the summer pool and a spring level of about 1.5 feet above the summer pool — a "bounce" of three feet. This year the lake was drawn down 2.5 feet and filled to 4.5 feet above summer pool level.

Maertens said reaction to the management of water at Thief lake depends on whether a person lives above or below the area. He often hears the comment that the department of natural resources is only interested in ducks and frogs and not in people.

"Not true," the manager said. "Although the lake is primarily managed for wildlife, whenever we can assist with flood control without affecting or with only minor affects on wildlife we will certainly assist.

"This is where slow over-winter drawdown comes in and it definitely offers assistance downstream. During a normal spring run-off, enough water comes through to fill the lake about 1.5 to two times so that a partial drawdown only provides some assistance.

"Complete drainage of the lake would only offer about 2,000 acre feet of additional storage," he said, so this still is not a complete answer. In an abnormal spring such as this has been, there are bound to be problems as were experienced in this region."

Maertens said that the office

Goodridge To Hold Memorial Day Program

Annual Memorial Day program for the city of Goodridge will be held at 9 a.m. Wednesday, May 23, in the new gym of the Goodridge school according to Gordon Henrickson, president of the Goodridge Lions club which puts on the observance.

The program includes the advance of the colors by fifth grade students, singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" with high school band accompaniment, invocation by Pastor Gene Broughton of the Goodridge Lutheran parish, and the high school band's performance of "Washington Post March." Also included in the program will be readings by the fifth grade students and Patrick Troska, singing of "Here's to America" by the high school chorus; a Memorial Day address and slide presentation by Norma Hanson entitled "Keep High the Flowers," band number, "America," benediction by Pastor Gene Broughton, and retiring of the colors by the fifth grade. The public is encouraged to attend.

Dairy Princess Contest Closes In County Today

Entries in the Pennington county dairy princess contest are due today in the county extension office in Thief River Falls. Entrants must be from farms with dairy operations.

Up to three Pennington county entrants may advance to the regional contest to be held June 12 during Northwest Dairy day in Thief River Falls. Regional winners compete at the Minnesota state fair for the title of Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

Violence Flares At Red Lake Reservation

Apparently triggered by Red Lake tribal council action to make the dismissal of Stephanie Hanson as treasurer permanent, violence broke out on the Red Lake reservation early Saturday morning and reportedly continues today.

Reports indicate that many vehicles and a number of buildings, including the law enforcement center building constructed for $1.2 million four years ago, have been burned. Two deaths had been reported as of this morning, one involving a 15-year-old boy, Vernon Lussier, who is said to have been killed by an accidental blast from his own shotgun. The other cause of death and name of the victim is unknown at this time.

Leader of the initial rioting was apparently Harry Hanson, husband of the tribal treasurer. Mrs. Hanson said the jail was stormed because it had been "a symbol of hatred for the past few years".

Four policemen on duty at the time of the takeover about 5:15 a.m. Saturday — Joe Dudley, Dave Brown, Clayton VanWert and Delwin Dudley — were locked in a cell and prisoners being held were released, according to a story in the Bemidji Pioneer. Tom Crawford, editor of the Pioneer, had been invited to the law enforcement center to negotiate about noon Saturday. Demonstrators had said they would give up if they could present their demands for reinstatement of Mrs. Hanson, an investigation by the FBI and for removal of Celestine Maus as reservation superintendent.

Crawford enetered the building with Donald Cook, a Redlake grocer, and Delwyn Holthusen, an off-duty policeman. Holthusen pried open the cell door to release the three hostages remaining. One had been released by the demonstrators earlier. The center was reported on fire a short time later when Crawford left the building because there was nobody there with whom to negotiate.

Law enforcement officers, FBI agents and BIA officers have been waiting outside the reservation boundaries for things to settle down. An estimated 200 persons were said to be involved in the rioting which included extensive destruction of property and shooting. A Twin Cities television crew was threatened, their equipment taken from them and their rented car stolen. A family on the reservation reportedly came to their rescue.

Plummer Board Meet Changed

Regular meeting of the Plummer board of education has been changed from May 28 as regularly scheduled to Tuesday, May 29, due to the Memorial day holiday. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the school.

AVTI Graduation Scheduled May 30

Graduation exercises for students completing their course requirements this year at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute will be held Wednesday, May 30, at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Luther Bjerke of Grand Forks, N.D., will be the guest speaker.

Laura Holmes will play the processional and recessional for the 357 graduates of the school who now bring total graduates from the Thief River Falls AVTI to 4,211. Invocation will be given by Rev. Mark Johaningsmeir of United Methodist church.

Vocal selection will be presented by a group of practical nursing class students including Kathleen Bousu, Carol Fugleberg, Barbara Godtland, Bonnie Hopperstad, Karen Imgrund, Carolyn Jesch and Jodi Lindblom. Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of schools, will introduce the speaker.

Arnt M. Aune, director, will present the class of 1979 to Lawrence McDowell, chairman of the board of education, who will award the diplomas. Singing of "America" and benediction by Rev. Johaningsmeir will complete the program.

Graduates of the AVTI class of 1979 include the following:

Agri-Business — James Larson, Fertile;

Farm Operation and Management — Mark Blomquist, Curtis Forfang and Lowell Younggren, Hallock; Gerald Didrickson, Brian Gregerson and David Rinde, Badger; and Randolph Nelson, St. Hilaire;

State Allocates Emergency Fuel

Requests for emergency fuel to meet temporary gasoline, diesel and fuel oil shortages are twice as high as ever before in the state, including during the energy emergency of 1976-77, according to the Minnesota energy agency (MEA).

The MEA fuel set-aside program granted 741 requests for emergency fuel in March. There were 45 requests granted in March 1978, and 168 in 1977.

During the month of April, 10 area distributors received fuel from the state set-aside program including Phillips Iron and Metal, Farmers Union, Falls Diesel and Anderson Bros. 66 all of Thief River Falls; Farmers Union in Brooks, Red Lake and Crookston; Mac Coop Association in McIntosh, Helstab Oil in Crookston and LePier Oil in Fosston.

Supplies are expected to be tight for at least a year, says MEA, for a number of reasons, including a cut back in the Canadian oil exports.

All fuel supplies in the state have cut back on their deliveries. This has helped slow the decline of inventories, but also resulted in shortages and the increase in allocation requests coming into the MEA.

Another reason for the shortage is that while supplies

Advance Plans For "Art In The Park '79"

Thief River Falls community arts council met May 14 at Northland community college with president James Hoks presiding. Art in the park, slated for July 6 and 7 at Northland community college, was discussed extensively.

During this festival two art shows will be exhibited: the Lutheran Brotherhood exhibit at Northern State bank and the regional art show at the college. Two local artists had works selected from a field of 100 to travel with the regional art show. Of the twenty-seven works in this exhibit, Allen Swenson has two oil landscapes and James Hoks has a watercolor still life.

It was also decided that the arts council will sponsor the Liljans Folkdancers and Kristine Youthchoir, a Swedish group of performers, who will be in Thief River Falls for a performance at Lincoln high school June 18. This group from Falum, situated in Dalarna, the heart of Sweden, will arrive on June 17 and leave the morning of June 19.

The community is being asked to furnish private home housing for two nights for these performers. If you are interested in providing housing contact Margaret Saetre (681-2075) Carol Tranby (681-5454) or Idella Samuelson (681-2582).

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Arlene Ann Smith And Lyle D. Walseth Wed

Marriage vows were exchanged recently at Faith Lutheran Brethren church in this city by Arlene Ann Smith and Lyle David Walseth.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jenkins of this city. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walseth, also of this city.

Rev. Duaine Espeseth officiated at the double-ring, evening ceremony. At the organ was Lenore Johnson, a friend of the couple. Vocal selections were provided by the groom's brothers and sister, Al, Ed and Annette Walseth, who sang "Follow Me," and "For Baby, For Bobbie."

For the candlelight ceremony, the chancel was graced with candelabra with red and white tapers and sprays of green foliage, with red and white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attired in a gown of white organza with Venice lace trimming the high neckline and forming the cuffs on her full length bishop sleeves. Accenting the bodice was an embroidered cameo motif, surrounded by dainty embroidery. A profile headpiece held her walking-length veil, edged with the same wide lace that trimmed her gown. She carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses, white Pixie carnations and babies' breath, accented with red velvet roping.

Jody LeMoine was the bride's personal attendant.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Sue Axel, rural Thief River Falls. Bridesmaid was Kathy Ulrich of this city, a friend. Their identical gowns of red satin were topped with matching jackets with white marabou surrounding the neckline and sleeves. In their hair, they wore a cluster of babies' breath tied with a white bow. They carried identical bouquets of red carnations, interspersed with babies' breath and foliage.

Wearing a miniature copy of the bride's gown was the flower girl, Karissa Walseth, a niece of the groom. Jason Axel, a nephew of the bride, carried the rings.

Attending the groom as best man and groomsmen, respectively, were his brothers: Scott Walseth and Roy Walseth, both of Thief River Falls. The ushers were Dave Helt and Jeff Kammen, friends of the couple. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos, red ruffled shirts edged in black, and red carnation boutonnieres. The groom's attire was all white.

Special guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Collison.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the church parlors for approximately 150 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Gorman of Hopkins served as host and hostess.

The four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with fresh, red Sweetheart roses was cut and served by Grace Busse. Wanda Westeberg poured the coffee.

Presiding at the guest book were Jane Walseth and Jayne Jenkins. Mr. and Mrs. Wally Walseth served the punch. Laurie Walseth, Jill Walseth and Joaly Swanson served as waitresses, and Jill Walseth and Karen Jenkins arranged the gifts. Women of the congregation were in charge of serving the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Detroit Lakes, the couple is now at home in this city at 517 South St. Paul.

Trinity Youth To Give Program At TLCW Meet

Trinity Lutheran Church Women will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., at the church. The program will be presented by Pat Brown, youth leader, and Trinity Leaguers. The program theme will be "Love One Another."

100th Birthday Is Observed By Frances Polaski

Mrs. Frances Polaski of Duluth celebrated her 100th birthday on April 27 at the Christ-Jenson Nursing home.

Mrs. Polaski is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steinhauer, who homesteaded in this area. Her brothers, Willie, Arno and Fred were residents of Thief River Falls.

A very special guest at the celebration was her 90-year-old sister, Mrs. Paula Hoad, also of Duluth.

Hosting the occasion were Mrs. Polaski's daughter, Gertie Kelly of Duluth; her son, Arnold Polaski and his wife of Glendora, Calif.; three granddaughters and a great-granddaughter.

Approximately 100 guests attended. Relatives present from this area were: Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Steinhauer, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Steinhauer, Walter Steinhauer, Donald Steinhauer, Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sculthorp, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wagner, Jason and KayLynn, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Svendsgaard, Lydell and Twyla, Mrs. Val Carver, Sandra Brekkestran and Mrs. William Mehrkens.

Debra Knutson To Wed Michel A. Gilbertson

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Knutson of this city announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Debra Louise, to Michel A. Gilbertson, son of Mrs. Connie Lane of St. Paul.

Miss Knutson is a 1977 graduate of Lincoln high school and is currently employed at Northwestern hospital.

Gilbertson, a 1977 graduate of St. Paul Central, is employed by Arctic Enterprises, Inc.

A June 30th wedding at Redeemer Lutheran church is planned.

Debra Thun To Marry Michael Bruggeman

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thun of Strandquist announce the engagement of their daughter, Debra, to Michael Bruggeman, son of Mrs. Delores Bruggeman of Mahnomen.

Bruggeman is employed by Moorhead Plumbing and Heating.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Thomas Dziengel
Strandquist

Swiss Steak

- 2 lbs. round steak cut into serving pieces
- 1 cup flour
- salt and pepper
- cooking oil
- 1 can tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- dash of liquid smoke
- ½ can water
- optional: onion slices and sliced mushrooms

Method: Roll steak in flour, mixed with salt and pepper. Brown in oil. Place steak in a 9x13 inch pan. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over meat. Add onion and mushrooms. Cover pan with foil and bake in a slow oven (325-350 degrees) for 1½ to 2 hours. Mrs. Dziengel stated that straining the tomatoes or putting them through a colander to remove seeds makes for a nice, smooth sauce.

The Dziengels live on a farm west of Strandquist, where they have resided for over 30 years. In addition to farming, Dziengel is employed by Arctic Enterprises.

The family consists of seven children: James, Detroit, Mich.; Patty, Columbus, Ga.; Charlotte, Rush City; Angela, Ashland, Ky.; Larry, who lives near his parents' home; Jean, attending Northland Community college, Thief River Falls; and Michelle, a sixth grader at Stephen elementary school. They also have seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Dziengel enjoys home crafts, sewing, crocheting, clipping recipes, pictures and news articles for her scrapbooks, and gardening, which included planting assorted flowers and trees.

The Dziengels are members of the Florian Assumption Catholic church.

Kidney Research Benefits From TRF Donation

Thief River Falls United Way has contributed to the Minnesota medical foundation in Minneapolis for kidney research.

The foundation finances medical research projects at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis and Duluth. Grants given emphasize research in heart disease, cancer, leukemia, diabetes, kidney disease and basic cell studies. Often they support promising young researchers with good ideas but not enough experience to qualify for larger grants. Many of the MMF-backed projects later go on to gain the national support the foundation believed they deserve.

A bone marrow transplant program began at the university with a $17,000 Minnesota medical foundation grant in 1975. The program garnered $600,000 of its own support from grants and patient fees after it proved successful in treating patients critically ill with aplastic anemia and leukemia.

A leukemia researcher who got her start with an MMF grant later won a grant of more than $100,000 to continue the work. There are many other such successful stories.

Minnesota medical foundation also operates a $300,000 per year loan program for needy medical students and provides annual awards for excellence in research, teaching and medical student leadership.

Set Hearing On Rail Crossing East Of Warren

Senator Marv Hanson and Representative John Corbid announced a public hearing on the installation of signal lights at the intersection of highway 1 and the Soo Line east of Warren. The hearing will be at 10 a.m., June 19, in Warren at the new fire hall meeting room (221 W. Johnson).

"The state hearing examiner's office will conduct the meeting to determine if there is a need for signal lights at this crossing," Sen. Hanson said.

"Many in the Warren area have written us about this crossing and we are pleased to have been able to set up this meeting. We would urge everyone interested to attend this hearing and express their concern."

Local Jaycees/ Jaycee Women Receive Awards

Tom Wang and Karen Lehrer, members of the local Jaycees and Jaycee Women organizations, respectively, received special awards when those groups held their joint annual state convention in Duluth recently.

Wang, last year's North Region director, was awarded a Jaycee presidential bronze key for outstanding performance in his duties. Tom is credited with helping to bring the North Region Jaycees into top positions in membership, growth retention, chapter planning and state participation. Wang has been a member of the Thief River Falls Jaycees since 1973.

At the state convention Lehrer became the first person from the Thief River Falls area to receive a Jaycee Women Key Award, highest award granted in the organization. A member of the local club since 1968, Karen has held district or chapter offices for the last nine years and has at one time or another chaired every major project the local chapter has run. Lehrer was selected for the key award on the basis of local chapter involvement, personal development and community involvement.

Thief River Falls Jaycee chapter was also awarded a state certificate for membership growth in the past year and local past Jaycee president, Will Essig, was elected North Regional director succeeding Tom Wang.

Former members of the Thief River Falls Jaycees and Jaycee Women, Loren and Smitty Luschen, who presently reside in Marshall were also recognized at the annual convention. They received the Troland memorial award as the outstanding Jaycee couple for 1978-79.

Local Jaycee Women who attended the state convention were Karen Lehrer, Carolyn Hamness, Marlene Essig, Muriel Olin, Judy Evenson and Judy Adamson. Jaycees who attended from the local club were Tom Wang, Will Essig, Dave Olin, Gary Hamness, Greg Evenson, Tim Wang and Randy Adamson.

Entry Blanks Available For Photo Contest

Entry blanks for the photo contest being sponsored by the Marshall county historical society are available at a number of eastern and central Marshall county locations, according to Nancy Solum, society secretary.

Blanks may be picked up at Brekke's Hartz store in Strandquist, Sethre's Hartz store in Newfolden, Young's grocery at Middle River, Farmers Co-op grocery at Viking, Gatzke grocery at Gatzke, Kuznia's Hartz store in Warren and the Holt Keenage club.

Winning photos will be displayed at the visitor center at the Marshall county fair in Warren and a number will be reproduced on post cards.

Further information may be obtained from the Marshall county historical society at 208 Colvin av. E., in Warren. Entries should also be submitted there and postmarked not later than July 1.

Amer. Legion Convention Set For June 8-9

American Legion commander Robert Reeve of Thief River Falls will preside over the 9th district convention to be held in Bagley June 8 and 9.

The convention, hosted by Irvin Blix post 16 of Bagley, will get under way with registration beginning at 10:30 p.m. Friday, June 8. The sessions will start at 1:30 p.m. in the clubrooms with the main address to be given by department commander Harlan Buck at this time.

American Legion Auxiliary convention sessions will be held in the elementary school gym beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 9 with president Mrs. Jeanette Berg presiding.

A joint memorial service with Legion and Auxiliary will be held in the elementary school gym Saturday, June 9, at 11 a.m. Nomination and election of new officers for the coming year will take place on Saturday afternoon for both the Legion and Auxiliary.

Gold Star mothers luncheon will be held in the elementary school cafeteria at 12 noon Saturday and the grand parade is scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Wetland Areas Provide Flood Control Help

is open and he invites those who would like to discuss water management or other DNR activities in more detail to feel free to stop in and discuss them.

At Agassiz refuge more than normal flood control was provided this spring as a result of work done last year. Because of work being done on the refuge, Agassiz pool had been drawn down to its lowest possible level at 1,136 feet above sea level — about four and one-half feet below the normal summer level. At peak flow this spring the level was at 1,142.5 feet.

Agassiz refuge personnel note that normal summer water levels on the refuge result in having about 40,000 acre feet of water in storage. During the peak of the run-off this spring, the refuge was holding back 84,000 acre feet of water. Because of the draw-down of Agassiz pool last year, however, the estimated flood control benefit was estimated well in excess of the 44,000 acre feet difference — probably closer to 60,000 acre feet.

Other wildlife areas in the northwestern part of the state also provide some flood control benefit. Elm Lake area along JD 200 has an average storage of about 4,000 acre feet of water. It is managed during the winter for furbearers and is usually drawn down in the spring just prior to run-off. The storage will bounce from 2,000 to 7,000 acre feet. An additional 4,500 acre feet of storage will be added with a lift to be put on the present dike and on the emergency spillway at the west side of the impoundment this year.

At East Park the normal water area of 1,720 acres is expanded to about 2,200 acres at flood stage and provides 6,200 acre feet of water when filled. Water is released during the summer to assist Stephen with its water supply.

Twin Lakes on the south branch of the Two Rivers near Karlstad can store about 4,000 acre feet of water with a variance from 2,000 to 6,000 acre feet. Storage there could be doubled with an improved water supply, according to department of natural resources personnel.

Still Time To Vaccinate For Encephalitis

The 60,000 or so Minnesotans who have horses may still have a chance this season to protect their animals from sleeping sickness (encephalitis) — an often fatal disease.

There appears to be more time for protection because a transmitter of the disease, the mosquito, hasn't been very active due to the cool spring. The mosquito is also a carrier of canine heartworm disease.

Dr. Wesley Schroeder, president of the Minnesota veterinary medical association, says horses need yearly vaccinations for protection against sleeping sickness. It takes two injections before the mosquito season.

Dr. Schroeder explained that there are three types of equine encephalitis — eastern, western and Venezuelan — and all three involve the mosquito as a carrier. Birds also are sometime hosts of eastern and western sleeping sickness virus.

Minnesota veterinarians have learned from very recent research that mosquitoes may be attracted to an animal by odors, moisture, visual factors, warmth, carbon dioxide and lactic acid coming from the skin or hide.

Minnesota's horse population has tripled in 20 years, but it's still far short of the 600,000 or so horses that were around the state during the peak 1920s when they were used for power.

Set Schedule For Closing PAC Meetings

Final individual title I parent advisory committee meetings for the 1978-79 school year will be held this week. The meetings are open to the public and all parents are encouraged to attend.

The district 564 P.A.C. has scheduled its final meeting for Thursday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the Franklin middle school library. This meeting is also open to the public with the main topic of discussion to be the evaluation of this year's program and the development of next year's title I program.

BSU Encourages Applying For Financial Aids

Scholarship award notices have recently been sent to over 100 new entering Bemidji state university students. Additional applicants are currently being processed. Individuals who are anticipating entering BSU for the first time this fall and have not already applied for student aid are encouraged to make immediate contact with the BSU financial aids office concerning student financial assistance programs.

Approximately $130,000 will be allocated to Bemdiji state students through BSU scholarship and grants this year as part of the total $5.2 million dollar financial assistance program. Eight out of every ten currently enrolled students now receive some form of this overall financial aid, reflecting the national trend for increased student aid. At BSU alone, the total financial aid budget has more than doubled in the last ten years.

Student scholarship awards usually average from $150 to $450 annually and originate from several contributing sources. The BSU faculty scholarship program and other benefactors help support higher education.

For information on application procedures, contact your high school counselor of the following office on the BSU campus: Financial Aids Office, Deputy hall, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601 (218) 755-2034.

Emergency Fuel Allocated By State Agency

are going down nationally, demand continues to increase. Gasoline demand is projected to increase another 3.5 per cent this year.

Not only are gas stations coming up short, but so are farm cooperatives, bus companies, schools, hospitals, municipalities, trucking firms, and many other organizations and businesses. Among those needing assistance in getting fuel in March and April were the Metropolitan Transit commission, thirty farm cooperatives, Reserve Mining, and the city of Winona.

The MEA administers the state set-aside program. According to regulations, the state can redistribute a portion of the fuel in the state to alleviate temporary shortages.

The state can use three percent of the gasoline year around, and four per cent of the heating oil and diesel fuel (middle distillates) can be used until June 30, 1979.

The petroleum is not acutally stored by the MEA. It is merely set aside by each supplier, such as Mobil or Cenex, at the beginning of the month, based on the supplier's estimate of the volume of fuel it will send to the state.

The supplier can't use that set aside fuel for the month unless the MEA allocates it to someone through the emergency set-aside allocation program. At the end of the month the set-aside fuel that is not used is released to the original supplier.

Eddie Baem, fuel allocation coordinator, and Dixie Diehl, program director, work to get fuel to places facing temporary shortages. When they decide who should get the set aside fuel, Baem says, they "basically consider whether there will be a hardship in the community."

The program started during the 1973 oil embargo, when the U.S. congress required that petroleum suppliers begin following "mandatory allocations." To make sure that scarce supplies were distributed equitably, oil companies had to sell each of their customers at least as much petroleum each month as they had sold them in the past. The amount can be reduced when there are fuel shortages, but it must be reduced in equal proportions for everyone.

Each month the suppliers send estimates to the department of energy of the amount of fuel they expect to deliver to a state. Then the state can use three percent of the expected gasoline and four per cent of the expected heating and diesel fuel to meet temporary shortages as they crop up around the state. The four per cent of heating and diesel fuel is only set aside for three months each winter, although the program will continue through June this year because supplies are tight.

When the set-aside and allocation programs were started in 1973, there were about a dozen people in the civil defense division working on getting fuel to places facing temporary shortages. The work was taken over by the energy agency in the summer of 1974.

There have been ups and downs in the number of requests for emergency aid as the amount of supply in the state has varied. The number of requests went down when petroleum imports started flowing again after the embargo.

However, the requests jumped back up during the energy emergency of 1976-77. For two months the program operated once more out of civil defense offices, using 14 staff loaned from several state agencies. But during the last two years, the entire program has been handled by one full time and one half time staff.

However, faced again with reduced supplies, the case load is pushing up and has reached almost twice the highest number reached during the '76-'77 emergency, with no relief in sight.

R. S. Eldevik Dies Saturday; Rites Tuesday

Ragnvald (Rags) Eldevik, 69, of Thief River Falls, who managed the State of Minnesota Employment office here from 1946 until his retirement in 1966 due to failing health, died Saturday at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Ragnvald S. Eldevik will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., at the Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. Julius Hovland officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home until 9 p.m., today (Monday) and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in Wednesday's edition of the Times.

Services Held Here Today For Adolph Wagner

Funeral services for Adolph Wagner were held today (Monday) at 10 a.m. at the Green Funeral chapel in Thief River Falls. Rev. James Hagemeister, pastor at the Assemblies of God Tabernele, officiated at the services. Mrs. Arnold Hammer served as organist and soloist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Pallbearers were Floyd Tanner, Selmer Sorter, William Maijala, George Gunderson, Frank Heinze and Bennie Svanjord.

Adolph Wagner was born June 2, 1895 in Marshall county to Mr. and Mrs. August Wagner. He attended school in Cedar township, Marshall county, where he grew to manhood. He farmed in Cedar township until 1939, when he bought a farm in Holt township, also in Marshall county.

On Feb. 15, 1946, he was united in marriage to Anna Moore. The couple farmed in Holt township until Mrs. Wagner's death in 1970. Following her death, Wagner continued to live on the farm 1974, when he moved into Middle River.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Helen McCullough of St. Hilaire, several sisters-in-law, a brother-in-law, and a number of nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his wife, parents, three brothers: Herman, Albert and William, and three sisters: Ida, Gustie and Minnie.

Services Here For Mrs. Mary Szymanski, 84

Mrs. Mary Szymanski, 84, who lived and farmed for over 50 years in Kratka township, Pennington county, died Friday at the Greenbush hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Szymanski will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city with Rev. Leon Rausch officiating. Chris LaCoursiere will be the organist. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Lon Szymanski, Charles Efta, Robert Efta, Raymond Efta, John Szymanski and Jens Steen.

The body is reposing at the Green Funeral home where a Biblical Wake service will be held tonight (Monday) at eight o'clock with John Hoover, presider.

Mrs. Szymanski, the former Mary Oski, was born Dec. 8, 1894 at Gilman to Joseph and Anna Sobota Oski. When she was a child, her parents moved to Nampa, Idaho. Later they moved to Blackduck where her father was a lumberman. In 1905, they came to this area and homesteaded in Cloverleaf township, near Mavie.

On April 29, 1914, she was united in marriage to Ben Szymanski. Following their marriage, the couple farmed for a time in Deer Park township before settling on a farm in Kratka township, where they farmed for over 50 years. After the death of her husband in 1973, Mrs. Szymanski continued to live on the farm until 1978, when she moved to Greenbush.

She is survived by two sons: Stanley Szymanski, Thief River Falls, and Thaddeus of Lake Havasu City, Ariz.; 14 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, two sisters: Mrs. Clara Stein, Thief River Falls and Mrs. Rose Arneberg, St. Paul, and one brother, John Oski, Helena, Mont.

One sister and five brothers preceded her in death.

Services Held For Richard Peterson, 75

Richard Peterson, 75, of Plummer, who farmed for many years in Wyandotte township, Pennington county, died Thursday morning at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Richard Peterson were held Saturday at 2 p.m., at the Immanuel Lutheran church in Plummer with Rev. Cliff Randall officiating. Mrs. Nels Vigstol was the organist and Miss Terri Cuppett, the soloist. Interment was in the Clara Lutheran cemetery at Hazel with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Herbert Walter, Buford Lawson, George Ollie, Clair Larson, Earl Peterson and Clarence Konickson.

Richard Erick Anton Peterson, a son of the late William and Safria Backman Peterson, was born Nov. 19, 1903 in Wyandotte township. There he attended school, in District 9, and grew to manhood.

On Oct. 20, 1933, he was married at the St. Hilaire parsonage to Alta Weckwerth. The couple lived on the home farm for two years before moving to their present farm.

He was a member of the Calvary Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife; two sons: William and Lowell Peterson, both of Plummer; three daughters: Mrs. Roland (Mildred) Klamer and Mrs. Paul (Laura) Klamar, both of Gatzke, and Mrs. Donald (Rosemarie) Fulton of Warren; nine grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Belle Erickson of Thief River Falls.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by a daughter, Lorraine; one grandson, five brothers: Alvin, Walter, Fred, Minton and Frank; and five sisters: Violet, Anna, Amanda, Tillie and Mildred.

Olaf C. Green Services Held At Newfolden

Funeral services for Olaf C. Green, 90, of Newfolden, were held Friday at 2 p.m., at the Bethlehem Lutheran church in Newfolden. Green died Wednesday at a hospital at Park Rapids.

Rev. Hans Floan officiated at the services. Vocal selections were provided by Lester Elseth and Mrs. Floyd Bakke. Mrs. Vernon Nelson served as organist. Interment was in the Oak Grove cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Lowell Anderson, Harry Sands, Floyd Bakke, Peter Tandberg, Verne Green and Orin Green.

Olaf C. Green was born Nov. 20, 1888 in Marsh Grove township, Marshall county, to Peder K. and Live Green, now deceased. He attended school and grew to manhood in that community.

On Dec. 3, 1915, he was married at Warren to Clara Saugen. For a time, they operated a hotel in Newfolden. In 1918, they began farming, operating the home farm for several years before purchasing their own farm west of Newfolden. In 1956, they retired from farming and moved into the village of Newfolden. There they resided until 1977, when they became residents of Valley Home in Thief River Falls. At the time of his death, he was a resident of Park Rapids Nursing home.

He was a longtime member of the Bethlehem Lutheran church.

Surviving are five daughters: Mrs. Harry (Lelah) Sands, Melbourne, Fla.; Avis Green, Minneapolis; Mrs. Robert (Plyllis) Anderson, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Lowell (Lois) Anderson, Park Rapids; and Mrs. Willis (Joan) Wright, Boston, Mass.; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Also surviving is one brother, Olger S. Green of this city.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died Nov. 26, 1978, five sisters and seven brothers.

Graveside Rites Scheduled For Albert Hagen

Graveside services for Albert Hagen, 73, of Thief River Falls will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m., at Greenwood cemetery. Hagen died December 31, 1978 at Red Lake Falls where he had been a resident of the Hillcrest Nursing home since 1967.

Rev. Berton Hushagen, pastor at Trinity Lutheran church, will officiate at the services. Arrangements are by the Belmont Funeral home.

Albert Hagen was born Feb. 26, 1905 in Thief River Falls to Andrew and Dena Hagen, now deceased. He grew to manhood in this community and worked in the area as a farm laborer.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Raymond (Emma) Lifgren, Menahga; three brothers: Chester Hagen, Thief River Falls; Herman, Bay City, Mich.; and Robert, Minneapolis; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by three brothers and three sisters.

Elizabeth DeCremer Dies In Sun City

Miss Elizabeth DeCremer of 14054 North Newcastle Drive, Sun City, Ariz., 85351 and formerly of Thief River Falls, died unexpectedly on Wednesday at Sun City.

Funeral services for Elizabeth DeCremer were held Friday at Sun City.

Elizabeth DeCremer was a daughter of the late Louis and Emma DeCremer, who for many years owned and operated Sanitary Meat Market at 216 Main Avenue North. She was a graduate of Lincoln high school and the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks. For the past years; she had made her home in Sun City.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Joe (Marguerite) Mack of Little Rock, Ark., a niece and several grand nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by a niece, Margaret Mack, who lived in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Correction For Mrs. Sampson Obituary

Several names were omitted in the obituary of Mrs. Harry (Tillie) Sampson that was published in Wednesday's Times. Among them were Curt Howe, who served as pallbearer, and the LDA girls, who sang.

Also two names were omitted from the surviving brothers and sisters. Omitted were James Miramonte of Park Falls, Wis., and Mrs. Sarah Alarcon, San Francisco, Calif., who survive together with Jessie Miramonte, Bennie Miramonte and Mrs. Lupe Jarshaw, all of Thief River Falls; Charles Miramonte of San Francisco, Calif; and Mrs. Connie Gaskin of Texas.

The Times regrets the omission.

CORRECTION

An error has been made in recent announcement of the annual meeting of the Union-Lake Sarah development association's annual meeting, to be held in Crookston tonight (Monday). The event will be held at the Upper Deck instead of the Elk's country club and at Crookston as was reported. The association's officers regret the inconvenience that may have been caused.

Memorial Day came into being on May 5, 1868, by order of Gen. John Alexander, Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. The original purpose was not a military observance, but "to institute a simple act of remembrance, respect, and love". The order advised simply "strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion".

Sincerely,

LEC Reports 25 New Cases

A total of 25 new law enforcement cases were reported from April 30 through May 14 including three reports of vandalism, 10 accidents and 12 cases of theft. Individual cases are listed below by reporting date:

April 29, 1:30 a.m., county road 80 & TH 1 East: Clyde Stephens of Strathcona was traveling south on CSAH 20 when he fell asleep at the wheel. The vehicle went through the intersection of TH 1 and onto county road 80, left the roadway to the east and went into the trees. Stephens suffered lacerations on the face and a pasesenger, Patricia Sorter of Middle River, suffered a cut on the right hand and bruises on her face. Damages were estimated at under $1,000.

April 22 — Conrad Gonsorowski of Thief River Falls reported that two Sanyo speakers were taken from a vehicle owned by Brian Wheeler of Thief River Falls and parked at Hubert's service. Entry to the vehicle was made by breaking the window on the driver's side. Damages were estimated at $75 and theft loss at $25.

May 3 — A tool box was reportedly taken from the back of a pick-up parked in the Lynn Stenvik farm yard in Riener township. Value of the stolen tools was estimated at $75.

May 5, 2nd & Horace, 1:16 p.m.: A car driven by Chester Engelman of Thief River Falls was traveling east on 2nd St. while a cab driven by Rita Prater of Thief River Falls was headed south on LaBree Ave. and the vehicles collided in the intersection. Damages to the Engelman vehicle were estimated at under $300 and to the cab at over $500.

May 3 — Ruth Vanek of Thief River Falls reported that someone had stolen an AM radio-track tape player from the Vanek 1967 Thunderbird while the vehicle was parked in the AVTI lot behind the garage. The vehicle has been parked there for the last seven months so the time of the actual theft is unknown. Value of the radio and tape player was estimated at $90.

May 4 — The law enforcement center received a report that a vehicle was burning on county road 27 in Hickory township. The vehicle, owned by Rodney Bjerklie of Trail, suffered damages of approximately $1,800 and was judged a total loss. The fire is under investigation.

May 5, 9:48 p.m., 8th St. & Main Ave.: A bicycle, ridden by Mark (Wes) Johnson of Thief River Falls, was traveling east on 8th St. going through the Main Ave. intersection on a green light. At the same time a car, driven by Bradley Collin of Newfolden, was headed south on Main Ave. and the car and bicycle collided in the intersection. Johnson suffered bruises and lacerations on his face.

May 6 — Al Wilson of 942 S. Crocker reported that someone had broken his front windshield and broke the aerial off his car while the vehicle was parked at his residence. Damages are estimated at $150.

May 6, 12:58 a.m., 1st St. & Main Ave.: Larry Larson of Euclid was traveling south on Main Ave. while Cathleen Naslund of Thief River Falls was headed east on 1st St. and the two vehicles collided in the intersection. Damages to each of the vehicles was estimated at under $500. Bertha Larson, a passenger in the Larson vehicle, suffered neck pains and Naslund received a chipped tooth.

May 6, 5:10 p.m., Arnold Ave. & 11th St.: A car driven by David Lewis of Thief River Falls was going east on 11th St. while a second car, driven by Orrin Bendickson of Thief River Falls, was proceeding north on Arnold Ave. The two vehicles collided in the intersection with the Lewis vehicle sustaining damages estimated at over $500 and to Bendickson vehicle receiving damages estimated at under $500.

May 7 — Chuck Hoard of Thief River Falls reported the theft of items valued at $157.50 from his car while the vehicle was parked in the west parking lot by Lincoln high school. Taken were a FM converter, a Midland 23 channel CB, a Director battery and a small fire extinguisher.

May 7 — Margaret Torfin of Northwestern hospital reported that a pair of Connie shoes belonging to a hospital employee, Debbie Graham, were stolen from where they had been left in the lockerroom. The shoes were valued at $27.

May 7 — Robert Blake of lot 10 Greendale trailer court reported the theft of a ten speed bike from behind his trailer house. The Huffy boys bike was valued at $79.

May 8 — An 11 year old juvenile male was apprehended in the Falls Bake shop after having taken $1.20 in change from a coin box on the top of the counter.

May 8 — A MTD Co. riding lawn mower owned by Darrel Janisch of 223 N. Duluth was stolen from where it was parked behind the Janisch house next to the alley. The 8 horse-power mower is valued at $494.

May 10 — Sue Prichard of Numedahl township reported that someone had entered her barn and taken two Springer Spaniel pups, one female and one male. Total theft loss is estimated at $225.

May 10 — Stanley Lausness of Thief River Falls reported that a number of camping items were stolen from where they were stored at Shetler's warehouse on Davis Ave. Theft loss is estimated at $89.

May 10 — A Bearcat VHF pocket scanner was reportedly taken from Roger's 8th St. Standard. Roger Hible, who reported the theft, estimated the value of the scanner at $150.

May 10, 7:26 p.m., Dewey Ave. N. & 6th St. E.: Keith Christenson of Thief River Falls was driving north on 6th St., and attempted to make a U-turn with his car to go south while a truck, driven by Roger Gamme of Thief River Falls, was headed north on Dewey Ave. and the two vehicles collided. Damages to the car were estimated at over $500 and to the truck, over $1,000.

May 12, 4:35 a.m., 1st St. & Horace Ave.: A car driven by James Weckwerth of Thief River Falls was west bound on 1st St. Upon approaching the bridge the vehicle crossed over the centerline then crossed back over the centerline and up over the sidewalk on the north side of the street. Once across the bridge, the vehicle again crossed over the centerline and went up onto the Holiday Station property and struck the gas station causing approximately $250 damage. The vehicle was a total loss and the driver suffered facial lacerations and numerous bruises.

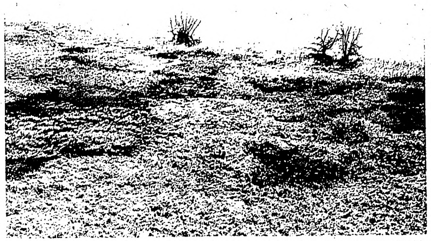
May 12 — Marlene Harbott of Thief River Falls reported that someone had stolen the hubcap from the right front tire of her vehicle while the car was parked in the post office parking lot. Value of the hubcap was estimated at $12.

May 12 — The left front fender of a vehicle owned by Clinton Castle of Holt was kicked in and dented while the vehicle was parked in the parking lot at Lon's Restaurant. Damages were estimated at $50.

May 12 — Sophie Legg of 804 N. Knight Ave. reported that a half a tank of gas had been siphoned from her car while the vehicle was parked at her residence. Theft loss is approximately $10.

May 13, 1 a.m., county road 3: A car, driven by William Knutson of Thief River Falls, was traveling east on CSAH 3 when it left the road, went into the ditch and over a stream into the far side of the bank. Knutson suffered numerous bruises and facial cuts and the vehicle sustained damages estimated at over $4,500.

May 14, 12:40 a.m., 1st St.: Donald Fanfulik of St. Hilaire was travelling east on 1st St. when he lost control of the car he was driving and struck a parked vehicle owned by Harold Green of Thief River Falls. The Green vehicle, a van, was parked facing west on 1st St. Damages to the Fanfulik car were estimated at over $500 and to the van, over $1,000.



HEAVY VEGETATION in wetland areas contributes to reducing the problems of flooding through retarding water flow. This mixture of cattail and other marsh vegetation along the edge of Thief lake is indicative of the type of growth common in wetland areas. During the flood period this spring, Thief lake itself grew in size from 7,100 acres to more than 10,000 acres. While managed primarily for wildlife, the area serves as a natural basin for water retention and flood control.

Plummer Honor Students For 1979 Selected

Area Students Graduate From UMC Friday

More than 150 sophomores were candidates for graduation this spring at the University of Minnesota technical college — Crookston (UMC). The official list of prospective graduates includes 18 second-year students whose associate degree in applied science (A.A.S.) will be conferred with "high distinction," coupled with 45 other candidates who will be graduated with "distinction."

Among those graduating are three area students. Graduating from the business division are Sherrie Nelson and David Dahlstrom of Thief River Falls. Graduating from the division of hotel, restaurant and institutional management is Donna Appel of St. Hilaire.

Honor students and their classmates received their diplomas in the traditional spring commencement exercises Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland delivered the day's major address on "Education Teaches Humility — No Easy Answers." Bergland, who formerly represented the Seventh Congressional district in the U.S. House, was also the recipient of an outstanding achievement award (OAA) from the University of Minnesota.

Student senate president Loel Olson, Karlstad, will speak on behalf of the class of 1979.

More Legislative Time

Following editorial appeared recently in the East Grand Forks Record:

The final days of the Legislative Session are going fast and already we are hearing about the idea of extending the session so that our lawmakers can complete their task.

You will recall that it was just a few years ago that our lawmakers asked that the legislative calendar be changed so that they would have more time to study the issues and work more efficiently, so they said (Important legislative matters wouldn't be put off to the last minute, time after time).

Well, the legislators are back to their old tricks, asking for more time; waiting until the last minute to vote upon the important issues.

There's an old saying — if you want an important job done quickly, give it to a busy man. This saying apparently does not apply to legislators — an appropriate saying about their activities could possibly be: If you want an important issue resolved, give the legislator time, and more time, and more time, and more time – then let them blame the delay upon their loyal opposition — never upon themselves.

Perhaps if the legislators were required to serve the extra time without pay, per diem expenses, etc. - the legislative session would end on schedule.

Dairy Food Quiz

Here in rural Minnesota we would expect the public to be more aware of dairying and dairy products than in other parts of the country. Misinformation still persists about milk and its processed products, however, and many people are not familiar with facts about these staple items in our diets.

Following questions may be answered with true or false. Why not see how well you are acquainted with this industry which is an important part of our state's economy and the health of our citizens?

Answer true or false:

1. Butter has more calories than margarine.
2. Children are the only people who need to drink milk.
3. Low-fat milk contains no fat.
4. Buttermilk and non-fat milk have about the same number of calories.
5. The protein in cottage cheese is almost as good as the protein in meat.
6. Teenage girls should drink four glasses of milk, or their equivalent each day.
7. Vanilla ice cream has nearly twice as many calories as vanilla ice milk.
8. Mayonnaise has fewer calories than sour cream.
9. Pasteurization of milk reduces the protein and calcium content of the milk.
10. Imitation dairy products are lower in fat and calories than the foods they imitate.
11. Pasteurization of milk is the process by which milk fat is broken up into particles and evenly distributed throughout the milk.
12. Two per cent milk has fewer calories than whole milk.
13. The radio commercial for a much advertised coffee whitener claims it contains only 11 calories per teaspoon. If you are seeking a way to reduce calorie intake you should use this product in place of Half & Half.

(Questions 4, 6, & 12 are true)

Limiting Agencies

Following editorial is from the New Prague Times:

For generations, the proposal to limit the tenure of the president of the United States to one term of six years has bobbed up with cyclic regularity. The argument is advanced that such limitation would allow a president to devote full time to his responsibilities as chief executive officer without the necessity of giving time and effort to campaigning for re-election. That may have some merit but it should be carefully pondered before opting for a change.

In a democracy, it would appear to be wise and prudent to give the populace an opportunity to decide for themselves whether they approve or disapprove of the record established by any president serving a first elective term.

There is one limitation of tenure which would be beneficial to the efficiency, economy and management of governmental affairs by appointive officials.

That desirable effect could be obtained by setting a limit of say four or six years to the existence of any and all newly created bureaus, agencies, commissions or whatever, by both state and federal governments. At the expiration of that time limit, if the legislature or congress deemed the continuation necessary or helpful the life of any such organization could be continued by the elective lawmaking body elected by the people.

In both the federal and state governmental organizations, there are many bureaus which have long since outlived their usefulness and whose principal mission now is to draw their salaries and hire secretaries or clerks.

The public, particularly business and industry, is growing weary of the seemingly endless reams of paperwork being required by agencies and bureaus, many of whom have been invested by the legislature or congress with lawmaking, law enforcement and judicial powers, with never the task of facing the voters at the polls.

The Costs Run High!

Following editorial is from the McLaughlin Messenger:

Teddy Roosevelt when he was president used to talk about speaking softly but carrying a big stick. President Carter has changed that to "Speak loudly and carry a big checkbook."

He estimates it will cost about $5 billion to bribe the Egyptians and Israelis into not fighting. That is probably a conservative estimate.

We also are paying Panama a sizeable chunk to take the canal. South Dakota Congressman Jim Abdnor has come up with some figures on what the little operation is going to cost.

Transfer costs alone will amount to over $4 BILLION-an average of $200 million over 20 years.

—$400 million to dismantle Canal Zone military bases and pay pension benefits to some $1,000 U.S. Canal employees who must take early retirement. Add $1.5 million or so to move the remains of deceased American residents in the Canal Zone.

—The President wants to end interest charges collected by the Treasury on U.S. Investment in the Canal: $20 million a year.

—We're giving Panama $150 million of Navy equipment which must be replaced. Add $5 million for Federal Aviation Administration equipment.

—It's expected to cost between $65 million and $70 million a year in military appropriations to replace services now provided by Panama Canal Co.

—There remains $319 million in unpaid Canal construction costs. We'll lose it.

—There's a deficit 20-year liability projected to U.S. taxpayers using 1978-treaty adjusted tools: $36.2 million, based on 1977 tonnage.

4—Plus, a toll increase of $744 million guaranteed for 20 years by U.S. taxpayers and payable to them unless some way is found to transfer it to consumers.

These add up to $4.1 billion associated with the actual transfer of the canal. They may be only the beginning as Panama starts making its own interpretation of treaty language. It now appears Panama wants every structure in the Canal Zone — regardless of condition or whether it's been abandoned for years — repaired and put in useable shape before transfer. No one knows this cost.

Add actual value of the canal itself including land, locks, dams, watershed, lakes, channels, bridges, oil tank farms, marine terminals, military installations, commercial and residential facilities, railroad-estimated $20 billion.

Add contingency costs including foreign aid to Panama, taxes Panama wants to charge American business for the privilege of operating there since 1903, and the matter of church property in the zone.

Down the road past the year 2000, we must look at costs to rent facilities to fill our treaty commitments for a land, sea and air presence. Today such facilities cost between $200 million and $700 million a year.

Interesting Opinions:

"People know that certain behavior is not conducive to good health but they persist in this behavior nonetheless. They live for the moment and don't have adequate self-discipline. Incentives are necessary to motivate a change in behavior."

—Dr. Ernst Wynder, President American Health Foundation

"Nothing is a greater impediment to being on good terms with others than being ill at ease with yourself."

—Honore De Balzac

Windfall Profits

Although the President's action to decontrol crude oil should stimulate additional domestic crude oil exploration and drilling, it will also allow the oil companies to recover substantially larger profits.

The domestic price of oil has been kept below world market prices by placing controls on the oil industry. Decontrol may bring higher prices to the American consumer, but it must be understood that decontrol must stimulate domestic crude oil exploration and drilling, and, in the long run, lessen our dependence on foreign oil producers and the unpredictable Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

The economic impact of higher prices for gasoline, fuel oil, and other petroleum products has been felt by all of us during the last few months, and, unfortunately, prices will continue to increase. With increased prices comes increased profits for the oil companies. There is nothing wrong with a person, business, or company making reasonable profits, but, in this case, the profits will be large, due to action taken by the President of the United States, and not by normal price fluctuations in the free market. For this reason I support a "windfall profits tax." I cannot accept with a clear conscience companies reaping high profits at the expense of the American people.

The idea behind the windfall profits tax should be to encourage oil companies to search and develop new sources of domestic petroleum. The cost of exploration is high, but the Department of Energy estimates the investment would be worthwhile. Undiscovered domestic crude oil reserves are estimated to range from 37 to 81 billion barrels onshore and another 50 to 127 billion barrels offshore. These figures compare favorably to current U.S. proven reserves of 28.5 billion barrels.

President Carter's windfall profits tax has been touted as a 50 per cent tax on excess profits. This is not exactly correct. Existing royalties would take out 14 cents of each new dollar of oil revenue due to decontrol, severance taxes would take another 5 cents, state taxes equal three cents, and federal taxes total 35 cents, adding up to 57 cents. In addition, the President's proposal would add another 14 cents, leaving the oil companies with 29 cents on the dollar.

Congress is currently considering and debating the merits of a "windfall profits tax". If decontrol is going to push consumer prices up, and increase oil company profits, I think it is only fair to require these profits be used for the good of the nation. If we don't begin to reduce our dependence on foreign oil, we will have no choice but to sit back and watch the oil barons of the middle east raise their prices. Our dependence will cost us more in the future, than our steps toward self-sufficiency today.

4H CLUB

Star

The Star 4-H club held its monthly meeting May 9 at the Star town hall. The next meeting will be June 13 at the Star hall.

The meeting was called to order by President Leann Holen. Flag pledges were said and the parents pledge followed. For roll call, we had to answer with our middle names. The secretary's report followed, no treasurer's was given. Community Pride projects were decided and the club also decided to pay for the two 4-H campers to send to Lake Sarah. Again, the club voted to pay for the graduating members' paper weights and to have them engraved also. We are going to sponsor Leann Holen as the Dairy Day Contest contestant. Mrs. Parnow, leader, discussed Leaders Council and handed out informational booklets. We were informed by Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. Stenvik of their part in the July 4 celebration in Goodridge. The club will have a booth to display making old fashioned, homemade ice cream, turned with a hand crank. They will also sell ice cream cones for the day. A committee was chosen to work on the radio program which will be held on June 30. The Share the Fun number will be presented for Senior Citizens in Goodridge and the club will also appear at the Oakland Park and Valley Nursing Home on June 13. The club decided to recognize 4-H Sunday by placing a plant on the altars of all the churches represented. The meeting was adjourned.

A team demonstration was given by Dean Hanson and Lynn Stenvik on how to set goals for Junior Leadership. Vanessa Sand gave a demonstration on how to clean and polish the silver on a bridle and Leann Holen gave one on starting plants with peat pots. Adeline Parnow presented the "Hotdog Award" to the Paul Mutnansky family for their assistance on a job well done with the Share the Fun number. They responded with a word of thanks.

For recreation we played outside and visited with our friends and neighbors, hing we so seldom have time for.

H. Anderson Attends Water Works Seminar

Harold H. Anderson of the water department in Thief River Falls, participated in a three day waterworks operation seminar May 2-4 at the Holiday Inn in Eveleth.

The seminar included presentations by industry, water treatment plants, the U.S. Geological Survey, the Association of Minnesota Counties, Vermillion community college and the Minnesota department of health.

Topics covered included the state energy code, the safe drinking water act, maintenance of distribution systems, waterworks operator certification, disinfection of water systems, basic bacteriology and chemistry, safety, groundwater hydrology, backflow preventers, water treatment, and the state plumbing code. Seminar participants also had an opportunity to take the waterworks operator certification examination.

Observe Speed Limit For Safer Memorial Day

Minnesota safety council hopes that substantial decreases in Minnesota traffic fatalities through mid-May this year compared with the same period in 1978 will reflect fewer accidents and fatalities over the upcoming Memorial day weekend.

In 1978, the worst year for traffic fatalities since the beginning of the 55 mph speed limit in 1973, 14 Minnesotans were killed during the 78-hour memorial day weekend. Citing a 24 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities thus far in 1979 compared with 1978, the safety council anticipates between 8 and 12 Minnesotans will die, and almost 500 will be injured from auto crashes during this year's holiday period.

According to the safety council, simple techniques of defensive driving can help to keep the downward fatality trend — and you — alive this Memorial day weekend:

1. Buckle your safety belt and be sure that all your passengers fasten theirs, too.
2. Start your trip early enough or late enough to avoid rush hour traffic when you are leaving or returning.
3. If you drink, allow one hour to pass for each drink before you take the wheel.
4. Practice defensive driving. Be prepared to react to other drivers on the road.
5. Most important, observe posted speed limits. Increased speeds result in more fatalities and more severe injuries from crashes. Travel at speeds over 55 mph also results in increased use of gasoline. The safety council urges you to remember that 55 mph saves gas and lives. 55 mph makes sense!

Real Estate Courses Set At MSU In June

Three 30-hour courses for prospective and licensed real estate agents will be offered at Moorhead state university in June. They are designed to meet state licensing and continuing education requirements, but are open to anyone interested in real estate and are approved by the Minnesota commissioner of securities.

"Real Estate Licensing I," a pre-licensing course, will be offered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 11-15 and from 6 to 9 p.m. that Wednesday. It covers the fundamentals and professional standards of the business.

A more advanced course, "Real Estate Licensing II," for licensed agents will cover a variety of topics ranging from state and federal estate laws to land development and investment property. It will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 18-20 and from 6 to 9 p.m. that Wednesday.

"Real Estate Licensing III" will examine advanced appraisal, mortgage marketing, financial institutions and investment properties. It runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 25-29 and on that Wednesday from 6 to 9 p.m.

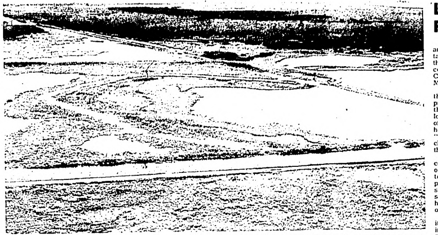
All classes will meet in MacLean hall 125 on campus.

To preregister, contact John Nielson at the Moorhead state business department, (218) 236-2486. Cost is $75 for each course.

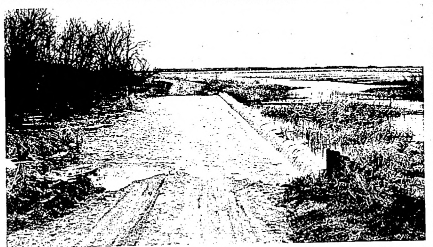
State law requires that all real estate agents licensed after July 1, 1976 must complete 90 hours of classroom training through a three-part series of classes.

Agents who received their licenses before the 1976 law, and all newly licensed agents are still required to update their knowledge by completing a minimum of 15 hours of continuing education every year. That can be done through courses II and III in this series.

Classes may be cancelled if not enough students register.



WETLAND AREAS serve as nature's sponge in holding spring run-off and water from heavy rains and releasing it slowly. This area on the east of Thief lake wildlife management area shows some of the flooded wildlife lands in the area. Water held back here would otherwise have rushed downstream to contribute to even greater problems along the Red Lake river, Thief river and Red River of the North.



SPILLWAYS on the Agassiz national wildlife refuge were put to the test this spring as pools filled and water poured through the structures. Some of the spillways are simply rock-filled areas of the roadways while others, such as the one shown above, have been constructed as a sort of minature dam.

Blood Pressure Problems Too Easily Ignored

High blood pressure is an easy disease to ignore. Health authorities estimate that some 35 million Americans have definite high blood pressure but only about 10 million are being treated for it. Some of the remaining 25 million have discontinued their treatment. The others don't even know they have the disease.

Jan Papra of the state health department's hypertension unit, blames much of this problem on the "invisibility" of high blood pressure. "The disease doesn't usually have any noticeable symptoms," he said, "so you can easily have it without knowing it, and you can easily kid yourself into thinking you've been 'cured' of it."

Many people believe that symptoms like dizziness or headaches always accompany high blood pressure, Papra noted. Others, confused by the name "hypertension," assume that only tense or nervous people can get high blood pressure. But the absence of such "symptoms" doesn't mean that you are free of the disease, or that you can temporarily stop taking high blood pressure medication. Nor does the fact that blood pressure has been controlled through medication mean that the person has been permanently cured.

"The only way to keep track of blood pressure is to have it tested annually," Papra said. "If a doctor does determine that someone has high blood pressure, it usually means that person will have to take medication for it, continuously, for the rest of his or her life."

Papra urged people with hypertension to remain in treatment. "This disease has been linked with some of the leading causes of death in our time with problems like heart disease, stroke and kidney disease. If you can control your blood pressure, you can prevent some very serious problems. But you have to get on a treatment program and stay with it. It's the only way."

Easthouse And Tunheim Are On May Seminars

Karen Easthouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Easthouse of Goodridge and Julie Tunheim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tunheim of Newfolden, are now overseas participating in the May seminars abroad program of Concordia college, Moorhead. Group left Fargo-Moorhead May 7, the day after commencement, and will return June 9.

Ten seminar groups averaging 17 members each will study a variety of subjects from art to Christianity in several locations, including the Scandinavian countries, Russia, Poland, East and West Germany and Egypt. In addition, 41 students will be "vagabonding," or traveling on their own during the five-week period.

Each May seminar participant is required to attend a pre-seminar course during the second semester to obtain background on the topic of study. Credit is given for both the seminar and pre-seminar course.

Karen is with a seminar entitled "Mathematics in Another Light", which will probe the role mathematics has played in history. It will include a study of Sir Isaac Newton in London, a visit to the pyramids in Egypt and a visit to the Leaning Tower in Italy. Leader of the seminar is Dr. Orvald Haugsby, an associate professor of mathematics.

"Outdoor Leadership Pursuits" seminar, which Julie is participating in, gives students the opportunity to experience outdoor activities and practice leadership theory and technique. Activities include whitewater canoeing in England, skiing in the mountains of Norway and backpacking in the Austrian Alps. The 17-member group will be led by Paul Erickson, Concordia's director of student activities.

Beef Prices Listed At Fair Level

Although prices consumers are paying for beef are certainly much higher than usual, they are not unfair or excessive, according to Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union.

"Consumers have to realize that prior to 1979, beef producers suffered through three successive years of losses, during which they sold off large portions of their herds," Carpenter said. "Today's beef prices are in close relation to what it costs the farmer to produce beef."

Beef cattle prices are currently close to 100 per cent of parity, which is considered to be a fair price for producers, Carpenter observed. During the past several years, cattle prices hovered around the 60 per cent of parity level.

"We may not want to admit it, but we paid bargain prices in the supermarket from 1975 through 1978. The price to the consumer is now simply catching up to what it costs the farmer to grow the animals," Carpenter said.

He said that a consumer boycott or panic toward beef at this time would be harmful to farmers and consumers alike. Such action would damage cattle producers attempting to increase the size of their herds and would increase the possibility of uncertain supplies and even higher prices in the future. Farmers must rebuild their herds before prices will level off, Carpenter pointed out.

"Farmers will rebuild their herds if the incentive is there to do so," he said. "Beef prices are not inflated, where outside factors cause sharp price increases. Beef prices are higher because the demand has finally caught up with the supply after years of over-supply. I encourage consumers to consider these factors, so they don't have a mistaken idea of the reasons for increased beef prices," Carpenter said.

Moorhead Captures 2nd In Ad Meet

Advertising students from Moorhead state university took second place in the American Advertising Federation's 8th district marketing competition last week in Madison, Wisc.

Ronald Vennes, a senior from Thief River Falls and Charles Thompson, a junior from Greenbush, were members of the Moorhead team.

The event, sponsored by Madison Newspapers, Inc., involved five universities from the upper midwest. Each was required to put together a complete advertising, marketing, media and promotion campaign for a product and present their strategies to a panel of judges. Each team's entry included a 50-page report followed by a 30-minute oral presentation on their marketing plan. The judges represented some of the top advertising professionals in the country.

Chief's Corner

— by —

Kenneth Froschheiser
Chief of Police
Thief River Falls Police Dep't.

I would like to take this opportunity to inform the citizens of Thief River Falls about a problem occurring along with the price increases we are seeing for gasoline.

The officers of this department inform me that it is becoming common to observe vehicles with gas cans and siphoning hoses in the vehicle. Reports of gas thefts are increasing every week and we see no end to the thefts unless gas prices stabilize or drop.

Officers inform me that there are certain areas within the city that seem to be prime targents for gas thefts. These areas are parking lots, apartment buildings where several cars are parked, mobile home parks and some residential streets.

I do not want to promote a business, however one of the best remedies is a locking gas cap that can be removed only with a key. With the price of gas as it is this purchase would be very inexpensive if you compared the cost to 10 or 15 gallons of gas at 92 cents or more a gallon.

I would also suggest to all vehicle owners who leave their vehicles parked outside to leave the vehicle in a well lighted area such as under a street light or yard light. Instead of keeping the tank full it is possible to leave it half full. This is not a good practice during winter months but should pose no problems during the summer months.

During hours of darkness if you happen to get up, look outside to where your vehicle is parked. You may see the theft in progress or if there is a large wet spot in the area of the gas tank chances are the theft occurred within a short time. Please notify the department of any signs of theft; we may be able to catch the person or another theft from someone else's vehicle in the area could be occurring at the time.

These cases are very difficult to prosecute after the crime and almost every case must be witnessed by either an officer or another person who saw the actual crime in progress. The officers have arrested some persons for this crime and they have been prosecuted. We would like to make more arrests for this crime, and request your help in reporting them. Thank you.

Arts Grant Proposal Given July Deadline

Next deadline for arts grant proposals for local and regional arts development is July 1 for projects which would begin after August 1.

The arts are defined as activities resulting in the creation or performance of works of the imagination. These can be activities, programs or projects in areas such as dance, music, theater, architecture, design, folk arts, creative writing and poetry, crafts, film and video, tape and sound recording and multi-disciplinary art forms.

Projects which involve bringing in a touring group or exhibition belong in the sponsorship category rather than local or regional development. These applications should be made to the Minnesota State Arts Board, 416 Clifton Avenue, Minneapolis, Mn. 55403 (612) 341-7170.

Sub Region 4 Tournament

Bemidji, benefitting from a first round bye, looms as the favorite heading into the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 high school baseball tournament scheduled to be played Wednesday and Thursday on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond. Thief River Falls will take on Crookston Wednesday, with the winner facing Bemidji in the Thursday title game. Both games start at 4:30 p.m.

In a tournament preview here last week, Thief River Falls handled Crookston 7-0 Thursday but fell victim to a seventh inning Bemidji rally 5-4 Friday.

Ace left-handers Scott Sabo of Thief River Falls and Brent Stahlecker of Crookston make the Prowlers and Pirates solid title contenders, but coaches Charlie Cornell and Jim Simon must decide how they'll use their pitchers while Des Sagedahl of Bemidji can sit back with his own ace, John Noga, for the single game. Sabo and Stahlecker may both rate ahead of Noga as pitchers, but they could wind up in a tiring repeat of a 10-inning 1-0 duel won by Stahlecker and the Pirates over Sabo and the Prowlers earlier this month. Neither pitched in Thursday's encounter.

If Sabo and Stahlecker aren't on the mound Wednesday their most likely replacements would be right-handers Murray Dicken and Brian Bachmeier, both very capable pitchers.

"If we have an edge, it's only because of the bye," acknowledged Sagedahl whose Lumberjacks swept the Pirates 6-0 and 7-2 this spring, with Noga throwing a no-hitter the first time, and claimed a pair of come-from-behind wins over the Prowlers. Friday's outcome was a near carbon copy of an earlier 6-5 Bemidji victory.

In addition to the bye, Bemidji is also given an edge over Thief River Falls and Crookston on offense, but Sagedahl warns, "When a kid like Sabo pitches, he can destroy you." The Lumberjacks have not faced Stahlecker.

"Bemidji has got to be the favorite," says Cornell, "because nobody has beaten them yet. However, they're certainly not heads and shoulders above everybody else."

Surprisingly, Simon says the tournament edge goes to the Prowlers because "It's their own park." He says the Pirates can be contenders. "We have to rely on our pitching. If our pitchers come through we could be tough," he warned. "Noga is a good pitcher, but he's not as tough as Sabo or Stahlecker."

Sports Boosters Back Franklin Program

By a unanimous vote Thursday, The Thief River Falls Sports Boosters club agreed to finance the athletic program at Franklin middle school for the 1979-80 school year.

As it was reported here Wednesday, the Sports Boosters voted whether or not to subsidize the athletic program at Franklin, a victim of budget cuts made by School District 564 officials. The Sports Boosters felt the expensive undertaking was well worth the effort.

It'll cost the Sports Boosters an estimated $9,200 to underwrite the ambitious project that includes intramural fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade football; sixth, seventh and eighth grade intramural volleyball; sixth, seventh and eighth grade basketball for both boys and girls; and sixth, seventh and eighth grade track for both boys and girls.

Although the Sports Boosters have taken on the fund-raising chores, it'll actually be up to the entire community to support Franklin's athletic program in either an outright cash contribution or by participating in Sports Boosters-sponsored events like the annual football pigskin preview, the ice cream and pie social and the winter sports warm-up. And obviously an expanded club membership would also be of help.

It should be pointed out, however, that the Sports Boosters will be funding the Franklin athletic program for just the 1979-80 season. For 1980-81 and beyond, additional means of support, either reinstatement of funds by School District 564 or a youth program in the manner of the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association (TRFAHA) will have to be found.

Miscellaneous

+Duane Earnest, a member of the Detroit Lakes public schools faculty since 1973-74, has been appointed as the school's head varsity hockey coach, succeeding Ken Anderson who served in the position the past four years before resigning at the end of the 1978-79 season with a 36-50-1 record. A graduate of International Falls high school where he was a center on the 1966 state championship team and a four-year varsity performer at Concordia College, Earnest has served as coach of the Detroit Lakes Bantam hockey team after earlier serving as a junior varsity high school coach at Baudette.

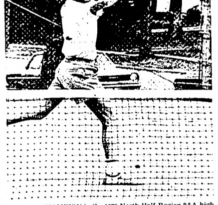
TRF Babe Ruth Try-Outs Will Begin Tonight

Try-outs for the Thief River Falls Babe Ruth youth baseball teams will be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday this week at the Northland community college baseball diamond.

Coaches Paul Williams and Bruce Williams will conduct the try-outs which include 6 p.m. sessions for the 13-year-olds and 7:30 p.m. sessions for the 14 and 15-year-olds.



SINGLES CHAMPION in the 1979 North Half Region 8AA high school tennis tournament played at Detroit Lakes Friday was Thief River Falls junior Bill Jury, shown here competing in Thursday's North Half team competition won by the Prowlers with 5-0 wins over both Crookston and Moorhead. Jury defeated Thief River Falls teammate Mitch Rustad 6-4, 6-1 in the finals of the North Half individual singles tournament. Jury and the Prowlers will play in the Region 8AA tournaments at Brainerd this week.

Jury Is Singles Champion . . .

Prowlers Win North Half Region 8AA Tennis Title

A full complement of Lincoln high school tennis players will be participating in the 1979 Region 8AA tennis tournament this week at Brainerd. An impressive winner in the team portion of the North Half Region 8AA tournament Thursday, the Prowlers also qualified their singles and doubles performers through the North Half individual competition the following day at Detroit Lakes.

The state tournament-qualifying Region 8AA team championship match will be played Tuesday at 4 p.m. The North Half champion Prowlers will face the South Half winner, St. Cloud Tech. The individual matches, featuring eight singles players and six doubles teams, will get underway Wednesday at 9 a.m. Top two singles players and top two doubles teams earn state tournament berths.

Thief River Falls was nearly flawless in its North Half Region 8AA team championship performance that included 5-0 wins over Crookston and Moorhead. The Thief River Falls-Moorhead final was interrupted by rain and moved from Detroit Lakes into the Tennis Center in Fargo.

"It was a top performance by all the players," praised Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson. "They really played well. It was enjoyable. It's one of the best team efforts I've ever been associated with."

Play opened with Crookston beating Bemidji 5-0 and Detroit Lakes knocking off East Grand Forks 3-2. Moorhead then eliminated Detroit Lakes 5-0 while Thief River Falls ousted Crookston by the same margin, a score the Prowlers repeated against the Spuds.

Thief River Falls' line-up of Bill Jury, No. 1 singles; Mitch Rustad, No. 2 singles; Bill Holmes, No. 3 singles; Tom Bjorkman and Bill Michalek, No, 1 doubles; and Mark Lundin and Mark Collins, No. 2 doubles; lost just one set all day.

Friday's individual play featured just two singles players and one doubles team from each school, with the Prowlers advancing all four into the Region 8AA tournament.

Jury won the North Half Region 8AA singles title, beating Rustad 6-4, 6-1 in the all-Thief River Falls finals. "It was a good match," pointed out Olson. "They played hard. They were the two best players there and it was fun to watch since they were both assured of going on." Top four singles players will play in to the Region 8AA tournament.

Bjorkman and Michalek overcame an upset loss in the doubles semifinals to earn a Region 8AA berth as the third Region 8AA berth as the third North Half entry. Top place North Half entry. Top three doubles teams move on. Bjorkman and Michalek, after receiving a first round bye and losing in the semfinals to Crookston's John Erie and Brian Erickson, beat Bemidji's Terry Kraft and John Gits for that important third place spot.

"They had a little car lag, I think," explained Olson. "They couldn't get their wheels going. But I still think they have a chance to come back."

TRF Hosts 1979 Sub Region 4 Baseball Tournament This Week

Region 8AA Sub Region 4 high school baseball tournament will be played in Thief River Falls Wednesday and Thursday when Bemidji, Crookston and Thief River Falls vie for a Region 8AA tournament berth. Thief River Falls and Crookston will tangle in the tournament opener Wednesday at 4:30 p.m., with the winner meeting top-seeded Bemidji in the Sub Region 4 championship game Thursday at 4:30.

A Sub Region 4 preview was staged on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond last week when Thief River Falls shut out Crookston 7-0 Thursday but lost to Bemidji 5-4 Friday.

WINNING PITCHER Murray Dicken, who shut out Crookston on five hits Thursday, reached home plate after hitting a long first inning home run in the Prowlers' 7-0 high school baseball victory on the fairgrounds diamond.

TRF 7

Home runs by Murray Dicken and Kelly Gutterud highlighted a 10-hit attack by the normally light-hitting Prowlers in Thursday's 7-0 victory over the Pirates.

Dicken, who caromed a long wind-aided drive off a light tower in right-center field for a first inning home run, was also impressive in pitching his second shutout of the season as he scattered five hits and walked just one batter.

A sacrifice fly by Dave Odegaard preceded Dicken's homer to score Jeff Kosel, who had walked. A sharply-hit single through the left side of the infield by Jim Nyland made it 3-0 in the second.

Gutterud homered over the right-center field fence to lead off the bottom of the third. Odegaard followed with a single, stole second, moved to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a fly ball to right field by Scott Sabo.

Thief River Falls added two more runs in the sixth off Jeff Laniel, who had replaced starting pitcher Trent Stahlecker. The inning began with back-to-back singles by Brian Peppin and Scott Langlie. A double by Wayne Huseth and an infield hit off the third baseman's glove by Tom Drury plated the runs.

TRF 4

History repeated itself Friday when Bemidji came up with three scratch hits in a three-run seventh inning that carried the Lumberjacks to a 5-4 come-from-behind victory over Thief River Falls. A similar episode netted the Lumberjacks a 6-5 win over the Prowlers at Bemidji earlier this spring.

Thief River Falls pitcher Scott Sabo, although admittedly not as sharp as he was in a one-hit victory over Roseau four days earlier when he struck out 17, still held Bemidji to just two hits — one of which never left the infield — through six innings. That made a 4-2 Thief River Falls lead look secure.

However, Bemidji got lucky in the seventh when an error put the lead-off batter on base and, after a strike-out, three potential double play balls to shortstop went for base hits. John Noga banged one to deep short, Mark Dillon benefitted from a bad hop that scored a run and Bob Orgon legged out a slow roller. Three wild pitches by the frustrated Sabo enabled Noga to tie the game and Dillon to win it before the Thief River Falls pitcher struck out the side.

Bemidji also enjoyed a strong start, jumping out to a 2-0 first inning lead when Roger Degerman walked, Noga drilled a double to the opposite field and Dillon put down a perfect sacrifice bunt for a run. An error made it 2-0.

Thief River Falls scored in the second when perfectly-timed hit-and-run play involving base runner Murray Dicken and Sabo sent Dicken, who had walked to open the inning, to third. He scored on a wild pitch by Craig Erhart, the winning pitcher even though he was lifted in favor of Noga, the team's front line hurler, in the seventh.

Sabo again came through in a big way in the fourth with a three-run home run over the right-center field fence to score Dicken, who had reached base on a fielder's choice after a Mark Schmitke single, and Jeff Ulrich, who walked, for a 4-2 lead.

Bemidji Will Stage Sub Region 4 Meet

Bemidji will serve as host for the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 boys and girls high school track meet Tuesday beginning at 10 a.m. Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston will join Bemidji in the Region 8AA qualifying event. Brainerd will be the site of the Region 8AA boys and girls track meet Saturday.

Thief River Falls girls will carry a string of three straight post-season titles into the fourth and final Sub Region 4 meet that will be discarded in favor of a north and south split in Region 8AA competition next spring.

However, the Prowlers' winning streak may be in jeopardy. In a Thursday Thief River Falls-Bemidji dual meet on the Bemidji State University track — site of the Sub Region 4 event — the Lumber jills held a commanding 33½ to 16½ point lead over the Prolwers after six events before rains washed out the rest of the events.

Thief River Falls picked up two wins before the rain as Stacy Erhrenstrom tossed the shot 33-11 and Connie Hedlund went 14-5¾ in the long jump.

Defending champion Bemidji is expected to be an easy winner in the boys' portion of the Sub Region 4 meet after running away with the 1979 Northwest Athletic Conference indoor and outdoor titles earlier this spring.

Prowlers Golf In Region 8AA At Park Rapids

Post-season Region 8AA tournament competition is scheduled Wednesday for the Lincoln high school golf team at Park Rapids. The state tournament-qualifying event will start at 9:30 a.m.

Detroit Lakes remains a solid Region 8AA contender on the strength of regular season winning streak that included a four-stroke victory in the Crookston Rotary invitational Thursday.

The Lakers shot a four-man 319, followed by host Crookston at 323, Thief River Falls and Grand Forks Red River 328, East Grand Forks 337, Grafton 359 and Grand Forks Central 403.

Todd Sipe of Crookston was meet medalist with a 75. Lincoln McArthur of Detroit Lakes was runner-up with a 77 and Bob Fitzgerald of Thief River Falls had a 78.

Other Thief River Falls scores included Wade Hoppe with an 81, Tony Loeffler 84, Dave Geatz 85, Jeff Imgrund 85 and Charlie Boyer 87.

Combination Northwest Athletic Conference and Thief River Falls invitational meets were scheduled to close out the 1979 retular season for the Prowlers today (Monday).

Moorhead State University athletic teams were orginally known as the "Pedagogues" (teachers) and more commonly referred to as "Peds" until Miss Flora Frick, physical education instructor, suggested a new school nickname of "Dragons" that became the official name at the start of the 1930-31 academic year.

The Thief River Falls SDA Christian School is located on six acres of land within the city limits at 1024 South Tindolph. A spacious gym provides for winter recreation. Two Christian teachers with degrees in elementary education provide the climate for spiritual growth. Come to open-house this Thursday.

Along with the regular subjects taught at all schools, the Thief River Falls SDA Christian School teaches that: God is the Creator of man, Jesus Christ is the Saviour of man; Creation is a gift of God and so is salvation through His Son. Best of all, dedicated Christian Teachers with years of experience in the largest Protestant school system in the world stand before the students. Come meet them this Thursday during open-house. 2-7:30 p.m.

Northmen Golf In 1979 MJCAA, Region 13 Meets

Five-man Northland community college golf team will compete Tuesday and Wednesday in the combination MJCAA state and NJCAA Region 13 golf tournaments at the Silver Springs golf course near Monticello.

Normandale community college of Bloomington carries the role of the favorite in both the MJCAA event, which includes two-year Minnesota schools, and the Region 13 event, which also includes two-year schools in North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. North Hennepin and Lakewood may present Normandale with an MJCAA title challenge and Wisconsin schools from Madison and LaCrosse may be Region 13 contenders.

Northland's line-up for the post-season competition will include Jon Ballingrud and Scott Blankenfeld, Thief River Falls; Dave Hanson, Greg Johnson, Mahnomen; and Jim Mickelson, Baudette.

Coach Al Adams of Northland hopes his golfers will "start to show their potential at the 36-hole tournament" after a cold, wet spring limited the Northmen to just four regular season meets. "We could possibly place in the top three if we can get four scores below 80 each day," said Adams.

Wednesday's Northland invitational completed the regular season schedule. The Bemidji State University junior varsity won the event with a four-man 325, followed by Northland 341, Moorhead State University junior varsity 350 and Fergus Falls 360.

Sharing medalist honors with seven-over-par 79s in the 18-hole event, were Bemidji's Ed Demery and Tom Zieman, a one-time Lincoln high school golfer. Johnson led Northland with an 80 for third place in the medal race on two rounds of 40.

Other Northland scores included Ballingrud 43-42 for an 85, Blankenfeld 43-44 for an 87 and Kevin Mandt, golfing in place of Hanson who missed the neet because of classwork, 42-47 for an 89.

LINCOLN HIGH school golfer Kathy Walker tried to coax her ball into the cup on the No. 2 green during Thursday's Thief River Falls girls invitational meet. The putt came up short.

Northmen End Season Against Fergus Falls

A short 1979 baseball season comes to an end Wednesday for Northland community college when the Northmen host Fergus Falls in a 12 noon MJCAA Northwest Division doubleheader on the Northland diamond.

Northwest Division champion Brainerd swept both ends of a Saturday doubleheader from Northland in Thief River Falls to boost its record to 13-5 for the year. Northland fell to 1-9.

Brainerd took the first game 9-1 as 13 hits produced two runs in the first inning, one in the second, two more in the fifth, three in the sixth and a final tally in the top of the seventh. Northland, limited to three hits and guilty of all five of the game's errors, scored in the sixth.

Two-run innings in the second, fifth and seventh provided Brainerd with a 6-2 victory in the second game. The hits were even at seven apiece and Brainerd committed the game's only error, but Northland managed just single runs in the fifth and seventh innings.

Ted Thompson Has No-Hitter For Newfolden

Eighth grader Ted Thompson pitched a no-hitter Thursday as Marshall County Central ended its 1979 regular season baseball schedule with a 13-1 victory over Strandquist.

Thompson, who began the game by striking out the side in the first, second and third innings, struck out 11 and walked four. Strandquist spoiled his shutout bid with an unearned fifth inning run.

Jim Sethre, Brian Skadsem and Jim Olson all had two hits apiece for the Nordics who will host the semifinals and finals of the District 32 baseball tournament Thursday and Friday.

First round District 32 tournament games, scheduled to be played either today (Monday) or Tuesday, will find Roseau vs. Lake of the Woods; Warroad vs. Kennedy; Middle River vs. Marshall County Central; and Strandquist vs. Karlstad.

Semifinals Thursday at Newfolden will find the Roseau-Lake of the Woods winner playing the Warroad-Kennedy winner at 3:30 p.m. while the Middle River, Marshall County Central winner meets the Strandquist-Karlstad winner at 5:30.

District 32 championship game will be played Friday at 4:30 p.m. at Newfolden.

Agassiz Refuge Open To Public

The auto drive at Agassiz national wildlife refuge, 11 miles east of Holt, on county road 7, is now open to the public. High water this spring delayed the opening. The trail begins at refuge headquarters, and is approximately four miles long and is open during daylight hours.

The best time to see wildlife along the trail is during the early morning and late evening hours.

AN ERRANT pick-off throw by Crookston pitcher Scott Fern eluded first baseman Steve Grossman, allowing Northland base runner Bruce Williams to move on to second base en route to the winning run in a 4-3 victory by the Northmen over the Trojans in the second half of Wednesday's MJCAA Northwest Division baseball doubleheader played on the Northland diamond. Crookston won the opener—the first game ever played on the new diamond—by a 5-2 margin.

Northmen, Trojans Split Doubleheader . . .

New Northland Baseball Diamond Used First Time

Six years behind schedule, the Northland community college baseball team played its first games on its new diamond Wednesday and in the process picked up its first win of the 1979 season, a 4-3 victory over Crookston in the second game of a wind-blown MJCAA Northwest Division doubleheader. The Trojans won the opener 5-2.

Northland was originally scheduled to have its own playing site adjacent to the college back in 1974. But bureaucratic delays kept the Northmen at the fairgrounds diamond until this spring when wet weather played a role in the late home opener.

The 1979 season ends Wednesday for the Northmen who will host Fergus Falls in a 12 noon twinbill.

Northland 2

Crookston overcame a 2-0 deficit with a five-run sixth inning, thanks to four walks and a two-run single by Tim Sampson to walk away with a 5-2 first game victory over Northland, stretching the hosts' season-opening losing streak to seven games.

Held to just three base hits, Northland used other means to claim an early lead. Morice Hendricks was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded in the fourth for a run, and a Crookston error in the fifth made it 2-0.

Crookston 3

A 3-0 lead did not hold up, but Northland came up with a tie-breaking run in the bottom of the fifth to edge Crookston 4-3 in the second half of the twinbill.

Two errors, two walks and three stolen bases helped provide Northland with a 2-0 first inning start. An error at shortstop put leadoff batter Brad Kosel on base. He stole second and third and scored when pitcher Scott Fern, after walking Bruce Williams, threw the ball away trying to pick Williams off second after yet another stolen base. Lyle Johnson also walked and Mark Thorstad singled home the second run. Crookston escaped further damage with an inning-ending double play.

The same formula made it 3-0 in the second when Keith Charbonneau reached second on an infield error, stole third and scored on a single to left by Doug Engelman.

A walk, an Al Cota double and a wild pitch provided Crookston with a run in the third. The Trojans tied it in the fifth against relief pitcher Brian Peterson with three base hits; the big blow being Tim Sampson's two-run single.

However, two Crookston errors in the bottom of the fifth canceled the come-back. An error put Williams on base and another errant pick-off throw by Fern moved him to second. Thorstad's third hit of the game, a drive into the right-center field gap, plated the winning run.

Prowlers Golf In Region 8AA

Members of the Lincoln high school girls golf team will be in Detroit Lakes Tuesday for the 1979 Region 8AA meet, scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m.

Coach Sylvia Sjoberg's Prowlers completed their regular season schedule last week by hosting their own Thief River Falls invitational Thursday and then playing at Moorhead Friday.

TRF Invitational

Roseau, led by medal winner Nancy Harris with a 90 and medal runner-up Mary Jane Nelson with a 93, was an easy winner Thursday in the Thief River Falls invitational.

It was the second straight Thief River Falls title for the Rams who finished with a 519 in the wind and rain. Crookston was a distant second at 537, followed by Thief River Falls 618, East Grand Forks 633, Red Lake Falls 655 and Bagley 660.

Renee Wall of Crookston was third in the medal standings with a 100.

Shari Idso led Thief River Falls with a 114, followed by Kathy Walker 115, Janell Kain 117, Liz Brodin 127, Terryl Schwartz 140, Dayna Spencer 145, Carrie Thompson 157 and Jody Brenna 169.

Moorhead

Fergus Falls was a 37-stroke winner in Friday's Moorhead invitational. The Otters shot a four-player 355, followed by Moorhead 392, Thief River Falls 444 and Detroit Lakes 465.

In a three-way battle for medalist honors, Lisa Stein of Moorhead out-dueled Fergus Falls' Pam Boldenow and Sue Rentz in a playoff after all three finished at 83.

Kathy Walker shot a 96 for the Prowlers, with Janell Kain shooting a 107, Shari Idso 110, Liz Brodin 131 and Dayna Spencer 140.

Franklin Pool Schedule

Mon., May 21 — 7:45-9:45 p.m. open swimming.

Tues., May 22 — 7:45-9:45 p.m. open swimming.

Wed., May 23 — 7:45-9:45 p.m. open swimming.

MEDALIST IN Thursday's Thief River Falls girls invitational high school golf meet was Nancy Harris of Roseau, shown here chipping out of the rough behind No. 3. She finished with a 90 to lead the Rams to an easy victory in the six-team meet.

Five important questions to ask when buying a garden tractor

Ariens feels that buying a garden tractor is something that deserves time and thought. Deliberate comparisons between various makes should be made before a decision is reached.

The following questions are those you should ask any dealer when making your tractor comparisons:

① How long does it take and how easy is it to put on and take off your mower deck? (NOTE — ask for a demonstration)

② Do you need to remove the mower deck before attaching a tiller or front blade on your tractor?

④ Do you have an efficient two-stage snow thrower or are you limited to a single stage?

⑤ What is the capacity of your tractor's gas tank? How many hours of grass cutting can I get with one tank-full?

The answers to these questions and others you'll want to ask will be very revealing. Ariens welcomes a thorough comparison and is confident that their Garden Tractors will be stand-out quality favorites when you've made it.

Take this list with you when you make your rounds. You'll be glad you did.

Prowlers Blank Blue Wave 10-0

For the second time in three days Thief River Falls batters feasted on Crookston pitching as the Prowlers banged out 10 hits in just four innings of work Saturday, drilling Mount St. Benedict 10-0 in a high school baseball game shortened by the 10 run rule. Thief River Falls also collected 10 hits in a 7-0 victory over Crookston Central Thursday.

"We hit the ball hard," confirmed Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell whose chief concern earlier this year was the Prowlers' light-hitting attack. "Maybe the hitting is finally coming around," he noted.

Thief River Falls, 4-7, will close out its 1979 season today (Monday) when Fergus Falls arrives for a 3 p.m. Northwest Athletic Conference doubleheader rained out of an original May 11 playing date.

Saturday's contest, also a make-up date, was decided quickly when the host Prowlers struck for six runs in the first inning. The five first inning hits featured a three-run home run by Jeff Ulrich, a two-run triple by Jim Nyland and an RBI double by Paul Drees.

A long sacrifice fly by Scott Sabo that narrowly missed being a grand slam home run made it 7-0 in the second. Three Mount St. Benedict errors in the third pushed the margin to 8-0 and the 10-run margin was reached on Scott Langlie's run-scoring single in the fourth.

Almost overshadowed in the Thief River Falls offensive assault was a one-hit pitching effort by the Prowlers' Kelly Gutterud who gave up only a lead-off second inning single.

Ducks Unlimited Funds Reach Canada, Mexico

Some 700 volunteer leaders of this country's largest waterfowl conservation organization attended Ducks Unlimited's 42nd international convention on Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, May 1-5. The convention marked the second time Ducks Unlimited has held its annual meeting in South Carolina, a meeting which this year paid tribute to over 40 years of conservation cooperation between Ducks Unlimited and its Canadian construction counterpart, DU (Canada).

According to Ducks Unlimited executive vice president Dale E. Whitesell, DU's board of trustees approved a record $14.5 million (Canadian currency) commitment to be transferred to DU (Canada) during 1979. Whitesell said the funds would be channeled into a DU (Canada) construction program designed to complete 162 projects encompassing some 100,000 new habitat acres. He also announced the commitment of over a quarter of a million dollars to be sent to Ducks Unlimited de Mexico (DUMAC) during 1979 for the development of prime wintering waterfowl habitat.

"Coming through with the funds needed to support a habitat preservation and restoration program of this magnitude is going to demand one whale of a nationwide fund-raising effort on the part of our volunteers during 1979," said Whitesell. "But we've picked up some experience over the past 40 years which comes in handy when confronting critical conservation fund-raising challenges. The most significant factor we have working for us is, quite simply, the enthusiasm of our volunteers. Our fund-raising goal for 1979 stands at an even $20 million, and our volunteers consider this a solid pledge ensuring that the race to save diminishing North American waterfowl habitat will continue to be run."

In addition to the allocation of funds earmarked for habitat restoration in Canada and Mexico during 1979, DU's board of trustees reelected, as president, S. Preston Williams, a trial attorney from Kansas City, Missouri. Other top Ducks Unlimited officers reelected at the Hilton Head Island convention include chairman of the board Henry J. Nave, of Pinehurst, North Carolina, vice chairman of the board Chester F. Dolley, of Los Angeles, California, and executive committee chairman Gaylord Donnelley, of Chicago, Illinois.

MSU Basketball School Slated For June 3-8

Applications are now being taken for the third annual Moorhead State University basketball school June 4 through June 8.

The boys' session is from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. while the girls' session runs from 1 to 4 in the afternoon. The cost is $30 per student, and includes all instruction, camp t-shirt, insurance coverage, handouts on basketball fundamentals and individual report cards on week's progress.

All boys and girls 9 to 13 years of age are eligible to attend the camp.

Moorhead State head basketball coach Dave Schellhase will be the camp director for the third straight year. The former Purdue All-American has compiled a sparkling four-year record of 69-42 and has guided the Dragons to three consecutive runnerup finishes in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference and three straight post-season tournament invitations.

Byron Hill, who recently resigned after six years at Jamestown (N.D.) college will spend one day at the camp as well.

Fundamentals of basketball — shooting, pivoting, footwork, dribbling, rebounding, passing and catching — will be taught by the staff. All instruction will be conducted in Alex Nemzek fieldhouse. For additional informatinon telephone 236-2622.

Orca, the killer whale, will often flip its prey 30 feet in the air several times before eating it, according to International Wildlife magazine. The eight-ton cetacean uses its tail to propel penguins, seals, and dolphins into the air.

State Plays Key Role Protecting BWCA Interests

State of Minnesota, not the federal government, has played the major role in protecting northeastern Minnesota wilderness areas from mining and other commercialization, says commissioner of natural resources Joseph Alexander.

He said the original proposal to halt further sales of federal land in what is now the BWCA came from General C.C. Andrews, Minnesota's first chief forest fire warden. Andrews feated that the land would be lost through land fraud and in 1902 persuaded the U.S. commissioner of the general land office to establish a federal forest reserve on 500,000 acres of the remaining federal public domain land in the area.

This 500,000 acres, together with other lands set aside during the following years, formed the basis for the Superior national forest created by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1909.

Later, when a vast hydropower development plan was proposed in 1920 by E.W. Backus, a prominent timber merchant, it was the state of Minnesota which led the opposition to the plan on the legal grounds that the state had jurisdiction over the waters and over state lands located within the area that would be flooded by the proposed project.

Prior to an executive order by President Truman in 1949 banning air travel over the forest below 4,000 feet, the state had already limited aircraft landing on public waters in the area and on stroing boats at remote lakes.

In 1970, the state enacted regulations prohibiting the transport of disposable food containers and at the same time closed certain lakes to motorized travel, specifying which routes were still open to motorized use.

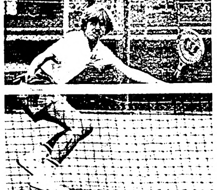
From 1969 to 1975, the state fought successfully to prevent owners of private mineral holdings from exploring and mining within the BWCA. Again, said Alexander, this battle to preserve the area was waged by the state, not the federal government.

He pointed out that the 1964 federal wilderness act would allow mineral exploration and mining in the BWCA if it were not for the state's attempts to obtain special legal protection from mining in the area and the enactment of state laws prohibiting it.

As a result of these actions, said Alexander, the Congress has now exempted the BWCA from the mining provisions of the 1964 act.

"The history of efforts to preserve this unique area makes it clear that it is essential for the state to continue to exercise jurisdiction over state owned lands and public waters within the BWCA," he declared.

"This is the real basis for the department's court challenge to recent Congressional action which usurps the state's authority over state lands and waters," he concluded, "not the relatively insignificant issue of motorized vs. nonmotorized use."



RUNNER-UP TO Thief River Falls teammate Bill Jury in the singles portion of the 1979 North Half Region 8AA individual high school tennis tournament played Friday at Detroit Lakes was Mitch Rustad. The Prowlers' No. 2 singles players for most of the year, Rustad, pictured here during Thief River Falls' championship performance in Thursday's North Half team competition at Detroit Lakes, lost to Jury 6-4, 6-1 in the singles finals. The 1979 Region 8AA tennis tournament, both team and individual matches, will be played this week at Brainerd. Rustad will be involved in both events.

Normandale Wins Tennis Tournament

Host Normandale community college completed a clean sweep — winning all six singles and all three doubles events — to win the 1979 Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state tennis tournament with 45 points.

North Hennepin finished second with 32 points, followed by Mesabi 21, Austin 18, Northland and Inver Hills 14, Hibbing 13, Rochester 12, Brainerd and Anoka-Ramsey 7, Fergus Falls 6, Itasca, Rainy River, Vermilion and Willmar 2 apiece, Golden Valley Lutheran and Bethany 0.

Reaching the semifinals for the Northwest Division champion Northmen were Chris Kays and Bernie Brandon in number one doubles and Glenn Mosher in number five singles.

Kays, a Thief River Falls freshman, and Brandon, a Mahnomen freshman, were unbeaten during the regular season and were considered MJCAA contenders. They beat Jim Zabinski and John Klobuchar of Hibbing 6-2, 6-2 and edged Mike Olson and Tim White of Inver Hills 7-5, 6-4 to reach the semifinals where Steve Bailey and Dick Oxley of North Hennepin snapped their 11-match winning streak 6-1, 6-2.

"They (Bailey and Oxley) were really good," mentioned Northland coach Irv Smith. "Brandon and Kays did not play very well, but even if they would have played as well as they could, I still don't think they could have beaten them."

Mosher, winless a year ago, beat Barry Sampson of Vermilion 2-6, 6-0, 6-0 and stopped Mike Moore of Austin 7-6, 6-3 to become a surprise semifinalist. Jim Shevitz of Hibbing ended the dream, though, 6-1, 6-1.

All other Northland singles players were eliminated in the quarterfinals.

Brandon, playing first singles, beat Tim O'Brien of Anoka 6-0, 6-0 but lost to John Rosenberg of Austin 5-7, 1-6.

Kays, at second singles, defeated Steve Stroup of Anoka-Ramsey 6-1, 6-3 but lost to Bill Weber of Inver Hills 5-7, 3-6.

Gary Laidley played third singles where he sidelined Mark Waznik of Golden Valley 6-1, 6-0 before losing to Harold Budde of Austin ;-6, 6-1.

Pete Lee at fourth singles ousted Jim Fulton of Rainy River 6-0, 6-3 but lost to Pete Podany of North Hennepin 0-6, 2-6.

Receiving a first round bye in sixth singles, Joe Ranum lost to Gary Paschke of North Hennepin 1-6, 0-6 in the quarterfinals.

Laidley and Mosher, at second doubles, lost to Mark Lewis and Jim Smeby of Austin 0-6, 1-6.

Lee and Ranum at third doubles lost to Phil Huska and Kelly Montbriand of Hibbing 3-7, 6-3, 3-6.

Musky Fishing Publication Is Made Available

Wisconsin is the capital of musky country, and "Wisconsin Muskellunge Waters" helps the fisherman locate the musky producing lakes.

This revised and updated publication includes large two-color maps detailing the location of the musky lakes and surrounding roads and highways. An index for the lakes is keyed to the maps and tabulate size, depth, access and most important the muskellunge class (A-B-C) of the lake. A note is also made in the index if a lake structure map is available.

Minnesota High School Spring State Tournaments Start Soon

Playdowns leading to state championships are underway for more than 500 high schools throughout Minnesota at the district and regional levels which will result in titles in five spring sports activities during late May and early June.

Boys Tennis

One of the first to begin playoffs are the 179 boys tennis teams. A total of 3,788 young men were involved in the interscholastic program this spring. This year's 51st annual Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) state boys tennis tournament for the first time will have competition conducted in two classes — Class AA and Class A.

The team portion of the event will be held on Tues., May 29, (quarterfinals) and Sat., June 2 (semifinals and finals). Action on May 29 involving the eight region champions in Class AA and Class A will take place at various sites throughout Minnesota while the June 2 action will be at the University of Minnesota tennis courts. Edina East won last year's one class tournament.

Singles and doubles play in both Class AA and Class A is set for the U of M courts on Thurs., May 31, and Fri., June 1. Championship matches on Friday in both categories will begin at 1:30 p.m. Edina East's Brian Johnson, last year's singles winner, is expected to win his way back to this year's state tournaments.

Boys Golf

Fifty-second annual MSHSL state boys golf tournament will also take place during the last week of May when both Class AA and Class A events will be held at Majestic Oaks Golf Club in Anoka on Wed., May 30, and Thurs., May 31.

Eighteen holes will be played each day with first round play getting underway at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Thursday's final found commences at 8 a.m.

There are 306 boys golf teams participating this spring and 16 of them will garner state tournament berths if successful in winning their way through region tourneys. Eight region champs in each class will compete for first place trophies.

Two-time defending Class AA champion Edina West returned two of their top four players from last year's squad, including meet medalist Chris Perry, who last year a sophomore carded rounds of 77 and 71 over the tough par 72, 6,337-yard course.

In Class A, defending champion Waconia has another fine team and is considered a strong contender once again. Among the top individuals is Waconia's Stu Oftelie, who finished 10th a year ago.

Girls Golf

For the first time in the short two-year existence of the MSHSL stae girls golf tournament, the event will be conducted in classes — Class AA and Class A. There are 181 girls golf teams competing this spring, 104 of which are in Class A.

Like in the boys' tournament, 16 teams will win their way into this year's tourney, which for the third year will be conducted at Forest Lake's Forest Hills Golf Club, a par 73, 5,372-yard layout. The 36-hole event is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1. First round activity begins at noon with the final day's play starting at 8 a.m.

Alexandria, winner of the first two state meets, has another fine team and is expected to be in the thick of things again this year among the Class AA teams. In Class A, Albany, last year's runners-up, is the odds-on choice to capture top honors.

Among the individual standouts is senior Kelly Varty of Elk River, who came in second a year ago.

Class A Track

For the first time boys and girls track and field athletes will gather together at a state meet when this year's state high school track and field championships are conducted. The Class A division, Minnesota's smaller enrollment high schools, will have their meet take place at Michie Field at St. Cloud Apollo high school on Wednesday and Thursday, May 30-31.

Nearly 500 youngsters representing more than 250 high schools will participate in the event. This is the 57th year of competition for boys and eighth for girls.

Slayton is the Class A boys defending champion while Buffalo Lake won last year's girls Class A title.

A number of outstanding individual preformers from last year's state meet are expected to gather berths once again this year through region meets. Among the top boys Class A performers is defending mile champion and state meet record-holder John Keohen of Montgomery-Lonsdale. In the girls field, defending mile champion Joan Hopfenspirger of Redwood Falls is expected to return as is Plainview hurdler Sue Carter, wh finished second last year in the 180 yard hurdles.

This year's Class A events for the last time will be measured in yards. Beginning in 1980 all events will be in meters.

Thursday's finals will begin at 1 p.m.

Class AA Track

Boys and girls track and field athletes in the Class AA division — over 500 of them from more than 75 high schools—will converge on Park high school in Cottage Grove on Friday and Saturday, June 1-2, for their state championships.

This year Class AA events at the state meet will be measured metrically. Many fine athletes from last year's talent-rich Class AA field are expected to return. Boys standouts include high jumper Van Troup of Mounds View, who cleared seven feet recently and Tom Coles of Hutchinson, who won last year's 440-yard dash. Top girl participatns include defending two-mile champion Lani Granowski of Owatonna, who this year is running in the 1,600 and 3,200 meter events; Dana Watts of St. Paul Central, last year's 440-yard dash champion who is a 200 and 400 meter performer this year; and Burnsville hurdler Dawn Peterson, who finished second a year ago in both hurdles events to Brainerd Standout Kathy Borgwarth, who graduated.

Saturday's finals will commence at 1 p.m.

Girls Softball

Now in its third year of state tourney play, girls fastpitch softball for the first time will have competition conducted in classes — Class AA and Class A.

First round quarterfinal state tourney tests will take place at various sites throughout the state on Mon., June 4, with semifinal and finals action scheduled for Dredd Scott Field in Bloomington on Thursday and Friday, June 7-8.

First round pairings and sites in Class AA will find Region 5 vs. 8 (Bloomington) and Region 6 vs. 7 (Bloomington) in one bracket and Region 1 vs. 4 (Austin) and Region 2 vs. 3 (Mankato) in the other bracket. In Class A one bracket finds Region 6 vs. 7 (St. Cloud) and Region 2 vs. 3 (Mankato) while the other bracket will pit Region 1 vs. 4 (Austin) while Region 5 will get a bye as Region 8 does not have any teams participating.

A total of 5,819 girls representing 182 schools participated in the interscholastic girls fast pitch softball program this psring. Ninety-four schools are classified AA and 88 A.

Coon Rapids high school won the first state tourney two years ago while Cambridge copped first place last June.

Baseball

Thirty-third annual MSHSL state baseball tournament is the final spring sports event to be staged and for the fourth consecutive year competition will take place in two classes — Class AA and Class A. During the first 30 years of the event one champion each year was named.

Class AA and Class A quarterfinal games will be played on Mon., June 4, at various sites throughout the state with semifinal and finals action scheduled for Thursday and Friday, June 7-8, at St. Cloud's Municipal Stadium.

First round pairings in Class AA will find Region 7 vs. 8 (St. Cloud) and Region 3 vs. 4 (Midway Stadium, St. Paul) in one bracket and Region 1 vs. 2 (Fairbault) and Region 5 vs. 6 (Midway Stadium, St. Paul) in the other. In Class A, one bracket finds Region 1 vs. 2 (Faribulat) and Region 5 vs. 6 (St. Cloud) while the other will pit Region 3 vs. 4 (Benson) and Region 7 vs. 8 (Bemidji).

A total of 13,252 boys representing 410 high schools participted in the interscholastic baseball program this spring. There are 286 Class A schools involved and 124 in Class AA.

ATTENTION FARMERS

We recommend that you not grow buckwheat for this year. Because of the large carry-over of the 1978 crop, this price is down. But the St. Hilaire Co-op offers you a further option. Consider growing Rapeseed with a production contract. We expect that Rapeseed will return $50 more per acre than buckwheat. We have the seed and remember, your Rapeseed acres do not count against your regular crop acres. Call Bob or Ben at the St. Hilaire Co-op today for an excellent cash crop and an alternative.

- Seed 6-8 lbs. per acre
- Yields 1200 to 2000 lbs. per acre
- Chemical Treflan and Furadan
- Days to maturity 90 to 100 days
- No special equipment required for seeding or harvesting

UMC Sponsors Horsemanship Summer Camp

Horsemanship camp will be held in June at the University of Minnesota — Crookston (UMC). It is not like any other camps. There is no lake. There are no tents. Instead of sunbathing, campers are up early each morning and in class by 8 a.m.

The camp, held at the UMC stables and the Red River Valley winter shows building, features daily instruction in stable management, classroom theory, showmanship and show ring etiquette in both Western and English styles. Demonstrations and riding labs are held each morning and afternoon. Students actually experience "on-the-horse" learning.

Instruction will be given at each of the sessions, June 17-22 and June 24-29, Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will finish with a Friday morning demonstration. Orientation session will be Sunday at 7 p.m.

Marilyn Hagen, East Grand Forks, is the head instructor and camp director. She is a certified riding school instructor by Agri-Services foundation, national registered Appaloosa judge and approved 4-H judge, as well as a widely known breeder and exhibitor of horses. Assistant instructor will be Ann Bailey, light horse management major from Larimore, N.D.

"I really look forward to this type of instruction," said Hagen. "Whoever comes to the camp is so eager to learn."

Last year's camp which was the first of its kind to be held in this area, drew students from Minnesota and North Dakota, as well as area commuters.

"Students from last year's camp went on to the National Appoloosa Show in Billings, Mont., and to the Canadian National Show," said Hagen.

Enrolees must provide their own horse and tack. Hunt seat saddles, pads and bridals may be rented for the week by request. A hard hat and boots or shoes with a heel are all that is required.

Registration deadline is June 1, and applications will be taken on a "first come, first serve" basis.

The complete package, including tuition, room and board, will cost $125 per person for the week. Special rates for workshops have been established for commuters. The camp director can tailor a number of options and combinations to meet the needs of registrants upon request. More information can be obtained by calling UMC at (218) 281-6510, extension 241.

A motion was made by K. Murphy, seconded by W. Sparby, and carried to approve the following: RESOLVED, that the Board of Education accept the acceptable low bids for Cafeteria Supplies selected on the basis of quality or low price, as per the Food Supervisor's recommendation, and authorize the purchase of supplies for the 1979-80 school year from these quotations. List of items, vendors, and prices are on file in the purchasing agent's office. A roll call vote was taken and passed unanimously.

The administration was instructed to bid the 60 acres of section 27 land.

A motion was made by K. Murphy, seconded by B. Sorvig, and carried to approve the following: RESOLVED, that the Board of Education authorize the advertising for bids for a complete food service in the Area Vocational-Technical Institute - Northland Community College Joint Commons. A roll call vote was taken and passed unanimously.

A motion was made by C. Christensen, seconded by W. Sparby, and carried to approve the following: RESOLVED, that the Board of Education authorize Robert Michalicek to attend a specialized Driver Education Workshop April 25, 26, and 27. Absence to be charged to Professional Leave. A roll call vote was taken and passed unanimously.

A motion was made by C. Christensen, seconded by W. HIGHER EDUCATION COMPLEX continues to grow on the east edge of Thief River Falls as new additions to the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute are being built. Construction is reportedly several weeks behind schedule on the buildings but the August 15 completion date has not been changed, according to Fred Ballou, assistant director of the AVTI. It is expected that the new facilities will be ready for occupancy by classes to start the 1979-80 school year. All of the new building area has been enclosed and roofs are in place, Ballou said, with interior cement being poured, overhead doors being hung and plumbing, heating and electrical work advancing rapidly. Extremely cold weather during the winter delayed placing of steel beams for the roofs and the wet spring delayed delivery of concrete for pouring interior floors. In the top photo, taken toward the northwest, the new additions are shown outlined in the foreground with Northland community college at left. In the bottom photo, taken to the southeast, the college is in the foreground. New entrance to the AVTI is indicated by the arrow in the top photo. A roadway will lead from the existing AVTI entrance off highway 1 around the south and west sides of the new addition and connect with the college entrance road at far left in the top photo. Additional students and staff parking will be provided behind the AVTI, the area shown at far left in the bottom photo, where two small buildings are now located.

Sewer And Water Aired By Council

Items involving sewer and water took up a substantial portion of a Thief River Falls city council meeting Tuesday night as the council discussed problem of infiltration into the sanitary sewer system, service connection charges in lieu of assessments for sewer and water hook-ups, and a Minnesota pollution control agency (MPCA) attempt to have Thief River and Red Lake River assigned a B classification.

Superintendent of utilities John T. Anderson informed the council that although it is a city code violation and a misdemeanor to have building drains or sump pumps hooked up to the sanitary sewer the city does have an infiltration problem. He quoted figures indicating a difference of 1,900,000 in gallons of water pumped by lift stations on April 24 and 25 as a result of rain water. Because of the excess load following, the heavy rain of April 24, many areas experience sewer backups.

At the recommendation of the superintendent of utilities, a public information campaign will be undertaken to inform the citizens of city code regulations in regard to building drains and sump pumps. Ads will be run on the radio and in the newspaper, notice will be given at the time building permits are issued and stuffers will be placed in envelopes with the utility bills.

It was also suggested that the city building inspector be instructed to inspect the hookups of all buildings constructed in the last two years or that other efforts be made at more adequate policing of the problem. This proposal will be further discussed at the next meeting of the city council when the building inspector is present.

At the recommendation of the tax and assessments committee, service connection charges of $10 per front foot for sewer and $7 per front foot for water will be in effect in lieu of special assessments for all residential connections with the exception of those in the Park addition and Tessum's addition. On the two projects excepted, interest will be applied to the $10 and $7 from January 1, 1979.

Following discussion by council members of a proposal by MPCA to assign the Red Lake and Thief rivers a B classification which would have considerably more stingent requirements than the city is now subject to, the council passed a resolution opposing such a classification. They also asked alderman Bill Penning to represent the council at a water resource meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. today and voice the city's opposition to the classification and appointed Penning and Mayor Bob Carlson to serve on a committee with two planning commission members to monitor state programs to manage the city's waterways. Planning commission members on the committee are Don Barron and Al Christofferson. City engineer Doug Stewart and sanitation commissioner Norman Blaksted will also participate in the monitoring.

In other business, the council received bids on two two and a half ton trucks for use in the street department and referred the bids to the street committee for a recommendation; called for bids on drainage system improvements at the Thief River Falls regional airport with bids to be opened at 2 p.m., June 11; turned a request for no truck parking on Atlantic Ave. by the Peterson-Biddick Co. over to the safety commission for study; and approved rate changes requested by the Greenwood cemetery commission for opening of single graves, interment and use of the vault. Rate changes take effect June 1.

Granted were a request from Northwestern Bell to bury cable on E. Greenwood St.; a request for a dance permit for June 15 by Clay Forsberg of Grand Forks; a request by Terry Courneya for use of the Floyd B. Olson park June 9; and a request for a variance to the minimum lot

Camp Sunshine is sponsored by the Region I ARC and serves the camping needs of the retarded in this Northern area of Minnesota.

FBI Conducts Investigation On Reservation

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation entered the Red Lake Indian reservation early today to begin investigation of the violence which took place there over the weekend and the alleged misuse of federal funds by tribal council officers. Authorization was received from the U.S. Justice department late Monday evening for the FBI to conduct the investigations.

According to an article in the Bemidji Pioneer, Harry Hanson — who is said to have led the early Saturday morning take-over of the law enforcement center at Redlake — invited FBI agents into his home to interview him and his wife. Mrs. Stephanie Hanson, ousted by a 6-4 tribal council vote as council treasurer, reportedly turned over her records to the FBI. She had been critical of council chairman Roger Jourdain over what she called dictatorial leadership and misuse of federal funds.

Jourdain, the only president of the tribal council since the chief system was abolished 21 years ago, is reportedly in a "secret location" for security reasons.

Nathan Joe Head, named acting reservation superintendent at the request of the dissident Indians involved in the take-over, said he had planned to ask for a tribal council meeting today but doubted if one would be held. He said that either Jourdain as chairman or a quorum of the council would have to call an unscheduled session.

Times To Print Paper Saturday

Because of the Memorial day holiday on Monday, the Times will advance its Monday publication date to Saturday of this week. Change in publication date will result in advanced deadlines and advertisers and news sources are advised that early copy will be necessary.

Campaign $10,000 Over Goal . . .

United Way Allocates $55,097 To 29 Agencies

Following an exceptionally successful campaign in which its quota was exceeded by more than $10,000, the Thief River Falls United Way has allocated $55,097 to 29 different agencies, according to Barbara Drees, executive secretary.

Barry Bergem, treasurer of the United Way, presented his report at the annual meeting held Monday evening in the Pennington county law enforcement center. During the 1979 campaign the United Way received $70,678.49 in cash and pledges — exceeding its $60,000 goal by $10,678.

Elected to two-year directorship on the United Way board at the annual meeting were Nancy Tofte, Bruce Steiger, Ronald R. Nelson, Lois (Tippi) Benson, Muriel Olin and Kurt Marben. Completing their two-year terms were Myrnell Bruseguard, Harold Kertz, Mim Penn, Jane Oberg, Chris Twomey and Dave Knudson.

Completing their first year on the board and continuing to serve are Hazel Huot, Brad Powell, Dr. Phil Murray, Barry Bergem, Charles Richards, Jan Peterson and Barbara Drees.

Paul Ihle, board chairman, reviewed the year's activities, invited input from participating agencies, asked for continued campaign assistance and reported on allocations. He thanked all United Way volunteers for their service and expressed appreciation to the participating agencies for their contributions toward people helping people.

"We couldn't be more pleased with the results of the campaign this year," executive secretary Mrs. Drees said. "We took what we considered to be a low key approach to the fund-raising and the public response was tremendous. In spite of our increased goal of $60,000 due to the increased need for funds by participating agencies, generosity of the public in meeting those needs resulted in surpassing our goal.

"The additional funds mean that we will be better able to respond to the needs of some agencies where we did not budget to meet full requests, and in other areas of community and area service," she said.

Treasurer Bergem's report to the annual meeting showed that the 1979 campaign total of $70,678 included $31,651 in cash paid pledges, $21,789 in payroll deductions and $17,237 in United Way billing. He said $25,822 had been paid to participating agencies to date with $29,275 remaining to be paid as of May 20.

Allocations for the participating agencies include the following:

Girl scouts, $10,000; Friendship club, $450; Camp Sunshine, $500; Special Friends, $150; Salvation army, $2,250; health education for living program, $300; Minnesota Epilepsy league, $750; senior meals and activities program, $300; Ar-

CHAMELEON THEATRE COMPANY will perform a one-act play entitled "The Loveliest Afternoon of the Year" Friday, May 25, at the golf club spring social. The play, written by John Guare, is under the direction of Bunny Engelman. Two-member cast, Kim Blaeser and Gary Heaton, are shown in rehearsal for the production as their characters, She and He, visit an imaginary zoo. Plot of the play centers around the final afternoon in a three-week love affair of the offbeat couple. Tickets for the social can be purchased at the golf club pro shop or Corner drug. Cost is $15 a couple and includes dinner, the play and musical entertainment by Randy Brodsho, all followed by a dance.

Memorial Day Services To Be Held Monday

Memorial day services for Thief River Falls will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at Friendship park on Oakland Park road under sponsorship of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts in Thief River Falls. In the event of bad weather, the program will be held at the American Legion club rooms.

Guests speaker for the services will be Donald Heere of Roseau, past commander of the Roseau American Legion post and candidate for Ninth District commander at large of the American Legion. He has been a member of the veterans organization for 25 years and is considered a staunch defender of veterans' rights.

Sam Genereux, commander of Post 117 of the American Legion, will preside at the services which will open with singing of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic". Colors will be advanced by color guards from the Legion, VFW, their auxiliaries, the national guard and Cub scout troop.

Following singing of the national anthem, Rev. J.M. Hovland of Trinity Lutheran church will give the invocation. Following the memorial address, placing of wreaths will be done by Kathy Aune and Connie Driscoll, presidents of the VFW and Legion auxiliairies.

Taps will be played and "America" sung prior to the benediction by Rev. Hovland. Retiring of the colors will close the program.

Nature Photos Are Sought For Library Contest

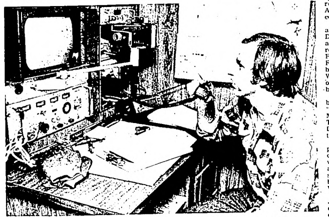
Entries are now being accepted for the first Northland nature photography contest sponsored by the Northwest regional library and the Agassiz environmental education council.

The contest is open to any amateur photographer. Details about entering are available from the Northwest regional library, 101 East First Street, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, any of its branches in Hallock, Warren, Warroad, Roseau, Greenbush or Red Lake Falls, or the bookmobile.

The contest will be judged by Dick Lockhart, editor of "Water, Woods and Wildlife." Mary Lundin, editor of the Thief River Falls Times; and Don Miller, an instructor at the Roseau public schools.

The first, second and third place winners in the three age categories for both black and white and color entries will be awarded prizes. The outstanding entry of the show will be published in "Water, Woods and Wildlife."

The contest will be judged June 4. All entries will remain on display in the headquarters of the Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls until June 15. From this date through the summer, the 18 winning prints will be on display at Northwest regional library branches in Warren, Hallock, Warroad, Roseau, Greenbush and Red Lake Falls.



SOLIDIFICATION, INC. of Minnespolis, a sewer TV inspection crew, spent the major part of last week in Thief River Falls working with local utilities personnel to determine the condition of sewers in various areas of the city. Specific attention was paid to streets where repair or construction work is to be done. Shown in one of two mobile units used by the TV crew, Richard Quast radios to the second unit to halt the camera being moved through the sewer. When leakage or a cracked or broken pipe is observed the camera is stopped, Quast uses a rapid print camera to shoot a picture of the problem as shown on his screen, records the number of feet from the starting point the camera has traveled and describes the nature of the problem. The three-man crew including Quast, Dick Schmit and Doug Ebert worked at a rate of about a block an hour.

Pearl Haugen And Bertil Haugen Wed At Zion

Pearl Haugen of this city and Bertil Haugen of Warren exchanged marriage vows recently at a simple wedding ceremony at Zion Lutheran church. Rev. Richard Larson officiated.

Attendants were Mrs. Darrell (Laurie) Rude of Duluth and Jack Haugen of Minneapolis, daughter and son of the bride. James Haugen and Darrel Rude served as ushers.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of shaded pale green sheer crepe featuring peach floral print. In her hair she wore a solitary peach rose, matching her arm bouquet of long-stemmed peach colored roses, accented with babies' breath and ferns. Gold jewelry completed her attire.

Her matron of honor was attired in a cream colored, floor-length gown accented with small black polka dots. She wore black jewelry and a corsage of peach roses,. fern and babies' breath.

The groom and his attendant wore business suits with peach rose boutonnieres pinned on their lapels.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon reception was held at Lon's restaurant with Mr. and Mrs. James Haugen of Grand Forks as host and hostess. Lita Rude, a granddaughter, registered the guests as Laurie Rude and Ella Peterson of Warren, a sister of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Jack Haugen, a daughter-in-law, poured the coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Haugen returned Thursday after spending a week in Phoenix, Ariz. The couple will make their home in Thief River Falls.

Sandra Kay Srnsky To Wed David L. Hagen

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Srnsky of rural Thief River Falls announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Kay, to David L. Hagen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hagen of Thief River Falls.

Miss Srnsky is a candidate for graduation with the Lincoln High school class of 1979. Her fiance is a 1978 graduate of Lincoln.

A July 21st wedding at Trinity Lutheran church is planned.

Thursday And Friday Are Poppy Days In TRF

"Wear a poppy in remembrance of our Veterans, is the message to our community from the American Legion Auxiliary," stated Barbara Restad, local poppy chairman.

Poppy Days in Thief River Falls are Thursday and Friday.

For more than 45 years, the red poppies have been worn by Americans. They are worn proudly to signify the nations feelings towards all service men and women from all wars who have died for their country.

The hand-made poppies are made by the returning veterans, disabled in mind and body. They help lighten the veterans' burdens by giving employment to many who otherwise have no occupation. By buying the poppies, with a small contribution, and by wearing them, these veterans are being honored.

All funds derived go directly towards veteran rehabilitation, to the needs of their family and to child welfare. Auxiliary members dispensing the poppies on the streets volunteer their time.

Mrs. Restad said, "When you buy a poppy think about the disabled veteran who made it. Remember also all service men and women from all wars who have died for us. By honoring the dead, we assist the living. That is the true significance of Poppy Days."

Mrs. Dale Holtan And Amber Dawn Feted At Shower

Mrs. Dale Holtan and daughter, Amber Dawn, were honored at a shower held recently at the Duane Langness home.

Planning the shower and serving as hostesses were Julie Ness, Judy Heaton and Kathy Langness. Games were played and prizes were given. Sue Anderson assisted Mrs. Holtan in opening the gifts, which were passed around for viewing. A buffet-style lunch was served.

Present were Brandon Heaton, Chris Langness, Theresa Eggen, Joni Mosbeck, Sue Anderson, Kaylynn Swenson, Inez Gunderson, Terry Gutterud, Linda Kopecky and Sandy Berry.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were Mrs. Gunderson and Roz Bentow.

Local Retired Teachers Attend Bemidji Meet

Thief River Falls unit of the Northern division of Retired Educators was represented at the district noon luncheon held Saturday at the Viking, north of Bemidji, on old highway 71.

Attending from Thief River Falls were Geneva Overum, Bertha Hastad, Viola Koglin, Myrtle Myrin, Dorothy Lawrence, and Ellen Peterson, president of the local division.

Other units represented were members from Kennedy, Grygla, and Red Lake Falls. A total of 57 members attended the luncheon hosted by the Paul Bunyan unit. Dr. Mabel Parker presided at the program that included a presentation by Carol and Jerry Packard, who studied and worked for 10 years in the South Pacific. They showed slides and artifacts from Papua, New Guinea, where they conducted an agricultural history research, and of Samoa, where they taught in the American school.

Entertainment included piano and violin solos by the fifth and sixth grade music department.

Tribute was paid to Dr. Ruth Mangelsdorf for having enrolled the most lieftime members in REAM. Since beginning in 1970, when there were only 19 life members, she has increased the membership to over 200. It was also noted that she and Dr. Ruth Parker were instrumental in organizing the Northern District of Retired Teachers.

During the business session the size of the district was discussed. Due to the great distance involved in traveling from the northern to the southern parts of the district, it was voted to dissolve the district and to enlarge and strengthen the local units. The final district meeting will be held in Thief River Falls in September.

Local AAUW Present Two Scholarships

Local chapter of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) recently awarded scholarships to two Northland Community college women from this area who will be continuing their education as juniors at the fall quarter.

Receiving the scholarships were Joan Engel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cordes Engel, and Kathy Shetler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shetler, both of this city. Each received a $150 scholarship.

Both recipients have maintained a high grade average and have been active in various groups at the Community college.

Miss Engel will be attending Winona State university this fall, where she will be enrolled in a para-legal course of study. Miss Shetler plans to attend Bemidji State university. She will major in music education.

Penning And Melander Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. William Penning of this city announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol, to Murray Melander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Melander, also of Thief River Falls.

Miss Penning is currently attending the Thief River Falls area vocational technical institute. Her fiance is a graduate of Northland Community college.

The wedding will take place July 28 at Trinity Lutheran church.

Odd Fellow-Rebekah Lodges To Meet Thurs.

Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges will meet Thursday at 8 p.m., at the Odd Fellows hall.

On the agenda will be election of officers,. the possible building construction, and plans for the annual convention at Moorhead in June. All members are encouraged to attend.

Rites Held For D. J. Vacura Of Greenbush

Dominick J. Vacura, 84, of Greenbush, died unexpectedly Tuesday afternoon, May 18, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital.

Funeral services for Dominick Vacura were held Saturday at 2 p.m., at the Collins Funeral chapel in Greenbush with intern pastor Michael Fish officiating. Roxan Anderson was the organist and Doug Johnson, the soloist. Interment was in the Barnett cemetery near Greenbush with military honors accorded by the Greenbush American Legion post. The Collins Funeral home, Greenbush, was in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Leslie Alme, Morris Vacura, Roy Hlueny, Leo Walsh, John Walsh and Emil Vacura, Jr.

Dominick Joseph Vacura, a son of the late Dominick F. and Anna Vacura, was born May 11, 1895 at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. As a child, he moved with his parents to a farm in Barnett township, Roseau county, near Badger. There he attended school and grew to manhood.

He was a veteran of World War I, serving in the U.S. Army. Following his discharge in 1919, he returned to the Badger-Greenbush community.

On Sept. 3, 1919, he was united in marriage to Teresie Hlueny in Barnett township. For a time the couple lived and farmed in Barnett and Hereim townships, near Greenbush. Later Vacura was employed for one and one-half years by Reese construction on the Alcan highway. In 1942, they moved into Greenbush.

Vacura was also employed for several months in the clean-up operation at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii and later was employed by Rosco Manufacturing in Minneapolis for 12 years. Following his retirement, he returned to Greenbush, where he had since resided.

He was a member of the Greenbush American Legion post 88 and the Badger VFW post.

He is survived by one son, Theodore Vacura, Kalispell, Mont., two daughters: Mrs. Vance (Adelia) Halbert, Halma, and Mrs. Larry (Yvonne) Stephens of Strathcona; 11 grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, three brothers: Otto Vacura, Badger; Adolph, Greenbush; and Jack, Roseau; and one sister, Mrs. Arnold (Tillian) Gronvold, Santa Barbara, Calif.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died in October of 1972, six brothers and three sisters.

Red Cross Aid In Flood Area Depletes Funds

Thief River Falls area residents who would like to make a special contribution to the Red Cross disaster fund for Minnesota-North Dakota floods may send it to Steve Stokke, treasurer of the Pennington county chapter, c-o Northern State bank in Thief River Falls.

Dr. Charles Samuelson, county chapter chairman, said Red Cross relief operations in the flooding area of the Red river began in mid April with mass feeding of approximately 200 volunteer dike workers. This escalated into the providing of thousands of meals each day as the river spread out to a width of 20 miles in some areas.

At the height of the feeding activity, 18 Red Cross vehicles, some brought from as far away as Dallas, Tex., and Kalamazoo, Mich., were serving thousands of dike workers, flood victims and Red Cross volunteers. Feeding from mobile and fixed sites reached a peak of 6,800 meals on April 27 and through early May the organization has served nearly 67,000 meals at a cost of $34,432.

Red Cross assistance to disaster victims includes food, clothing, temporary housing, medical and health needs, replacement of necessary household items, replacement of personal occupational tools and supplies and temporary repairs to homes so that families may move back in. Cleaning supplies are given to families returning to their homes. Assistance of this type to almost 700 families cost $80,687.

All Red Cross disaster assistance is an outright gift made possible by voluntary contributions from the American people to the Red Cross, Dr. Samuelson said.

Summer School Designed For Counselors

A unique school in the upper Mid-West begins its fourth year when classes open on June 4th at Moorhead. International Summer School on Counseling the Family of the Chemically Dependent at Moorhead state university is designed for professional and lay people who are directly or indirectly concerned with counseling the family of the chemically dependent person.

One of the tragic aspects of chemical dependency is the affect it has on nonaddicted family members. In most cases, these family members are just as ill, and suffer as much or more as the person who actually has the disease. The Moorhead school recognizes this fact and aims its curriculum to meet the needs of the chemically dependent family.

This year's outstanding faculty includes: Earl Duncan, native program development officer for the alcoholism foundation of Manitoba, who will present for the first time at this school an overview of the problems associated with the illness of chemical dependency in the Indian family. Another first this year will be an entire day devoted to youth. This day long session will be conducted by Richard Schaeffer, adolescent specialist and master addiction counselor. The nationally known team of Joseph Bailey and Sharon Wegscheider will present "The Family Trap — No One Escapes from a Chemically Dependent Family."

Other faculty members include Dr. Larry Constantine of Tufts university, Boston, Mass.; and Dr. George Mann, director of St. Mary's Rehabilitation Center, Minneapolis. Ed Dougherty, an international consultant in the field of alcoholism, will be the guest speaker at the June 7th banquet.

Registrations for this year's school must be in by May 25. Enrollment is limited to 150.

Pennington Co. Observes May As Arbor Month

May is Arbor month in Minnesota and plans are now under way in Thief River Falls to observe this occasion. Starting the last two weeks in May, the Pennington county extension service will conduct a tree planting class which will include all the elementary schools in Thief River Falls and Goodridge.

The class will center on the proper planting and care of seedling trees. After the class, each child who wishes to plant a tree will be given a seedling to plant at home.

Arbor day will also be recognized at ceremonies to be held at the Skylite apartments and Valley home. Trees for each location are being provided by the county board of commissioners and seedlings for the school children have been donated by the Pennington soil conservation service.

Pennington county commissioner Otto Stenberg, one of the organizers of the program, stated: "Landscaping and beautification by the planting of trees must be an ongoing process if we are to stay ahead of the rapid development of an expanding city and disease problems that may be encountered in the trees we already have."

County board of commissioners, soil conservation service and extension service urge everyone to plant a tree this month, not only for personal pleasure but for the enjoyment of generations to come.

Stangel Attends Insurance Class

Elwyn W. Stangel of Thief River Falls, a life insurance sales representative for Combined Insurance Company of America, recently graduated from an extensive training course held in the corporation's headquarters in Chicago.

Aeronautics Board Approves Airline Merger

Civil Aeronautics board recently issued the written opinion confirming its oral decision of April 26 approving the merger of North Central airlines and Southern airways into Republic airlines. The formal order now goes to the President of the United States for his review.

Hal N. Carr, chairman of North Central, said plans for the combined carrier will greatly improve service to the traveling public. "The new airline will have 8,000 employees and operate a fleet of 99 jet-powered aircraft. Over 12 million passengers will be carried annually," he said.

Republic, with corporate headquarters in Minneapolis-St. Paul, will serve over 150 cities in 26 states on a 34,000-mile route system extending from New England to California, and Canada to the Caribbean.

Area Students To Graduate At EGF AVTI

Karen Grochowski of Strandquist and Jennifer Patterson of Viking will be graduating from the East Grand Forks area vocational technical institute. Graduation ceremonies will be held on June 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the civic center, 300 NE 15th Street in East Grand Forks. A reception will follow at the East Grand Forks AVTI cafeteria.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

The Fourth Annual Kidney Foundation Auction was held on May 6th. It was a great success because it was a community effort. The business and professional people were especially generous. The saleable items that were given from the homes were of fine quality and sold very well and cash contributions were up substantially from last year.

Approximately 125 people worked to make this auction the success that it was. We would like to thank all the generous people who gave of their time, talent and treasure to make this auction possible and those good people who attended the auction and purchased all the fine merchandise that was offered.

We would especially like to thank Mrs. Art Terrian who raises flowers all year long to be sold at the auction with all funds donated and also to the Jaycee Women who operated the lunch stand and donated all their profits. Our community will be able to send the Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest a check for approximately $5,500 to be used for education and research on kidney disease.

Thanks again, everyone,

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BANDS ARE FORMING NOW

If you have children that are going into the 4th or 5th grades, encourage them to join this richly rewarding activity. The school band director, Mr. Moum, is specially trained to get them off to a good start. Larson Music will help assist in your decision to get your child started on a new band instrument.

IMPORTANT NOTICE:

Because School District 564 will now be charging a fee for music instruction, Larson Music has reduced its rental fee requirement. You can rent through September 1st for only $24.48: on most instruments. For further details contact Al, Marty or Jon at the Larson Music Co. or phone 681-2148.

Area Students Take Part In UND Graduation

Among the 1,193 students who received degrees from the University of North Dakota at spring commencement ceremonies were 11 area students. Graduation ceremony was held May 13 in the winter sports center on the UND campus in Grand Forks with university president Thomas Clifford presiding.

In charge of the program was Dr. Russell Peterson, professor in UND's center for teaching and learning. Main address was given by Olaf Tammark who was once a slave laborer in a siberian prison camp.

Four area students received degrees from the college of arts and sciences. Lois Nelson of Middle Riverian prison camp.

Four area students received degrees from the college of arts and sciences. Lois Nelson of Middle River and Steve Mosbeck of Thief River Falls both earned bachelor of arts degrees in that division and Diane Hellie and Doug Williams, both of Thief River Falls, earned bachelor of science degrees.

Awarded bachelor of science degrees in education from the center for teaching and learning were Kevin Kompelien and Jamie Kurdziel, both of Thief River Falls.

Three Thief River Falls students received bachelor of science degrees from the UND college for human resources development. They were Sheila Anderson, criminal justice studies; Bruce Howick, business administration; and Arlyne Forsberg, public administration.

Kathryn Lee of Oklee and Pamela Smith of Thief River Falls were also among the area students who were presented with degrees at the May 13 UND commencement. Lee received a bachelor of science degree in nursing from the college of nursing and Smith earned a bachelor of science degree in physical therapy from the school of medicine.

Robbin Trontvet and Roger Erikson of Thief River Falls and Rebecca Nelson of Goodridge were among 82 students selected to serve as grey gowns at the university commencement ceremony. The three were selected for the honor on the basis of academic excellence, service and campus leadership.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS activities for students in the Thief River Falls public schools received an additional lift this week with the presentation of a check for $215. A carnival and car wash held during May raised the funds presented to the student participants. Making the award was Phyllis Meyer, representing the sponsoring McDonald's restaurant. The state special olympics will be held May 29-30-31 at Fargo-Moorhead.

Polk County Seeks Talent For Fair Show

Polk countyfair, to be held July 12-15, is sponsoring its third annual amateur talent contest.

The amateur contest is open to any individual or group with a presentable act who is not regularly employed as a professional entertainer. Union musicians, or those whose talent is a principal source of income are not permitted to enter. There are no other entry restrictions nor age limit.

Last year's winner of the Polk county amateur contest was Dave Boyer of Climax. He took second place at the Minnesota state fair and is now considering a professional offer from the Buddy Young show out of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Deadline for entering is July 2. For more details call or write Bennie Newel (218-945-6871) at Fertile, MN.

Vacation Bible School Set At St. John Church

St. John Lutheran church will hold vacation Bible school from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. June 4 to June 8, using the new "I Love to Tell the Story" materials and theme. School is open to all children in the community from nursery age through grade seven.

The series uses games, puzzles, songs, Bible stories and take home projects each day. According to VHS superintendent Mrs. Cyril Stensrud, "Vacation Bible school is the single most important and effective way for our church to reach children and their parents."

Over 130 children were enrolled in the program last year. Free babysitting is available and refreshments will be served.

All sessions will be held at the church, located at the corner of First St. E. and Pine avenue. Persons interested in enrolling their children or wanting additional information should phone, the church office at 681-4488 or Mrs. Cyril Stensrud at 681-1008.

Robert Dodds Re-elected To Hospital Board

Annual meeting of the St. John's hospital corporation was held on May 16 in the conference room at St. John's hospital. Each year at this meeting the corporation elects two board members to the governing board of St. John's hospital.

Robert Dodds of Red Lake Falls was re-elected to his second three year term. Dodds was first elected to the hospital board of directors in 1976 and will be serving his second full term.

Also re-elected in the May 16 election was Sr. Myra Schmeig of St. Mary's hospital, Detroit Lakes, who has served on the board for five years.

Other members of the board consist of Sr. Charitas Brophy, chairperson from Mount St. Benedict in Crookston; Sr. Anita Whalen, DDS, practicing dentist in Warren; Sr. Noreen Striefel, social worker at St. Mary's hospital in Detroit Lakes; Mrs. Lorri Gjerdingen, from Red Lake Falls; and Willard Purath, farmer from Red Lake Falls.

All terms of board members are for three years. After board members have served two full terms they are ineligible for reelection for at least one full year.

Officers of the corporation will be elected at the next regular meeting.

Sen. Boschwitz To Visit RRV Communities

Senator Rudy Boschwitz, using the Memorial day Senate recess to travel extensively in northwest Minnesota, will be in Crookston (Robert's Restaurant) at 11:15 a.m. and Warren (Grand Central Station) at 2:15 p.m. on Wednesday, May 30. These will be among eight stops Wednesday and Thursday in the Red River Valley.

"I'm glad," Boschwitz said, "to have these days free from duties in Washington so I can get up to the Seventh district and have some real time available to talk to people there.

"I wanted to make a complete tour and inspection of the flooded areas rather than just making a quick fly-over of the region," he explained. "It's very important that we do some deep and thorough examining of what needs to be done in the future to keep this flooding from recurring every year.

"In order to talk with as many people as possible in as many towns as I can, I'll be holding listening hours and meetings all the way from Moorhead up to Noyes on the Canadian border.

"I'm hoping to see a lot of people; it's absolutely essential for us serving out here in Washington to have a wide range of input from our homestaters."

Health Advisory Group To Meet

Quin county health advisory committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Newfolden school library on May 31 to set priorities and determine which requests are to be included in the 1980-81 CHS plan. Meeting is open to the public.

Make it yourself with wool competition will be held on Saturday, October 13, according to an announcement by District 1 director, Gladys Hallstrom. It will again be held at Northland community college in Thief River Falls.

Garments may be entered in four age categories: Pre-teen, ages 10-13, junior, ages 14-16; senior, ages 17-24, and adult, over 24.

Pre-teens may enter pants, vest, skirt, sweater, jumper or poncho. Juniors, seniors or adults may enter a two-piece suit, a dress or a coat. Contestants may enter as many garments as they like but each entry must be on a separate entry blank. All garments must be made from loomed, knitted or felted fabric or yarn of 100 per cent wool or of a minimum of 60 per cent wool and no more than 40 per cent synthetic fiber.

Entry blanks may be obtained from county directors, county extension offices, local fabric stores which sell wool or from Mrs. Hallstrom, rural route, Red Lake Falls.

$8,215 Given In Northland Scholarships

Greg Johnson, Mahnomen; Donna Knudson and Stephanie Sorvig, McIntosh; Lois Orpen, Middle River; Vicki Bjorgaard, Arlene Knutson, Kristy Knutson and Jeff Sorenson, Newfolden.

Also Joanneth Brateng, Wannaska; Craig Fast, Warroad, Julie Buresh, Waubun, Chris Kneen, White Bear Lake, and Pam Knutson and Glenn Mosher, Williams.

Out of state recipients were Moriee Hendricks, Vincent Parker and Brian Thomas, Inkster, MI, Deborah Sturgis, Columbus, Miss., Toby McAdam, Clyde Park, MT, Mark Koehn, Devils Lake, N.D., Chris Charlebois, Minot, N.D., and Jerry Hooten, Massillon, Ohio.

Selection of award winners is based on the students' need, academic achievement and activity participation.

Northland is able to award scholarships during each of the three academic quarters as a result of the local support for the college. "This support affords an educational opportunity for many students to attend Northland community college," said Wiebolt.

PREPARATIONS for sewer TV inspection were made by Thief River Falls utilities employees last week. A jet machine was used to clean the sewers and a string was run through the pipe. When the TV crew arrived they attached a cable to the string and pulled it through. Their camera was then run through the sewer on the cable. Shown here using the jet machine is Clifford Anderson.

Sewer, Water Questions Aired By TRF Council

width which will allow the AVTI to have a lot 59 feet wide instead of the required 75' in a R-1 zone.

The council instructed the clerk and mayor to execute a substantial completion certificate for the architect in the fire hall project; instructed the clerk to investigate camping rates in state facilities with possible local rate increase pending; and referred a request regarding the sublease of a hangar at the airport to the city attorney for study.

Reports were received by the council on the development of a park near Valley Home by Lowell Swenson and on finance committee negotiations with Lars Wold and Al Smith regarding land in the site C area and property leased to Wold by Burlington Northern.

Council members were also informed of an upcoming meeting to review the preliminary draft of the market study being undertaken by Brauer and Associates. That meeting was set for May 29 at 7 p.m. by the planning commission.

Also upcoming is a meeting with assistant commissioner of aeronautics Lawrence McCabe and McCabe's staff member Ken Hoeper to discuss a questionnaire to determine essential air service needs of Thief River Falls; reconvening of bureau of mediation services hearing to hear testimony on the positions and responsibilities of five city employees with the purpose of determining whether or not they function as supervisory personnel; and a meeting to finalize the city's position regarding the power supply from WAPA after 1985. These meetings are scheduled for 11 a.m. Wednesday, May 30; 9 a.m. Wednesday, June 20; and 11:30 a.m. Monday, June 11, respectively.

The May 22 meeting was adjourned to Monday, June 11, and the council will not hold its regular meeting June 12 since council members will be in attendance at a League of Cities meeting.

TV PICTURES of various areas of sewer in the city were viewed last week in an effort to identify problem areas. Indentifiable in the screen were such problems as infiltration, cracks, leaks, broken pipe and obstruction by roots. Three-man TV inspection crew from Minneapolis recorded information gathered through the use of the TV camera in the pipes and will issue a report to the city regarding the condition of the sewer. The report will be used by the city in scheduling repairs.

Pennington Has 1,840 Veterans In Population

When Minnesotans celebrate Vietnam veterans week May 28-June 3, they will be saluting an estimated 187,000 Vietnam-era veterans who live in the state. They are part of a total 558,000 veterans in Minnesota.

These are the most current figures available and appear in a county-by-county breakdown of estimated veteran population throughout the nation as of last March 31, according to Morris Nooner Jr., director of the VA center at Fort Snelling. The report was prepared by Reports and Statistics Service of VA's Office of Controller in Washington, D.C.

Nooner said Minnesota counties with the largest number of veterans were Hennepin, with 162,730, and Ramsey, with 77,770. Pennington county has 1,840 veterans, including 610 from the Vietnam era. Marshall county has 1,340 veterans, Red Lake 440, Roseau 1,140 and Polk 4,550.

The VA official said that, nationally, more than 30 million servicemen and women are living as of March 31, 1979, the date of the survey.

An estimated 187,000 Minnesota veterans had been in service during the Vietnam era of Aug. 5, 1964, to May 7, 1975. Of those, 9,000 also served during the Korean conflict, he said. World War II veterans made up the largest group of veterans in the state, with an estimated 217,000 (660 in Pennington county). Of the 90,000 Korean conflict veterans in the state (290 in Pennington), 15,000 also served in World War II.

An estimated 60,000 Minnesota veterans (210 in Pennington) saw military service only between the Korean conflict and the Vietnam era (Feb. 1, 1955-Aug. 4, 1964).

Approximately 14,000 World War I veterans live in the state, 31 in Pennington county. No distribution was made of Spanish-American War veterans because of their small number. However, it was estimated that, nationally, 238 Spanish-American War veterans were living as of March 31.

Veterans with questions about their VA benefits were urged to contact the Veterans administration center at Fort Snelling, veterans' service organization representatives or their county veterans service officer. The BA's toll-free telephone numbers can be obtained from the telephone directory.

A hearty congratulations again go to coach Whitey Olson and his superb Lincoln high school tennis team following Tuesday's convincing 4-1 wjn over St. Cloud Tech in the Region 8AA championship match at Brainerd.

Tech was a surprisingly easy 4-1 winner over St. Cloyd Apollo in last week's South Half Region 8AA championship match. Thief River Falls, a 5-0 North Half Region 8AA championship match winner over Moorhead, had expected to face Apollo for the Region 8AA title. But Apollo's only win against Tech was seventh grader Casey Merickel's 6-2, 6-0 lashing of Bob Plombon in first singles.

State tournament play starts Tuesday for the Prowlers who will play the Region 7AA champion in a 3 p.m. Class AA quarterfinal match at Bemidji State University.

Virginia was the number 1 seeded team entering the Region 7AA tournament. Virginia was scheduled to play Grand Rapids and Hibbing was to meet Duluth East today (Wednesday) in the Region 7AA semifinals at Hibbing, with the winners squaring off in this afternoon's championship match.

Hibbing was seeded second to Virginia after losing two of three matches to the Blue Devils during the season. But all three matches were close, including Virginia's 3-2 victory over the Blue Jackets in the recent Iron Range Conference tournament.

Baseball Program Faces End

Facing extinction, the Lincoln high school baseball team squares off with Crookston today (Wednesday) in the opening round of the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 tournament. Today's winner meets top-seeded Bemidji in Thursday's championship game. Both games will be played at 4:30 p.m. on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

Under School District 564 budget cuts, baseball has been eliminated from the Lincoln athletic program for the 1979-80 school year. Today or tomorrow could mark the final games for the Prowlers who have been playing baseball since 1952.

The Lincoln baseball program began in 1952 when coach Bob Nick, using Junior Legion and Bums players, participated in a district tournament at Crookston that produced three wins, a title and a berth in the region tournament where the Prowlers lost to Cass Lake 2-1.

Members of that first, if brief, Lincoln baseball team were Jack Hoppe, Dick Bjorkman, Mike Hajostek, Jack Erickson, Joe Poole, Larry Gilbertson, Sid Vraa, Cal Vraa, LeRoy Aasland, Ronnie Buen and Lyle Guttu.

The following year, 1953, was the first year that baseball was a letter-eligible sport at Lincoln high school. It also marked the start of a 22-year coaching career here for Ralph Skay. He won a district title that spring with a 12-1 record. Appropriately he closed out an outstanding coaching career with District 31 title in 1974 when the Prowlers reached the finals of the Region 8 tournament before losing to Bemidji 4-1.

Current Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell succeeded Skay in 1975. His 1977 club won the Sub Region 4 tournament and battled a heavily favored St. Cloud Tech team on even terms before losing a 9-6 Region 8AA tournament game.

Miscellaneous

+ John Noga, who has a 5-0 pitching record that includes two no-hitters and a one-hitter, was picked by his Bemidji high school baseball teammates as winner of the 1979 Horace May award, named in honor of Bemidji's baseball coach from 1947-65. Past award winners include Gary Sargent, 1972; Mike Malmquist, 1973; Jim Conway, 1974; Jim Grimm, 1976; Mike Orgon, 1977; and Lance Chambers, 1978.

Prowlers Win 1979 Region 8AA Tennis Title

"A rose by any other name would still smell as sweet," it's been said in Shakespearean fashion. For the Lincoln high school tennis team that means three state tournament berths in the past five years under three different banners.

Thief River Falls was an easy 4-1 winner over St Cloud Tech Tuesday at Brainerd to earn a spot in the 1979 Minnesota Class AA state high school tennis tournament as the Region 8AA chapion.

The Prowlers also made state tournament trips in 1978 as the Section 8 winner and in 1975 as the Region 8 titlist under the seemingly yearly restructured Minnesota State High School League playoff format.

Nevertheless, in this, the first year of two-class tennis competition in the state, the Prowlers were most impressive in beating a Tech squad that as defending state champion had beaten Thief River Falls 3-2 in the finals of the 1977 Section 8 tournament.

Individually, Thief River Falls' Bill Jury was near-perfect at first singles where he surrendered just seven points in the first set and a mere two in the second en route to a 6-1, 6-0 drubbing of Tech's Bob Plombon.

Also winning in straight sets were Mitch Rustad, second singles; Bill Holmes, third singles; and Bill Michalek and Tom Bjorkman, first doubles.

Mark Collins and Mark Lundin, the only new faces on a Thief River Falls team that finished fourth in last year's state tournament, struggled with tournament jitters in losing to the Tiger's Bryan Hanson and Steve Zenner in straight sets at second doubles.

Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson said he was pleased with his team's play in general yesterday, and he's looking forward to the quarterfinals of the state tournament Tuesday in Bemidji where the Prowlers will play the Region 7AA representative.

Tuesday's opening round state tournament team matches in both Class AA and Class A will be played at various sites around the state. The semifinals and finals will be played Sat., June 2, at the University of Minnesota courts in Minneapolis.

Jury, Rustad, Michalek, and Bjorkman were all scheduled to compete today (Wednesday) in the Region 8AA individual singles and doubles matches at Brainerd.

Singles and doubles play in both Class AA and Class A state tournaments will be played Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1, in Minneapolis.

2. Mitch Rustad (TRF) def. John Zanot 6-1, 7-5.
3. Bill Holmes (TRF) def. Tim Dean 6-1, 6-2.
1. Bill Michalek, Tom Bjorkman (TRF) def. Kevin Sales, Rick Jahr 6-4, 6-0.
2. Bryan Hanson, Steve Zenner (SCT) def. Mark Collins, Mark Lundin 6-2, 6-0.

Lincoln Golf Team Wins NWAC, TRF Meet Titles

In one fell swoop Monday the Lincoln high school golf team successfully defended both its Northwest Athletic Conference and Thief River Falls invitational meet titles by an 18-stroke margin on the Thief River Falls Country Club course.

The Prowlers shot a five-man 392 in the competition that doubled as the Northwest Athletic Conference and Thief River Falls invitational meets. Bemidji and Fergus Falls were second and third, respectively, in both cases with a 410 and a 411. It was the third straight NWAC title for the winners.

In the NWAC scores, Crookston trailed Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Fergus Falls with a 420 and East Grand Forks had a 439.

Moorhead and Crookston shared fourth place in the Thief River Falls invitational standings, followed by Roseau at 422, Detroit Lakes 434, East Grand Forks 439, Grand Forks Red River 447 and Bagley 449.

A three-way battle developed for medalist honors when Thief River Falls' Bob Fitzgerald and Wade Hoppe, along with Crookston's Tod Sipe, al finished the regulation 18 holes with 76s. Fitzgerald outlasted Sipe through three playoff holes for the top spot. Hoppe bowed out on the first extra hole when his on-target putt rimmed the cup.

It was the final meet of the regular season for coach Jack Boyer's Prowlers who won earlier titles this year in invitational meets at Bagley and Bemidji. They were scheduled to compete in the 1979 Region 8AA golf meet today (Wednesday) at Park Rapids. Tee-off time was 9:30 a.m.

Site, Date Of Sub Region 4 Track Changed

Rain Tuesday forced postponement and a change in site for the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 boys and girls track meet.

Originally scheduled to be held Tuesday on the Bemidji State University track, the meet was changed to today (Wednesday) at Grand Forks' Cushman Field. Competition was scheduled to start at 9:45 a.m.

Region 8AA Sportsmanship Award Presentation Set

Presentation of the 1978-79 Minnesota State High School League Region 8AA sportsmanship award won by Lincoln high school will be made Thursday during a special Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club noon luncheon meeting at the Elks.

Lincoln principal Frank Hamerlinck will present the award to both the city of Thief River Falls and the Lincoln student body.

Thief River Falls was selected as the Region 8AA sportsmanship award winner in the first year of the Minnesota State High School League-sponsored activity. MSHSL sportsmanship trophies were awarded to one of the participating schools at the state hockey and state basketball tournaments, and to a school in each Class A district and Class AA region throughout the state. A special committee picked the state tournament sportsmanship award winners. The distract and region committees selected the Class A district Class AA region winners.

Selection committees evaluated the state tournament, district and region winners on the following criteria:

+ Cheerleaders — personal appearance and conduct, sportsmanship in appropriate choice and timing of yells, courtesy toward opponents, officials and teams; and crowd control before, during and after the games.

+ Cheering section (Pep Club, student body, band, adult fans) — conduc toward officials in and outside the playing arena before, during and after the game, conduct and attitude toward players and other spectators, observance of tournament regulations banning signs, noise makers and debris.

+ Team and coach — appearance and conduct on and off the playing court and throughout the tournament; conduct and attitude toward opponents and officials.

Lincoln high school student body, after accepting the MSHSL challenge to participate in the state-wide sportsmanship contest, received the official backing of superintendent of schools Dr. William Corliss and the board of education; mayor Bob Carlson and the Thief River Falls city council; Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club, and the Thief River Falls Blue Line Hockey Club.

Thief River Falls, in winning the Region 8AA sportsmanship award, was selected by the Region 8AA committee over 14 other Region 8AA schools, including Alexandria, Melrose, St. Cloud Apollo, St. Cloud Tech, Brainerd, Little Falls, Sauk Rapids, Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Moorhead, Park Rapids, Bemidji, Crookston and East Grand Forks.

TRFAHA Will Elect Officers Tonight, 7:30

Election of officers for the 1979-80 season will take place tonight (Wednesday) when the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association (TRFAHA) meets at 7:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium.

A discussion will also be held on the summer remodeling project planned for the old arena.

Archery Club Meeting Set For Thursday

Otters Take Two Games From Prowlers 2-0, 13-9

A fine 2-0 ball game was followed by a loosely played 13-9 affair Monday as the Lincoln high school baseball team closed out its 1979 regular season schedule with a Northwest Athletic Conference doubleheader against Fergus Falls. And unfortunately for the host Prowlers they were on the losing end of both scores.

Fergus Falls 2
TRF 0

Thief River Falls out-hit Fergus Falls 6-4 in the opener, but the Prowlers stranded nine base runners in a 2-0 loss.

Four Thief River Falls runners reached third, but none of them scored, including speedster Jeff Kosel who was cut down trying to score from second base on a single to right by Jim Nyland in the bottom of the fifth. Waldham's perfect throw from the outfield nailed Kosel at the plate.

Thief River Falls had runners at second and third with just one out in the sixth when Jeff Ulrich led off with a double and went to third on a wild pitch that walked Scott Sabo. A wild throw to third on the play moved Sabo to second, but did not score Ulrich.

"We had lots of opportunities," admitted Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell, "but we didn't get any hits when we needed them."

TRF 9

In what losing Charlie Cornell called a "nightmare," Fergus Falls outlasted Thief River Falls 13-9 in a game that featured, for the most part, non-pitchers on the mound as coaches saved their hurlers for this week's tournament play.

There were five home runs hit, three by the Prowlers who trained 12-2 at one point, but avoided a 10-run rule decision with a run in the bottom of the fourth and prolonged the contest even more with a four-run sixth.

Jeff Ulrich and Murray Dicken hit first inning home runs for the Prowlers and Scott Sabo hit a three-run homer in the sixth.

In addition to the 22 runs, 20 hits and nine errors the two teams produced they also stranded 26 base runners and walked 23 batters.

Fatal Boating Accident Rate At Record Low

Fatality rate for pleasure boating accidents reached an all time low in 1978, according to the latest Coast Guard statistics.

There were 9.4 boater deaths for every 100,000 boats in 1978, compared to a fatality rate of 9.6 in 1977, the previous lowest rate.

However, total deaths in boating accidents increased by nine last year. In all, 1,321 boaters died in 1978, up from the 1,312 who died in boating mishaps in 1977. This increase may be partly attributable to the 450,000 more boats estimated to be on the waterways in 1978 than in 1977.

Some 8,576 boats were involved in 6,529 reported boating accidents throughout the United States. In addition to the fatalities, 1,761 people were injured and $12,301,200 worth of property damage resulted from these accidents. The injury figure is lower than that recorded for 1977, but the amount of property damage is the highest on record.

A SENIOR on the Lincoln high school golf team, Charlie Boyer chipped on to the No. 7 green Monday during the combination Northwest Athletic Conference and Thief River Falls invitational golf meets played on the Country Club course here. Boyer finished with an 83. The Prowlers were winners in both phases of the meet.

Baseball Tournament . . .

Sub Region 4 Starts Today

Opening game in the 1979 Region 8AA Sub Region 4 high school baseball tournament today (Wednesday) will match Thief River Falls, 4-7 for the year, against Crookston, 7-7, at 4:30 p.m. on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

The two teams split a pair of regular season decisions as the Pirates took a 1-0 ten-inning squeeker back on May 7 and the Prowlers posted a 7-0 shutout just last week.

Today's winner will face defending champion Bemidji in Thursday's Sub Region 4 championship game, another 4:30 p.m. contest on the fairgrounds diamond here. Bemidji completed a 9-3-1 season with a doubleheader at Grand Rapids Saturday when the defending Class AA state champion Indians won the opener 6-3 but were held to a 10-10 tie inthe second game called after six inning because of rain.

Bemidji beat both Thief River Falls and Crookston twice during the year en route to a perfect 6-0 Northwest Athletic Conference championship record. The Lumberjacks stopped the Prowlers with a pair of come-from-behind 6-5, 5-4 victories and handled the Pirates 6-0, 7-2.

The Sub Region 4 winner will move on to the 1979 Region 8AA tournament, scheduled to be played at the site of the Sub Region 2 champion Tuesday and Wednesday, May 29 and 30.

District 32 Games Set For Newfolden

Newfolden will serve as host Thursday and Friday to the semifinals and finals of the 1979 District 32 high school baseball tournament.

Thursday afternoon's semifinal games will find Roseau playing rival Warroad at 3:30 while Middle River tackles Karlstad at 5:30. The winners will meet in Friday's 4:30 p.m. championship game.

Opening round District 32 games Monday at various sites found Roseau beating Lake of the Woods 4-2, Warroad handled Kennedy 13-2, Middle River stopped Marshall County Central 6-1 and Karlstad eliminated Strandquist 10-2.

Host Middle River collected just three base hits off Marshall County Central pitcher Ted Thompson, but Nordics' eighth grader struggled through a rocky first inning when he walked three batters, hit another, threw three wild pitches and watched his teammates commit two errors that spotted the Skippers a 4-0 lead.

Five walks in the second produced two more Middle River runs and a 6-0 cushion.

FWS Research Division Given Wolf Program

Federal wolf control program in Minnesota has been assigned to the research division of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) to improve the overall effectiveness of ongoing research and wolf control operations, according to Harvey Nelson, FWS regional director in Minneapolis.

The service operated under new federal regulations governing wolf management for the first time last year. "It took some experience and court interpretations to determine how to minimize wolf damages to livestock while continuing to provide the protection for wolves that the law demands," Nelson said.

The agency learned last summer that the best way of balancing the two opposing needs was to gather as much information as possible about the either program. Thus FWS turned over the wolf control problem to its research division under the direction of Dr. David Mech. Mech has been conducting wolf research in Minnesota since 1966.

Steve Fritts, a member of Mech's research team, will handle the control-research program. Mech said Fritts is especially knowledgeable about wolves in areas where the large predators interact with domestic livestock.

Fritts studied wolves in northwestern Minnesota for five years. He will be assisted year-round in the new effort by wildlife technician William Paul, and in summer months by three additional technicians. Nelson said the new approach and staffing should enable the FWS to respond promptly to wolf complaints.

Not to change is the basic regulation that allows the FWS to destroy wolves caught on or within a quarter mile of farms where there is recent proof that wolf depredations have occurred. Mech said full scientific use will be made of wolf carcasses and specimens as a key part of the research-informational process. But he added that a concerted effort also will be made to find ways of minimizing wolf damage around farms and technicians will keep closer tab on wolf numbers in the state. For these reasons the program was turned over to the research division of FWS, according to Nelson.

The FWS control program is not related to the state's program of compensating farmers for losses sustained by wolves. To apply for livestock loss, from wolf depredations, farmers should contact their local conservation officer, Nelson said.

Federal regulations stipulate that wolf-control assistance can only be given in cases of proven significant depredations by timber wolves. "Significant depredation" is defined as "the killing or serious maiming of one or more domestic animals by wolves where the imminent threat of additional domestic animals being killed or maimed is apparent."

+At least some remains of the prey must be available;

+Evidence must be found that timber wolves made the kill;

+There must be reason to believe that additional depredations would occur if the wolves were not removed.

Minnesota farmers may request wolf-control assistance by contacting Steve Fritts at (218) 326-3485.

Alexandria Girls 8AA Golf Champs

Alexandria was an easy winner Tuesday in the Region 8AA girls high school golf meet at the Detroit Lakes Country Club.

The Cardinals shot a three-player 285 for an 11-stroke victory over Fergus Falls and little Falls who shared second place at 296. Rest of the field included Park Rapids at 300, Moorhead 306, Crookston 312, Detroit Lakes 337, East Grand Forks 340, Thief River Falls 347 and Brainerd 360.

Alexandria's three meet-counting scores included Karla Johnson with a 92, Pat McFarland 95 and Brenda Revering 98. They'll be joined by teammates Laurie Wagner and Mary Joe Baltes, both of whom shot 102 yesterday, in the 1979 Class AA state golf meet Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1, at the Forest Hills Golf Club in Forest Lake.

Also qualifying for state meet competition as Region 8AA individuals were meet medalist Lisa Stein of Moorhead with an 87, Pam Boldenow of Fergus Falls with a 92 and Michelle Posch of Little Falls with a 93.

Janelle Cain led Thief River Falls golfers with a 110 while Shari Idso shot a 118, Kathy Walker 119, Liz Brodin 129 and Dana Spencer 143.

Snowmobiling Still Called A Growing Sport

Snowmobiling is still a growing sport, according to industry spokesmen.

At the "eleventh international snowmobile congress" held in Chicago May 4-8, participants were told that snowmobile sales have increased during the past two years.

According to industry figures, one of every 29 U.S. citizens is a snowmobiler and the sport attracts 20 million North Americans.

Annual meeting of the international association of snowmobile administrators was held in conjunction with the congress.

NCC Athletes Aided By NASA Scholarship Fund

Northland area sports association (NASA), according to a recent announcement by president Pat Klemisch, awarded 37 men's and women's athletic scholarships totaling $2,425 to Northland community college athletes during the 1978-79 school year, with awards ranging in value from $25 to $100.

Twenty-seven men's athletic scholarships were awarded to football, basketball and hockey players. Awards in football went to Murray Semanko, Don Dicken, Joe Ranum, Joe Klosterman and Mike Wiebolt, Thief River Falls; Darwin Nelson, Newfolden; Keith Charbonneau, Pembina, N.D.; Ed Vatthauer, Plummer; Joe Kraska, Lancaster; Toby McAdam, Clyde Park, Mont., and Chris Kneen, White Bear Lake.

In basketball the awards went to Kraska; Doug Engelman, Howard Lake; Mike Carriere, Middle River; Kurt Sigl, Dickinson, N.D.; and Vince Parker, Inkster, Mich.

In hockey the scholarships went to Mike Olson, Brad Kosel, Scott Bergland, Steve Geatz, Doug Dallmann, Mike Malberg, Lyle Johnson, Klosterman and Bill Olson, Thief River Falls; Bryan Wiskow, Baudette; and Glenn Mosher, Williams.

Ten women's athletic scholarships were awarded to members of the Northwomen basketball and volleyball teams. Award winners in basketball were Joan Engel, Thief River Falls; Georgine Troska, Goodridge; Colleen Stokke and Lynette Donarski, Newfolden; and Karen Sparby, Grygla.

Awards in volleyball were presented to Troska; Arlene Knutson and Donarski, Newfolden; and Janet Kvasager and Nancy Zimpel, Plummer.

Criteria for NASA scholarships is based on a 2.0 grade point average in all courses attempted, a $100 maximum athletic award, awards made during winter and spring quarters, athletic ability and recommended by the coach.

NASA scholarship recipients are selected by a committee, upon recommendation of the Northland athletic department, with awards determined on the policies and criteria adopted by the MJCAA and NASA.

"The NASA scholarship funds are the result of contributions received from area businesses and sports interested individuals. The efforts of these individuals and organizations is greatly appreciated by the Northland college athletic department," stated Klemisch.

This year's NASA donors were Stewart & Walker; Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. of TRF; Mr. and Mrs. Lars Wold; Wennberg's, Inc.; T. R. Falls Coin Club; Credit Bureau of Thief River Falls; Northern State Bank; Hartz Foundation; First Federal Savings and Loan Association; First Northwestern State Bank; Arctic Enterprises, Inc.; St. Hilaire Supply Co.; J. C. Penney Co.; Furuseth-Nelson, Inc., St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator, Falls Supply Co. and Glass' Sales Co.

"In reviewing the 11 year history of NASA and their contribution to Northland college athletics," said Klemisch, "229 athletes have been recipients of scholarships, a commendable record by donors."

SCRAMBLING BACK to first base on a seventh inning pick-off attempt by Fergus Falls pitcher Bob Roers was Thief River Falls' Jim Nyland who got back safely, but was forced out at second base moments later in the Prowlers' 2-0 first game loss in Monday's high school baseball doubleheader on the fairgrounds diamond.

Five Straights Shot In TRF Trap League Mon.

Five 25-straights highlighted the third week of Thief River Falls Trap League shooting Monday at the Marshallton Gun Club. The perfect shooters included Stan Wilson, Wilson Brothers; Lowell Lefrooth, H & B Oil of Strandquist; Pat Fisher, L.B. Hartz Wholesale; Jim Heckroth, Marshallton Gun Club; and Dan Campbell, Triple J Trap Co.

The only problem was that none of the teams benefitted from the 25-straights. Triple J Trap Co. managed a 115-115 tie with the Viking Varmints, but Wilson Brothers lost to the Soo Line Hot Shots 117-116, H & B Oil lost to Sethre's Hartz of Newfolden 120-115, L.B. Hartz Wholesale fell to Service Master 118-109 and Marshallton Gun Club lost to the American Legion 114-111.

Elsewhere, Hydra-Mac beat the Cat Busters 114-109, Times edged Pizza Hut 118-116, Peteson, Biddick handled Arctic Spirit 120-102, Arctic No. 3 downed Bjorkman's 120-107, Sjoberg's tripped Northern State Bank 119-118, Auto Body Repair upended Hible's Standard 117-112. Northland Realty shot down Noreen Development 118-102 and First Northwestern State Bank Southside shot to a 114-114 tie with Pepsi-Cola.

Memorial Day shooting will be held Tuesday.

TRF Softball Teams Open 1979 Season

Twelve games Monday and Tuesday opened the 1979 Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball season.

Tuesday's season-opening doubleheader in the Thief River Falls men's fast pitch softball league was postponed because of wet grounds.

Division I

Randy Dallmann homered and drove in six runs to lead Tony Dorn, Inc. to a 13-3 Division I win over Hartz.

Swenson Plumbing & Heating, Inc. edged the TRF Merchants 4-1 in a 40-minute quickie and Arnold Realty lost a pair of close dicisions to Hartz 12-11 and to the Rusty Nail Raiders 10-8.

Division II

Mark Drury hit an inside-the-park grand slam home run as the St. Hilaire Bears beat Popplers-Action Realty 17-6 in Division II.

Dan Drevlow was also credited with an inside-the-park homer, but it was one of only four hits mustered by Dallmann Athletic, Inc. in a 13-1 loss to The Get-A-Way.

Bridgeman's out-scored First Federal Savings & Loan Association 20-19 and Hamms-Pizza Hut used its defense trip Home Lumber 9-7.

Division IV

Jean Junction split an opening night Division IV doubleheader, knocking off Kmart 14-11 but losing to Wilson Brothers Co. 10-9 in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Tip & Ring got by Smith & Holthusen 11-9 in a match-up of new teams while the TRF Aggies defeated Lon's Restaurant & Pub 12-5.

Slow Pitch Schedule

Wed., May 23 — (1) Wilson Brothers Co. vs. K Mart, 6:20 p.m.; McDonald's vs. First Northwestern Insurance Agency, 7:40 p.m. (2) The Club vs. Consumer's Co-op Association, 6:20 p.m.; Arctic IWA vs. Phase II, 7:40 p.m. (3) The Get-A-Way vs. Home Lumber, 7:30 p.m.

Thurs., May 24— (1) Wagon Wheel vs. Furuseth-Nelson, Inc., 6:20 p.m.; Wagon Wheel vs. TRF Merchants, 7:40 p.m. (2) TRF Aggies vs. Smith & Holthusen, 6:20 p.m.; Hobo Haus vs. Swenson Plumbing & Heating, Inc., 7:40 p.m. (3) Great Northwest Agency, Inc. vs. Schumacher's Tireland, 6:20 p.m.; Jean Junction vs. Lon's Restaurant & Pub, 7:40 p.m.

Fri., May 25 — (1) Tony Dorn, Inc. vs. Rusty Nail Raiders, 6:20 p.m.; First Federal Savings & Loan Association vs. St. Hilaire Bears, 7:40 p.m. (2) Dallmann Athletic, Inc. vs. Hamms-Pizza Hut, 6:20 p.m. (3) Bridgeman's vs. Popplers-Action Realty, 6:20 p.m.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my family: my father, Victor; mother, Doris; sister Vera and brother Vernon Mostrom.

Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God.

Sadly missed by their daughter and sister, Geraldean Mostrom. 1t42c

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the many friends and relatives who were such a source of comfort and help to us following the death of our wife and mother.

You cannot say, you must not say
That she is dead.
She is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there.
So think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of her still as the same, and say
She is not dead, she is just away.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minn.
May 8, 1979

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 9:00 A.M., May 8, 1979.

Members present: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

The minutes of the meeting of April 10 were read and approved as read.

Mrs. Jon Bohm was present to discuss a drainage problem in River Falls Township. It appeared that the problem was related to the Judicial Ditch 15 system which is supervised by a Joint Committee of Commissioners from both Red Lake and Pennington Counties with the Chairmanship in Red Lake County along with records. Mrs. Bohm was referred to Red Lake County.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Koop that the Engineer be authorized and instructed to advertise for the season's supply of Culverts with bids to be opened at 2:00 P.M., June 5, 1979. Motion declared carried.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Koop that the Engineer be authorized and instructed to advertise an opportunity to appear with objections, comments or suggestions on the project for widening S.A. 3 going East from T.H. 59 on what is known locally as the River Valley road. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Representatives of the Assemblies of God Tabernacle Church, Ervin Strandquist spokesman, appeared with appeal for tax exempt status on lots owned by the Church at the East end of the City along Highway No. 1. The Board heard the Assessor and his reasoning relative to his placing the property on the tax roles and after consideration the Board agreed that the property was not being used for Church purposes and denied the request.

The Board approved the request for programming the Repair of 1½ miles of a branch of Judicial Ditch No. 1 between Sec. 20 and 21 and then East for 1½ miles, in Deer Park Township.

Karen Thielman of Tri Valley Opportunity Council of Crookston appeared and discussed a Valley Chore Service that is presently operating and proposed that Pennington County join with Polk, Norman and Red Lake Counties in this project. It was proposed that the County join for a fee of $500.00 for the balance of the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1979 and for the next year ending Sept. 30, 1980 for the sum of $1,850.00.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that Pennington County enter into a trial project for the Chore Service for the period ending Sept. 30, 1980 by entering into agreement with the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Inc. and the Counties of Polk, Norman and Red Lake for the total fee of $2,350.00.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Grabanski and upon vote declared unanimously adopted.

Allan Gustafson of the Soil Conservation Services then presented an update of the progress of the Soil Sampling Program and indicated two more years of field work was necessary. Mr. Gustafson indicated that the SCS was entering into a water study for the County as well. He also asked the Board to consider providing for the Permit system for Agricultural wastes to be administered by the SCS on a local basis. The Board took the matter under advisement.

A financial record of the Pennington County Historical Society was presented and ordered filed.

Mary Enerson and Rev. James Bernauer of the Historical Society appeared with request for assistance in funding the moving of the old Great Northern Depot to the Historical site.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Tasa that the budgeted amount of $3,500.00 be paid to the Society and an additional sum of $1,500.00 be appropriated and paid as an additional assistance to the project. Funds are Revenue Sharing funds. Motion declared unanimously carried.

At 2:00 P.M. the Board proceeded to open bids for the season's supply of Petroleum products as duly advertised and called for. The following bids were opened and read aloud: Shumway Oil Co., Thief River Falls, No. 1 Diesel fuel, 64 cents; No. 1 Fuel Oil, 64 cents; Regular gasoline, 69.5 cents; No. 2 Diesel fuel, 60.7 cents; No. 2 Fuel Oil, 60.7 cents. This was not a firm bid — All prices subject to increase or decrease in Jobbers costs based on May 8, 1979.

No other bids were received and upon motion by Koop seconded by Stenberg the bid of Shumway Oil Co. was accepted as the lowest and best bid received and the Chairman and Auditor were instructed to enter into Contract with said low bidder. Motion declared unanimously carried.

The Board then proceeded to open bids for County Wide Gravelling as duly advertised and called for:

The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Thorson, Inc., Bemidji	$74,750.00
Macey Const. Co., West Union	$68,500.00

Moved by Tasa seconded by Koop that the bid of Macey Const. Co. be accepted as the lowest and best bid and the Chairman and Auditor be instructed to enter into Contract with said low bidder. Motion unanimously carried.

The Board then proceeded to open bids for Equipment rental as duly advertised and called for. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Tasa that the bids of Oscar Nerhus and Nickle Drees be accepted for their offers of $23.00 and $24.90 respectfully and the Engineer be authorized and instructed to enter into Contract with said bidders in the Drag Line Division. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Koop seconded by Tasa that all Tractor and Scraper bids be accepted and the Engineer be instructed to Contract with the lowest and most available equipment first as the necessity arouse. Motion unanimously carried.

The Board then proceeded to open bids for one new Flat Bed 2½ ton Truck with a 1967 Ford to be taken in trade. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Thomas Motors, Thief River Falls, GMC C6D042 with Westgo unit price $16,894.00, less trade $2,194.00, net price $14,700.00; Thomas Motors, Thief River Falls, GMC C6D042 with 5 speed and Westgo, unit price $18,099.00, less trade $2,570.00, net price $15,529.00; •Joe Raymond, Inc., Grand Forks, International 1724 with Westgo, unit price $16,640.23, less trade $4,142.23, net price $12,498.00; •Tunberg Motors, Thief River Falls, Ford LN700 with Berts, unit price $16,535.00, less trade $800.00, net price $15,735.00; Tunberg Motors, Thief River Falls, Ford LN700 with Westgo, unit price $15,995.00, less trade $800.00, net price $15,295.00; Northern Motors, Thief River Falls, Chev. 1980 Model 350 Cu. In., unit price $16,998.00, less trade $3,998.00, net price $13,048.00.

•Special provisions: If Contract awarded to Joe Raymond, Inc. on this date — deduct $500.00. If Contract awarded to Tunberg Motors for a 1979 Model by May 9 deduct $1,000.00.

Moved by Grabanski seconded by Koop that the bid of Joe Raymond, Inc. be accepted as the lowest and best bid received and the Chairman and Auditor be instructed to enter into Contract with said low bidder for delivery of said Truck for the bid amount of $12,498.00 less the sum of $500.00 for entering the Contract on May 8th and with the addition of yellow paint of the bulkhead and platform at an added $125.00. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that Raymond A. Mosbeck, Shop Foreman, Pennington County Highway Department, be placed on leave of absence for reasons of health, from April 24, 1979 through June 15, 1979, with pay which includes accumulated vacation pay and sick leave. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Grabanski and upon vote declared unanimously adopted.

Moved by Grabanski seconded by Stenberg that Plat of Anda's First Addition be approved as presented by Anda Construction Co. involving 3.56 Acres more or less in SE¼SW¼, Section 28, T154N, R43W (Unplatted Thief River Falls). Motion carried.

Request presented by Office of Northwest Minn. Multi-County Housing & Redevelopment Authority for approval of allocation of $41,041.00 (Thief River Falls, 61 per cent, $25,035.00) in MHFA Housing Rehabilitation Grant Funds. Commissioner Grabanski introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, that Minnesota Housing Finance Agency, State of Minnesota, has been authorized to undertake a program to provide grants of funds to property owners for the purpose of housing rehabilitation; and

WHEREAS, Northwest Mn Multi-County Housing Authority has developed an application as an Administering Entity for the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Improvement Grant Program; and

WHEREAS, NW MN Multi-County Housing Authority has demonstrated the ability to perform the required activities of the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Improvement Grant Program;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that Northwest MN Multi-County Housing Authority is hereby authorized to make application to the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency for a grant of funds pursuant to the Home Improvement Grant Program; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that NW MN Multi-County Housing Authority is hereby authorized as an entity to be charged with the administration of funds made available through the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Improvement Grant Program, in the County of Pennington.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Tasa and upon vote declared unanimously adopted.

Sheriff Richards presented proposal for approval of PROJECT 55 a traffic law enforcement program for County State Aid Highways to increase compliance with the 55 mile per hour speed limit.

Commissioner Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED that the County of Pennington enter into an agreement with the State of Minnesota, Department of Public Safety for the following purposes, to-wit:

To reimburse the County for monies spent, for the approved activities in connection with Project 55, for additional traffic law enforcement on County State-aid Highways within said County to increase compliance with the 55 mile per hour speed limit.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Chairman of the County Board and County Auditor be and they hereby are authorized to execute such agreement.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Grabanski and declared unanimously adopted.

Moved by Tasa seconded by Stenberg that the sum of $25.00 be appropriated and paid to the Lion's Club of the City of Goodridge and the sum of $250.00 be appropriated and paid to the American Legion, Post 117, for proper observance of Memorial Day in the City of Goodridge and in Pennington County and the City of Thief River Falls. Motion declared unanimously carried.

An audit of the records reveals a deficit in the allowance for Clerk Hire for various Offices because of the use of CETA programs and although these are grants they must be recorded even though they are not known at budget time. Moved by Tasa seconded by Stenberg that Clerk Hire for the year 1978 be approved in the following amounts: Auditor, $9,637.38; Sheriff, $13,505.93; Clerk of Court, $1,716.00. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Tasa that the Road Committee and the Bridges and Culvert Committee inspect roads, bridges and culverts at 2:00 P.M., May 10, 1979. Motion carried.

The following bills were read, audited and allowed:

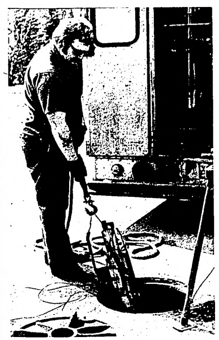
EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER



LOWERING A CAMERA into the city sewer system through a manhole is Dick Schmit, employee of Solidification, Inc. which was hired by Thief River Falls to inspect city sewers. The camera is run through the actual sewer pipes, allowing the system to be viewed on a TV screen above ground. Number of feet the camera has traveled from the manhole is also shown on the screen at all times. If a problem is noted in the sewer, the exact location of the difficulty can be recorded. Among the areas where TV inspection was done last week were Spruce av. S. from Nora to First streets: Tindolph av. S. from Annie to Michael; Michael from Tindolph to Kendall; Main av. N. from Fifth to Seventh, Merriam av. N. from First to Third; and Kendall av. N. from Third to Taft. Also inspected were storm sewers in the alley between Main and LaBree from Third to Second; and the alley between LaBree and Horace from Third to Second.

Young Campers Offered Two NWF Outings

Young campers and environmentalists can gain a first-hand knowledge of the outdoors at the National Wildlife Federation's wildlife camps and environmental adventures, scheduled for this June and July in the Blue Ridge mountains of North Carolina.

Wildlife camps, designed for children ages eight to twelve, will introduce youngsters to basic camping skills, teach them to use nature's resources for protection and food, and allow them to study how plants, animals and elements interact within an ecosystem. In addition, there will be time to pursue special hobbies such as macrame and bottle collecting, and recreational activities — from hiking and swimming to soccer and boating.

All three of NWF's wildlife camps will be held in the Blue Ridge mountains, six miles southeast of Hendersonville, N.C., at the Kanuga conference center. The area covers 1,300 forested acres with hiking trails, small streams and a spring-fed lake. The staff at wildlife camp consists of teachers and college students who have backgrounds in ecology, conservation, recreation and a variety of the natural sciences. There will be one staff member for every six campers.

Environmental adventures, also based at the Kanuga conference center, are for campers ages 13 through 16. Guided by trained and experienced outdoor leaders, back-packers will hike through the Blue Ridge mountains, while studying such conservation-related subjects as wildlife ecology, geology, outdoor cooking, and mountain crafts.

There will be four environmental adventures this summer. The backpacking trips are designed for beginners and novices and encompass trails, back roads and cross-country travel. Ratio of backpacker to staff will be six to one.

Wildlife camp sessions will be as follows: session one, July 1-July 12; session two, July 15-July 26; and session three, July 29-Aug. 16. Costs for the first two sessions will be $291 and for the longer third session is $460.

Schedule for the environmental adventures: session one, June 17-June 28; session two, July 1-July 12; session three, July 15-July 26; session four, July 29-Aug. 9. Costs for each 12-day session will be $275.

Both wildlife camp and environmental adventures are co-educational. For more information, write: Wildlife Camp or Environmental Adventures, 1412 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

New Program Assists Employees, Workers

J.K. Stadum, area manager of Minnesota job service, recently released information on a new program of general interest.

The revenue act of 1978 established the targeted jobs tax credit (TJTC) replacing the vocational rehabilitation tax credit and the jobs tax credit, which expired Dec. 31, 1978, and modifying the WIN-welfare tax credit which continues in force.

The TJTC, which is an elective tax credit, applies to wage costs incurred by firms between Jan. 1, 1979, and Dec. 31, 1980, for certified employees hired after Sept. 26, 1978. The credit is equal to 50 per cent of first year wages up to $6,000 and 25 per cent of second year wages up to $6,000 for the following groups:

(1) Recipients of supplemental security income (SSI) payments:

(2) Handicapped individuals referred from vocational rehabilitation;

(3) Youth 18 through 24 in economically disadvantaged families with income the preceding six months less than 70 per cent of the bureau of labor statistics lower living standard;

(4) Vietnam-era veterans under 35 who are economically disadvantaged;

(5) Recipients of general assistance (state or locally financed welfare) for 30 or more days;

(6) Youth 16 through 18 participating in an approved cooperative education program; and

(7) Ex-convicts (convicted of a felony), who are economically disadvantaged and hired within five year of release from prison or date of conviction.

Stadum indicated other major features of the new TJTC as:

(1) To prevent targeted employees from displacing nontargeted employees, the act provides that qualified first-year wages during a taxable year cannot exceed 30 per cent of aggregate FUTA (federal unemployment tax act) wages for all employees during the calendar year ending in that taxable year.

(2) The employer's business expense deduction for wages is reduced by the amount of the credit, as under previous employment tax credits.

(3) The credit is limited to 90 per cent of tax liability after this liability is reduced by other applicable credits, such as those taken under the tax-based incomes policy. An unused portion of the credit may be carried back three years or carried forward seven years.

(4) There are special transitional rules for taxpayers using a 1978-79 fiscal year. Such fiscal year taxpayers should obtain new Form 5884-FY, job credit, from a local internal revenue service (IRS) office to compute their credit.

(5) No credit may be claimed for wages of employees for whom employers receive on-the-job training payments, or claims the WIN tax credit during that taxable year.

"Both the targeted jobs tax credit and the WIN-welfare tax credit are important tools for increasing the placement of unemployed workers. Red tape has been cut as much as possible so potential savings on income taxes won't be offset by additional bookkeeping," Stadum said.

"The effect of the credit depends on the employer's income tax bracket and the wage paid to the new employee. The maximum tax credit is $3,000 for all workers paid $6,000 or more per year. But because the amount of credit must by subtracted from the employer's business expense deduction for wages, the credit causes an actual reduction in taxes that ranges from 1900 for an employer in the 70 per cent bracket to $2,580 for an employer in the 14 per cent tax bracket, for each eligible employee who earns $6,000 in the first year of employment.

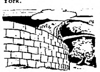
"Using a reasonable estimate of demand elasticity, it is estimated that the TJTC could increase placements of targeted individuals in the nonsubsidized private sector by seven to 13 per cent, or 90,000 to 170,000, over what had been projected in the absence of the credit," Stadum added.

The first step in claiming the tax credit is for the prospective employer or employee to contact a local agency such as job service, CETA (comprehensive employment and training act) county welfare offices, DVR (division of vocational rehabilitation), veterans administrations office, cooperative education schools, to place a job order or to assist in eligibility determination. The Thief River Falls job service office, 318 Knight av. N., (phone 681-1100) can provide information on who the participating agencies are in area counties.

FENCE facts and fancies

The world's longest fence, was built to enclose the main sheep herding areas of Queensland, Australia. This six-foot-high wire fence stretches 3,437 miles—more than the distance from Seattle to New York.

There are many choices of fence styles and materials, says the International Fence Industry Assn. (IFIA), but the first thing to decide when considering a fence for your property is what you want the fence to do for you. The two most important factors once that decision is made; are durability and economy.



One of the most formidable fences of ancient times was the Great Wall of China, completed between 246 and 210 B.C. This granddaddy of all fences measures 2,150 miles along its main branch and has a total of 1,780 miles of additional wall in its branches and spurs. It is up to 32 feet thick in some places.

Some things to watch for when signing a contract for fencing: Get everything in writing, don't settle for a mere mention of dimensions in the contract; be sure contract states who's responsible for clearing fence line before the job, who will clean up afterwards; insist on a starting and completion date in the contract.

Polk, Norman Counties Are Barley Leaders

Polk and Norman counties are Minnesota's 1978 barley growing champions, according to county estimates for that crop released this week by the state federal crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota department of agriculture.

Norman is the new champion for average yield, 57.6 bushels per acre, but the county all-time high continues to be the 68 bushel average achieved in 1977 by Chippewa county.

Polk repeated as barley production leader with over 10.8 million bushels harvested last year. That was higher by over one-half million bushels or five per cent greater than Polk's 1977 barley harvest, and the 1978 crop in Polk represented almost 21 per cent of the state productiontotal, 51,975,000 bushels.

At the preliminary season average price of $1.85 per bushel for 1978 crop barley, Polk's county-wide production had a farm value of over $20 million, and Norman's average yield indicated an $106.56 gross return per acre. Minnesota's 1978 barely crop was valued at over $96.15 million.

Other counties joining the 1978 champions in Minnesota's "top 15 rankings are:

Average yield: Norman, Polk, Clay, Marshall, Roseau, Blue Earth, Hubbard, Becker and Pennington tied; Lake of the Woods, Red Lake, Wilkin, LeSueur, Fairbault, Renville and Wadena tied.

Production: Polk, Norman, Marshall, Clay, Wilkin, Kittson, Pennington, Becker, Roseau, Otter Tail, Red Lake, Traverse, Grant, Mahnomen, Stevens.

Sure, one of these days I'll be marching out in cap and gown with a diploma in my hand to take my place in that world of ours. Lots of things I'll be needing then besides a degree . . .

I'll need what they call character! And a sense of values! I'll need ethical principles, moral standards. A deep awareness of the meaning of duty, of honesty, of integrity. And on the way to all of these I'll need to discover a Faith by which to live.

There are strong churches in our community, with fine programs of religious education. I think my parents expect to start me in Sunday School.

But I haven't yet commenced. My most important beginning hasn't begun.

Please Dad! Please Mom! Think about my commencement.

Strandquist Senior Citizen News

The Senior Citizens held their weekly meeting Thursday "Syttende Mai". 21 registered in our record book. Visitors were Mabel Stromberg, Anna Rud and Karen Ehalsom. Coffee guests were Roy Duvas, Elsie Kimbrough, Ardys Larson, Dion, Tina and Benjamin. It was so nice to have Sarah back with us, after being away all winter. Next week we hope to have Sophia back with us, as she has been in Aurora all winter but has now returned home also.

Fluffing Arctic and pillow making was the work most of us worked with on Thursday. Some sewed up ends on pillows after they were filled and 2 stuffed bears were also completed. Ella finished sewing around the crazy quilt. It has been decided that we will raffle off this quilt, as we may not get the bird quilt ready in time.

Mabel gave 3 door prizes that Ida, Ruth Harper and Sarah won. Polly gave one that Anna Holmstrom won and Mabel won the prize Irene donated.

A week ago Thursday 2 door prizes were given away. Polly won the one Ruth Anderson gave and Ruth A. won the one Evelyn gave. A get well card was signed last Thursday and sent to Mrs. Rachel Lofquist who is hospitalized at Karlstad after having surgery.

Laurel Lefrooth of St. Paul is a faithful contributor to our center. She recently gave us $10. Thanks, Laurel, we appreciate where the younger generation are thoughtful of us. Irene Larson was hostess Thursday.

PCA people tell it like it is... so you know where you stand.
Straight-talk from PCA

Sunflowers promise brighter horizons for many farmers.

Wasn't long ago a sunflower field was a rare sight to see. Now the bright, yellow-headed crop covers millions of acres. ☐ Sunflowers are a special crop with special needs. So PCA people tailor credit to a sunflower grower's individual needs. Credit for sunflower seed, herbicides and pesticides. For equipment and machinery, too. ☐ If sunflowers are on your horizon, come on in. PCA credit can help your sunflowers grow.

Is Activity Progress?

Thief River Falls has never been a community short on community events and organizations. We have often thought of this when rushing from one evening meeting or activity to another in an attempt to provide some news and photo coverage to a number of them. In so doing, we only scratch the surface. There are countless other meetings and events which take place routinely, not to mention special activities.

Our community is not alone in this situation. We feel we can understand the reason for the following editorial in the Milbank (S.D.) Herald Advance:

A few weeks ago Milbank's chamber of commerce members looked over a survey that had been taken of the business community. Included was a question regarding what members thought some community problems were.

One response was that one community problem was a "lack of activity." We were astounded! If there's one thing this community has, it's activity and plenty of it.

In a newsletter to parents recently, High School Principal Dave Bergan hit the nail squarely on the head when he cited all the community activity as a possible divisive force in local family life.

This is what he said:

In my years here at Milbank it has seemed that each year there are more activities . . . Have you ever wondered where your time goes? The next time a new group or activity is formulated, think about this small list . . . that has come on the scene in the past few years. This list is not all inclusive but simply. . .shows what occupies our time. In school we've added. . .girls sports (basketball, gymnastics and track) as well as the AFS club. In the community we've seen the advent of the travelogue series, Christian Women's Club, AAUW, three new study clubs, Jaycees, Fine Arts Council, Parent Teachers organization and Band Boosters to just name a few.

You might wonder why I present this . . . My reason is based on the fact that many of us as parents have a difficult time in saying "No!" to new endeavors and consequently we have less time to spend with our families. In our work with students in trouble in school, it appears that time at home together is generally short.

Those of us who have balked when suggestions are made to start new organizations have not done so because we are just natural bottlenecks to progress. We have wondered if too much activity is good for us, for our children, for our town.

Evidently there are others who are beginning to wonder as well.

Don't Holler, Do Something!

Editor Tip Mills of the Hutchinson Leader had the following to say about the energy crunch which is being increasingly felt in the nation today:

Has it occurred to you that you and I and the rest of the small-potato types out here in the sticks can really DO SOMETHING about the energy crisis - something, that is, other than merely complain about the price of gasoline, heating oil, gas and electricity?

While the Administration and the Congress and various experts argue about the Big Picture including price controls, rationing and fuel imports, the rest of us can do the obvious things such as driving our cars with a lighter foot on the accelerator, insulating and weatherstripping our homes and turning thermostats down in the winter and up in the summer.

In addition to making more use of wood for heating our homes, we can explore other areas. Those planning on building or remodeling a house or commercial building should give thought to orientation with respect to the sun and wind. Properly-shaded windows on the south capture the sun's warmth in the winter but escape it in the summer when the sun is higher. Fewer windows on the north and west mean less cold from northwest winds in the winter and less heat from the setting sun in the summer. Trees provide shade and protection from wind. Triple glazing of windows probably makes sense.

We can study up on heat pumps as aids to heating and cooling space. Some homes in Hutchinson have them, installed by local firms. We can look into solar panel water heating. I don't know if there are any such systems in Hutchinson. Maybe a reader with knowledge about the local scene in that respect will pass the word to us. Perhaps one of us ought to be daring enough to install solar water heating.

Some of the more exciting possibilities exist for those of you who live in the country. Did you know that there are solar farm stills using potatoes, sugar beets and other crops to produce ethanol alcohol, and that this alcohol can be used straight as fuel for gasoline engines?

Did you know that on your own farm you can rig up a system that uses animal manure to produce methane gas, and that this gas can be used to heat your home or dry corn?

You already know about windmills, but have you seriously thought about installing one to produce some of the electricity you use?

Such things require a certain amount of experimentation; fortunately there are people who have done some of the experimenting and their results are available.

The federal government hasn't been of much help, comparatively speaking. It appears to be hung up on nuclear power. According to Congressman Richard Nolan, the U.S. Department of Energy is spending $2 billion this year for nuclear power—more money than the country has spent in its entire history for gasohol, wind, solar and geothermal energy combined.

So the job of finding alternative energy seems to be up to individuals. It will be discussed further in a coming issue.

In the meantime we have to begin to face up to the simple fact that the days of cheap energy are over. We can no longer afford to use purchased energy as wastefully as we have in the past to make our daily lives easy and comfortable.

Many of the ideas mentioned above are not new. They came from our great-grandparents who didn't have the cheap purchased energy that we have had so they didn't rely on it so heavily. Now it's time for us to go back and re-examine their philosophy.

It doesn't do much good to bitch at the government or the big oil companies. WE have to do something. We have to use our own initiative, knowledge and common sense along with today's technology to reduce our reliance on purchased conventional energy.

A Poor Move

Following editorial is from the West Union (Iowa) "Union" and, although it involves another state, the implications are the same for any state government:

We bitterly oppose a move underfoot in the Iowa legislature to hook public employee salaries and pay for legislators to cost of living increases.

As far as we are concerned, no one, and particularly, no one involved in government, the biggest contributor to inflation of all, should be insulated from its horrendous effects. Everyone should feel the pain of inflation equally for anyone who is insulated from it is one less to fight against it. We need all the fighters we can muster.

In this connection, inflationary governmental costs may get a big boost this week from a most unworth source; former President Nixon has asked an increase from $163,329 to $232,000 for office and staff expenses. (This is on top of the $85,000 a year he gets in retirement benefits.)

It would be bad enough if this huge sum were earmarked for items relating strictly to the leftover burden of the presidency. But when the money goes to fund Mr. Nixon's five color TV sets, repairs on his golf cart, $480 for newspapers and magazines, $540 for 200 photographs of him as the budget relates the spending is inexcusable.

To get back to state government, we couldn't have put it more succinctly ourselves: Governor Robert Ray cited as one reason for not going along with income tax indexing, that he would be forced to ask the legislature to increase taxes next year or the year after when rising government costs ran the state out of its surplus.

That's exactly what we have been talking about. As things stand now, inflation pushes your income up into a higher tax bracket and the state reaps a huge tax increase which is totally unlegislated. We say, let the governor and the legislature go through the painful process of proposing and voting taxes. If we make it automatic for them to take an even bigger bite out of our pocketbooks, can we expect them to reduce governmental spending and curb inflation?

The President's Gas Rationing Plan

The question of whether or not there actually is a gas shortage is one that has not been answered, but, regardless, President Carter's standby gasoline rationing plan was a stab in the dark at a major and complex energy problem.

If we are to consider instituting a national gasoline rationing plan, we must make sure it is one that is fair to all Americans no matter where they live, or the number of cars that they own. The President's plan was unrealistic from the beginning, and this last ditch effort to display an effective energy policy would have been discriminatory, costly, and economically disruptive. Hardly anyone would have benefitted, and almost everyone would have been penalized.

I, along with 245 of my colleagues in the House, voted this measure down, and I will continue to vote against such poorly constructed proposals in the future. Under the gas rationing plan, people in the District of Columbia and the Washington Metropolitan area would have received a higher allotment of gasoline than people in the Seventh District or other rural parts of the nation. This just doesn't make sense. The Federal government has already spent more than $12 billion to build a rapid transit system for the nation's capital, with millions more earmarked for additional construction. People who live in this area, and other areas like it, have the option to use public transportation, while people who live in more rural areas of the nation depend on their own major vehicles to get them where they're going. People in rural areas have farther distances to travel, and any measure that fails to recognize transportation options and travel distances is unfair and unrealistic.

Another portion of this plan that created an inequity was the manner in which coupons were to be distributed. Each car owner would have received a certain allotment of coupons per car. This sounds reasonable, but when you consider that a person who owns one car would have received the same number of coupons per vehicle as the person who owns three cars, it becomes obvious that the one-car owner would have gotten the raw end of the deal. The three car owner would have the option of using all the coupons for one car, while the one car owner would have been forced to buy additional coupons to meet his or her needs.

These additional coupons were not to be allocated by the government, but would have been bought by the consumer from people who decided to sell their allotment on what has been termed the "white market." Federal officials estimated the price tag for additional coupons could be as high as $1.22 each, with the price of the gasoline tacked on to that. Personally, I don't think this is a credible, fair, or an economically sound way for our country to do business.

The Administration had plenty of time to develop and propose to Congress an equitable and responsible gas rationing plan. Instead, two years later, and at an expense of $3 million to the American people, we received a plan that would have created more unfairness than it was intended to cure. This charade would not have truly rationed gasoline, but, instead, allocated the right to buy gasoline by simply redistributing the supply without consideration for actual need. It also provided nothing for increased gas supplies or conservation, and would have cost more than $2 billion to implement.

I am concerned with the needs of the American people, and I cannot and will not accept this type of ill conceived, unfair method as part of the solution to our energy problem.

Luscious Dinner For Two

As every bride quickly learns, chops make a just-right meal for two, with no left-over problems. Try this recipe from The Lipton Kitchens for pork chops topped with a stuffing made with bread crumbs, celery, apple and cranberry sauce, all deliciously seasoned with instant onion soup mix. The gravy, also perfectly seasoned with instant onion soup mix, is quick and easy. This dish is sure to be a favorite with both of you.

APPLE'N ONION PORK CHOPS

- 1 apple, cored
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 2 pork chops, 3/4-inch thick
- 1/3 cup chopped celery
- 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
- 2 envelopes Lipton Onion Cup-a-Soup
- 1/2 cup jellied cranberry sauce
- 1 teaspoon flour
- 3/4 cup boiling water

Preheat oven to 350°.

Cut 2 rings (1/2-inch thick) from apple; finely chop remainder.

In medium skillet, heat oil and brown chops; remove. Add celery and chopped apple and cook until celery is tender; stir in bread crumbs, 1 envelope Lipton Onion Cup-a-Soup, and 1/4 cup cranberry sauce. Place chops in 8-inch baking dish; top each chop with half stuffing mixture and apple ring.

In small bowl, combine remaining envelope Lipton Onion Cup-a-Soup and cranberry sauce, flour, and water; pour over chops. Bake 1 hour or until chops are done, basting occasionally. Makes 2 servings.

PUBLIC NOTICE

To the Citizens of Thief River Falls:

I was appointed by the city council to sit on Task Force A planning committee for the Northwestern hospital. During one of these meetings I suggested that a real solution was to find an alternate site for Holiday Stationstore.

As many of you know, I became very personally involved in trying to find a solution prior to any litigation between the City of Thief River Falls and Holiday Stationstores.

Now that the sale of the new site is final and the court case with the city has been officially dropped, I am providing you with the figures involved in this transaction. These have been checked by Holcomb Knudson & Co., the city's certified public accountants. You will notice that I not only did not profit by this transaction but lost about $6,000.

Most of my objectives have been met in this matter:
(A) To relieve the city of a court case;
(B) To improve relations between the hospital board and the city; and
(C) To make the present Holiday site available to Northwestern hospital.

My disappointments and anxieties have been many, but I do wish to thank all those who believed in what I was trying to do and that I was not doing it for my own personal gain.

If for some reason this move has caused anyone any hardship or loss of any kind, I'm very sorry. I hope it will work out to be good for our city and everyone concerned.

Sincerely,
Don Goodrich
Alderman At Large

CAPTURE KIDS CANDIDLY

When the kids have grown up and gone off on their own, what pictures of their childhood will you treasure most? The hair-combed, face-washed, dressed-up variety or the natural, slightly grubby, candid type? Probably you'll cherish both, because of the memories they evoke. The first are priceless because such slicked-up moments are rare, and the second are equally priceless because they are so utterly typical.

Obviously, you won't have either kind unless you get out your camera and take some pictures. When the camera is a pocket-size Kodak Ektramax camera, with its combination of existing-light capability and built-in electronic flash, it's easy to be ready for picture-taking whenever the opportunity arises. All you have to do is keep the camera handy and loaded with Kodacolor 400 film.

And, then, when you do pick it up to use, remember a few simple picture tips.

Shoot from the children's level.

Stay in close enough to capture expressions. With the Ektramax camera you can be as close as four feet.

Keep an eye on the background and change your location or shooting angle to avoid distracting clutter.

Finally, and perhaps most importantly, hold your camera steady and level.

In the years to come you'll be glad you did.

DuChamp and Harry Philipp homes Saturday.

AVENGE advantages you may not know ...and should.

Postemergence treatment for more effective control of wild oats in barley and wheat. AVENGE wild oat herbicide is applied when wild oats are in the 3 to 5-leaf stage. Lets you see your problem areas before you treat — you stop more wild oats because more of them have germinated by then.

No incorporation needed. Because AVENGE is applied postemergence it will save you time, fuel and equipment use.

Tank mixes with your broadleaf herbicide. AVENGE is the only wild oat herbicide you can tank mix with 2,4-D, bromoxynil, MCPA amine or a combination of MCPA and bromoxynil. One-trip weed control — air or ground. Saves time, saves trips, saves money.

AVENGE. More time to stop more wild oats.

Stop by. And let's discuss how AVENGE can help save you time and money

Spotting pigeongrass no longer spells disaster for your wheat crop.
Now Stampede 3E, the *post*emergence herbicide, stamps out weeds after you spot them.
With Spring coming so late this year, pigeongrass is really on the rampage. If it's not controlled it can reduce your wheat yield by as much as 60%
To help handle this major weed problem, the EPA has granted a number of North Central States an emergency exemption for STAMPEDE, the *post*emergence herbicide from ROHM and HAAS
Last year, STAMPEDE was used in your area with excellent results Mark Andrews, Jr., a wheat grower in Mapleton, North Dakota, reports: "My extension Agronomist . . . told me about a new chemical on the market called STAMPEDE. The results were tremendous! We had pigeongrass population in the field that, if it hadn't been taken care of by the STAMPEDE, I'm afraid that we would have been forced to plough the thing down and not raise the crop that year."
Don't let pigeongrass rob you this year Act now Get your supply of STAMPEDE at your AGSCO, CENEX, or GRAND FORKS SEED Dealer, today!
Stampede
ROHM HAAS
STAMPEDE has been given an emergency exemption for hard red spring wheat in the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota under the name STAM* F-34.

CANADA GEESE are among the waterfowl which benefit from water areas on the wetlands in northwestern Minnesota. This honker was doing its honking on the Agassiz national wildlife refuge during flood conditions this spring. Although the refuge personnel would like stable water levels for optimum success in waterfowl production, they recognize the flood control benefits of the area. Water levels are drawn down in the fall and winter to provide for greatest water retention during the spring break-up.

Skin Facts & Fancies

ARE YOU SKIN SENSITIVE?

Water tends to take natural moisturizers from skin and make it drier.

Your skin weighs about an average of nine pounds, or at least six percent of your total weight. The largest organ of your body, it covers over 3,000 square inches.

Just one square centimeter contains approximately four yards of nerves, with 3,000 sensory cells at the ends of nerve fibers and 200 nerve endings.

But if your skin is sensitive, it probably reacts more dramatically to your environment than normal skin — perhaps burning faster in the sun or drying out more in overheated rooms.

Extremes of climate affect all skin, but especially skin with a sensitive tendency. It may worsen in winter because winter air contains low humidity, drying out the skin. Ironically the dry heat we use indoors for warmth also dries out the skin. Use a humidifier to circulate cool moisture. When bathing or showering in winter use warm — not hot — water.

Sensitive skin doesn't automatically improve in summer. Sun, wind and water combine to dry out skin — even though each square centimeter of skin has 100 sweat glands and 15 sebaceous oil glands to help keep it lubricated.

Since you bathe more frequently in warm weather, switch to specially formulated skin care products like Purpose Soap and Shampoo, recommended by dermatologists as mild enough to use daily without irritating or drying out skin. Use a moisturizing cream after bathing and avoid rough or irritating fabrics.

Ask your doctor or pharmacist for a free leaflet, "Care of Sensitive Skin," or write to Skin Leaflet, J-117, Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, NJ 08903.

Herbicide	Yield*	Increase over check
Check	12.5 bu.	–
Leading wild oat herbicide	16.1 bu.	29%
Asulox	23.9 bu.	91%

This year, consider setting some of your best acres aside for this profitable cash crop. Because now you can be sure wild oats won't take over.

Here's why. The EPA has granted a Section 18 specific exemption for the use of Asulox® for post-emergent weed control in flax in Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington and Roseau Counties.

Asulox controls wild oats plus wild buckwheat and foxtail in the same application. Just spray it on by ground or air when wild oats are in the three- to four-leaf stage, and you'll set yourself up for yield increases on the order of those shown above. These were the results of 8 separate tests run right here in this area by Rhône-Poulenc, makers of Asulox, as well as Bronate® and Buctril®.

Now, just a few cautions. Under EPA regulations, Asulox must be applied on flax by a certified private or commercial applicator. Great care should be taken to avoid spray drift onto adjacent crops. And don't apply when the crop is under stress, or before flax is at least two inches tall.

Control of wild oats is usually achieved within 2-3 weeks after Asulox application.

The exemption granted by the EPA limits the amount of Asulox that can be sold. The quantity purchased in your name will be noted for EPA records. So don't miss out on this opportunity for outstanding weed control. Order your supply from your dealer today, before he has a chance to run out. Because, at last, you can polish off wild oats, and make some real money on flax.

Charge 2 With Burglary Of Liquor Store

Charged with burglary after being apprehended in the Goodridge liquor store at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday are Jack Nomeland, 25, and Carl Wendal Flaten, 20, both of Thief River Falls.

The two men were charged with burglary in Pennington county court and bound over to district court where they made their initial appearance on Friday morning. They plead not guilty to the charges and bond of $10,000 for Nomeland and $3,000 for Flaten imposed by the county court was reconfirmed by the district judge. Both men were in custody.

Sheriff Charles Richards said the two men were taken into custody by a deputy after being found in the building by Herman Sturre, Eugene Frazer and Paul Frazer of Goodridge. A number of food items, three envelopes containing coins, and a tire iron were found in their possession, the sheriff said.

Worker Fined For Collecting Unemployment

On May 21 Raeford L. Vernon appeared in district court on a charge filed by J. K. Stadum, area manager, Minnesota department of economic security in Thief River Falls. The charge stated that the claimant had been collecting unemployment benefits while working without reporting earnings.

Vernon pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced by Judge Warren Saetre to a fine of $1,000 and a year in jail. The court suspended $700 of the fine and the jail sentence on condition that he repay the $1,379 in benefits collected improperly.

Manager Stadum indicated that the overpayment discovery was the result of the 100 per cent audit the department does on all claims. With the penalty for fraud being recently changed by the legislature to a gross misdemeanor, it doesn't pay to improperly claim benefits, Stadum said.

ELECTED CHAIRMAN of the Thief River Falls city planning commission when that group met Monday was Jerry Wedul who has been a member of the commission for four years. Wedul, who served as vice chairman last year, succeeds Duane Walton in the chairmanship. A native of Thief River Falls, Wedul is a salesman for Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Co. and resides with his wife Kay and two children Aaron and Sarah at 410 S. St. Paul Ave. Winning the vice chairmanship in the Monday planning commission election was Al Christofferson who was appointed to the commission since this winter.

Memorial Day Services Set At Plummer

Memorial services are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Monday (today) at the school auditorium in Plummer under sponsorship of American Legion Post 623 and its auxiliary. Speaker will be John A. Helley, retired lieutenant commander of the U.S. medical service corps.

Linda Hesse will play a processional to open the program with honored guests, gold star mothers, fathers and sisters to be ushered into place prior to advance of the colors by a Legion color guard. The audience will sing the "Star Spangled Banner" and invocation will be given by Donald Hesse, chaplain of the Legion post.

"Precious Lives" is the title of a talk to be given by Peggy Skjerven, delegate to Girls state, and Arthur B. Hanson, commander of the Legion post, will introduce the speaker. Redeemer Lutheran church choir will sing and chaplain Hesse will give the benediction.

Taps will be played by Clifton Franklund and Brian Fossell, color guard will salute and retire the colors and Miss Hesse will play the recessional.

Sandbox Fill Project Set By Jaycees

Thief River Falls Jaycees have completed plans for their annual sandbox fill project to be held June 1-6. John Anderson, chapter officer in charge of the project, has stated that the washed sand will be delivered for $1 per wheelbarrow with a $2 minimum.

Also available this year will be large or small sandboxes. Costs will be $5 for the large or $3 for the smaller size. Deliveries will be made only in the city or the several nearby trailer courts.

Individuals needing sand or sandboxes should call 681-7216, 681-7073 or 681-3721 to place their order. Deliveries will be made on a first come, first served basis.

Five Arrested At Red Lake Reservation

Although the Red Lake Indian reservation is reportedly calm after last weekend's rioting and destruction, an estimated 500 residents are said to have fled the area out of fear of reprisals. Five arrests were made by FBI agents on the reservation Friday and a sixth man was being sought.

Arrested were Harry Hanson, 40, husband of tribal treasurer Stephanie Hanson and self-proclaimed leader of the take-over of the law enforcement center at Redlake last Saturday; Edward D. Cook, 21; Thomas H. Barrett, 20; Roland G. Roy, 23; and William A. Stately, 18. Agents were searching Friday night for Donald E. Desjarlait, 24.

All of the five arrested except Barrett appeared before U.S. magistrate J. R. Petterson in Bemidji Friday afternoon. Bond for Hanson was set at $25,000 and for the others at $10,000. No hearing date for Barrett was set. The men were charged with assaulting federal officers during the law enforcement center take-over.

According to the FBI, the six men entered the law enforcement center with weapons and threatened the four police officers employed by the bureau of Indian affairs. The FBI said Hanson fired a revolver and shotgun in the center and pointed the revolver at an officer, and that Cook and Roy locked the four officers in a jail cell. The building was on fire when a group of men arrived and freed the officers.

The Bemidji Pioneer reported that some 500 members of the Red Lake band, among approximately 3,500 reservation residents — have fled the area to places of refuge in surrounding communities or in the Twin Cities area.

One man, reported to be a close associate of ousted tribal chairman Roger Jourdain whose home and car were burned during the rioting, was quoted as saying, "I'm scared as hell and wish somebody would do something to let us come back." He said that many of Jourdain's supporters feel abandoned by the chairman who has not spoken publicly since he was rescued from his home last Saturday by law enforcement officers. The house was under heavy weapons fire at that time.

Nathan Joe Head, acting superintendent for the bureau of Indian affairs on the reservation, said he believes many people are staying away because a number of weapons stolen from the law enforcement center have not been returned.

"We have a large number of policemen now who are in control of the situation and there is no reason for people to stay away and incur all those expenses," he said.

Bemidji banks, which had been requested by Jourdain by telephone to freeze all tribal funds, reportedly released enough money to cover some payrolls at the reservation. Jourdain had also reportedly changed his mind and asked for funds to be released.

GOD AND FAMILY awards have been received by two Thief River Falls Cub scouts recently. Jeff Bowen (left) received his award from Rev. J. M. Hovland at Trinity Lutheran church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bowen. Mike Melby received his award from Rev. Barrie Henke at St. John Lutheran church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Melby. The two boys are shown with the pastors who presented the awards.

Commencement Exercises At Goodridge Fri.

"Spots of Time" will be the theme for the commencement address to be given by Thomas Johnson at commencement exercises for Goodridge high school's class of 1979 Friday at 8 p.m. in the Goodridge school gymnasium. Johnson is an instructor at Northland community college in Thief River Falls.

Also giving a graduation address will be Donna Vraa, one of three honor graduates in the class of 1979, who will speak on "Shared Moments in Memory".

Pianist Kari Peterson will play the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" processional and recessional. Rev. Gene Broughton will give the invocation and benediction. Music at the ceremonies will be provided by Sherry Jagol and Lisa Kriel.

Dr. David M. Brown will present the class for graduation and diplomas will be awarded by J. Duane Nelson, chairman of the board of education. Joining Miss Vraa as honor students are Daniel Troska and Dean Kiesow. Other graduates include Jeffrey Bakken, Carmen Hanson, Dean Hanson, Leann Holen, Fern Horachek, Theresa Klaven, Ginger Lundeen, Jack Miller, Randall Mostrom, Brenda Nelson, Richard Poppenhagen, Vanessa Sand, Lynn Stenvik, Gerald Sunsdahl, Rachele Sunsdahl, Kevin Tharaldson and Shirley Weber.

Offer Tractor Safety Course Tues., June 5

Young tractor operators between the ages of 14-16 may be interested in the tractor safety training course being offered by the Pennington county extension service and the Thief River Falls and Goodridge FFA groups. According to the federal child labor laws, the operation of a tractor and other farm machinery is considered hazardous work. Therefore children between 14-16 years of age not working for their parents must complete a safety training course in tractor operation before they can be hired to do this type of work.

The course will be conducted June 5 starting at 9 a.m. at the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls. The training will be available to all persons age 12 and up, however only those 14 and up can be certified. Instructors for the course will be Mark Friesen, teacher from Goodridge, Danie Packard, ag instructor from Thief River Falls and Howard Person, associate county extension agent from Pennington county.

The course will run until 4 p.m. and conclude with a written and a driving test.

Finger Lickin' Good Time

was had by kindergarten students of Mrs. Joyce McCabe at the Goodridge elementary school recently when a cake decorating contest was held. The children baked their cakes at school the previous day, then were supplied with frosting and decorating materials by their mothers and given 45 minutes to create their culinary masterpieces. Enthusiasm was tempered by uncertainty as the work progressed, but individuality showed in the finished products. At least some of the frosting usually found its way into the decorator's mouth instead of on the cake. All youngsters participating in the contest received prizes while cakes selected as the most cluttered, prettiest and most original were singled out for special recognition. The experience was educational for the youngsters and the fact that they could eat what they had created. . .well, that was just frosting on the cake. (ouch!)

Open House Set For Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Simundson

Sunday, June 10, will mark two very special occasions for Rev. and Mrs. O.M. Simundson of Groton, S.D. On that day, Rev. Simundson will celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the ministry; and the couple will observe their golden wedding anniversary. For the past seven years, the Simundsons have been residents of Groton, where their son, Jon was pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church.

During his ministry, Rev. Simundson served parishes at Laurel, Plentywood and Chinook, Mont., Roslyn, S.D., and Fargo, N.D. where he was regional director for Lutheran Hospital and Homes society. From 1954 until 1961, he served Ebenezer and Emmanuel Lutheran at Plummer. His last parish was at Bethleham Lutheran at Aberdeen, S.D. Upon retirement, Rev. and Mrs. Simundson lived for five years at Sioux Falls, before moving to Groton.

The open house celebration, to be held at the Emmanuel Lutheran church at Groton, is being hosted by their two sons: Rev. Jon Simundson, Hixton, Wis., and Dr. Dan Simundson, Los Alamos, N. Mex., their wives and six grandchildren. Hours will be from 2:30 to 5 p.m., with a program to begin at 3 p.m.

The public is welcome to attend.
